BIG STRIKE MAY SOON TERMINATE

Women Plead for Work Owing to Hunger.

EMPLOYERS STILL AFRAID

To Re-open Shops, Owing to Threats of Strikers—Czar Thanks Governor Trepoff—Order May Soon be Restored.

Special to The Review.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25—The lack of food and money is already operating against a continuance of the strike. Weeping women are returning to the cigarette factories, pleading to be allowed to resume work, but the managers are afraid to re-open in consequence of the threats of the strikers to wreck their establishments.

An official note this morning announces that Emperor Nicholas has expressed his thanks to Gov. Trepoff, the new Governor General of St. Petersburg for his distinguished and zealous services as chief of police of Moscow.

TO RESTORE ORDER.

New York, N.Y. Jan 25—The American prints the following telegram to that paper from the Grand Duke Vladimir, dated St. Petersburg, Jan. 24.—"Reports sent from St. Petersburg of the occurrences here have been much exaggerated. No doubt we are passing through an acute crisis, but we expect, by energetic measures to restore order within a short time."

NO GRIT PUNISHED.

Mr. Whitney Corroborates Statement of Mr. Burnham re Election Offenders.

In connection with the letter published in last night's Examiner by Mr. J. H. Burnham, in which he replied to that journal's accusation of making mis-statements, Mr. Whitney, in his speech at Kingston last night, corroborated the assertion made by Mr. Burnham at Zion. It is to the effect that not a single Grit machine operator reported for electional offences since 1898 has been punished by the Ross Government. Here is Mr. Whitney's statement:—

In regard to the comparative Liberal and Conservative records for corruption figures, Mr. Whitney gave some decidedly luminous figures as to the number of men reported, prosecuted and punished for corrupt practices since 1898. Search of the Election Court records from January 1st, 1898, to January 1st, 1905, gave the following results:—Liberals unseated, 14; Conservatives unseated, 8. Liberals reported for bribery and corruption, 75; Liberals punished, 0; Conservatives reported, 29; Conservatives punished, 17, for bribery in South Ontario. "If Mr. Pense, or anyone else, wants to challenge the correctness of these figures, let him do so," said Mr. Whitney, "and I will produce the official proof of the correctness of what I have stated. Premier Ross, when he makes his reckless statements about punishing Liberal and Conservative wrong-doers, takes good care not to go into detail."

REASON No 8
WHY YOU SHOULD USE
Red Rose Tea

Because it is full weight.

You get a full pound of tea inside the package. The lead wrapping is not included in the weight.

It is weighed by automatic electric machines—machines that never make mistakes (clerks sometimes do), and the tea is poured into the packages after being weighed.

Put a pound package of Red Rose Tea on a scale and it will weigh 19 to 20 ounces, according to the thickness of the lead wrapper; or the tea, poured out, will weigh 16 ounces.

Everything about Red Rose Tea is always full measure—weight, quality, purity, and cleanliness—and your satisfaction will be full and complete when you use it.

NEW ASSESSMENT ACT.

The Municipal World contains an extended reference to the new Assessment Act, which it declares "provides for additional sources for municipal revenue." The clauses were also published in the Review recently.

The Act, the Municipal World remarks, reaches every business and professional man, and in most urban municipalities will afford equitable relief to the ordinary property owner, who is now highly taxed. No man in business will escape. He may only possess a desk worth 50 cents; nevertheless he will pay in Peterborough $5 per annum on an assessment of $250. That is the lowest amount for which he can be assessed.

Now get to work and digest every clause is the new Act is good advice to the new town council and newly appointed assessors.

FEWER EXHIBITIONS DESIRED.

The leading agricultural societies of the Province are evincing considerable interest in the suggestion that has been made by Mr. H. B. Cowan, Provincial Superintendent of Agricultural Societies, that the number of exhibitions held annually in Ontario should be materially reduced, and that Agricultural societies should receive their grants in proportion to the amounts they spend for agricultural purposes. Such a change would do away with all distinction between the township and district societies.

The Ontario Fruit Growers' Association has passed a resolution approving of these suggestions and expressing the belief that such a change would result in larger sums of money being expended for Agricultural purposes. The executive of the Dominion Shorthorn Breeders' Association, at its annual meeting in Toronto, on January 16th, also passed a resolution approving of these suggestions and stating its opinion that fewer exhibitions would result in larger attendances, better prizes and better exhibits, as well as a reduction in the undesirable features now so prevalent at many exhibitions.

McCRACKEN'S NEW WHARF.

One Being Built at Summer Resort—News From Hall's Glen.

The consruction of the new wharf at McCracken's Landing affords employment for a number of men and teams of the neighborhood.

Mr. A. P. Carveth, who spent last Sabbath visiting friends of "Lundy's Lane," called at the home of his brother on his way back.

The blacksmith of our village has been very busy of late and is working up a remarkable trade with his many customers.

We regret to learn of the departure of a prominent young lady of the locality in the near future. We wish her every success on her long journey.

Mr. H. Carveth, who broke up camp last week, has been working for the Government ever since and expects good pay.

Some of the farmers are still hauling oats to Burleigh. The market for this season has been booming there.

A quiet wedding took place in the neighborhood on Wednesday evening, the 11th inst, when Miss E. Zinstine, daughter of Mr. Geo. Zinstine, was united in marriage to Mr. J. Anderson, of Otonabee.

After the ceremony a sumptuous supper was served of which all partook heartily. The large number of guests present were entertained by their host and hostess. The newly married couple received many good wishes and congratulations during the evening.

On the evening of Thursday, 19th inst., a very interesting debate was given by the members of the H. G. L. Society in the hall of that village, upon the subject, "Resolved, that the Steamboat has been a greater factor in Civilization than the Railroad."

The affirmative was presented by Miss E. Payne, with Miss P. Copplestone and Messrs. Crowe and Lynn as her assistants, the negative side being upheld by Mr. A. C. Carveth with Mrs. W. Carveth and Messrs. Payne and Madill as his assistants. Both sides were ably presented. Mr. G. Crowe, the final judge, giving the decision in favor of the negative.

The H.G.L. Society is now a thriving institution with about 50 members, and their meetings are attractive and full of life. We understand that on Thursday evening, February 2nd, the society intends giving a lunch social in their hall.

Cured Kidney Disease

Mrs. Fred Hills, Walton St., Port Hope, Ont., states: "I was troubled for some time with kidney disease, and though I tried a great many different medicines never succeeded in obtaining relief until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. By the regular use of this preparation for a time I was completely cured of kidney disease."

—A destructive fire occurred in Port Hope last Sunday evening in a double house on Park street, owned by Capt. Henning, one end occupied by Mr. Peter Kennedy and the other by Mrs. Twilley. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been from a defective chimney and before the firemen arrived the place was a mass of flames, the building being totally destroyed. Mrs. Kennedy's loss will amount to $300 or $400 and insurance.

MR. HOLLAND WINS.

His Suit Against the Township of Ennismore—The Judgment.

Judgment was delivered on Saturday by his Honor Judge Weller, in the suit brought by Michael Holland against the Township of Ennismore arising out of the sale by the Council of the Township to Mr. Collins of certain trees growing on the roadside fronting the farm property of the plaintiff.

At the conclusion of the Court sittings, His Honor, Judge Weller, delivered his reserve judgment in this case, finding that the Township were at fault and giving Mr. Holland $25 damages and his costs of the suit. As the question in dispute is one of great importance to Municipal Councils, and, indeed, to the public at large and one which has caused great difference of opinion amongst lawyers themselves, a full report is given.

TREES WERE SOLD

The circumstances were these—In April last the Municipal Council of the Township of Ennismore, held a meeting, at which some trees standing in the 8th concession of the Township and opposite the farm of Mr. Michael Holland, were sold to a man by the name of Collins for the sum of $2.00, the Council deeming it wise to have the road clear of standing trees. When Mr. Collins started to cut the wood he was notified by Mr. Holland to desist. This Mr. Collins refused to do in view of the Council having taken his money and he said "the trees were on the road anyway." Mr. Holland then came to town and was advised by his lawyers that the Council's action was unlawful under the circumstances and that they were liable to damages for cutting the trees. The Ennismore Council was notified and also Mr. Collins, who paid no attention to the notice and this suit was commenced. It came on for trial before His Honor Judge Weller who heard the evidence on October 7th and after hearing the argument for both sides reserved his decision.

THE EVIDENCE

The evidence at the trial was that Mr. Holland owned lot 7 in the 8th concession of Ennismore, that along the side of the road next his farm there were some ten or twelve trees growing, some were close to the fence and some were out a piece from it, one being about thirteen feet out. This tree the evidence showed was rather close to the road as it stood, but it was shown that by cutting a few inches off this tree, travel would not be interfered with. Again, Holland did not plant these trees though he appears to have taken some precautions to preserve them from time to time and particularly at the time the road was opened, although there was some suggestion that anything done there was as statute labor and consequently should not be credited to him as far as protecting the trees was concerned. It also appeared that the notice which the statute distinctly states must be given to an adjoining land owner was not given. The plaintiff further set up the provisions of the Ontario Tree Planting Act applicable to the case. The defence set up on behalf of the council that if there was any right of action at all that according to the Municipal Act it should be settled by arbitration that in any event the action could not be maintained until after one month's notice in writing to the council, and that such notice was not given and the further defence that the council were not the proper parties to sue in any event as they did not cut the trees or direct anyone to do so. The judge decided that notice of action was unnecessary in this particular case, that it was not a case such as the statute required to be tried by arbitration and that the council could not escape liability for Mr. Collin's act and especially in view of the fact which came out at the trial, that after the trees were cut and this suit started a special meeting of the council was called and a by-law passed and sealed setting out that these trees were on the highway and should be removed and authorized the sale of them. This His Honor held in any event fixed the responsibility on the council even if it did not already rest there. His Honor after commenting on the evidence referred to the different authorities relied upon by the counsel for both sides and particularly to the case of Douglas vs. Fox 31 U. C. P. 140 cited for the plaintiff, and which was tried before Chief Justice Wilson and a jury in June 1880. His Honor said this case was almost parallel to the one before him and established the plaintiff's right to sue and that he proposed to follow it. The only difficulty in his mind was as to the amount of damages that should be awarded. There was no authority to be found on that point and this case established a precedent to that extent. His Honor held that the damages should be not for the value of the trees, nor yet in the nature of excessive damages, such as might be given in the event of a private person cutting the trees without excuse or authority, the fact being that if the council proceeds according to law they can undoubtedly remove trees from the highway if the circumstances come within the provisions of the Act. His Honor having arrived at the conclusion stated gave judgment in Mr. Holland's favor.

This case has created a great deal of interest and has been Township talk in Ennismore for the last six months and the final outcome has been anxiously watched for by other people somewhat similarly placed to Mr. Holland.

Mr. S. T. Medd acted for Holland and Mr. R. Max. Dennistoun for the Township of Ennismore.

New Bridge Nearly Completed—Council Meets—Teacher Resigns—Personals.

The Dominion Bridge Co., of Montreal, have the new bridge nearly completed. When finished the C.P.R. will have one of the largest structures between here and Montreal.

The Council held its first meeting on Monday, the 16th inst. There were present Reeve Duff, in the chair, and councillors Whibbs, Devlin, Hall and Walker. There is no change in last year's officials. The Reeve urged the Council to have all taxes collected by February 1st. Tenders for snow plowing were received from James Duff and A. Hall. Mr. Duff's tender was accepted, it being the lowest. Mr. Duff has a large contract, but no doubt he will have the work done well. The Council adjourned to meet on a call from the Reeve.

Mr. Michael Heffernan and sister, of Caughnawaga, were visiting their uncle, Mr. Jos. Heffernan, Indian River.

Miss Louisa Smith, and Miss Veronica O'Brien were visiting friends here last week.

Mr. Joe Lafave had the misfortune to be hit on the eye-lid with a heated, while riveting on the C. P. R. new bridge.

Mr. M. O'Brien, who has been teaching school in S. S. No. 7, has resigned his position, and has accepted a position on the teaching staff at Edmonton, N.W.T., at a salary of $600 per annum. Mr. O'Brien's departure will be keenly felt by the pupils and parents, as his work gave every satisfaction.

Mr. P. Torpey shipped a car load of hogs from Indian River on Monday last, the price paid being 5 cents lb.

The elections are near at hand and we intend giving Mr. Whitney a trial.

WEDDED IN KEENE.

Nuptials of Mr. David Carter and Miss Alice Taylor.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening last, January 18th when Miss Alice Taylor, eldest daughter of Mr. Robert Taylor, was married to Mr. David Edwards. Nearly a hundred guests were present to witness the ceremony which was performed by Rev. W. B. Seccombe, pastor of the Methodist Church.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a very dainty gown of white silk, with applique and lace trimmings, and wore the customary veil. She carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Jory, of Warsaw, cousin of the bride. She was tastefully attired in a dress of white voile, with silk trimmings and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Rev. Wilson Avison, of Alma, Ont., attended the groom.

Mrs Dr. Harrison played the beautiful wedding march as the bridal party entered the drawing room.

Among the guests were, Mr. and Mrs. A Brown; Mr. and Mrs. F. Doughty and Miss Lumsden, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Jno. McFarlane, Dr. and Mrs. Harrison, Dr. and Mrs. Shaw, Keene; Mr. Ed. Wright, Toronto.

After the ceremony, the bridal party and their invited friends sat down to a choice wedding dinner. The rest of the evening was pleasantly spent in games, songs, etc.

The bride was the recipient of numerous and costly presents. From the choir of the Methodist church, of which she was a member, she received a beautiful tea service. The Sunday School, of which she was organist, gave her a silver tea tray. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful gold brooch, with a diamond setting, and to the bridesmaid a gold stick pin, set with opals.

The bride's going away dress was of green ladies cloth with green velvet trimmings.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards will reside near Keene and their numerous friends wish them every joy and prosperity.

ANNUAL MEETING

Otonabee Agricultural Society Elects Officers — Finances of Past Year.

The annual meeting of the Otonabee Agricultural Society took place in Keene. There was a large number of the Otonabee farmers present to discuss the affairs of the society, and appoint the officers for the ensuing year. Great enthusiasm was manifested by all present, and it certainly augured well for the future success of the society and its annual exhibition, which has always been one of the best in the county.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read and adopted, and the auditors' report disposed of, the following officers were elected for 1905—

President—Robert A. Nelson.

Vice-President—Alex. Stewart.

Auditors—Jas. McNeil and Robt. English.

Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. A. Shearer.

Directors — Messrs. J. J. Moore, John M. Shaw, M.D., W. J. Miller, R. Humphries, Ed. Foley, P. Drummond, Gilbert Howson, W. Renwick, Alex Stewart.

Dr. Shaw and the secretary-treasurer, M. A. Shearer, were appointed delegates to attend the Provincial Association of Fairs to be held in Toronto in February. Some changes were also made in the prize list.

The prospects for next year's fair are very bright, and every effort will be put forth by the officers of the society to make it second to none. A large measure of the success of the annual exhibition for some years past is due to the untiring work of the society's secretary-treasurer. Since he was appointed to the position eleven years ago, the annual fair has been gaining in popularity and usefulness, and there is no doubt that under his efficient management of the finances, the fair will attain to greater proportions.

The society now owns the grounds which it has occupied for some years past, having bought eight acres from Mr. Henry Burnham at a cost of $1,200. During the past year, almost entirely by voluntary labor, the grounds have been cleared of stones and stumps. It was ploughed several times and then seeded down in the fall. Mr. W. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "My face was all twisted out of shape with facial paralysis, and five doctors failed to cure or even relieve. By the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been entirely cured, and have returned to work strong and well. I have gained in weight and feel that I have a new lease of life." 10

A Siege

The matrons of the Edison Orphanage at Lowell, Mass. U.S.A., wrote they had a siege of whooping-cough in their institution. They said that every case was promptly relieved by Vapo-Cresolene. Its value in coughs and colds was so great they always kept it ready for use. You know how it's used, don't you? 'Tis heated by a vaporizer and you inhale it. Write us for a book that tells all about it.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists, or sent express prepaid on receipt of price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit including a bottle of Cresolene, complete $1.50. Send for free illustrated booklet. Leeming, Miles Co., Ltd., Agents 288 St. James Street, Montreal, Can.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 25, 1905.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of Agnes Crowley, of Indian River, who died Jan. 16th, 1905:

Another hand is beckoning us,
Another call is given;
And glows once more with angel-steps
The path which reaches Heaven.

Our young and gentle friend, whose smile
Made brighter summer hours,
Amid the frost of autum time
Has left us with the flowers.

No paling of the cheek of bloom
Forewarned us of decay;
No shadow from the Silent Land
Fell round our sister's way.

The light of her young life went down,
As sinks behind the hill
The glory of a setting star,—
Clear, suddenly, and still.

As pure and sweet, her fair brow seemed
Eternal as the sky;
And like the brook's low song, her voice,—
A sound which could not die.

And half we deemed she needed not
The changing of her sphere,
To give to Heaven a Shining One,
Who walked an angel here.

The blessing of her quiet life
Fell on us like the dew;
And good thoughts, where her footsteps pressed
Like fairy blossoms grew.

Sweet promptings unto kindest deeds
Were in her very look;
We read her face as one who reads
A true and holy book.

We miss her in the place of prayer,
And by the hearth fire's light;
We pause beside her door to hear
One more her sweet "good-night."

There seems a shadow on the day,
Her smile no longer cheers;
A dimness on the stars of night,
Like eyes that look through tears.

Alone unto our Father's will
One thought hath reconciled;
That He whose love exceedeth ours;
Hath taken home his child.

Fold her, O Father! in thine arms,
And let her henceforth be
A messenger of love between
Our human hearts and thee.

Still let her mild rebuking stand
Between us and the wrong,
And her dear memory serve to make
Our faith in goodness strong.

And grant that she who, trembling here,
Distrusted all her powers,
May welcome to her holier home
The well beloved of ours.

LUMBERING IN THE EARLY DAYS

Interesting History of Operations in Peterborough.

THE CANADA LUMBERMAN

Publication Which Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary—Article by Mr. E. J. Toker—Progress of a Quarter of a Century.

An extremely interesting and at the same time quite artistic edition of the Canadian Lumberman has been issued in celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of that paper. To the people of Peterborough this publication is no stranger, since it was first published at the office of the Review by Messrs. Toker & Company, for some years. It advocated conservative forestry and the economical far-sighted utilization of the woodland wealth of the Dominion, and this course has been maintained by the present publishers, The C. H. Mortimer Publishing Co., of Toronto. The anniversary number has been issued in magazine form with very appropriate frontispiece in colors and it contains many excellent articles, one of which contains much of special interest to the people of Peterborough. In relating some of the early history of the "Canadian Lumberman," Mr. E. J. Toker, who was the editor of the paper, has given valuable information and has ably reviewed the early history of lumbering operations in Peterborough and vicinity. Other articles that will be appreciated are, "The Lumber Industry of the Canadian Industry," by J. L. Campbell, of Melita, Man.; a reference to "pioneer lumbermen who are still with us;" "History and Development of the Lumber Industry of British Columbia;" "Canada in Relation to the World's Future Timber Supply," by E. Stewart, Dominion Superintendent of Forestry; "Saw Milling of the Past and Present," by J. B. Benson, Midland, Ont.; 'Ontario's Forest Reserves," by Thomas Southworth, Directory of Forestry, and many other articles illustrated and arranged in attractive form, constitute a number on which the publishers of the Lumberman are to be congratulated.

THE OLD DAYS.

Referring to lumbering operations in Peterborough and vicinity in the early days, Mr. Toker writes as follows—

In the days when the Canada Lumberman was first published in Peterborough the town and district was a lumbering centre of considerable importance. The hiring and assembling of men for the shanties, and still more their return in the spring, and that of the river drivers at a later date, enlivened the town in a manner that could not fail to attract attention. The supplies for the lumber camps were an important portion of the business of our townsmen, and put many a dollar into the pockets of our farmers. We have a considerable French population from some of the more prudent of the shantymen buying lots, building, and establishing their families among us. The time had gone by a few years when square timber was one of the chief products of the forests of the district and when parties used to go ten miles up the river to Lakefield to have the excitement of the run down the almost constant rapids on a timber raft. But huge drives of sawlogs were a marked feature on our rivers and lakes. Wherever there was a suitable site on these waters, celebrated for their abundant water power, there was a saw mill in full operation.

In Peterborough on the Little Lake was a steam saw mill run by Mr. McDonald. It was afterwards burned, when Mr. McDonald purchased from the Bank of Commerce a larger steam mill at Nassau, which had only been run a short time, and removed it to the Little Lake.

DICKSON COMPANY.

On the river in the centre of the town front was the fine saw mill of the Dickson Company, the property of the heirs of the late Mr. Samuel Dickson, who was killed by the breaking up of his dam by the heavy floods in the spring of 1870. The business was for many years under the management of his son-in-law, the late Mr. T. G. Hazlett. The site and fine water power are now occupied and used by the Cereal Company, the Dickson Company having, as elsewhere mentioned, made other arrangements for cutting the logs from their extensive limit. The Peterborough Light and Power Company is also served by this dam. A little way up the river at Auburn, was the sawmill of the late Mr. Geo. Hilliard, afterwards M. P. for West Peterborough. The power here is now used by the Auburn Woollen Company for their extensive factory.

Close above had been the saw mill of Mr. William Snyder, but it had ceased running long before 1881. The power here was acquired by the Peterborough Waterworks Company, now owned by the town and operated for fire protection and domestic use.

THE RED MILL.

Further up the river at Nassau was the Red Mill, which was built and first owned by the late Charles Perry, M.P. for West Peterborough. He was succeeded by Messrs. Campbell & Houston, who had extensive limits in the district, till the senior partner, Mr. A. H. Campbell, the well known lumberman, removed to Toronto, thence conducting his business to the northward. It subsequently was acquired by Messrs. Body, Smith and Irwin, and after the death of Mr. Smith was operated by Messrs. Boyd and Irwin, who were running it at the time the Lumberman was founded. Mr. Gardner Boyd who was the eldest son of Mr. Mossom Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, subsequently left the business, and it was conducted by Mr. J. M. Irwin alone. Mr. Irwin erected a new steam saw mill on the down side of the river, opposite the Red Mill, and this, as we have said, was afterwards bought by Mr. McDonald and removed to Peterborough. The Red Mill was broken up for its material. The power is now used by the Canadian General Electric Company for their very extensive works in Peterborough.

PRESENT WORKS.

About half a mile up stream on the first dam above the Nassau dam is the building of the Otonabee Power Company, from which electric power is conveyed to Peterborough. Nearly two miles further up is the power house of the Lakefield Cement Company, from which power is conveyed to Lakefield. Some nine miles up the river from Peterborough, at the village of Lakefield, was the fine saw mill with excellent water power, then run by the Messrs. Strickland. The property has been acquired by the Dickson Company, who are cutting there as well as at their new mill on the Little Lake, Peterborough. There is also a Lakefield a new steam saw mill run by Messrs. Tate & Lillicrap, and besides the grist mills of Mr. John Hull and Mr. McAllister, there is Mr. T. J. Moore's planing mill.

At Young's Point, at the foot of Clear Lake was the small saw mill run by the Youngs, which was taken down when the power house was built. The Lakefield Cement Company, with its large output, derives its power from the dam which is used in connection with the power down the river already mentioned to run the cement works.

At Bridgenorth, on Chemong Lake, was a small steam saw mill then run by Mr. Kelly, as it still is by his son. On the same lake there is a small saw mill operated by Mr. Brunwell.

At Buckhorn was the mill of Mr. N. Shaw, afterwards owned by the late W. H. Hall. It has not been used for many years and has rotted down. On the Mississaga, two miles north of Buckhorn, was the saw mill operated by the late W. A. Scott, who had very extensive limits in the district. It was taken down by the Dickson Company, when they subsequently acquired the Scott limits.

At Bobcaygeon village, between Sturgeon and Pigeon Lakes, was the fine mill of that well known lumberman, the late Mr. Mossom Boyd. At present it is owned by his sons, Mossom and William, under the old firm title of Mossom Boyd & Company. They have now nearly ceased to operate, their limits being exhausted, but they are lumbering on a large scale in British Columbia.

At Fenelon Falls, between Pigeon and Cameron Lakes, was the saw mill of Mr. R. C. Smith. Messrs. Green & Ellis and Hilliard & Mowry also had mills at Fenelon Falls. Now these mills have all been removed, but the Rathbun Company have a mill at the Falls.

Going down the Otonabee River Messrs. McDougall & Ludgate and Ullyott & Saddler had two large mills at Harwood on the south shore of Rice Lake, but they have been removed. Mr. Burnett now has a saw mill on the north shore of the same lake.

Fowlds Bros. have a saw and grist mill at Hastings on the River Trent, which is a continuation of the Otonabee with the same change of name.

With the lumbering the time is past when one could get slabs and edgings for fuel from the mills for the carting, as so much was thus saved from the carriage to the ever burning piles. Even the banks and bars of sawdust which grew so rapidly and inconveniently are now diminishing instead of increasing.

In those days, the William Hamilton Company, the noted manufacturers of sawmill machinery, of course did a large local as well as outside business, but they can hardly miss the local work, so widespread is the demand for their machinery, which is to be found in the largest mills in Ottawa and other parts of old Canada, and right away to the Pacific slope. There is also, it may be added, a large increase in the demand for their equally celebrated mining and hydraulic machinery.

Another local industry of importance has also its association with lumbering. Our well known canoes are used extensively by the lumbermen for their lighter work, and the factories consume large quantities of wood. A larger number of canoes are turned out in Peterborough than any other place, and these little crafts are to be found almost throughout the civilized world. There are also canoe factories up the river at Lakefield with a large output.

In the eighties the late John Bertram had not become a lumberman on a large scale, nor a strong advocate of conservative forestry, but was conducting a hardware business in Peterborough, which he at one time represented in the House of Commons. Mr. Bertram was here again recently as Chairman of the Transportation Commission to take evidence regarding the Trent Waterway.

Of course the withdrawal of the lumbering business in a great measure from Peterborough was a great loss to the town, but this did not cause a set-back, other industries taking its place, so that there has been continued progress. The old sites and the water powers have been made available for manufacturing purposes of even greater magnitude. For instance, the Cereal Company, with its enormous outputs of "Quaker Oats" and other breakfast foods, have built their immense works on the site of the old Dickson saw mill. The extensive General Electric Works have utilized the excellent water power at Nassau of the old "Red Mill," where Messrs. Smith, Boyd & Irwin used to turn out the lumber from their extensive limits. The power at other dams which abound on the Otonabee have similarly been put to good use.

ABSTAINERS ONCE MORE VICTORIOUS

Campbellford Defeated at Brock St. Rink Last Evening.

A FAST, CLEAN EXHIBITION

T.A.S. Now Leads District—A Fairly Large Crowd in Attendance, Including 200 Visitors—Winners Played Nice Hockey.

The T.A.S. added another to their string of victories and took the lead in No. 2 district T.V.L. by decisively defeating Campbellford on the Brock-st. rink last evening by 7—3. The half time score was 2—1 in favor of the Abstainers. A fairly large crowd saw the game fully half of which were from Campbellford, over two hundred accompanying the team from that village by special train.

The game was an excellent exhibition, being fast and exciting all the way through. It was very clean, only a few players being sent to the boards. Both teams played nice hockey. Campbellford's team was very fast but had no effective combination while on the other hand their opponents united nicely.

The game was very late in starting, the special containing the visiting team and their supporters not arriving in town until along after nine o'clock, and then the referee "Sandy" Burrowes, of Belleville, was still later causing another delay. The people were recompensed for their wait, however, by being given an excellent exhibition of Canada's national winter game.

The winners played nice hockey and won the game on its merits. The defence was of the stone wall character and the forwards were fast, good stick handlers and clever shots. Clancy in goal played a great game turning aside shot after shot especially in the second half when Campbellford had many shots at close range. Meagher at point checked strenuously, but cleanly. He was very hard to pass and also rushed nicely. Quigley at cover point checked well, breaking up many dangerous rushes. His lifting was very accurate, being dead on the nets. In a poorly lighted rink he would probably have scored more than once.

Deforge at rover was the star of the rush line, although all four played nice hockey. He is very speedy and handles his stick cleverly. His shooting was deadly and was instrumental in netting five goals. F. McGrath at left wing also showed up very prominently. He is very fast and shoots nicely from the side. T. McGrath at centre played a fine game. He is a nice stick handler and fast skater, his checking back being a noticeable feature in his playing. Rose at right wing never let up from start to finish. He followed up very fast and was always on the puck.

The losers have no ordinary team and with a little more combination work they would be very dangerous. As it was they looked like winners during the early part of the game as they were going very fast. Shaw picked off some nice ones in goal and kept the score down. Smith at point was nothing out of the ordinary although he lifted well. Tait at cover point checked hard and rushed nicely. On the forward line Shannon at rover was the star. He had speed to burn, handled his stick nicely and shot well. Blute played a nice game at right wing.

"Sandy" Burrowes, of Belleville, refereed and was by no means the best seen here this season. He missed many off-sides and allowed the Campbellford forwards to loaf off-side all the way through. He, however, was thoroughly impartial in his decisions.

The teams were—

T.A.S.		Campbellford
	Goal.
Clancy		Shaw
	Point.
Meagher		Smith
	Coverpoint
Quigley		Tait
	Rover
Deforge		Shannon
	Centre

Referee—S. Burrowes, Belleville.

Goal Umpires—C. Greene, Campbellford; E. Dillon, Peterborough.

Time keepers—J. Bessor, Campbellford; W. Crowley, Peterborough.

Penalty time keeper —H. Morgan, Peterborough.

The game started off at the pace that kills and the puck travelled up and down several times without a score. Finally T. McGrath made a nice rush and passed over to Deforge who found the nets. Score 1—0.

T. McGrath went to the boards for bodying. Clancy stopped a hot one but the visitors came right back and Shannon scored after a nice rush by a shot from the side. Score 1—1. The Campbellford contingent threatened to tear the rink down.

Clancy made a nice stop and the puck travelled to the other end of the rink. Shaw got in front of a hard one from Deforge. F. McGrath went off for bodying. Deforge made a nice shot from the side which landed in the nets. Score 2—1.

Blute went off for slashing and on his return Shannon was sent to the fence for tripping F. McGrath. Play was very close and fast and both defences repelled dangerous assaults with the result that there was no further scoring in that half.

T.A.S. started off with a rush that played the visitors off their feet. Before the half had hardly started Deforge had found the nets twice after nice rushes. Score 4—1.

Clancy made several beautiful stops and got the puck away from the goal. Finally Shannon got it in the corner and passed in front to Garvey who slammed it in. Score 4—2.

Lowrie went off for bodying. The T.A.S. got going again and on a combination rush Deforge once more scored. Score 5—2.

The next one soon came, T. McGrath shoving one in from a mix-up in front of Campbellford's nets. Score 6—2.

Lowrie once more went to the fence for too strenuously checking. Deforge also went off for bodying. T. A.S. still pressed and F. McGrath scored after a nice rush. Score 7—2.

Time was almost up. Shannon made a nice rush down the side and scored just as the bell rang for time. Score 7—3.

WHAT IT IS.

The Mucous Membrane and the Important Part it Plays in the Health or Sickness of the Body.

The Mucous Membrane is the inside lining of the body, and of all its vessels and organs. The moment this mucous membrane becomes out of condition, ever so little, illness, follows swiftly in some form or other. In ninety-nine cases of a hundred disease has its beginning in some derangement of this Mucous Membrane.

It is very delicate and extremely sensitive and consequently very liable to disease.

If you are not feeling well you may be sure that the Mucous Membrane of some organ is sick and requires immediate treatment.

There is one medicine that is intended to act, and does act, directly and curatively on the Mucous Membrane. It is Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Constipation disappear as soon as Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill has restored the Mucous Membrane to its natural healthy condition. 50 cents a bottle, at all Druggists or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. Sole agents for Canada. 110

Why An Emulsion?

Because an emulsion (Scott's) of cod liver oil is agreeable to the taste, while the plain oil is repulsive. Because Scott's Emulsion is easily digested, while the plain oil is not. Because Scott's Emulsion enters the system quickly and without effort, while the plain oil is a burden and a tax on the stomach. Because Scott's Emulsion remains sweet after entering the system, while the plain oil is likely to ferment because of its slow action. Because contains not only the best of the pure oil but other valuable properties, while the plain oil offers nothing but the crude properties of the raw oil. Because Scott's Emulsion is always the same in purity, strength and composition, while the plain oil is apt to vary in all three of these particulars. Because Scott's Emulsion is a hundred times more beneficial and desirable than any plain oil could be.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

NEW ELECTION IN SMITH TOWNSHIP

Richard White, Young's Point, Was Disqualified.

PROCEEDINGS TO BE TAKEN

Township Councillor Was a School Trustee When Nominated—To be Given Privilege of Resigning.

Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr & Stevenson have received instructions to take proceedings in the High Court of Justice for the purpose of unseating Richard White, of Young's Point, who was a successful candidate for the Smith Council at the last municipal election. The ground taken, and upon which the application is made, is that Mr White on the 26th day of December, being the day of nomination, was a school trustee, therefore was disqualified under the recent amendment to the Municipal Act, for holding the office of councillor.

Mr. White has been given notice to resign, and if he takes advantage of the privilege given him, proceedings will be withdrawn.

It is understood that there have been four cases similar to the above in which proceedings were taken and the point involving disqualification was clearly established, resulting in the unseating of the representative in each case. A new election will be necessary in the Township of Smith. The turn of affairs will be watched with a great deal of interest on account of the issue which was paramount in the last election.

GONE TO CREEMORE.

Mr. Lount's new position is in the nature of a well deserved promotion. Mrs. Lount and family will remain in town for some time yet. Mr. W. A. Bourne, of Toronto, will succeed Mr. Lount in Peterborough.

Many friends will wish the departing banker every success. During his residence here he made many friends by his kindly manner and obliging disposition.

THE ROYAL TEMPLARS.

Enthusiasm was quite characteristic at the Royal Templars' meeting last night. A large number of people turned out and some good discussions were engaged in. Mr. Carey took the chair in his usual fine style. Miss Eva Bennett presided at the organ during the opening and closing hymns. The recording secretary, Miss Mathieson occupied her usual place and read the minutes of last meeting. Then came the election of officers which resulted as follows—

P.C.—Bro. Carey.
S.C.—Bro. Fife.
V.C.—Sister Bennett.
Sec.-Treas.—Jas. R. Bell.
Ass't Sec.-Treas.—A. E. Dixon.
Rec.-Sec.—Miss E. Mathieson.
Herald—Miss Bennett.
Ass't. Herald—Bro. Braden Bell.
Inside Guard—Norman Bell.

The local lodge of Royal Templars is in a flourishing condition, there being a substantial balance in the finances for the year.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH DEBT.

Active Measures Begun to Clear off the Liability of $4,000.

At a meeting of the office bearers of St. Paul's church last night, Rev. Dr. Torrance stated, in connection with the plan suggested by him of liquidating the church debt of $4,000, that nearly all those who had been asked to give certain sums had consented.

It was decided to begin an active canvass of all the members of the congregation to see what each would give with this object in view—there being three yearly payments.

It is hoped by May, 1907, the total liability on the building will be wiped off. The first of the annual payments of those who subscribe to the fund will fall due on May 1st of the present year, the second on May 1st, 1906, and the third on May 1st, 1907. The elders in the various districts will call upon the families coming within their jurisdiction, while the families residing in the country will be visited by Rev. Dr. Torrance, who has every confidence that the amount desired to place the edifice free of debt will be raised. Dr. Torrance and Mr. Adam Hall will visit several persons in Smith Township tomorrow.

CRESSMAN STILL IS PROGRESSIVE

Adds Carpet and Housefurnishing Department.

OPEN WITHIN ONE WEEK

"Store That Never Disappoints" Branches Out—Mr. J. Titterson in Charge of Thoroughly Modern Department.

These are the days when much is heard of progressive policy and the people of Peterborough have learned with pleasure during the last six years this has been characteristic of the "store that never disappoints." Mr. A. W. Cressman believes in beginning at the bottom and building upwards, and his latest move in that direction is the equipment of a modern carpet department on the third floor of his four storey building. Two large rooms, fifty feet in length and together having a width of forty-five feet are being utilized for this purpose. The department which will be divided into two parts—carpets and house furnishings—is now the scene of operations which have in view their adaptation in every way to the requirements of Mr. Cressman's plans. The department is large, exceedingly well lighted, and the accommodation of the public is one of the considerations receiving large attention in the preparations. Ald. W. J. Johnston is in charge of the carpentering contract and Mr. Ralph Carton of the painting and paperhanging.

Mr. Cressman states that the new department will be opened within a week. While on his trip to England and Europe he made extensive purchases of carpets and house furnishings, and has now a large and thoroughly up-to-date stock. Mr. J. Titterson, a gentleman who has had wide experience will be in charge. Some weeks ago he had determined to leave for the West, where, it is understood, he had received a flattering offer, but it is a pleasure to state that he has re-considered his decision, and will remain in town. He was for many years connected with the Turnbull Co.'s department and it would be difficult to find a gentleman as intimately acquainted as he is, with the requirements of a modern and well equipped carpet and house furnishings department.

WILL INTERVIEW RAILWAY MEN

To Secure "Split Rate" For The American Cereal Co.

ACTION OF BOARD OF TRADE.

President D. Hughes-Charles to go to Montreal Next Week With This Object in View—What Even a Partial Closing Down of the Mill Means to Peterboro'.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held last night to see if a "split rate" cannot be secured from the railways for cereal companies in Canada. If this can be attained there is no doubt but that the American Cereal Company's big mill in Peterborough, which has been partially shut down for some weeks, owing to excessive freight rates on Canadian roads, will resume operations in full blast.

It was decided that President Hughes-Charles should go to Montreal at as early a date as possible—likely next week—and interview the representatives of both the G.T.R. and C.P.R. with this object in view; and incidentally to lay the matter before the members of the Board of Trade in that city, to secure their assistance and co-operation. The new Council of the Montreal Board meets on February 8th, when Peterborough's request will come up for consideration.

Owing to the interest and excitement occasioned by the election, there was not a large attendance last night. Those present were, Messrs. D. Hughes-Charles, President; T. Q. Quartermaine, Secretary; H. LeBrun, Col. E. B. Edwards, Peter Campbell, T. A. S. Hay, K. Eardley-Wilmot, B. F. Ackerman, R. E. Wood, Wm. Might, J. Coyle Brown, and others.

The President said he regretted that there was not a larger attendance as the matter to be considered was one of vital importance to the town. The American Cereal Company's mill was practically closed down, owing to the prevailing excessive freight rates and, if the question was not speedily adjusted by the the railway commission, it would, as it is now, mean a loss to the town of $100,000 a year in wages alone. What was desired was to secure a "split rate" for cereal companies in Canada. By that was meant a rate on the railways the same figure as if goods were shipped in bulk from the starting point direct to the seaboard. As it is the company has to pay a rate as great per hundred on oats from Chatham and Huron County to Peterborough as if the product was shipped direct to the seaboard from these points and then after being manufactured here, the company had to pay an additional charge to the seaboard. If a "split rate" was secured oats could be taken off here, manufactured into breakfast foods and then re-shipped at the same figure per hundred as if going direct from the shipping point to the seaboard in bulk. At present the company had to pay two rates—the rate here and then an extra charge to the export point. The freight quotations on American roads are lower than on Canadian, hence the Peterborough mill could not be run at a profit.

Col. E. B. Edwards thought that it would be well, before making representations to the railway commission of Canada, to interview the railway managers in reference to a "split rate" and ascertain their feeling.

Mr. Brown asked if the difference in the price of oats here and in Chicago was not responsible for the partial closing down of the Peterborough mill. Oats were six or seven cents cheaper on the American market than in Canada.

Mr. Charles said that he understood the excessive freight rates were alone the cause of the inactivity in the local mill and that, if a "split rate" was provided everything would be all right.

It was then moved by Col. Edwards, seconded by Mr. Brown, that the president, Mr. Charles interview the representatives of the railway companies in Montreal to see if they will not grant the request; and also lay the matter before the Montreal Board of Trade.

This was carried. Mr. Charles will leave for Montreal early next week to interview the railway authorities and another meeting of the Board will be held at an early date to receive his report and take further definite action thereon.

LAST SHOT FIRED

Closing Meeting of Campaign Held in Ennismore.

The last gun in the political campaign was fired in Ennismore last evening, when a joint meeting was held, the result, apparently, of some misunderstanding in the previous arrangement of days. However, there was an attendance of about 120 enthusiastic electors, and both sides of the case which has been threshed out for several weeks past were again heard. Mr. R. M. Dennistoun and Mr. S. T. Medd appeared on behalf of Mr. Bradburn, while the Liberal interests were represented by Mr. McWilliams and Mr. Daniel O'Connell. The speakers were given a good hearing.

TWO LIVELY RUNAWAYS.

Miss Delaney's Plate Glass Window Broken—Horse Cut.

A lively runaway added excitement to election proceedings on George-st. this morning. One of the horses belonging to Wm. Cornell's livery establishment in charge of one of the election workers was left standing in front of a house near Central Park and becoming frightened at some paper blowing along the street, tore down George-st. at a lively clip. Half way between Hunter and Simcoe-sts. it swung in towards the pavement, grazed Oke's delivery sleigh, struck a post a little farther on, fell on the pavement and crashed into the large plate glass of Miss Delaney's millinery establishment completely shattering it.

The horse which is a valuable one, was badly cut on one leg and the cutter was also damaged.

In the meantime Oke's horse thought it was time to get out of the way and started on a lively jaunt of his own down George-st., turning east at Charlotte-st. He was rounded up near the National Hotel.

Mrs. R. Nesbitt was knocked down by the first horse just at Miss Delaney's doorway but was not seriously hurt.

AN OYSTER SUPPER

The members of the Women's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church were the hostesses in a very enjoyable entertainment last evening, at which a large number of their friends attended in spite of unfavorable weather. Rev. Wm. Major was chairman and at eight o'clock an interesting programme was introduced. Those who contributed were Miss Ida Mulholland, Miss Charlotte English, Miss Flowers, Miss Marion Elliott and the Coleman brothers. The numbers were all greatly appreciated. After the programme oysters were served by the ladies. The affair had a very successful issue and the Women's Auxiliary are entitled to congratulation therefor.

COLD ELECTION DAY.

There Was Good Vote Polled—Bradburn Will Have Big Majority.

The getting out of the vote to-day was the reason for the unusual activity throughout the town. The rigors of a winter campaign were in evidence to some considerable extent to-day, for the thermometer was not inclined to be partial, but remained at a low point of frigidity all day. The result must not have been altogether pleasing to those who were driving all day, but enthusiasm sometimes goes a long way to offset severity of weather. Workers for both candidates were active, and enquiry at the polls about noon showed that the vote was coming in at a good rate.

"How is it going?" appeared to be the paramount question, and although it would require considerable of a prophet to speak with confidence, it appears reasonable to expect, from what is heard on the streets, that Mr. Bradburn, the Liberal Conservative candidate, will be elected by a good majority. His organization in town particularly was never better, and about fifty rigs were kept busy on the directions given out from the committee rooms.

A high pitch of excitement is expected to develope in town to-night when it becomes known which of the parties has been favored by victory. The opera house will be the scene of the celebration which will succeed some definite announcement as to the result of the election throughout the province.

MRS. COX'S FUNERAL.

The Services of a Simple and Private Character Tuesday Afternoon.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Geo. A. Cox took place from the family residence, 439 Sherbourne-st., at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, to Mount Pleasant cemetery. In accordance with what would have been her wishes, and in harmony with her character, the funeral was private. But, though private, the obsequies were of a very impressive character, many friends of the family attending in sorrowing memory of the departed. Among those present were business and Parliamentary associates of Senator Cox, together with others intimately associated in a personal way.

The officiating clergymen were Rev. Dr. Potts, Dr. Wallace and Rev. Mr. Faircloth, the latter representing Rev. Dr. Cleaver, who was unavoidably absent. Dr. Potts and Dr. Wallace were lifelong personal friends. A simple but affecting house service preceded the interment.

The pall-bearers were the three sons, the two sons-in-law, Mr. A. E. Ames, and Mr. A. L. Davis, and a nephew, Mr. W. G. Morrow.

Rev. Prof. Wallace, who was Mrs. Cox's pastor in Peterborough, and a lifelong friend, delivered a brief address. He said in part:—"Mrs. Cox was one who realized the old ideal of right living and godliness; to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with one's God. She expressed the New Testament ideal by going about doing good, and carried through her life the precious ornament of a meek and quiet spirit. Her ability was not of the kind that dazzles the public, but was of that finer judgment and ability which made her the trusted adviser of her husband in high business enterprise. She had no selfish or worldly ambitions, but was content with the place in which Providence had assigned her, whether humble or more exalted. She was thoroughly unspoiled by elevation to wealth and dignity and of unaffected graciousness and transparent sincerity. While associating with the highest in the land she was always true to the friends of early adoption. To one it will seem as if the light has gone out of life. But she has left to this community an example of good which must make us all better, and to her family memories and influence which comfort and inspire them."

EDWARD WRIGHT DEAD.

There passed away this morning at the home of his mother, 325 Aylmer-st., Edward Wright, aged 19 years. The deceased was a victim of tuberculosis and had been ailing for about three months. His father, George Wright, was buried just three weeks ago to-day. Edward Wright was born in Peterborough and resided here all his life, with the exception of the last two years, during which time he was working in Toronto. He was a well known young man and a member of the Home Circle. He leaves a mother, four brothers and two sisters to mourn his demise. The brothers are John, residing at 425 Bethune-st.; Brock, Roy and Albert, at home. The sisters are Miss Ethel Wright, at home, and Mrs. Thos. Lucas, town. The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, from the family residence, 325 Aylmer-st., and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery. The services wil be conducted by Adjt. Jennings, of the Salvation Army.

THE LATE ROBT. WIDDIS.

The recent death of Mr. Robert Widdis has removed one of the best known and most highly respected residents of Cavan Township.

Deceased was born fifty-eight years ago on the 11th November, on the Widdis homestead. He was married on May 24th, 1876, to Miss Agnes Jane Finley, of the same Township.

Mr. Widdis had lived in and about Millbrook all his life and was much respected by all who came in contact with him. He was a consistent member of the Methodist Church, Millbrook. Politically he was a Conservative.

There are left to mourn his loss, a widow, five brothers, Messrs William, James, Edward, Jeffrey and George and two sisters, Mrs. McCullough, of Manvers and Miss Mary A. at home.

OLD RESIDENT GONE.

The citizens of Peterborough will be shocked and grieved to hear of the death of Mr. Thomas Henry Goldey, which sad event took place in Nicholls hospital yesterday. He had been ill for four weeks with paralysis of the brain. The deceased had been a resident of Peterborough over thirty-nine years, during which time his kindly disposition and amiable qualities had won him the respect and liking of the community.

The late Mr. Goldey was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1843 and spent the early years of his life there. He fought on the side of the North in the great civil war in the United States and was wounded in one engagement. He came to Peterborough in 1867, in which year he was married to Miss Margaret Lillie, daughter of the late Wm. Lillie. Deceased had been for twenty-one years a member of the Third Prince of Wales Dragoons during which time he rose from the ranks to the position of Regimental Sergeant-Major. The deceased was one of a squad of eight who represented the Dragoons in the Coronation contingent three years ago.

Seven children survive him. They are Mrs. J. H. Wolstenholme and Mrs. J. A. Wolstenholme, of town; Edward, of Toronto; Horley, of the firm of Blake & Goldey, advertising agents, Toronto; Howard, Grace and Phyllis at home. His wife died about six years ago. There are four sisters living in New York.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence East Nicholl's Park to Little Lake Cemetery.

THE LATE JAMES KERR.

One of the best known residents of the Township of Douro passed away on Thursday of last week in the person of Mr. James Kerr. The deceased had been ill for about six weeks.

The late Mr. Kerr was thirty-five years of age and was born in Douro. Five years ago he was married to Theresa Bolan who with two children survives. The children are John James and Mary Kathleen. His death is also mourned by two brothers and two sisters, Hugh and Michael and Mrs. M. Crowley and Miss Sarah Jane Kerr. His father is still living.

The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, the services being performed at 2.30 o'clock at Douro church by Rev. Father Keilty, the parish priest. The funeral was a very large one, nearly ninety rigs forming the cortege. The pall bearers were Messrs. M. J. McManus, W. J. McManus, M. McManus, John McManus, R. Torpey and D. Shea.

VISITORS WERE LEFT.

About two hundred people came up on a special train from Campbellford last night to attend the hockey match here. Quite a number of them, about seventy-five so far forgot themselves by the attractions of the place as to overlook the time of the train's departure. They remained up-town, and although the train waited 45 minutes overtime, these excursionists still thought they were entitled to a good long stay in town. When they arrived at the station their train was gone. There were quite a number of ladies in the party and thus it was that the turn of affairs became unfortunate. However, they all made the best of a bad matter and the concensus of opinion among the visitors seems to have been that the hotel accommodation and hospitality of Peterborough are all right.

Crushed Under Logs.

Guelph, Jan. 25.—William Millar, a young man about 20 years of age, met with an untimely death about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. He with others was loading a car of logs at Moffat siding, on the C.P.R. Millar was on top of the car fixing the braces when one gave way and he rolled off with the logs, being covered by eight of them. He was rescued unconscious and died shortly afterwards. The deceased was a son of James Millar, a well-known resident of Nassagaweya, and a veteran who carries many medals of the Crimean War.

Goes Back to Baltimore.

Hamilton, Jan. 25.—Dr. Dawson, the dentist, wanted to answer to serious charges in Baltimore, who at first prepared to make a fight against extradition, changed his mind and left on the train at 6 o'clock last evening for Baltimore. He was accompanied by Detectives Hagan and Burns. He decided that it would be useless to waste money in a fight against extradition.

Killed By a Train.

Bracebridge, Jan. 25.—A man said to be from Uffington, and named McDougal, was killed last night by a train. He tried to board the train, and as far as can be judged caught it, but could not keep his hold. One leg and one arm were severed from his body.

Farm Laborer Hangs Himself.

Brandon, Jan. 25.—Christopher McPhield, a farm laborer employed by H. C. McPhail, hanged himself in the barn yesterday afternoon. He came from Markham Township near Toronto. He has a brother in the Dauphin district.

Oldest Resident Dies.

Colborne, Jan. 25.—The oldest resident in these parts, in the person of Thomas Howard, passed away at his residence in Lakeport, Monday, 23rd. The deceased was born in Cambridgeshire, in England, Sept. 18, 1818.

Lawyers and the Law.

I expeck it 'd be only a poor lawyer couldn't argue a tack into a cow—'n' out of her again, too, f'r that matter—'n' Mr. Weskin ain't no poor lawyer. He's fine 's they make. Of course a good deal of the time no one knows what he means, but that ain't nothin' ag'in him, f'r I think with a lawyer you generally don't. It's a part of their business not to let no one know what they mean, f'r 'f law was simple no one 'd ever get fooled.

It takes another lawyer to see what a lawyer is doin', anyhow. When a lawyer says anything is so to me I never take no time to disbelieve him, 'cause he'd never got to be in the law a tall if he wan't able to prove the truth of his own lyin'.—"Susan Clegg and Her Friend, Mrs. Lathrop," by Anne Warner.

A Monster Flag Pole.

The coast artillery station at Fort Hunt, Va., on the Potomac, opposite Fort Washington, is to have a flag pole from the top of which the garrison flag can be seen for many miles. The new pole is about 125 feet long. It is in five sections and is built up of piping held together by steel bands. The pole will stand on a high eminence at the fort, and the flag at its top will wave to the breeze about 300 feet above the level of the river.

NOW IN STATE OF SIEGE

Chief of Police Rules Though Marked For Death.

Gen. Trepoff, Whose Iron Hand Slaughtered the People On Sunday, Is Entrusted By the Czar With St. Petersburg—Bomb-Throwing Incited—Trouble Feared in Moscow—The Firms Demonstrate—Where British Sympathy Lies.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—St. Petersburg will be declared in a state of siege to-day. Gen. Trepoff, until recently chief of police of Moscow, has been appointed governor-general of St. Petersburg, and has taken up quarters in the Winter Palace. Strangely enough, the only precedent is the case of Gen. Trepoff's father during the reign of Nihilistic terrorism under Alexander II., and it is also a strange coincidence that unsuccessful attempts were made on the lives of both. Gen. Trepoff is a man of great energy, but the measures he adopted at Moscow for suppressing the student demonstrations in December last provoked much resentment, and the revolutionists recently condemned him to death

The aspect of the Russian capital is decidedly more calm. Business, which had been at a complete standstill, has been resumed upon a limited scale. The employes in a few of the smaller factories resumed work yesterday, and the crowds of strikers in the streets were diminished. Troops in evidence were not so numerous as on Monday, and a more confident feeling exists in official circles that the energetic measures which have been inaugurated will ensure the safety and quiet of the city.

Beneath the surface, however, the ferment continues and the public nervousness and apprehension as to future developements is still unallayed. Secret meetings of different classes in opposition to the existing order of things were held in various places during the afternoon and evening. The concensus of opinion is that the immediate future actions of the agitators depends upon what occurs in Moscow and other large cities of Russia, where the workmen are beginning to strike Over 100,000 men are out in the old capital. There will be a big demonstration there today, and it is feared it will be accompanied by bloodshed.

Bomb-Throwing Incited.

London, Jan. 25.—A proclamation in the name of Father Gopon has been circulated, inciting to the use of bombs, dynamite or any weapon whatsoever against the members of the Government, who, it is asserted, outlawed themselves by the course that was adopted against the workmen of St. Petersburg on Sunday.

It is firmly believed and confidently stated by many Russians in London that the army will quickly become disaffected

Finns in a Ferment.

Helsingfors, Finland, Jan. 25.—Thousands of workmen joined in a demonstration here last night. Assembling on the huge steps of the Nicolai Cathedral, they paraded the streets till midnight, waving red flags. The windows of public houses, hotels, breweries and a number of newspaper offices were broken. The police interfered rather late, arresting 50 of the workmen.

Britain's Sympathy.

London, Jan 25.—War Secretary Arnold-Forster, speaking at Croydon last night, expressed the sympathy of the people of the United Kingdom with those of Russia. He said he was sure Britons desired the peasants of Russia to enter upon the heritage of liberty and freedom, which all Britons enjoyed and obtained through the sacrifices of their forefathers.

FATHER GOPON.

His Popularity Is Unimpaired, But Social Democrats Are Gaining.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—There is no truth in the report circulating that strikers, 30,000 strong, are marching upon Kolpino, twenty miles from St. Petersburg, for the purpose of seizing the small arms factory there.

Father Gopon's Popularity.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—Father Gopon's popularity is unimpaired, but it is already evident that the Social Democrats are getting the upper hand, and demands, notably the question of eight hours work per day, and to make an investigation of the shooting of the strikers.

Pravo Editor Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—M. Hesson, editor of The Pravo, whose advanced Liberal views are well known, has been arrested. The Workingmen's Club has been closed by order of the Prefect of Police.

Liberal Literary Men Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—Prof. Kareeff and MM. Annensky and Peschehonoff, three well known writers, and Town Councillors Kedrin and Schnitzkoff, who are also lawyers, were arrested during last night.

Several Men Wounded.

St. Petersburg, Jan 25.—Cossacks while dispersing a crowd of strikers at 4 p. m. yesterday, drew their swords and wounded several men. Work has been suspended at the works of the Belgian Electrical Company, which furnished the majority of the electrical supply of St Petersburg.

Strike Spreading At Moscow,

Moscow, Jan 25.—The strike is spreading rapidly. All printing works have been stopped No newspapers will be issued to-day. Employes of The Bachrushin, Michailoff, Linder and Schraeder factories have joined in the strike. The police have ordered all arms to be removed from the windows of the gunsmiths, a majority of whom have closed their shops

Boiler Workers Forced to Quit.

Moscow, Jan. 25.—The employes of the Bari Boiler Works began work yesterday morning, but the strikers forced their way into the works and ordered the men to cease work.

"Down With the Czar."

Trieste, Jan 25.—Several hundred workmen assembled before the Russian Consulate here Monday night, crying: "Down with the Czar!" "Down with the tyranny!" "Down with absolution!" The police dispersed the crowd without difficulty. A few arrests were made.

Strike Begun At Vilna.

Vilna, Russia, Jan. 25.—A strike has commenced here. The town is quiet.

Moscow, Jan. 25.—A body of strikers at noon yesterday forced their way into the works of the firm of Hopper & Co. and compelled 500 men to join the strike. Simultaneously factories and other works were closed throughout the districts adjoining Daniloff street.

Japs Eagerly Watching.

Tokio, Jan. 25.—The Japanese are keenly watching the developments at St. Petersburg. The newspapers publishing extras with accounts of the riots are eagerly read.

Radom in a State of Siege.

Breslau, Prussia, Jan. 25.—Special telegrams from Radom, European Russia, describe that city as being in a state of siege, with military patrols in every street, who occasionally fire on gatherings of the people who have returned the fire, killing three officers. The people have blown up buildings with dynamite.

FOR BETTER OR WORSE.

Question of Colonial Union to Be Settled By British Nation.

London, Jan. 25.—(C.A.P.)—Right Hon. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at Moseley, said not to-day nor to-morrow, but within the lifetime of this generation we should have to decide either for better or for worse whether we would strive for a closer union with our kindred nations across the seas now growing in strength and population or whether we were to leave them to work out their destiny apart from us. Those who wished the attainment of that closer union must look at this great problem from the point of view of the whole Empire, not merely from a selfish and individual point of view.

No Dissolution.

London, Jan. 25.—(C.A.P.)—Home Secretary Akers-Douglas, speaking at Dover last night, announced that unless the Government should be defeated there will be no dissolution of Parliament. The Government, he said, has no intention of making an appeal to the country till the end of their term of office.

Fed With Rhetoric.

London, Jan. 25.—(C. A. P.)—Speaking at Weston-Super-Mare, Prof. Bryce said relations between Great Britain and the self-governing colonies would be one of the problems for the next Liberal Government. The Ministry and Mr. Chamberlain, scarcely conscious of the neglected duties, were feeding the people with vague rhetoric about the Empire—the Empire by all means—but the best way to strengthen the Empire was to increase the happiness of the people on whose physical well-being and intellectual force both the kingdom and the Empire rested.

PREMIER ROSS KNEW.

Mr. Whitney Gives Some New Facts About Coalition Proposal.

Kingston, Jan. 25.—A magnificent rally marked the close of the tour of J. P. Whitney in the City Hall last evening. Mr. Whitney spoke for over an hour and was in splendid form. He dealt only with the political condition of Ontario.

Dealing with the coalition proposition, Mr Whitney gave some new facts to his second meeting with Hon. J. M. Gibson. The latter said Premier Ross alone knew of the proposals, and would say in the House if Mr Whitney accepted, "I have decided to take into my Ministry the leader of the Opposition." (Sensation.)

Mr. Whitney closed the finest address of his campaign by an eloquent appeal to act in accord with the high moral sense of Ontario.

He left on the midnight train for his home in Morrisburg, where he will receive the returns.

Briber Caught Red-Handed.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 25.—Word has just been received by special messenger from Chippewa that a very prominent citizen of that place was caught red-handed last evening while bribing an elector. The man captured made the following declaration:

"I, Andrew Haun, of the village of Chippewa, in the County of Welland, do solemnly declare that I was requested by one John Carter, J. P., of the village of Chippewa, to offer certain voters in the said village of Chippewa the sum of $5 each to induce them to vote for Joseph Battle, the Reform candidate, for the present elections, or if I could not so induce them to vote to offer them the same amount each to refrain from voting at said election and further that the said John Carter would reimburse me for any outlay I would make in this respect.

"(Signed) Andrew Haun."

Andrew Haun is a member of the village council of Chippewa. He was captured by Thomas Flummerfelt of the Baltimore Hotel, Chippewa, in the act of bribing, and he immediately placed him under arrest, and took him before W. E. B. McKenzie, J.P. Haun then made the above declaration.

The Brown Bubble Burst.

Pickering, Jan. 25.—The bubble has burst and the Liberals are wondering where they are at. The magistrate has enlarged the case till Monday next, but the evidence was ample to show that Brown was the victim of a plot.

William Vanstone has admitted that it was a put-up job, though they worked it well. He also admitted he tampered with Brown's drinks for the purpose of getting Brown drunk so they could work him. He also admitted Brown did not have a big roll of money, but thought he had about $70.

Law said that Brown was very drunk, and if he were in the condition Brown was in, he would not consider he was responsible for his actions. This admission was got from him with great difficulty in giving his evidence.

William Stanley expressed himself in Whitby as ashamed of his share in the plot, and said he would give $1,000 if he were out of the job, that it was a dirty mean piece of business for one friend to put up on another When a man attempts to make a reparation such as this, much can be excused.

William Stanley, Wilfrid Law, Lorne Squires and William Vanstone appeared before George Parker, J.P., on charges of perjury in connection with the conspiracy accusing Nicholas C Brown of bribery The statutory declarations of Law, Vanstone, Squires and Stanley, which first appeared in The Globe were produced.

Nicholas Brown was the first witness. He repeated the story in his affidavit, already published, denying the charges in the affidavits which appeared in The Globe. He was severely cross-examined by Mr. Robinette, but did not weaken in any particular. His evidence at the close was unshaken.

George Long was the next witness. He proved that he and Vanstone surreptitiously poured whiskey into Brown's glass, behind his back, without his knowledge.

McGuire followed. He stated that he had seen Brown with this crowd drinking and suspected that they were holding him up. He called Brown out of their company and they went to the stable. Brown was too much under the influence of liquor to count the money, so McGuire counted it and said, "There is just $31." Brown replied, "That's all right; I had only $35 when I left home."

Devitt was the next witness. He said he overheard Vanstone talking in a barber shop. Vanstone made use of this remark, "I've tried a long time to get even with that Gamey case, and now I've done it."

Ed. Gleason heard this same expression of Vanstone's in the barber shop. He also heard another conversation, in which Palmer said to Vanstone: "That was a pretty nice trick you played on Brown," and Vanstone made no attempt to deny it was a trick.

This closed the evidence for the prosecution.

The defence called Stanley Law, Squire and Vanstone, and all repeated their stories as related in the declarations.

Palmer stated that Brown had offered him $20 to work for Calder that same Saturday evening, the offer being made in the presence of Vanstone; but on cross-examination they both admitted (Vanstone and Palmer) that the offer was made in a joke; that they did not take it seriously and that it was never thought to be a serious offer.

On cross examination by C. C. Robinson, all of the accused swore that they were well-known by Brown and everybody in the neighborhood to be active working Liberals of the most pronounced type, and that a man would be either drunk or crazy to attempt to bribe any of them with the exception of Vanstone, who added that he "might be bribed if the price was high enough."

Accomplished More.

Towne—Your wife has been telling my wife what a jewel your new cook is; says that with the same quantity of food she accomplishes twice as much as any other girl you ever had.

Browne—So it seems. At any rate I have twice as much dyspepsia as I used to have.—Philadelphia Press.

Nothing Doing.

"Johnny, don't bother me. Didn't your father say he would help you with your examples?"

"Yes, ma'am, but he said he would do it at his leisure."

As she knew by experience what that meant, she did it herself.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Domestic Diagnosis.

Ethel—Oh, George, I've been to see the doctor, and he says I can't play golf!

George (a rude, unfeeling husband)—Indeed? But you might have saved his fee by coming to me, for I could have told you that long ago.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Two Cases.

"Ah," sighed the melancholy young man, "perhaps you don't know what it is to be homesick?"

"Don't I, though?" replied Henpeck. "I'm sick of it all the time, and the worst of it is there's no relief in sight." —Philadelphia Ledger.

The Celery Cure.

Ho, all ye rheumatics! Celery never was finer than that which you find in the market just now. Chop up the stalks in pieces an inch and a half in length, boil them in water until soft, then drink the water, or stew them in milk and butter, thicken with a little flour and eat warm with toast or potatoes. Rheumatism is impossible, it is said, if the vegetable be cooked and freely eaten. Besides, there is no greater delicacy than stewed celery. The value of the plant lies in the apiol, or parsley camphor, it contains. This dilates the blood vessels and has few equals as a diaphoretic and diuretic. Anything that produces a profuse perspiration is good for the rheumatic patient. All the world knows that celery is the best absorbent a drinking man can take, and its action on the kidneys and viscera is most healthful. —New York Press.

CHINESE ARE NEUTRAL

China's Reply to Russia Says No Japs in Northern Army.

But There Are Several Translators in the Government School At Paotingfu, Who, However, Were All Engaged Before the War—On the Other Hand China Considers Russia Has Violated Neutrality.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—China's answer to the American Government's communication calling attention to the charges that the Chinese were violating neutrality was delivered to United States Secretary of State Hay at his residence yesterday by Sir Chentung Liang Cheng, the Chinese Minister. It will later be sent to the President. Until the Chinese answer has been read by the President its text is withheld, but the Associated Press has obtained an approved synopsis of the note. Regarding the charge that the Chinese bandits are enlisted in the Japanese army, the Chinese Government calls attention to the fact that they were enlisted first by the Russians as frontier guards, and fought against the Japanese.

"We find no Japanese officers in our northern army at all. We do find in the Government school in Paotingfu, several Japanese translators. All of them, however, had been engaged before the war. They are on the same footing as Russians and other foreigners in educational institutions throughout the Empire. China further regards this as a matter of internal administration of which no other Government has cause to complain."

Regarding the iron ore said to have been furnished the Japanese army, the answer says this ore is from certain mines owned by Chinese merchants, separate from the Government mines at Hangyang. The transactions are not recognized by the Chinese Government. The Matao Islands are said to have been used by the Japanese as a base for their navy. The Chinese Government for the past year has stationed the swift cruiser Haiki to watch this island, and no sign of any landing of Japanese has been reported to the Government. Regarding the articles of contraband alleged to have been sent to Dalny, the answer says, ships have left Che Foo with the knowledge of the Chinese Government for Dalny, and no clearance papers for that port has been issued by the Chinese custom officials.

Regarding the Ryshetelni incident it is stated that the seizure was as unexpected by the Chinese as by the Russians. The Chinese Government did everything it could against such seizure. The Chinese Government later requested Japan to return the vessels, while the incident is not yet closed, China considers her Government has done all possible in the matter. The Chinese Government considers that Russia has violated neutrality in a number of instances. Bridges have been built by the Russians over the Liao River, and Russian troops have encamped on the west side of the river, which is supposed to mark the boundary line of the neutral zone. In many places in the neutral zone the Russians have forced the sale of provisions.

The Chinese have made protests of the Russian smuggling ammunition, arms and other contraband articles. The captain of the Ryshetelni, while going to Shanghai under military escort, made his escape from the authorities in whose charge he was. It is stated in conclusion that in view of the baseless charges made by a belligerent, China feels it incumbent upon her to make this answer and let the truth be known; that the Chinese Government has not swerved one iota from her neutrality, and that the general attitude of her people is peaceful and has been appreciated as such by the powers.

For Municipal Phones.

Winnipeg, Jan. 25.—A resolution was passed Monday night by the City Council, "that this Council is of the opinion that the telephone system of Winnipeg should be owned and operated by the city, and do hereby request the Local Legislative Committee to press upon the Local Legislature the importance of retaining for the city the sole right of owning and operating the telephone system and granting to the city such powers, as far as they can, with a view to municipalising the Bell Telephone Company system in this city."

THE HOUSE IN SUPPLY

Big Progress Made in Passing the Main Estimates.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Announces That the Wages of the Charwomen Have Been Raised to 75 Cents Per Day—Hon. George E. Foster's Suggestive Comment—Mr. Fitzpatrick Eulogizes Col. Sherwood—Delicate Constitutional Question.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—Civil Government estimates covering the Departments of Militia, Justice, Interior, Indian Affairs and Geological Survey, were put through at yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Commons, and good progress made with the postoffice estimates before the House rose at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Speaker announced the receipt of the certificate of election of Arthur Lachance as the member for Quebec Centre, and he was subsequently introduced by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fitzpatrick.

Messrs. McPherson of Vancouver, and Mr. Boyd of West Algoma, were added to the committee on railways, canals and telegraph lines, the former taking the place of Deputy Speaker Marcil.

The Militia Estimates.

The House then went into committee of supply and took up the estimates of the Militia Department. In the absence of Sir Frederick Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained the several changes in the Department.

Mr. Foster asked as to the status of the suit arising out of the Martineau defalcations. Mr. Fitzpatrick said that the Government had taken action against the Bank of Montreal to recover the amount of Martineau's defalcations, in turn suing the banks through which the cheques passed. The case was now standing for judgment.

Mr. Foster commented upon the apparent looseness of a system which allowed a raw and inexperienced clerk to get away with such a large sum of money.

The Minister of Justice replied that no institution could be perfectly secured against forgery. As to the precaution of having two signatures to cheques, it was not always effective, as during the Martineau trial it came out that the bank had paid a cheque that had no signature upon it at all.

Mr. Fowler asked if action had been taken against the guarantee company that furnished the bond for Martineau. Mr. Fitzpatrick replied that, the Government did not consider it was concerned in the matter, the case was against the bank, and if the Government recovered from the bank the bank could look after the bondsmen.

The Interior Estimates.

Militia estimates passed, those of the Interior were taken up. Mr. Foster asked the reason for Mr. Smart's resignation as he was a man in his prime and an active official. Sir Wilfrid did not know the reason, but supposed it was because Mr. Smart could better himself in private business. He had not been superannuated. Mr. Smart's successor was W. W. Cory, who, since 1901, had for four years been inspector of offices in the Yukon, and had given satisfaction.

"I suppose there is no doubt that Mr. Cory is of the right hon. gentleman's political persuasion," Mr. Foster remarked.

"I don't know," was the answer, "but I hope he is."

Charwomen Raised to 75 Cents.

Indian Affairs, Finance, High Commissioners office, Geological Survey and Interior, were passed. During the discussion of the item for the departments generally, in reply to a question by Mr. Foster, the Prime Minister said the pay of charwomen had been increased in October last to 75 cents per day.

"You have taken things with great and small, autonomy for the Northwest, 25 cents a day increase to the charwomen, all done about the same time and for the same reason," said Mr. Foster.

It was implied in explanations of the Minister of Justice in reference to living expenses of $5,000 a year allowed to judges in the Yukon, that it is the intention of the Government to remove one of the three judges there to some part of the Northwest. The Opposition criticised the continuation of the same scale of living allowances to judges and officials in the Yukon as prevailed during the earlier days of the mining camp. Mr. Fitzpatrick said that he was informed the cost of living had not decreased since 1900, but in the end he promised that the matter of living allowances in the Yukon generally would be investigated.

Col. Sherwood Eulogized.

In the discussion of the estimates for Dominion police, $37,000, an increase, of $5,000, the Minister of Justice paid a high tribute to the commissioner, Col. Sherwood, C.M.G., who Mr. Fitzpatrick said was one of the most competent police officials in the Dominion adding that the Government had paid his salary from $2,000 to $3,000 a year without solicitation, the forty police officers and men had been given an increase of 25 cents per day all round, and two constables had been added to the force owing to the additional duty involved in placing the several Government offices scattered throughout the city.

Dr. Daniel of St. John, asked to what extent the Parliament buildings were under provincial or municipal jurisdiction. He had read in the press, he said, of a municipal officer having visited the building and laid information against a barber for shaving on Sunday.

"My hon. friend," replied the Minister of Justice, "has raised a somewhat delicate constitutional question. But, this much I may tell him, that if the Dominion police were aware that any person was visiting the House for the purpose of obtaining such information he would receive very scant courtesy indeed."

The estimate of the Postmaster-General were under consideration when the committee rose, and the House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Coyne Deep In It.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 25.—The case of William Coyne, late assistant general manager of the Consolidated Company, who was reported for wrongfully providing transportation at the last election, was taken up before trial judges yesterday afternoon. Lack Kennedy again told his story of his connection with the trip, as in his confession in which he connected C. N. Smith with the trip of the Minnie M. Superintendent Kennedy of the railway, and Captain Batten and Steward Richardson of the Minnie M. told of instructions for the trip received from Mr. Coyne, while Returning Officer Nichols and Harmen gave again the details of the voting at Helen Mine and Gravel Beach. The evidence for the prosecution being all in, the court was adjourned about 4 p. m. until this morning.

Dies Aged 103 Years.

Brockville, Jan. 25.—From Berryton, a small place in Leeds County, comes news of the death of Mrs. John Dunn, a remarkable old lady of 103 years and 11 months. She was born in Enniskillen, Ireland, Feb. 6, 1801. Eighteen years later she came to the Township of Bastard, where she spent the greater part of her life. Her husband is dead and a family of one son and five daughters survive.

PUTTING IT STRONG

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting starving themselves or going to the opposite extreme or else deluging the already over burdened stomach with "bitters" "after dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained?

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy but its success and popularity leave no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach. The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

David Walker Dead.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—The death occurred yesterday morning at Riverside, Cal., of David Walker, for 28 years proprietor of the Walker House in the city. He was born at Glasgow in 1830, and came to Canada in 1855 and for many years was connected with the Northern Railway. For some time he was a resident of Chatham, and then removed to Toronto. In 1880-1-3-6 he was in the City Council and was largely instrumental in the selection of the site of the City Hall. Mr. Walker was twice married. Four daughters survive.

Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

A FORMER PETERBOROUGH MAN'S SUCCESS
OWNER OF A PROSPEROUS FARM IN MANITOBA

Operates One Thousand Acres—Eleven Thousand Bushels of Grain From Crop of 1905—All This the Result of Twenty-two Years of Push and Energy.

The illustrations printed herewith are views taken on the farm of Mr. W. A. King, in the Province of Manitoba, at a point near the town of Souris. Twenty-five years ago this section of the province was practically unbroken ground, lying in its original prairie state. The hand of man has wrought the change.

Twenty-two years ago Mr. King was a resident of Peterborough. He was engaged in the sewing machine business and gained a fairly good livelihood. He had served his time as apprentice to the druggist business with the old firm of Ormond & Gilmour, afterwards Ormond & Walsh, and under which name it still continues in Peterborough. Finding the occupation not congenial, he took up that of dispensing sewing machines, and followed in that line until 1882. Then he had a severe attack of the Western fever and decided to take up land and farm. He eventually settled on Section 36, Township 6, Range 22, of Manitoba, and undertook the labors incidental to settlement, in 1883. For a time the family lived in a tent and until the first house could be built. As a matter of comparison it is interesting to note that the first season's crop gave 20 bushels of wheat, which, if sold at that time, would have to be hauled 30 miles to be sold, and the average price was 35 cents per bushel. Next season the crop was larger, and each succeeding year saw the harvest increasing. Last season (1904) the net return from the farm was 11,000 bushels of wheat and 6,800 bushels of oats, wheat selling at 85 cents, and oats at 30 cents with a short haul to the elevator.

As a matter of statistics it may be stated that Mr. King employs, steadily, 14 hands, besides the work done by members of the family. He keeps 26 horses steadily at work about the farm.

One of the illustrations shows the operation of threshing out the grain. The sheaves are not, as is the custom here, piled up, but are drawn directly from the field to the thresher. The capacity of the machine (driven by steam power) is so large that 7 teams are required to bring the sheaves and supply its needs. Mr. King, when asked what he thought the farm was worth, said in the neighborhood of $30,000.

It will be observed that the engravings show no trees. It is not because there are not trees in that part of the country, but because it has been found that if placed close to the house the snow, driven by the prevailing winds, banks it up in great drifts, which take a long time to thaw out. Often piles of snow are found late in May, which have not thawed out and disappeared.

Mr. King recommends that parties going into Manitoba or the Northwest will do better, if they have even a moderate amount of capital, to buy improved land, or land which has been under cultivation, and on which there are some buildings. This ensures a crop at once. In the improved sections it requires from two to three seasons for the settler to get on his feet and begin to get back something for his labor.

HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

"Chaucer" Elliott, of Kingston, will referee tomorrow night's game between Belleville and the Juniors.

The boys are going to play the return game in Peterborough on Friday night and expect to reverse the score.—Lindsay Post.

Tomorrow night's game with Belleville should attract a big crowd. It is the first junior League game of the season and will be a fast and clever exhibition of hockey. Turn out and encourage the youngsters if you want to see any hockey here during the coming years. The game will be a hard fought one, as the two teams appear to be evenly matched.

Isn't the following from the Lindsay Post refreshing?—

The Post and the lovers of true sport regret the occurrence at the station last night as the visiting supporters were getting on board. A few of the Lindsay young boys and some older ones undertook to repay the ill-treatment received at Peterborough a week ago, and when the train pulled out the Peterborough players and supporters retaliated by throwing handfuls of coal and two or three empty whisky bottles at the Lindsayites. One of the bottles struck Mr. W. Bickaby, a Lindsay boy, on the forehead, inflicting a nasty cut. "Bill" is a young fellow who had nothing to do with the rowdyism displayed by a few others. The true hockey sports regret the usage, which was the work of four or five young men.

add hockey

A match in the Guild league will be played to-night when George-st. will play All Saints' at 7.15 o'clock in All Saints' rink. The George-st. team will be as follows—Motheral, Best, Wood, Weeks, Bamber, Robertson and Brownscombe.

Two interesting matches will be held in the Guild League series to-night. All Saints' will play George-st. at seven o'clock and Charlotte-st. will tackle St. John's at 8.15. A large crowd is expected as great rivalry exists between the various teams. Good games are expected. Ten cents admits to both.

LITTLE LOCAL LINERS

—The choir of Mark street church were entertained at the parsonage on Tuesday evening by the Rev. and Mrs. Lewis. The evening was enjoyably spent in music and games.

—The annual congregational meetings of Charlotte-st. Methodist church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian church will be held to-morrow night.

—Though the thermometer did not register a very low mark last night it was, notwithstanding, a bitterly cold night on account of the strong wind from the north-west. Zero was the lowest point reached, but with the moderation of the wind this evening a low figure will probably be reached to-night, as the conditions are favorable.

—A quiet wedding was celebrated at St. Patrick's church, Rochester, by the Rev. Father Hickey, recently, when Miss Elizabeth Lillie Roche became the wife of Mr. Frank Gleason. Owing to the recent death of the groom's mother the wedding was quiet. The bride was attired in a blue travelling suit with mink hat and furs. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Marjorie Cleary, while Mr. J. O'Hara supported the groom. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gleason will reside in Rochester, where Mr. Gleason conducts a prosperous grocery business.

—It is proposed to give courses of instruction to train hands on the C.P.R. All train hands will be obliged to pass rigorous examinations in train rules and train handling. These examinations will take place at fixed intervals, and full courses of instruction will be given. The intention is to educate all train men to the highest possible point of efficiency so that great efficiency, speed and safety may be attained. Under the new regulations each man is supposed to be able to take charge of a train, and to be able to understand all signals or rules of the road and all conditions.

LANDSLIDES.

Not Mountain Movements, but Great Political Upheavals.

In the history of this country there have been political landslides besides that of Nov. 8 last. Thomas Jefferson was elected president in 1804 by 162 votes to 14 for Charles C. Pinckney, the Federalist candidate. In 1820 the re-election of James Monroe would have been unanimous except for the desire of one elector to reserve to Washington the exclusive honor of a unanimous choice. Accordingly, one vote was cast for John Quincy Adams, the remaining 231 votes being given to Monroe. Andrew Jackson's second election in 1832 was by a vote of 219 to 49 for Henry Clay. Martin Van Buren defeated William Henry Harrison four years later by 170 to 73, and at the following election the tables were turned by a vote of 234 to 60 in favor of Harrison. The next two elections were closer, but in 1852 Franklin Pierce defeated Winfield Scott by a vote of 254 to 42.

Lincoln defeated McClellan in 1864 by an electoral vote of 212 to 21, although this result was greatly disproportionate to the popular vote, which was divided—Lincoln, 2,216,067; McClellan, 1,808,725. Grant defeated Seymour in 1868 by 214 to 80 votes. The only electoral plurality since the great war to exceed that for Roosevelt was obtained by Grant over Greeley in 1872. Grant's vote was 286 and Greeley's 42. The death of Greeley occurred between the dates of the popular election and the casting of the electoral vote, and the Greeley electors of five states cast their votes for Thomas A. Hendricks.

Cleveland's election in 1892 was by a great electoral plurality. The division was: Cleveland, 277; Harrison, 145. Cleveland's popular plurality was nearly 400,000. McKinley's second defeat of Bryan was also overwhelming. The electoral vote was 292 to 155 and the popular vote 7,218,358 to 6,357,397.—Chicago News.

Foreign Labels For Sale.

Many have looked with awe upon suit cases and steamer trunks covered with labels of every size and color and thought enviously of the advantages the traveled owners of such baggage had over the poor stay at homes. The baggage proclaimed that its owners had been from Sydney to San Francisco, from Copenhagen to Colombo, to say nothing of visiting half the capitals and health resorts of the continent. But the iconoclast has found shops where such baggage is sold, all shattered and battered and labeled with a score of foreign towns, although it may never have traveled two miles from the Grand Central station.—New York Herald.

In Saxony no one is permitted to shoe horses unless he has passed a public examination and is properly qualified.

Odd Moorish Belief.

The Moors believe that Boabdil and his hosts are sleeping in a cave in the hills of Grenada and that they will sooner or later venture forth and restore the glory of the Moors in Spain.

Hairpins.

The hairpins come from Painswick, a village in the Stroud valley, England. There is the greatest hairpin factory in the world. Strangely enough, this factory employs only 300 persons, the machinery used being automatic and requiring but little attention as it grinds miles of wire into tons of hairpins.

A Long Time Building.

The canal through the isthmus of Corinth was projected 600 years before Christ, agitated again 800 years later, actually begun by the Emperor Nero and completed in 1893.

Missed His Chance.

The corporation of Liverpool wanted some land to add to the city's watershed, but offered only $2,000,000 for it, whereas the owner wanted $2,285,000. But the parties submitted the matter to arbitration, and the arbitrators fixed the value of the land at $692,555.

An Afghan is bound by custom to grant a stranger who crosses his threshold and claims protection any favor he may ask, even at the risk of his own life. Yet, apart from this, he is cruel and revengeful, never forgiving a wrong and retaliating at the first opportunity.

The finest ancient marble was that from Paris called parian. The next best was from Mount Pentelicus and Hymettus, near Athens. The finest modern marble is from Carrara.

Diamond Ink.

So called diamond ink for writing on glass is a compound of fluoric acid and barium. The latter has no effect, it being simply a white powder to give body to the acid. The ink can be used with a rubber hand stamp, and it should be allowed to remain fifteen minutes, when the barium will brush off, leaving the design on the glass.

WEST PETERBOROUGH GIVES BRADBURN THE OVERWHELMING MAJORITY OF 1268

The Riding Stands Right in Line With the Province in the General Landslide Against the Ross Government.

All Seventeen Polling Places in Town Contribute Substantial Majorities for the Victorious Conservative Standard-bearer.

The Contest Culminates in Strenuous Work by Both Sides--The Conservative Organization Active and Aggressive--Result Was Veritable Bombshell--The Outcome Not a Party Victory, but a Triumph for the People.

YESTERDAY, Mr. Bradburn, the Liberal-Conservative candidate, was returned as a supporter of the Whitney Government by a majority that will reach 1300. The result in this riding tallies well with that from all over the Province. It shows that the people may be trusted to find themselves, and as the last great Court of Appeal, to render an honest decision. The Province has spoken. After 32 years of office, the Reform Government is wiped off the slate, and only a remnant of the former strength left to occupy the opposition benches.

MAJORITY FOR T. E. BRADBURN 1268, SO FAR

After a battle of a month's duration the fight is over. Polling day, January 25th, 1905, will go down into history as a Waterloo for an administration that has paid no heed to the warnings that the people of the province wanted honest government.

The candidates in the West riding of Peterborough were Mr. T. E. Bradburn, Liberal-Conservative and Mr. R. F. McWilliams, Reform. Mr. Bradburn has been successful beyond the highest anticipations of his friends. Mr. McWilliams did not develop the strength as a candidate that his supporters looked for.

The feature of the contest that culminated yesterday, is the enormous majority gained by Mr. Bradburn, and while the complete returns are not at hand it looks as if it will figure out the largest majority ever attained in the riding and scarcely equalled in the Province outside the cities. Of this the Liberal-Conservative candidate may well be proud. He has worked indefatigably and incessantly during the campaign. He inspired his friends by his industry and persistent energy. Born and brought up in our midst, known to almost every resident, and a familiar figure in the county he needed no introduction and little recommendation. A clean, hearty, zealous party man, a life-long and consistent supporter of Conservative principles, when he accepted the nomination his friends knew that he was as good as two-thirds elected. The other and completing third was found.

Mr. Bradburn's majority is a significant thing. Never before has a candidate carried by substantial majorities every polling place in town. The magnificent plurality of 1044 shows what the town thinks of Mr. Bradburn. No higher testimonial could be offered to a fellow citizen than that which has been proffered by the electors.

The result, gratifying as it is, must not be considered a Conservative triumph. Beyond question Mr. Bradburn has had the votes of large numbers of Liberals. And these have not voted as against their party allegiance, nor have they in any sense severed themselves from party ties, but they have joined with Conservatives in condemning a feature of the campaign as presented by the opposition candidate—or rather for him and as a decisive protest against the acts and practices of the Ross government. Most pointedly has the riding said "it is time for a change."

If the vote of two years ago is contrasted with that of yesterday it will be seen that over 3000 ballots have changed sides. That there were substantial reasons behind this remarkable change is certain. These reasons were varied but effective.

And while Mr. Bradburn receives such a vote and gains such a majority it is not to be taken as an evidence that his opponent is less popular than his friends thought him to be. It is not to his personal discredit. Not unwilling himself, his candidature was forced on the party for which he assumed to stand, and against protest. This may have been a mistake, in that many strong Reformers at once disclaimed him and remained passive. There is no doubt that the active part taken by connections in the pay of the government in urging his candidature was wholly wrong and strongly resented, while the feeling that the riding should not be obliged to submit to a species of dictatorship, aroused opposition and intensified the efforts of the Conservative workers. Mr. McWilliams is defeated but not discredited, and under happier auspices may be again found in the field.

Of the campaign there is not much to recount and nothing to regret. The candidates mutually agreed each to put down his foot against bribery, and that personalities should be avoided. In fact there was little in the life and acts of either that gave occasion for recrimination or accusation, and the argument of the contest was confined to an arraignment or defense of the government.

At moment of writing the full returns for the riding are not at hand, but it is interesting to look at the figures of the vote. They cannot well be compared with—for instance—the Stratton-Miller contest of two years ago, for the boundaries of the town have been altered by the addition of Ward 5. Compared with the recent Kendry-Hall contest it is seen that the total vote cast by the electors of the town in November last was 3063, while the total vote yesterday was 3072, or 9 more. Yesterday's vote was the largest ever polled in Peterborough, and shows the energetic character of the work done in getting out the vote and the increased efficiency of organization. In several of the polling places the list was voted almost to a man. Mr. Bradburn's majority in town was 1014. When the complete returns are to hand some further reference may be made to the figures.

In the country—that is the riding outside the town—as far as heard from, the good work is apparent. Smith gives a majority of 45 for Mr. Bradburn, a remarkable and significant showing. Lakefield comes to the front with a majority for the Conservative candidate of 62. Ennismore that gave Mr. Hall a majority of 83 and Mr. Stratton a majority of 137, gives Mr. Bradburn 23 to the good. North Monaghan sent in the largest majority ever given by the township, 66, in favor of Mr. Bradburn. South Monaghan, reversed the figures of a plurality of 63 for Mr. Stratton into a majority of 24 for Mr. Bradburn.

BRADBURN THE MAN FOR GALWAY

Magnificent Reception Given Victor in Opera House.

THANKS HIS SUPPORTERS

The Member Elect Expresses Appreciation of the Work Done—Organization Was Perfect and Young Conservatives Were in the Thick of It—Procession That Was No Funeral.

There were no disease germs lurking in the atmosphere yesterday and it was a great day for the initiation of pure, honest government. The day was one that will go down to posterity, and hence it might not be out of place to observe that the day broke "bright and fair" with the thermometer doing business in the vicinity of zero. The weather was such indeed, as to be a spur to activity, and the sluggard was not a popular individual. For Mr. Bradburn about fifty rigs were kept on the jump from the opening to the close of the poll, and it was not an infrequent sight to see as many as six or seven men in a single cutter, all on their trip to the polls to record their votes as British subjects. Men were working yesterday who have taken a prominent part in political fights for years past and those staunch old campaigners of many years' standing were in the midst of the fight. They were living examples of the fact that enthusiasm is contagious. Mr. McWilliams also had his workers well organized, but if a prophecy had been made at any stage yesterday, the Conservative Committee rooms on George-st. was by far the most encouraging point for it was a veritable hive of industry and the hum of victory was there. The members of the Young Conservative Club were very active and the result of their organization is seen in the result.

LARGE VOTE POLLED.

As the returns show, the vote was polled in fine style, and the result is one unprecedented in the history of the riding. The most hopeful Conservative did not look for such a landslide, and to the more cynical the activities of the day were such as to cause them to break through the crust and exclaim, "It looks good." The Conservatives were never in better shape, as far as organization was concerned, and they put up the fight of their lives. They had not allowed confidence to hoodwink effort, and hence the work done was thorough and effective. The scrutineers at the polling sub-divisions did their duty well, and there is yet to be heard any statement to the effect that "crooked work" played any part whatever in the battle of the ballots

THE FIRST RETURNS

Time was called at five o'clock and the contestants withdrew to their respective corners to await the decision of the referee. When it came, it was delivered in parcels of goodly size, and within an hour after the closing of the polls it could be seen that Bradburn was "the man for Galway." The first return received was from Perdue's shop in Ward One at which the figures were 118 and 58. Then came the Council Chamber, 115 to 51, and so on until the last return from the town showed that Bradburn led by 1044. It is generally held in elections that the size of the majority in town sets the final result for the whole riding. Even if the Townships had gone wrong the Liberal-Conservative candidate had nothing to fear, but imagine the surprise when it was announced that Smith had rolled up a majority for him, and good old Ennismore had done the proper thing. All these facts created a feeling among the crowds of people who were on the streets waiting for results, that the occasion justified something special and they proceeded to make the victor aware of it. He was carried upon the shoulders of stalwart supporters to the Opera House. An immense crowd had gathered there, and that the result of the campaign was appreciated, was indicated by the cheers and other enthusiastic evidences of jubilation. When the member-elect was conveyed to the platform a cheer went up, the like of which has not been heard in Peterborough for many a long day. The kind of enthusiasm which marked the reception of Mr. Bradburn may be understood when the remark of an old gentleman who was there is repeated—"The crowd is going wild." So indeed, it seemed, and the reception did not check the majority. There were not a few ladies in the gallery and boxes.

THE MEMBER SPEAKS.

Mr. James Kendry was chairman, and called upon Mr. Bradburn, who was given a most cordial reception, it being several moments before he could be heard. He said: Ladies and gentlemen—I assure you this is the proudest moment of my life and I wish to thank you one and all. (Applause.) I desire to express my gratitude to my Conservative friends of West Peterborough for the grand fight they put up to-day. I also wish to express my appreciation of the support of many Liberals who voted for me to-day, and for the very great assistance rendered by them. (Applause.) The Young Men's Conservative Club put up a splendid fight, and to them is due a large share of credit for organization which was so effective in the campaign. (Cheers.) This is certainly a great victory for West Peterborough. I take no credit to myself. The triumph, gentlemen, belongs to you. Again, I say, we have scored a magnificent victory. (Cheers.) Smith and Ennismore did nobly.

A Voice — Ennismore is alright! (Applause.)

Another Voice—What about the Fifth Ward (Applause.)

Mr. Bradburn—That has also done well. Now, gentlemen, I know you would rather see the election returns put on the canvas. I wish to thank the newspapers of the Town of Peterborough for the good, clean fight which they carried on all the way through, and the support I received from that source. An appeal was made to the young men by Mr. McWilliams. Gentlemen, your answer has been given in the excellent majority which has been rolled up for me in the Town of Peterborough, and I thank you for it. (Cheers.) I have been given a grand reception by the ladies, and most pleasing is it to see the evidences of their support in my behalf. I thank the young men and older ones who drove for me to-day although the weather was very cold. In conclusion I thank you for the kindly support which I received. I do not take this victory to myself. It is all yours." (Prolonged cheering and cries of "You're all right.")

RETURNS FROM PROVINCE.

Mr. Kendry was a popular man last night also, and repeated cheers punctuated his little speech, in which he referred in happy terms to the excellent victory.

The returns from the province were thrown upon canvas at the opera house, and announcement of repeated Conservative gains accounted for the frequent cheers. The defeat of strong members of the late Administration was the excuse for special outbursts, and when it became known that Mr. Whitney would be premier and have a big majority to boot, the outburst was unbounded. Interspersed among the figures were numerous witty sentences which provoked no end of merriment and exhultation. A few are given—"Cheers for No. 5 Ward!" "Cheers for the Young Conservatives!" "Wanted, a good pasture for the Old War Horse!" "The Ross Glue Factory sells good A 1 Glue; old bones bought and sold." "Isn't the old man a corker!" "West Peterborough, 1,287—a slight gain." "Whitney and political purity." "South Wellington, J. P. Downey. Good boy, Downie!" "Glengarry lost. They did not know a good thing!" "East Victoria—J. Hilliard Carnegie, a son of the ole man!" "The people have been watching Ross!" "Ross says he did not know the Cap. The Cap. won't know him after to-night!" "A procession will be formed at 9 p.m., and no funeral, either." "East York goes Conservative, the first time in the history of the riding." "There's a hand at the lever that bodes ill for Ross." "North Renfrew—Major Dunlop by a large majority, and it did not cost $40,000 either!"

The 57th band arrived about eight o'clock and added music to the other doings of the jubilation. This feature was received with cheers also, and frequent numbers by the musicians tended to heighten the good feelings of the multitude.

THE PROCESSION.

When it became evident that the Government had been decisively defeated the majority of the crowd swarmed out into the street, where a triumphal procession was formed. Mr. Bradburn was carried shoulder high from the opera and placed in a sleigh that had been house by a number of his supporters waiting him. A score of sturdy Conservatives seized the long ropes attached to the sleigh, and the 57th band, headed by the Union Jack, lead the procession. Roman candles, rockets and flaming brooms added gaiety to the proceedings. There were fully five hundred enthusiastic supporters in the procession, and the welkin rang with their cheers.

The procession proceeded up George-st. to Brock-st., then east to Water, south to Simcoe and west to George, passing the Liberal committee rooms, the sight of which the crowd broke out afresh.

It was a magnificent tribute to Mr. Bradburn. He was enshrouded in a Union Jack, and a broom, which he held in his hand, was the symbol of a clean sweep. Other gentlemen who occupied a seat in the sleigh were Mr. J. J. Lynch, President of the Liberal Conservative Association; Mr. J. Wilson, Vice-President of No. 1 Ward; Mr. Jas. Kendry, Lieut.-Col. Miller, Mr. George Bennett, 3rd Vice-President of the Association, and Mr. R. H. Bradburn.

PLEASING FEATURE.

On returning to the opera house the hero of the occasion was again carried on strong shoulders to the platform, and once again a mighty crowd filled the hall. Mr. Bradburn again briefly addressed them, and this was the signal for another prolonged outburst.

A feature which was decidedly pleasing and which every lover of British fair play was glad to see, was the appearance of Mr. R. F. McWilliams on the platform congratulating the victor. He was repeatedly cheered, and this fact in itself was an index to the manly character of the unsuccessful candidate. There were undoubtedly friends of his in the hall before he entered, but it is not going too far to say that as he stepped down from the platform again and left the hall, every man in the audience was his friend. The regret expressed on every hand was that he had not been the champion of a better cause. It was the Government and not the man which the electors of West Peterborough pronounced against yesterday.

MR. McWILLIAMS.

Mr. Bradburn called for three cheers for Mr. McWilliams, and right royally did the gathering respond. The member-elect said:—"I wish to state that after this contest is over Mr. McWilliams and myself can be as good friends as we ever were. (Cheers). I want to say to you that I consider this has been the cleanest contest that has ever taken place in West Peterborough, and I think Mr. McWilliams will join with me in saying so. There were no personalities indulged in, and we are now at the finish just as good friends as when we began. If Mr. McWilliams had been successful it would have given me pleasure to have done what he has done here to-night, and I thank him most heartily for the good feeling he has shown." (Cheers).

COURTEOUS SPEECH.

Mr. McWilliams was given a cheer that put all of his campaign receptions into the shade. He spoke as follows:—"Mr. Bradburn, and gentlemen, I came over here now to give the heartiest congratulations to Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P. for West Peterborough. (Applause.) You have given me a hard licking, and I congratulate Mr. Bradburn and those who have worked with him on the success of their efforts. That is what they went into it for, and they have achieved their purpose, and I wish to reciprocate in what has been said. (Applause.) There have been no personalities, and we are just as good friends as we were before either of us was nominated. I have endeavored on my part to conduct the campaign in a manner creditable to myself, to my part and to the town of which we are all so proud. I may say the same heartily and frankly for my opponent. (Applause). You have won a big victory, you have been a long time wining it, but got there with interest. (Cheers.) I just want to say here, as I said to my supporters a short time ago, that I hope Mr. Whitney, when he forms his Government, will give to this province a record as creditable and honorable as that which I believe the Ross Government has given, and that Ontario will continue to hold its place as the first province in the Dominion, the first state on this continent. (Cheers.)

Mr. McWilliams, continuing, expressed his best wishes for the Conservative Administration. He was always proud of the town he belonged to; it was a good town, and he believed it the duty of every man, regardless of politics, to do everything he could to uplift the town. If he could do anything in behalf of the interests of Peterborough, no party spirit would be allowed to interfere with that effort. (Cheers.)

In conclusion he again thanked Mr. Bradburn and his supporters on the victory they had achieved, and his favor was received with prolonged applause.

MR. KENDRY POPULAR.

The audience now called for Mr. Kendry, and that gentleman was tendered an ovation when he appeared on the platform. He congratulated Mr. Bradburn on his splendid victory, and he was, moreover, delighted to say that the Province had been redeemed. I say to you it was time

THE ELECTION RESULTS.

The people of Ontario have spoken in no uncertain manner.

They have risen and the cause for which Mr. J. P. Whitney stood, has scored a triumph never equalled in the political annals of the Province. The general result cannot but be viewed by all free and independent men with intense satisfaction. The atmosphere has been cleared, and thousands of good, honest, loyal Liberals in every constituency share in the result. The Ross Government has been judged by its deeds ; and found wanting. The electorate have taught their rulers that pledges must be fulfilled, that the will of the majority must be heeded and that tyranny and chicanery cannot go on forever. The way of the transgressor is hard and that administration which does wrong, apparently without regard to the consequences, will sooner or later have a reckoning day. The reckoning day has arrived. It came on Wednesday and from north and south, and east and west was despatched the answer that violations of the constitution and the trampling under foot of the safeguards and birthrights of the people would no longer be tolerated.

Mr Whitney has been returned with a following sufficiently strong and representative to carry out his pledges to the letter, and all he asks is that, if he does not implement his promises and measure up to the standard on which he appealed to the people and asked them to judge Ross, that he, too, shall be relieved of power at the end of the term. This is a fair, honest and manly attitude. To the cry that he is incompetent, to the charge that he has been non-progressive and narrow guaged, to the reflections that have been cast upon his administrative record and his character—in certain quarters—the citizens of the Province have replied by giving him one of the largest majorities in the new parliament ever accorded a public man. They have also expressed in unmistakable terms their confidence in his policy—which is a comprehensive, progressive and eminently practical one—and the determination that machine rule can no longer hold sway, that fraud and corruption, while they may bring temporary advantage, only meet in the end with the rebuke and punishment which they deserve. Everywhere a change was demanded and the change in the interest of Christian citizenship, national righteousness and moral rectitude has come. Canadians irrespective of party have joined in the one supreme issue, with the single purpose of stamping out that which has degraded and defamed Ontario, and threatened the foundations of responsible government and representative institutions. The struggle yesterday was one of right against wrong, of purity against impurity, of of honor and integrity against mere greed of office, love of power, o'er weening vanity and colossal selfishness.

Thousands of Liberals, disgusted and ashamed at the revelations in their party, stood out boldly for a new epoch in the struggle for good government and realized that the grave situation required heroic treatment.

The Conservative who goes around crowing over the result, jibing his neighbbor or saying unkind things, is no true citizen or a loyal upholder of the better interests of his party. The present contest was not a party victory, but one in which those who love freedom who regard public office as a sacred trust, who favor consistency and honesty and esteem the reputation and character of the Province as supreme over all, united to give expression to their views and place on record their condemnation in the only way at their disposal. Mr. Whitney is to be congratulated on his sweeping victory and greater still as a cause for satisfaction is the knowledge that right has triumphed over might, and that the Province has taken a decisive step towards electoral regeneration. The voter will himself be protected in the exercise of his privilege to vote according to his conscience and the responsibility for the purity of elections has been placed where it belongs—to the powers that govern.

Ontario has done nobly.

IN WEST PETERBOROUGH.

The result of yesterday's election in West Peterborough affords ample cause for congratulation, not alone in the return by an overwhelming majority of such a worthy and representative a candidate as Mr. Thomas Evans Bradburn, but also in the fact that this riding has joined hands with so many others throughout the Province in upholding the cause of honest government and sending a staunch supporter to assist Mr. Whitney, our new Premier, in the task which lies before him.

The triumph is not a party one in the general sense of the word, but an instance of where the people of the constituency have raised their voice as a strong protest, irrespective of political leanings or personal prejudices, in a movement which engaged the attention and enlisted the sympathy and support of all right-thinking, free and independent electors—who believe in majority rule in the Province and stand for a pure ballot, a clean administration and the moral uplifting of the Province.

The verdict, in which many hitherto life long Liberals united, was a strong condemnation of the fraud, weakness, tyranny and corruption which has characterized the Ross administration. Conscientious men, Liberals and Conservatives alike—felt that the future depended upon their action and they spoke with no uncertain sound.

Then again the candidature of Mr. McWilliams was not acceptable to a large number of his own party, who either held aloof in the contest, not going to the polls, or else voting against him, because they believed in so doing that they were serving the best and truest interests of their party and their candidate.

The credit of the victory is in a large measure attributable to the effective and thorough organisation of the party—there being plenty of time to get the working forces in shape—and their efforts were characterized by a spirit of unity and harmony that inspired success and created confidence.

In the grand work new blood was a large component part. This was infused by the Young Conservative Club, organised a few weeks ago on a firm, progressive, basis and comprising in membership 600 or 700 young men—and older ones, too—who were determined to leave no stone unturned in carrying out the best traditions and the high principles which animate the grand old party.

Youth is the time for action, and the truthfulness of this was abundantly proven in the strenuous, united and systematic work carried on by the club, who have demonstrated what a band of men, linked together by a strong resolve, and having a splendid aim and single purpose, can accomplish. The Young Conservative Club have taught the party in the riding a useful and helpful lesson in organisation and have disclosed what can honestly be done, especially in the town. There is nothing that counts for more than honest, persistent, intelligent effort, and when the purpose sought is to place a man like Mr. Bradburn, in every way so well qualified and worthy, in parliament, the effort is the more deserving of success and the reward richly repays all for the expenditure of time, energy and attention.

Mr. Bradburn's return will be hailed with joy throughout the riding, where he is so well known and so well thought of. He will make a wide-awake, alert and faithful representative in the new Government and hundreds of friends, irrespective of party will congratulate him on his success. They feel certain that in his hands the interests of Peterborough and all that pertains to its continued welfare, advancement and prosperity are in safe keeping. All honor to Mr. Bradburn. He will be a credit to the constituency which elected him and a representative in whom all will take pride and watch the career of usefulness and service which lies before him, with encouragement and satisfaction.

HEALTH OF PROVINCE.

Smallpox, Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria Are Less Prevalent.

Dr. Hodgetts, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, issued this morning the following statement concerning the health of the Province during the month of December, 1904:

"The total number of deaths from all causes, as reported by the municipal clerks, are 2,077, representing a population of 1,959,643, which gives a death rate of 12.7 per cent. per 1,000 and for the corresponding period of 1903, 2,141 deaths were returned from a population of 2,051,965, which gave a death rate of 12.5 per cent.

"As may be seen by the comparative table, smallpox, scarlet fever and diphtheria are less prevalent throughout the Province, while measles, whooping cough, typhoid and consumption show an upward tendency.

The following is the record for 1904:

	Cases	Deaths
Smallpox	2	0
Scarlet fever	168	15
Diphtheria	437	[illegible]
Measles	125	7
Whooping cough	45	4
Typhoid	[illegible]	20
Total	1,011	[illegible]

The following is the record for 1903:

	Cases	Deaths
Smallpox	13	0
Scarlet fever	231	20
Diphtheria	474	72
Typhoid	130	24
Measles	14	1

Cured Kidney Disease

Mrs. Fred Hills, Walton St., Port Hope, Ont., states: "I was troubled for some time with kidney disease, and though I tried a great many different medicines never succeeded in obtaining relief until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. By the regular use of this preparation for a time I was completely cured of kidney disease."

ON WAY TO INDIA

Four Young Women to Engage in Industrial Evangelistic Mission Work.

On the Atlantic today rapidly making their way to India, could be found four young women, the pioneer missionaries for the "Industrial Evangelistic Mission of Northern India." These young women have caught a new idea. They see that there is a better way to reach India's millions than has hitherto been tried to any extent.

The opening of India to world-wide competition is furnishing one of the grandest opportunities afforded to any age for men and women to plant themselves in this great land; while teaching a line of work to the suffering convicts who because of their acceptance of Christianity are now cut off from any means of livelihood, to become witnesses for Christ. The Christians in India are, by far, the greatest sufferers. A Hindu or Mohammedan can find work to do; but the converts for whom many missionaries have lain down their lives, are starving because of their faithfulness to our common Saviour. It is to keep such, to build them upon character, so that we may have a strong self-supporting church, that these young women have turned their backs on Canada. Miss Barabre Mould, a graduate of the Toronto Bible Training School, has the industries of dressmaking and millinery. Miss Ida Schwab, from Butler, Pa., whose industry is that of baking, was trained in her industry in this city; Miss Carry K. Buckingham, of Bridgeport, Conn., a bookbinder and stenographer, and Miss Margaret M. Kentig, of Springfield, Mass., a trained nurse, having had, as the others, a wide experience in Christian work. These go to take in hand the Christians, to aid in making them self-supporting, and consequently examples for the heathen around them, and later on the Evangelists and Bible women; was ever idea more sensible?

Rev. J. C. and Mrs. Lawson, co-founders of this mission have been missionaries in India for 22 years. Two stations are selected, as soon as one station is equipped by its Industrial Missionary Superintendents, another will be taken up.

Missionaries of different denominations are already sending their converts to be taught an industry. It is to be hoped no widow or orphan need, in future, be refused. The Mission is interdenominational and undenominational. This will open up a line of Christian activity for young people of this land who perhaps in no other way could ever hope to aid in the evangelization of India.

All kind of industrial workers, are needed, architects, carpenters, civil engineers, machinists, farmers, box makers, brick and tile makers, photographers, stenographers, confectioners. Those having a Domestic Science course would be invaluable and graduates of Technical Schools are in demand. The work is in its initial stage, conducted along simple faith lines. The great need must be met; God is shaping it with infinite skill.

Anyone wanting to hear more of this work can do so by addressing Mary Middleton, Secretary for Canada, 76 Hayter st., Toronto, or Mr. Chas. Gordon, Treasurer, Dominion Bank, corner Queen and Esther sts., Toronto, Ont.

HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The junior game to-night between Belleville and Peterborough should be one of the best games of the season. The ice will be lightning fast, and as the teams are very evenly matched, an exciting contest should ensue. Belleville won the first game by a score of 7—5, but the local kidlets finished strong and nearly won out. To-night they hope to wipe out the defeat. They have been practicing faithfully and are in the best of condition for to-night.

Chaucer Elliot will handle the bell, which guarantees good, clean hockey. The local team will be as follows:—

Goal—Fitzpatrick.
Point—Moore.
Cover point—Long.
Rover—McWilliams.
Centre—McFarlane.

Lindsay will be here to-morrow night to try to wipe out the 13—5 defeat. Their only chance to win the district championship is to land the game to-morrow night. If the locals win, as they probably will, it will practically give them the championship of the district. The game should be a good exhibition. Although the locals won in Lindsay, it was a well contested and fast game.

All Saints, 4; George-st., 2.

All Saints' won from George-st. in a Guild League match last night by 4—2. The half time score was 4—1. It was a hard fought contest and was anybody's game until the whistle blew for time. The George-st. team played 6 men against 7 for the greater part of the first half, when All Saints' dropped one to even up.

Mr. Ira Moore made a satisfactory referee. The teams were as follows:—

St. John's Guild defeated Charlotte-st. last night in a Guild League game at All Saints' rink by 5 goals to 3. It was a well fought game, Charlotte-st. leading at half time by 2—1, but in the second half it was all St. John's.

The teams were:—

ARCH ENEMY OF MANKIND.

Who It Is and How to Escape His Clutches.

Save Yourself To-day.

The arch enemy of human life is not Satan, but Pneumonia.

Consumption may number its thousands, but Pneumonia its tens of thousands; and, besides, it's much quicker in doing its deadly work. A person may catch cold, get Pneumonia and die in two or three days.

The only safeguard is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

They will, if taken in time, prevent Pneumonia from developing.

But, of course, if you wait too late, from a really bad attack nothing can save you.

That's why we lay so much stress on the fact that a common cold is such a dangerous thing to neglect.

You never know what may come of it.

And, nowadays, when we have at hand, in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, such a safe, certain and perfect cure for a cold, there is no excuse whatever for letting it run along.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets act directly upon the mucous membranes of the body, the inflammation of which is generally called "Catarrh," which inflammation is nearly always caused in the first place, by a cold.

As soon as you begin to sneeze, and your eyes and nose begin to run, fly for relief to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They will not fail you.

Cases of chronic, long-standing catarrhal trouble, accompanied by discharge from nose and throat, coughing, hawking, spitting, offensive breath, indigestion, irritation of the stomach or bowels, are also easily cured by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

In cases of long standing, however, a cure cannot be expected in a day, as it will take some time to build up the weakened, inflamed and flabby membranes to their original tonic state of health.

It will take time, but perseverance will win the day—if assisted by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

It is important, however, to remember to use Stuart's.

No others are genuine.

No other tablets, or any other medicine, will give you the real, positive, permanently curative results that Stuart's will.

Try them.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents a box.

BE FREE

Men whose boast it is that ye
Come of fathers brave and free,
If there breathe on earth a slave—
Are ye truly free and brave?
If ye do not feel the chain
When it works a brother's pain,
Are ye not base slaves indeed—
Slaves unworthy to be freed!

Is true freedom but to break
Fetters for our own dear sake,
And with leathern hearts forget
That we owe mankind a debt?
No, true freedom is to share
All the chains our brothers wear,
And with heart and hand to be
Earnest to make others free.

There are slaves who fear to speak
For the fallen and the weak;
They are slaves who will not choose
Hatred, scoffing and abuse,
Rather than in silence shrink
From the truth they needs must think;
They are slaves who dare not be
In the right with two or three.
—Lowell.

Military Brutality.

A one year volunteer at Bukovina, Austria, committed suicide because of a superior's brutality. During a drill he was told to jump across a ten foot ditch, but failed in the attempt. He was made to repeat the attempt until he had sprained both wrists and ankles and could only roll into the water. He was then placed under arrest and in despair stabbed himself to the heart with a penknife. Sergeant Erdmann of the German army has been sentenced by court martial to six months' imprisonment, with degradation, for 153 cases of maltreating soldiers. Another sergeant named Mattias was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment for 100 cases of cruelty to soldiers.

Stamps For Reply.

The Berlin law courts have decided against the claimant in an action to recover a five cent stamp. The plaintiff wrote to the defendant, "inclosing stamp for reply." The defendant, being a bad correspondent and needing 5 cents at the moment, pocketed the stamp and sent no reply to the letter. The decision of the court should be welcome to those who are solicited for their autographs.

Slaughtering the Helpless.

If it is true that a revulsion of feeling against the slaughter of birds and helpless animals has set in it is a creditable circumstance. The miserable thing about this shooting is its cowardice. A man hurts and kills a creature that never harmed him and is taken at an entire disadvantage. It may be heroism to kill a tiger, but it is contemptible to kill a robin.—Brooklyn Eagle.

MANY A SWEET VOICE has been ruined through the interference of Catarrh. To sing well, one must have perfect control of the lungs and throat, which is impossible when afflicted with Catarrh.

Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder can do more for you in ten minutes, than two years study in deep breathing and chest development. The same rule applies to Public Speakers, Readers, Actors, Lawyers or anyone appearing in public. Sniffing, coughing speakers or singers, are never appreciated, no matter how much natural ability they possess. A short treatment with Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder will cure the most desperate cases.

Ada Russell, Opera Singer, of Tacoma, Wash., writes:—"I have used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder for Catarrhal deafness and chronic colds and have never failed to get immediate benefit. It is the best remedy I know of. —17

THE PEOPLE'S VERDICT.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—The people of Ontario spoke yesterday. They condemned the Ross Government. They gave the Conservatives an overwhelming majority.

Narrow Squeeze For Ross.

Other Ministers narrowly missed sharing in the disaster. Premier Ross had the narrowest squeeze of them all, and for a time it looked as if he would not pull out. The latest returns available last night gave him 50 majority, with two places to hear from, which are expected to go Conservative. Mr. Ross had 604 majority two years ago. His two new Ministers survived the wreck, Graham by something over a hundred and Mackay by about three hundred.

Toronto gave a popular majority of about 10,000 for the new Government.

Premier Ross Alone—And Silent.

Hon. G. W. Ross was the only Cabinet minister in the city yesterday. He remained in his office at the Parliament Buildings surrounded by a coterie of officials, and remained in his private office until the last election returns came in by special wire. Premier Ross continued to sit in his office, but as the returns came in, his friends gradually left him—by 10 o'clock he was alone. Representatives of the press were waiting to get his views, as to the probable issues which had turned the current of opinion against his party and his Government, but sphinxlike the Premier was silent. The last returns had struck him dumb and with that stoicism which is characteristic of Mr. Ross when he is at bay, nerved to hang on to power to the very last, he said that he had nothing to say—"not a word for the press to-night." It was quite late before Mr. Ross returned to his home, but as he left the buildings which for 32 years had given shelter to a Government of which he is the last chieftain, and encountered the cruelly cold north wind that was blowing outside, the retreat of Napoleon from Moscow could hardly have been more chilly or depressing.

MR. WHITNEY SERIOUS.

Displays Modesty in Immediate Presence of Great Political Upheaval—Acknowledges Liberal Aid.

Morrisburg, Jan. 26.—"In the immediate presence of the great political upheaval in the province to-day, I can have but little to say.

"All must acknowledge the serious meaning of this emphatic expression of the people's will.

"I fully and gladly appreciate the fact that Liberals in large numbers joined in that expression."

J. P. Whitney, leader of the Conservative party in the Province of Ontario, made the above statement last night.

During the evening Mr. Whitney was fairly deluged with telegraph bulletins, which kept him informed of the situation as it developed.

Popular Majority of 30,875.

The figures last night were far from complete. Quite a number of the constituencies have not reported figures, just the general result; but with the figures at hand the popular majority is as follows:

Conservative majorities............35,474
Liberal majorities..................... 4,599

Conservative popular maj.......30,875

Whitney's Strong Backers.

Not one of Mr. Whitney's strong backers in the last House was beaten. They carried their seats by majorities away up in the hundreds. The Liberals made a dead set on such men as Hanna in West Lambton, Reaume in North Essex, Carscallen in East Hamilton, Hendrie in West Hamilton, and Beck in London, but these men piled up votes faster than they were ever able to do it before. Col. Matheson, J. J. Foy, Dr. Willoughby and other prominent Conservative candidates proved big winners.

Even New Ontario, which Premier Ross discovered, almost unanimously decided against the Government, Mr. Ross gaining only one seat out of seven. Eddie Dunlop holds North Renfrew by over 1,400 majority. Pettypiece, whose complete backdown on his railway taxation bill made him the butt of Conservative fibes, goes down in East Lambton, and Pense pulled out in Kingston with only 16 to the good.

Conservative gains.—Brant North, Bruce South, Durham West, Fort William, Halton, Kent East, Lanark North, Lambton East, Middlesex East, Middlesex North, Nipissing East, Nipissing West, Norfolk South, Ontario South, Peterboro West, Parry Sound, Perth South, Perth North, Port Arthur, Renfrew South, Simcoe Centre, Stormont, Welland, Wellington East, York East, York North.

Liberal gains—Ottawa (two seats), Glengarry.

WEST PETERBORO' GIVES BRADBURN OVERWHEMING MAJORITY OF 1268

that the people took it into their hands to put this Government out, said he. Ross has been in power too long; the old horse has been going 32 years and it has now gone to pieces. (Laughter and applause). I congratulate you on electing my personal friend, Mr. Bradburn, and I am also glad to see Mr. McWilliams come up here to congratulate him, too. (Applause).

We have carried this Province by 45 or 50 of a majority, and I say we will get better government than ever before. I say we will have a government not afraid to give us a secret ballot. I hope the first thing Mr. Whitney's Government does will be to give the Province the Dominion form of ballot. These gentlemen who have been in power for years have been kep there by the marked ballot. I am satisfied that Mr. Whitney will give you honest government, and that is what we want. (Cheers).

YOUNG CONSERVATIVES.

It is some time since we had the pleasure of returning a Conservative in the local House, and I would congratulate not only Mr. Bradburn, but the men who are behind him. Mr. Kendry congratulated the Young Conservative Club on the work which they had done. "We did not have the Young Conservative Club when I was running," said he, "and when we get down to organization we can win in this riding. A great many Liberals have voted for Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Whitney, and the verdict is against the most iniquitous Government this country ever had. In its place we will have an honest Government, which will do right by the Province of Ontario, and rescue her from that ill fame which has gone abroad. We do not deserve such a name as the most corrupt country in the world, and I for one hail with delight the election of Mr. Whitney and honest government. (Cheers). Mr. Bradburn has been the President of the Conservative Association for years, and he is a man who will do us credit as a representative. Seated on the right hand of the Speaker, as he will be, we will be sure to hear from him, and I say the people of West Peterborough have made no mistake in choosing him as their member." (Cheers.)

The meeting broke up with cheers for the King, Mr. Whitney and Mr. Bradburn, M.P.P.

SOME SHARPS AND FLATS IN BATTLE OF THE BALLOTS.

Hats off to Mr. Bradburn.

It was an awful landslide.

Mr. Thomas Evans Bradburn, M.P.P.

The Ross system of frauds is at an end.

Mr. Bradburn had the ladies with him.

The purity of the ballot was at issue.

Fox in West Victoria is still able to run.

The interests of purity were supreme.

Yes! it was a great sweep in the Province.

Did you take part in the torchlight procession?

The Ross Government has passed into history.

There will be no recount in West Peterborough.

Mr. James Kendry made an admirable chairman.

The Liberal machine has been put out of business.

No man wants to undergo another winter campaign.

How big a majority do some people want anyway?

The "Old War Horse" is now ready for the glue factory.

Yes! we believe West Petreborough did go Conservative.

It is a pretty hard job to find a man who lost his vote.

The cause of a pure ballot and an honest count triumphed.

Did you take part in the procession and cheer yourself hoarse?

Ontario will now have a secret ballot and an honest government.

The Province might almost as well have made the thing unanimous.

James Pliny Whitney, Premier of Ontario. Again give three cheers.

Four years now of honest, progressive, decent and patriotic government.

Mr. Whitney appealed to reason and judgment, not to prejudice and party.

Mr. Bradburn gallantly thanked the ladies for their support and sympathy.

It was extremely cold yesterday and the old war horse was frozen to death.

Well, in 1909, when the next contest comes off we will have a secret ballot.

Preston's majority in East Durham was among the largest ones in the province.

Smith township, for the first time in its history gave a Conservative majority.

The Conservative organisation was perfect and the campaign was ably managed.

As the Globe says, "it was a pretty cold night to turn any party out in Opposition."

The people of Ontario evidently thought the necessity for a change was apparent.

Mr. Ross had an extremely close call in West Middlesex. He barely came out alive.

West Peterborough will still have a representative on the government side in Toronto.

It was a smashing defeat for the corrupt, time-serving and pledge-breaking government.

What an ending of a political career, to be pronounced a political juggler by the province.

Mr. Bradburn warmly thanked his many Liberal friends last night for the support accorded him.

We guess Whitney will have material enough to form a cabinet. He has plenty of good material.

Mr. Bradburn's majority looks something like Mr. Stratton's in 1902—only it is larger.

The town of Peterborough gave the Conservative candidate a majority in every polling sub-division.

Mr. Stratton's majority in 1886 when he was first elected was 33. In 1902, his last election, it was 1194.

The electorate has pronounced its sentence of condemnation upon the corrupt and infamous Ross government.

Now that the elections are over we will all settle down to ordinary, everyday life and things will again be normal.

North Monaghan spoke with no uncertain sound when it gave its old Reeve, Mr. Bradburn, 66 majority. Well done.

Mr. Whitney is a man who will live up to his pledges, and he has pledged himself to give Ontario honest government.

Well, the forecast of the Toronto News, when the doubtful ones are given to Mr. Whitney was not so far out of the way.

Mr. J. Hilliard Carnegie, M.P.P., scored a signal victory in East Victoria. He is an old Peterborough boy and a son of Mr. John Carnegie.

All the Conservative scrutineers are asked to bring in their books and leave them either at the committee rooms or at this office.

Both the C.P.R. and G.N.W. telegraph companies furnished returns promptly and long before eight o'clock it was known that the Ross administration was at an end.

Mr. R. F. McWILLIAMS
The unsuccessful Liberal Candidate in West Peterborough.

Mr Bradburn has always been a hard worker in the Conservative cause and he richly deserves the honor which was conferred upon him yesterday.

The people have spoken, not only in West Peterborough, but throughout the Province. The moral conscience, freedom of action and independent thought have spoken in no uncertain sound.

Dr. Coughlin returned last night from East Wellington, where he delivered several stirring addresses in support of his friend, Mr. J. J. Craig, who trimmed Hon. J. M. Gibson by a good majority.

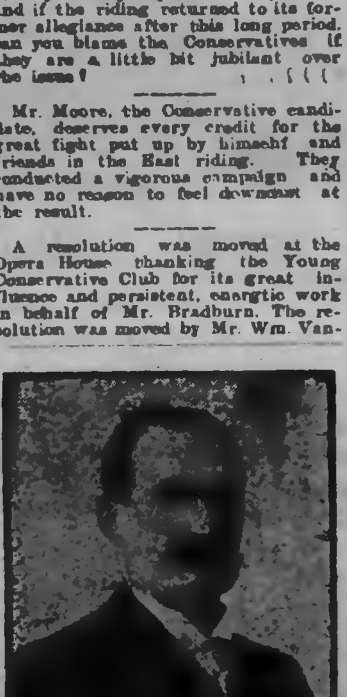
The Globe and World to-day give the Conservatives forty majority; the Mail and Empire figures show 44 of a majority. Mr. Whitney wrested in all 24 seats from Mr. Ross.

The contest in West Peterborough is unique in that it was free from personalities and petty abuse. Both Mr. Bradburn and Mr. McWilliams deserve credit for the clean, upright, honest and straightforward battle put up by them.

It is eighteen years since West Peterborough first elected Mr. Stratton by a majority of thirty-three, and if the riding returned to its former allegiance after this long period, can you blame the Conservatives if they are a little bit jubilant over the issue?

Mr. Moore, the Conservative candidate, deserves every credit for the great fight put up by himself and friends in the East riding. They conducted a vigorous campaign and have no reason to feel downcast at the result.

A resolution was moved at the Opera House thanking the Young Conservative Club for its great influence and persistent, energetic work in behalf of Mr. Bradburn. The resolution was moved by Mr. Wm. Vanevery and seconded by Mr. James Kendry. It was carried, with three rousing cheers and a tiger.



Mr. HENRY A. MOORE
The unsuccessful Liberal-Conservative Candidate in East Peterborough.

Mr. Robert P. Dormer had charge of the big stereopticon in the Opera House and threw the results and pictures on a large screen. He did his work expeditiously and the crowd was kept informed, as well as amused by the humorous mottoes and paragraphs. Mr. Dormer certainly knows how to handle a lantern.

Several cartoons drawn by Mr. Redmond Moher, a clever young Peterborough artist, were thrown on the screen last night in the Opera House. Mr. Moher's cartoons of leading politicians were well sketched and life like. The poor old war horse "thirty-three years in the saddle," created much merriment.

It is not a party triumph and the new Premier does not want it considered as one. It was a case of where men of all classes banded themselves together to prevent the good name of Ontario being trailed any longer in the dust. They felt that the moral future of the Province depended upon their action, and that a crisis had been reached.

Edward Lyon Burritt, the six year old son of Mr. D. H. Burritt, wandered away from home yesterday to No. 2 polling division in the second ward, where his father was working. He knocked at the door and was admitted. He told those present that he wanted to vote for Mr. Bradburn. The deputy returning officer, Mr. F. Hall, gave him an old envelope. The child made his mark on the paper, and after thanking the officer, returned home tired, but happy, and fully convinced that he had done his duty and voted right.

The Young Conservative Club of Peterborough is an excellent and well officered organization. It is composed of between 600 and 700 young men, and older ones, too, who threw themselves into the fight and inspired every one with confidence. They work with a vim, an energy and a determination that was bound to win. The Club was organized in November last, and has admirably fitted up rooms over R. A. Dutton's store on George street. The officers are all enthusiastic, aggressive and animated by a high purpose. Mr. R. E. Layfield is the president and father of the club; Mr. H. Morgan is vice-president Mr. W. A. Brundrette, secretary, and Mr. Jas. Edgar, treasurer. The new rooms are open night and day, and a big formal opening will be held in a few weeks.

ANDERSON WON IN EAST RIDING

His Majority Pulled Down by Couple of Hundred.

MR. MOORE'S STRONG FIGHT

Returns so Far Give Liberal the Lead by 129—Probability that this Will be Reduced.

Mr. Wm. Anderson was re-elected in East Peterborough and this time he will adorn the Opposition side of the House. It was expected that he would be returned by a small majority, and the figures so far received place him in the lead by 129. The majority two years ago was 443. The returns from the north country have not yet arrived and it is expected that they will make a reduction. Mr. Anderson and his supporters put up a strong fight and some of the big guns of the Liberal party were brought to bear in his behalf—including active assistance by Mr. Stratton. Mr. Moore remained in the field to the finish and is to be congratulated on the good showing he made against big odds. The majorities received so farr are as follows:—

DEATH OF MRS. DOWNER.

In Hope township, in June, 1834, Elizabeth Brown was born. Later her parents moved to Mariposa two miles east of Oakwood. When eighteen years of age, she was married to William Downer, and they spent two years together on the Moffat farm, near Valentia. After that they moved to a bush farm one mile norh of Cameron. This they cleared and remained on it till each of them died. She had three brothers and three sisters, four in all surviving. They are Mrs. Robert Kingland, of Killarney, Man.; Mrs. John Perrin, of Cameron; Mr. J. Brown, of Powles' Corners, and Mr. T. C. Brown, of Sydenham.

Deceased was converted when very young at a camp meeting held three miles east of Oakwood, connected herself with the Methodist church, and has been a Christian ever since. She was the mother of 11 children—six boys and five girls. They all survive her. The sons are John, of Emily; William, of Mariposa; Thomas, of Cameron; George, of Oshawa; Beecher, of Woodville, and Albert, of Lindsay. The daughters are Mrs. McGee, of Verulam; Mrs. Robert Eyres, of Lindsay; Mrs. G. Mark, of Lindsay; Mrs. Wm. Henry, of Peterborough; Mrs. James Shea, of Wilberforce.

She died at Cameron, Jan. 15, at the ripe old age of 70 years, and was buried at Riverside, Lindsay, on Jan. 17th, her six sons being her pallbearers. A large circle of friends and relatives will miss her much.

A CHANCE.

Never before in the history of Peterborough has there been placed on sale such great fur values as are now offered at Fred. A. Clarke's. $10,000 stock of manufactured furs to be sold at once; price second consideration. We are informed by Mr. Clarke that he has been exceptionally busy today, the opening day of the great sale, and if business continues such, it will be the greatest fur sale ever held in Peterborough. He says that if the public compare value and price, he can sell them all.

ST. PETERSBURG CALMER

Authorities Withdraw Troops—Workmen Compelled to Leave Factories.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26—Noon—The aspect of the city is almost normal this morning and the feeling is decidedly calmer. Several newspapers have appeared. The authorities withdrew the troops from the streets in the night, and not a soldier was in sight in the centre of the city this morning. In accordance with the promises to protect all workmen who would return to work, however, patrols still encircle the big industrial establishments.

Liban, Russia, Jan. 26—The workmen here are being compelled to leave the factories and mills by the militant faction of the strikers. The telegraph lines have been damaged.

Moscow, Jan. 26—In the fight yesterday evening between strikers and soldiers, fourteen persons were killed.

STUDENTS PUT TO DEATH

Strikers in St. Petersburg Wreak Their Vengeance Upon Supposed Enemies.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26—Seven students who had been the leaders of the revolutionary movement in the Basil Island district have been put to death by strikers. The strikers became suspicious that the students were acting treacherously. Later it transpired the students were innocent of treachery.

London, Jan. 26 — The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Star reports a clash between troops and enraged strikers from Kolpino not far from St. Petersburg. The extent of the clash is not given.

TRAIN WAS STRUCK.

The C.P.R. train hands met with some difficulty on their new line yesterday. The track out of town has no fencing to keep the snow from drifting on to the rails and yesterday, although the regular train had gone through at noon, the C.P.R. train for Toronto, which leaves here at 4.45, got stuck in a drift of some four or five feet deep, located about two miles south of the town. The C.P.R. Co., very thoughtfully hired a hotel 'bus to drive out for the passengers, who numbered some fifteen or sixteen, and had them accommodated at the several hotels in town, where they remained over night, the Company paying all expenses. The passengers were taken on to Toronto this morning on the regular.—Lindsay Post.

NORWOOD.

Mr. George Laing, of Peterborough spent a couple of days last week visiting his brother Mr. E. J. Laing, Queen-st., Norwood.

Miss Florence Taylor, of Napanee, daughter of the late Rev. R. Taylor, former pastor of the Norwood Methodist church, is in town renewing acquaintances.

Mr. John Potts, of Lindsay, was in town on Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. Johnston, of Havelock, preached in the Methodist church here on Sunday last, morning and evening.

The annual meeting of the School Board will be held on Wednesday evening February 1st. The new members are Messrs C. W. Waters, A. S. Harrison and Thos Waller.

Died in Hamilton on Sunday Jan. 22nd, Wm. Campbell Waters, brother of Mr. R. W. Waters, of Norwood. The remains were conveyed to Hastings on Tuesday and interred in the Trent Valley cemetery. The funeral took place from the G.T.R. station upon the arival of the 3 p.m. express.

Mrs. Wm. Eaton, sr. received word last night of the death of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. W. A. Eaton, of Oxbow, Assa.

Mrs. Eaton was only ill a very short time with inflammation and the sad news came as a severe shock to her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Eaton went west only a couple of years ago and since that time their home has been blessed with the arrival of a little daughter.

The sympathy of this entire community goes out to Will in his sad bereavement.

It is not known yet whether the remains will be brought home for interment.

Mr. W. C. Harrison received a letter addressed to Mr. John Harris, Norwood, Ont. Canada and on the back of the envelope was instructions to the effect that Mr. John Harran, emmigrated from England in 1875 to the United States and afterwards removed to Norwood, Ont. and asking the post master to try to locate him. Some of our oldest citizens can remember a Mr. Harris being here some years ago, but do not know where he went. Any person throwing any light on the above might confer a favor.

The Epworth League of the Norwood Methodist church was visited on Monday evening by the Hastings and Havelock League. The visitors took charge of the proceedings. The Norwood League provided coffee and cake and all spent a happy and profitable evening.

Mr. J. R. Pearce returned from the hospital, Toronto, where he has been undergoing treatment for a very aggravated form of eczema. We regret to say he has not improved much in health.

Mr. W. F. Roxburg is confined to his house through illness.

THE PRESS ON THE RESULT

(Mail and Empire)

It was hoped, and indeed expected, that yesterday's election would put an end to the unhappy condition of affairs in the Queen's Park. But it was never supposed in any quarter that the popular rising would be so widespread and that the sweep would be so complete. As it is, the Ross Government is shattered, and there is scarcely a fragment left. Five Ministers—Messrs. Dryden, Gibson, Charlton, Latchford and Evanturel, —have been driven from the Legislature. Their leader, Mr. Ross, who carried West Middlesex by 600 in the last election, is said to have squeezed in, but only by 60.

All the strong men on the Government side, with the exception of Mr. Ross, have disappeared, and there remains an Opposition composed of politicians representing the least desirable elements in our public life. While the turn-over has been marvellous, the details are certainly unprecedented. Where the candidate of the Ross Government has been able to pull through his majority is exceedingly small. On the other hand, the majorities polled by the supporters of Mr. Whitney are enormous. There will be in the new House Liberal-Conservatives any one of whom will have a majority exceeding the aggregate polled on the Opposition side. This phenomen indicates that the people are very much in earnest.

(Toronto World)

'Tis the people's victory. The voice of the people of Ontario has been heard. Old Man and Young Man Ontario have stamped their brand of disapproval on Ross and his works. They repose confidence in the Conservative party. The confidence is without limit; the responsibility is correspondingly great. Ontario Conservatives lead the Dominion.

The great victory is due in a large measure to the fact that for the first time in many years Ontario Conservatives have shaken themselves loose from all entanglements from outside the province and have been freed from every sinister influence within the province. The Conservative party in Ontario has declared itself more Conservative than ever. Ontario has shown to the whole Dominion that it is the centre of intelligent citizenship and is the only province in Canada, where the Conservatives have a proper conception of the principles of the party and are on the highway of progress.

The contest partook of a corporation character, more or less, and the result is in many respects a staggering blow to corporation influence in the government, leading to utter disregard of rights. The champions of the corporations within the Ross government were Dryden, Gibson, Charlton, and Ross himself. Of these Dryden, Gibson and Charlton have gone down to defeat at the hands of the friends of public rights. It is a warning to the opponents of public rights that Ontario citizenship is in earnest in its aim to protect its rights and will hold representatives of the people personally responsible for every infringement of them.

(Toronto Globe)

Yesterday's election was the most sweeping and the most significant in the history of either political party in Ontario. The surprise to the Liberal leaders was no greater than it was to the Conservative leaders. The swing from a Government majority of three to an Opposition majority of two score is far and away beyond either the darkest fears of the one or the wildest hopes of the other. The significance of this change, the causes which led to it, and the duty which it imposes on both parties and on their leaders are the questions which, on both sides, must be steadily faced, if the parties are to save themselves from their new dangers, and if the Province is to be saved from serious deterioration of public life.

After expressing the opinion that the Province would have been better served by the return of the Liberals, the Globe continues:

The majority which Mr. Whitney will have in the House will be his embarrassment, but he now has his opportunity. The supreme question is not the fortunes of either party, but the welfare of the Province, and those who care first of all for the country, and who care for their party only as a means to serve the country's ends, will join in the hope that he may succeed in forming a Government adequate to the gigantic and growing tasks which will come to his hands. (For itself the Globe is free to say that any policy he may propose which is clearly for the best interests of the country will be given reasonable consideration and sympathetic support. The Liberal members of the Legislature will, we are sure, take up the same attitude. For years they have been witnesses of the folly and uselessness of party carping and unreasoning antagonism on the part of the Opposition, and they will now profit by that experience.

THE WELSH RABBIT.

In days of old the witches met in some mysterious spot
And in an orgy danced about a caldron, steaming hot,
Wherein they brewed the awful spell they laid upon the mind
Of him they sought to trouble, as the evil one designed.
But fashions change, and witches now are young and debonair;
The caldron they employ is but a chafing dish affair,
But, oh, the fierce Welsh rabbit which they conjure from the flame,
Although it looks so gentle, is a terror just the same!

I've slain the hippopotamus; I've fought the grizzly bear;
I've braved the lion in his den, the tiger in his lair;
I've sought the huge rhinoceros and seized his horny snout
And rendered him so docile I could lead him all about.
An elephant is easy when you get him on the run,
While slaying wolves and panthers is a childish sort of fun—
But, oh, I'm filled with horror when I'm called upon to fight
A terrible Welsh rabbit in the middle of the night!

You say your prayers and go to bed, your mind serene and glad—
You're thinking, very likely, of the splendid feast you've had—
But when you find you're all alone, and every one's asleep,
Then something awful steals from out the shadows dark and deep;
The marrow freezes in your bones, your blood runs hot and cold,
You wake to find yourself within the rabbit's awful hold!
It pounces on you unawares and binds you to the rack,
For rabbits never fight until they have the inside track.

You wrestle with the monster till you're nearly out of breath,
And you have a firm conviction you are near the jaws of death,
But by and by it lets you live, but only so that when
Once more it finds you napping it can torture you again.
And in the morning when you view the coming of the light
And think of all the terrors that beset you in the night,
You say, "Come weal, come want, come woe, come where you will and when,
Come anything, but, oh, don't let that rabbit come again!

—Nixon Waterman in St. Louis Republic.

THE POOR OF BERLIN

HOW THEY ARE SUPERVISED BY THE CITY AUTHORITIES.

Begging Is Not to Be Seen on the Streets of the City, and Rags and Misery Dare Not Lie About in the Parks and Public Places.

"What," I exclaimed in Berlin, "are there no poor in this city? Are you altogether without rags and wretchedness?"

"My dear friend," said the German, winking a heavy eyelid, "we are a very clever people. We do not show our dust bins."

Berlin is ruled by municipal experts. It has its wretchedness and its despair, but these things are not permitted to increase. To be out of work in Berlin is a crime, even as it is in London, but with this difference—in Berlin the municipality legislates for labor in a fashion which makes idleness all but indefensible.

The laws to this end may not commend themselves to English minds, for the Germans are not soft hearted in such matters, but they have this engaging recommendation, they succeed. Let a ragged man make his appearance in Friedrichstrasse or the Lindens or in any of the numerous open spaces, and a policeman is at him in a minute. "Your papers!" demands the man of law. The beggar produces his documents. If it is proved that he has slept in the asylum for the homeless more than a certain number of nights he is forthwith conducted, willynilly, to the workhouse and made to labor for his board and lodging.

Now, the workhouse in Germany is not a prison, but the vagrant would as leave go to the one as to the other. The administration of the workhouse is conducted with iron severity. Every ounce of bread and every drop of thin soup consumed by the workhouse man is paid for a thousandfold by the sweat of his brow. So it comes about that the man least disposed to work, the born vagabond, finds it more agreeable to toil for his bread in the market than to fall into the hands of a paternal government.

Berlin takes advantage of the system in Germany which numbers and tickets every child born in the fatherland. No man can roam from district to district, changing his name and his life's story with every flitting. He is known to the police from the hour of his birth to the hour of his death. For a few pfennigs I can read the history of every person in Berlin. Therefore the municipality has an easy task. Every citizen's life story is known to them, and every vagrant is punished for his crime against the community.

Moreover, every person of humble means is insured by the state. Even clerks, shop assistants and servants are compelled to insure against sickness and against old age. This insurance is effected by the pasting into a book of certain stamps every week, and it is the duty of each employer to see that this contract is faithfully obeyed. And the state has at Beelitz an enormous sanitarium costing 10,000,000 marks (£500,000), where the invalided citizen is sent with his pension in order to expedite his valuable return to the ranks of the wage earners. It pays the city of Berlin to nurse its sick and cherish its invalids. The whole object of the municipality is to assure the physical and intellectual well being of its citizens, and on this task it concentrates its labors with amazing energy.

Berlin has a huge building resembling a factory where the unemployed, whole families, are received and provided for, but no one must take advantage of this hospitality more than five times in three months. Consider this point of view. If you are homeless five times in three months you are dubbed a reckless creature and packed off to the workhouse. Private enterprise has provided another asylum where the homeless may come five times in one month and where the police are not allowed to enter at night. I have visited this place and seen the people who attend it, some decent enough, others criminal in every line of their faces. There are many of these desperate men in Berlin, many of these dirty, ragged and unhappy wretches, doomed from the day of their birth, but they dare not show themselves in the decent world as they do in London. They slink into these asylums at 5 o'clock; they have their clothes disinfected; they cleanse themselves under shower baths; they eat bread and drink soup, and then they go to bed at 8 o'clock like prisoners to their cells.

Now, this system is a hard one, for when once a man gets down in Berlin it is almost impossible for him to rise. But it has this clear advantage—everybody feels that it is better to work than to fall into the hands of the law.

Rags and misery dare not lie about in the parks or scatter disease through the crowded streets. If there is any virtue in the unemployed the state will certainly develop it as well as it is possible to do so. There is a central bureau for providing men with work, and when a man knows that not to work means the workhouse he solicits employment here and elsewhere with such a will as almost compels wages. In one year the state has secured employment for 50,000 men.

The citizen is provided with sanitary dwellings, with unadulterated food, with schools and technical colleges and with insurance for sickness and old age. For a penny he can travel almost from one end of Berlin to the other by electric tramway or electric railway. His streets are clean, brilliantly lighted and noiseless; his cafes and music halls are innumerable. He lives in a palace. And all this is the result of municipal government by experts instead of by amateurs.—London Mail.

Two Men and A Girl

A Christmas Story

By WILLIAM H. OSBORNE

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

From one end to the other of First avenue there were many young women who had some claims to attractiveness. But there was none like Miss Sallie Smith. She was the belle among belles. Miss Sallie spent some time one day in deep thought.

"Well, I don't care," she said to herself, "Billy certainly can't think as much of me as Jenks, for if he does why doesn't he show it?"

Outward demonstration and material evidence count for everything in this world. And the situation that perplexed Miss Sallie Smith was a peculiar one. She had two admirers who were strenuous ones. The name of one of these young men was William Burke. The name of the other was Jenkinson. It was a toss up between the two. But the trouble was that while William Burke was the neater dresser and possessed a more attractive bearing, yet Mr. Jenkinson was a man who wooed Miss Smith in the approved manner, by lavishing upon her a considerable amount of coin. Miss Sallie Smith did not care so much about the amount of coin lavished upon her, but it was the only way in which—as things go in First avenue—the only way by which she could measure the quality and quantity of a man's attentions. Burke couldn't be stingy, she felt, but he did not come to time, as one might say. Jenkinson, on the other hand, poured his wealth at her feet.

Now, Miss Smith was such a good manager that up to date Mr. Burke and Mr. Jenkinson had never met. But both gentlemen were becoming so insistent that she determined finally that she would make a choice. She was really fortunate, for there are few girls who have two proposers hanging around every day in the week. She would give each men a fair chance, judge of the devotion of each by the best standards, and then she would decide once and for all.

Mr. Jenkinson was a trolley car conductor. Mr. Jenkinson held before his mental vision this motto: "The greatest good to the greatest number. The greatest number—No. 1." And, being a trolley car conductor, it was up to him to put this motto into everyday practice. He had made up his mind that Miss Sallie Smith was the only girl in the universe, and it was his purpose to make her think more than ever that he was the only man. Fortunately, the season favored him. It was the holiday time and the cars were crowded—overcrowded.

Mr. Jenkinson laid out a little programme to commence a few days before Christmas and to finish up with Christmas itself. The important characters on the programme were himself and Miss Sallie Smith—a night or two at the theater, a dinner and an east side diamond ring to wind up with on the day of all days, expensive luxuries for a man with his salary, but Mr. Jenkinson had a way to fix all that. The holiday crowds helped him out. Mr. Jenkinson propounded to himself a problem in mental arithmetic: If 200 people on a car pay their fare and the indicator bell is rung only 100 times, (1) Who will know the difference? (2) How much is there in it for the conductor? (3) How often must it be done to carry out the Jenkinson programme? It may be said at this juncture that Mr. Jenkinson was an adept at this sort of game and also that he had never been caught.

Now, it was just about this time that Miss Smith, who didn't really know just why, made up her mind to invite Mr. Burke and Mr. Jenkinson to call, both upon the same evening, that evening being the night before Christmas. They both accepted. In the meantime fate was mixing up things just a little bit. Mr. Jenkinson was solving his problem in a highly satisfactory manner. An incident will suffice to show his method. It was the day before Christmas. His route ended at Fifty-ninth street. Four blocks this side of Fifty-ninth street he turned his indicator hand back to zero. This was peculiar, because, as he had four blocks still to go, and in holiday season, too, it is probable that it would be necessary to ring up more fares. And it was necessary. But he rang them up so that they stood credited to the down trip.

So far he had been honest. His next move, however, was profitable. When he reached Fifty-ninth street he had received seven or eight fares which he duly rang up. Leaving those seven or eight credited to the down trip, the first seven or eight fares he collected on the down trip he did not ring up. Why? Because, apparently, they were already rung up. This little scheme netted him 35 or 40 cents. This is only one method. Mr. Jenkinson had not noted, however, that one of his passengers, a well dressed young man, engaged in reading the newspaper, did not alight at the end of the trip and indicated that he had passed his point of departure and had to go back. This young man was a great reader. But he stuck close to Mr. Jenkinson's car all the way down—merely one of the crowd.

That evening Mr. Jenkinson attended at Miss Sallie Smith's. He was received with enthusiasm, for he and Miss Sallie had attended a performance at the theater on the evening previous. Finally Mr. Billy Burke, natty as usual, turned up. As he entered he was introduced to Mr. Jenkinson. He looked, stared, gave a short gasp and then shook hands. He acknowledged to himself that Mr. Jenkinson's face had become familiar to him. Mr. Jenkinson evidently had never seen him.

Now, there was one thing that Mr. Billy Burke could not help noticing and that was that Miss Sallie Smith had a decided leaning toward Jenkinson. He (Billy Burke) seemed pretty well out of it. Miss Smith had meant to be impartial, but Mr. Jenkinson's attentions had really overpowered her. The hour of parting came. Mr. Burke, with a delicacy which he felt to be due to the occasion, left first. He walked slowly down the stairs and out into the street. He shook his head. "That fellow," he exclaimed softly to himself. "But, after all, it's none of my business." He thought about it for a long while. Then, acting under impulse, he thrust his hand into his inside pocket and pulled out a yellow paper. It was a blank form which he had filled up. Upon it appeared a date, the name of John Jenkinson, and some figures in the dollars and cents column. He hesitated an instant, then he suddenly tore it to pieces and threw it into the gutter.

The next morning—Christmas morning it was—he stepped into an office, for no days were holidays to Burke. He passed over some yellow slips. A man looked at them and frowned.

"You were on No. —— yesterday?" he asked.

"I was," Burke answered.

"You got a report against No. ——? Jenkinson, his name is."

Burke shook his head. "I have not," he answered.

"Then," said the other man, "we're through with you; that's all. Jenkinson skinned us yesterday more than we've ever been skinned, and, by George, it happened that Barker was spotting you while you were spotting Jenkinson. You can go. We don't want a spotter who's in cahoots with our conductors; that's all."

Burke turned red and white. He started in to explain; then he stopped. He thought of Miss Sallie Smith.

Christmas night Mr. Jenkinson called upon Miss Sallie Smith. He was not quite so brash as usual. But he had a little box in his hand. "Sallie," he said, "I lost my job today. I don't know why, but I brought you a little"—

Miss Sallie stopped him. "I know," she said. She produced a paper. "That's why," she exclaimed, "and I know, because I took the trouble to find out."

It was a clipping headed:

JENKINSON, THE WORST EVER.

The Trolley Company Fires Man Who Holds Holiday Knocked Down Fare Record.

Jenkinson flushed, but he did not dare to lie. "They—they all do it," he remarked. "I was caught; that's all. After all, Sallie," he went on, "I only did it because I wanted to get this for you." He exhibited the box.

Sallie Smith stepped to the mantelpiece. She took down a bundle. It contained all the presents that Jenkinson had ever given her. She handed them over. "You can go," she said. "Any man who would steal for me certainly doesn't have much respect for me." Jenkinson looked stupidly at her. "You may go," she said. Jenkinson went.

Billy Burke came later. He was not so well dressed this time. "Sallie," he said, "I went to tell you something. I've always been ashamed to tell you what I was working at. I—I'm a spotter on the trolley—I had to be—I couldn't get anything else to do. They don't pay us, though, as well as they do the motormen and the conductors. But they—they've fired me. I'll tell you. They fired me because I didn't turn in the name of a—a man who knocked down fares. They were right. I didn't. It doesn't make any difference why. But I'm out, and I've got to get another job, and I'm glad of it."

Miss Sallie Smith gasped. "The man you wouldn't report," she asked—"was it John Jenkinson?" Burke's face gave him away.

"How—how did you know?" he asked.

She paused a moment. "When did you first meet him?" she inquired.

"Last night," said Burke, flushing still, "was the first time. I didn't want to"—

Sallie held out her hand. "Billy—Billy," she exclaimed, "and you did it all for me—for me?" She paused a moment. "Where are your good clothes?" she asked as she looked at him.

"I've got to tell you all about it, Sallie," he answered. "You see, I always had to wear good clothes, and had to buy 'em and keep getting new ones, so that it would look as if I was somebody, and they didn't pay me enough hardly to get 'em. Well, I got sick of 'em. And I tell you, Sallie, what I did. I up and pawned 'em, and—and I—I did a nervy thing. I—I bought you this. I was afraid—and I wasn't sure, but"— He paused, stuck his hand in his pocket and pulled out a ring. "I haven't got a job," he went on, "but"— "I don't care," returned Miss Sallie Smith. "You've lost your job, and you've pawned your clothes, and all for me. I don't believe there's any man would do as much. This is the very nicest Christmas that I've ever had. So there!"

Jenkinson had not pawned his clothes, but he had lost his job somewhat on account of Miss Sallie Smith, but there was a difference with a wide distinction. And so Miss Sallie Smith decided for herself and for Billy Burke.

It Comes High.

He—They may advertise it as a free bazaar, but I'll bet you'll find it expensive before you're through with it.

She—Nonsense! How can a thing be expensive if it's free?

He—Easy enough. Just get mixed up in a free fight, for instance, and see.—Catholic Standard.

THE WINNING QUALITY.

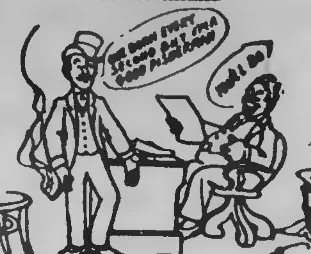
In winning hearts or playing ball,
In gettin' somehow to the front,
To where success rings out its call—
In fact, in doing any stunt
In politics or just plain biz,
Or in the giddy social swim,
The one who rings the bull's eye is
The man who has his nerve with him.

Where timid creatures fear a loss,
Where modest ones sit down and wait,
He marches in and beards the boss
And enters by the private gate.
While some in fear and trembling stand
And humbly ask a chance to serve,
He takes the big chief by the hand
And wins out on his good stiff nerve.

He doesn't go much on a pull
Or friends to boost his game along.
They tell him that the ranks are full;
He says that is an ancient song.
He doesn't mind the busy sign
Displayed above the boss' desk,
Or with the others stand in line
And wait with patience to get next.

In winning hearts or playing ball,
In selling goods or working graft,
In standing where the dollars fall,
In pushing any trade or craft—
In short, the universe is his
To toy with as may suit his whim.
The one who rings the bull's eye is
The man who has his nerve with him.

A Testimonial.



"It didn't appear to make Blinks mad yesterday when you intimated that he was the biggest liar you had met in many a day."

"No, he came around later on and asked me to write it out. He thought perhaps he could get a job selling mining stock on the strength of it."

SITUATION NOT ACUTE

No Bloodshed in Moscow As Was Dreaded On Tuesday.

Military Receive Orders to Avoid a Repition of Sunday's Tragedy—In Several Baltic Towns There Has Been Considerable Disorder—If Movement Spreads Among the Finns It Will Be Armed Uprising.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26.—Governor-General Trepoff and Minister of Finance Kokovsoff issued a proclamation last night which reveals the Government's plan for breaking the strike not only here but throughout Russia. The proclamation is conceived in a paternal tone, and points out that honest workmen, who want to better their condition, should have brought their demands to the Government instead of being misled by agitators into affiliating with a movement which is not confined to economic aspirations. It invites them to return to work, promising them, in the Emperor's name, a revision of general laws, so as to restrict the hours of labor, the institution of a plan for state insurance and otherwise to meet their demands as far as the law will permit, and guarantee them protection against interference by agitators. This document will be followed either by an Imperial manifesto along the same lines, in the hope of preventing the spread of the strike or by specific proclamations by the local authorities wherever strikes are in progress. By promising to yield the question of hours of labor, which are now legally 11 in Russia, the authorities believe they will meet the main grievances of the workmen.

This together with the guarantee of protection, the authorities hope will induce those strikers who are indifferent to political demands and which class they declare constitutes a great bulk of the men to resume work.

Effect Problematical.

It is certain many strikers were forced out against their wishes, but the general effect of the proclamation is still problematical. Though the strikes have been spreading to various towns the situation last night, while disquieting, is not acute anywhere. The great demonstration, with an accompaniment of bloodshed, which was anticipated at Moscow Tuesday, did not occur, and the strike in the ancient capital has not spread rapidly, only about 20,000 workmen being out, according to latest reports. Cossacks charged and dispersed a crowd of 3,000 workmen, and reports were circulated in St. Petersburg that many were killed, but advices from Moscow at midnight deny this, the best information being only a few blank volleys were fired. The Moscow military have received orders to avoid a repition of the Sunday tragedy here, and not use ball cartridges unless they are driven to do so by the direct necessity.

Finns Are Armed.

In several Baltic province towns there has been considerable disorder, especially in Riga, where the military are in complete possession. In the streets of Helsingfors, there was last evening a resumption of the Tuesday night's rioting, with bloodshed, some 30 persons being wounded. If a general movement breaks out among the Finns, it is likely to take the form of an armed uprising, as almost every Finn has a weapon in his house.

Sir Charles Hardinge, the British Ambassador, last night received from Captain Grove, the British Consul at Moscow, confirmation of the Associated Press despatch from Moscow, announcing the public posting of a London telegram, imputing the disorders to British and Japanese influences, and he will ask for explanations from Foreign Minister Lamsdorff. It is not expected, however, that the affair will lead to a serious diplomatic incident, but it is thought the Russian Government will disavow responsibility for the course of Acting Chief of Police Roudneff.

Panic in a Theatre.

Kishineff, Jan. 26.—A seditious demonstration during the performance led to a panic in a theatre here last night. Twenty arrests were made, including four Jewish soldiers.

Gorky Arrested.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26.—The Associated Press has been privately advised that Maxim Gorky, the author and reform party leader, has been arrested at Riga, whither he had been summoned by the illness of his wife.

Strike Due to Threats.

Kovno, Russia, Jan. 26.—The governor has issued a proclamation announcing that the general strike at Kovno has been brought about by the threats of a small group of workmen.

New Jap Squadron.

Tokio, Jan. 26.—The Navy Department announces the formation of a special service squadron. No details are given.

Off Madagascar.

Seychelles Islands, Indian Ocean, Jan. 26.—The French gunboat Capricorne reports that the Russian second Pacific squadron was at Passandava Bay, northwest coast of Madagascar, Jan. 20. It was thought the squadron intended to go to the east coast of Madagascar owing to the hurricane season.

Martin to Hang March 10.

Toronto, Jan. 26.—Alexander Martin's doom was pronounced yesterday by Chief Justice Falconbridge. Unless the Minister of Justice revokes the sentence, Martin will be hanged on March 10. Martin is only 22 years of age, and convicted of one of the most cruel crimes that man or woman can be guilty of—the doing away with his young child.

The Potato.

The Spaniards met with the potato in Peru, where it had long been cultivated by the natives, but it was well nigh a hundred years before it was taken over to Europe. In 1587 we hear of its being introduced into Spain, while in the previous year Sir Walter Raleigh began to cultivate it in Ireland from seed which was taken over from North Carolina.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Thin House Listlessly Discusses the Estimates Wednesday.

Ottawa, Jan. 26.—It was a listless discussion of estimates that took place in the House yesterday afternoon, and a thin House at that, for members were absent either in person or in spirit. All interest was concentrated in the great political struggle in Ontario.

Mr. Ames was informed that it is the intention of the Government to revise the whole organization of the harbor commissioners of Montreal this session.

Mr. Ward was informed that surveys are now being made between Rice Lake and Cobourg and Rice Lake and Trenton to determine the best route for the great canal.

The Minister of Marine informed Mr. Morin that the big ice-breaking steamer Montcalm cost the Government $272,000 delivered at Quebec, and her per diem cost since has been $150, principally owing to her large consumption of coal. She is employed in the endeavor to secure the opening of navigation between Quebec and Montreal earlier in the spring and keep it open late in the fall; also to render assistance to vessels caught in the ice and establish the possibility of winter navigation on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. She will also be employed in the summer time as a lighthouse and buoy tender for the Province of Quebec. The vessel's work this winter has been above Quebec.

Mr. Daniel inquired the status of goods imported into Canada under the preferential tariff in 1903 and 1904; also the quantity imported via Canadian and United States ports respectively.

The Minister of Customs gave the value "entered for consumption under the preference" as $37,614,505 in 1903, and $44,765,253 in 1904. But no separate record, he said, had been kept of importations by Canadian ports.

The House then went into Committee of Supply and proceeded with discussion of the Postoffice estimates.

The Postmaster-General said that 394 letter carriers had accepted the new arrangement by which they are paid by the day instead of by the year. There are 142 who are still under the old arrangement.

The House adjourned at 6 p.m.

United in One Respect.

There may be many differences of opinion regarding some subjects in sections of the country remote from each other, but there is none respecting he best remedy for piles, as witness the letters below:—

"I have been feeling so good I could hardly believe it, after suffering with piles for a year, to find that I am once more feeling like myself. I wish you could have seen me before I started using Pyramid Pile Cure, and look at me now, and you would say I am not the same man. I have gained 20 pounds, and all on account of Pyramid Pile Cure." Walter Sharkley, 56 Park-st., Springfield, Mass.

"I bought a fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and used as directed with the most unexpected results, a complete cure. I have been troubled with piles for thirty years and was in much distress and passed much blood, but at present am free from any kind of piles." F. McKay, Weaverville, Cal.

"Pyramid Pile Cure has been worth thousands of dollars to me; it cured me after using numbers of other remedies and taking medicines from doctors. It also cured my son, although he could hardly walk, eat or sleep; he is now all right." B. Stringfellow, Postmaster, Elko, S.C.

One thousand dollars is offered by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., to any one who will show the above testimonials to be not genuine.

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for fifty cents a package, and every sufferer should buy a package and try it to-night, being careful to accept no substitutes, and bearing in mind the fact that there is nothing else "just as good."

VALUABLE BALE FOR TEULON

Good Work of New St. Paul's Missionary Society.

The first annual meeting of the Home Missionary Society of St. Paul's Mission was held in the Mission on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 25th. The meeting was well attended, there being 52 present. The President, Mrs. McPherson occupied the chair.

After the opening exercises Mrs. McPherson gave an excellent Bible reading on the subject of "Peace."

The Secretary's annual report was read and adopted.

An interesting letter was read from Miss Bell, acknowledging the receipt of a bale of clothing, sent to the Teulon Hospital.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by Miss Martha Dickson. This was followed by an excellent paper on the claims of Home Mission Work, read by Mrs. R. E. Wood.

Mrs. Mann and Miss Montgomery kindly sang a duett, while the offering was being received.

An extract from the Record, giving an account of the life and work of Rev. Dr. Black, the apostle of Red River, was read by Mrs. Robt. Hall.

Greetings were received from Murray street, Charlotte street and St. John's churches, and the meeting was closed with a brief prayer offered by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

The Secretary's report was as follows:

The Home Missionary Auxiliary of St. Paul's Mission was organized by Mrs. McClelland, of Toronto, on the 28th Jan., 1904, just one year ago, with a membership of eighteen. We have fifty-seven names on the roll at the present time, showing a large increase in membership, and we believe a growing interest in Home Mission work. Our meetings are held in the Mission, on the last Wednesday afternoon of each month. The average attendance for the year was 29.

It would perhaps be well to explain that this is not a society composed of women only. We have a few male members and should like to have many more. A work which is carried on among men who have gone from our own land of churches, to seek new homes in the West, should appeal to the sympathies of the men of the congregation.

A very successful evening meeting was held in April and was well attended by both men and women.

In September, the Rev. J. J. Wright of our own town gave an interesting lecture upon his mission work in the Yukon.

We held our first thank-offering meeting in October. There was a good attendance and an offering amounting to $40 was received.

Learning that second-hand clothing would be acceptable for distribution among the Galicians, we sent one to Dr. Hunter, of the Teulon hospital, a bale valued at $52. A special interest in this hospital is felt by this Auxiliary, as the head nurse, Miss Bell is a daughter of the late Rev. Alex. Bell, at one time pastor of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough. Miss Bell's letters published in "The Home Mission Pioneer" are much appreciated. This interesting little 15c monthly magazine "The Pioneer" gives full information with regard to the work of the Home Mission Society, and it will repay careful perusal. The number of our subscribers is 31.

With the influx of settlers to the new districts of Western Canada, come increasing demands, which we trust will meet with an increasing sympathetic response from those interested in the work of this Auxiliary.

Facial Paralysis

Mr. W. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "My face was all twisted out of shape with facial paralysis, and five doctors failed to cure or even relieve. By the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been entirely cured, and have returned to work strong and well. I have gained in weight and feel that I have a new lease of life." 10

The Trackless Trolley.

Berlin has led the way in a new and promising development of street railway transit. By means of electric omnibuses deriving their power from an overhead trolley the necessity for a special track has been done away with, and a speed of ten miles an hour is obtained if desired over ordinary macadamized roads. With rubber tire equipment and a special type of wheels which prevent stoppage by snow there is secured rapid and nearly noiseless transit. By going a step further and putting the trolley underground it would seem that this new departure is one that ought to increase transit facilities and to meet most of the objections now urged against surface street railways. The overhead trolley is of course the simpler and is specially adapted to travel over good country roads. The trackless trolley is at least an interesting experiment in traction.

Deaths in the Alps.

For fatal accidents in Alpine climbing the season of 1904 beats the record by far. Nearly 200 accidents occurred last summer, while in the previous season the number only reached 148. The accidents have increased eightfold within the last seven years. Most of the disasters do not befall regular climbers, but the inexperienced without guides, and especially young people attempting to gather edelweiss in dangerous places.

THE WREN BUSH.

An Old Custom Still Observed in Ireland at Christmas.

Among the many odd customs still observed in Ireland at Christmas few are more curious than the practice of carrying about "the wren bush" on St. Stephen's day, and antiquaries are puzzled to explain why the poor little "king of all birds" should be put to death on the festival of the first martyr.

The most probable explanation is that the wren was sacred to the Druids and was used by them in divination and other pagan rites at the festival of the winter solstice, which almost coincided with Christmas, and consequently the clergy urged their converts to destroy the birds which were associated with such unholy rites, just as St. Patrick's relentless destruction of the images of serpents, used in the ancient pagan worship of Ireland, gave rise to the legend that he—

Gave the snakes and toads a twist
And banished them all forever!

This seems the more likely, because "drean," the old Irish name for "wren," also means "a Druid," and old folk still call "Jenny" the "Druid bird" and say that she has the gift of prophecy and that those who can interpret her twitterings as she hovers about a house or flies from bush to bush can read the future. In the library of Trinity college, Dublin, there is a curious document describing how to interpret the notes of the wren.—Maud E. Sargent in Longman's Magazine.

Colds Become Pneumonia

AND BRING FATAL RESULTS IN A REMARKABLY SHORT TIME—THE SAFEGUARD IS

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

Nearly everybody knows that pneumonia results from neglected colds and yet there is scarcely a newspaper you pick up these days but contains the report of some fatality from this deadly disease.

Colds are so common that the danger they carry with them is overlooked.

In Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine you have a positive cure for colds and a complete safeguard against such serious developments as pneumonia and consumption.

The exceptional curative properties of turpentine and linseed are well known, and in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine they are combined with half a dozen other ingredients in such a way as to be pleasant to the taste, and wonderfully powerful in the cure of throat and lung diseases.

Such ailments as croup bronchitis and asthma are quickly relieved and entirely cured by this treatment.

There is, we believe, no medicine so well suited for family use as a cure for coughs and colds, and as a safeguard against the deadly ailments which so frequently arise from them.

Mrs. J. Provost, Renfrew, Ont., states:—"My fourteen-year-old boy had a very severe cold in the chest last winter and I really thought he was going to die. He coughed nearly all the time and sometimes would spit up blood. We had about given up all hopes of his recovery when I heard of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. After using one bottle there was a great change in his condition, and I can positively say that he was completely cured by two bottles and he has not been troubled since. I never saw medicine take such quick effect and can sincerely recommend it."

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, JAN. 26, 1905.

THE POST'S EXPLANATION

Illtreatment of Lindsay Hockey Supporters in Peterborough Cause of the Trouble Last Monday Night.

(Lindsay Post)

The Examiner frames a serious indictment against all Lindsay lovers of sport because of the regrettabel users some of their hockey supporters received at the hands of some hot-headed friends of the Lindsay team Monday night. Our team and our citizens generally are a unit in condemning blackguardly acts, whether committed under guise of sporting enthusiasm or otherwise. The Post will uphold no sport that incites to persistent conduct of that nature. If the press and citizens of Peterborough took the same sound and proper view of the matter clean sport would rapidly become more popular.

The trouble is that hoodlumism is winked at in Peterborough. Lindsay baseball and lacrosse teams have been stoned and ill-treated whenever they visited the Otonabee town, and the local press encouraged that kind of thing by ignoring the occurrence. On the occasion of the last visit of our hockey boys to that town—on Jan. 13th—a gang of Peterborough toughs assaulted several of the team's supporters on the way to the station and when the train moved out they bombarded the car with various missles. That sort of treatment naturally fostered a desire for retaliation in the breasts of some of the boys so treated, but any expression of that intention was denounced by Manager O'Neill and the team's well-wishers, and we are convinced that nothing would have occurred to mar the serenity of Monday night's game, if some of the Peterborough team's supporters had not started the trouble at the station. Before the train pulled out Station Agent Paton went on board and informed the crowd that he would see to it that they were not molested if they behaved themselves, yet while he was speaking he saw some of the Peterborough crowd passing coal out of the car bin to others standing outside on the car platform. When he descended the car steps the fusilade began, and he narrowly escaped being struck. As mentioned yesterday, other citizens were not so fortunate. When the supply of coal gave out, the toughs among those on board sacrificed their empty whisky flasks, and it was one of these that struck a young man named Rickaby on the forehead, inflicting a ghastly wound. Some friends of the Lindsay team, who had prepared for trouble, but who had remained quiet as a result of the good advice of Mr. Paton and others, broke away from all restraint when they saw the Peterborough bunch commence hostilities without any provocation, and taking up their position at Lindsay street crossing, they retaliated in lively fashion as the train passed by.

The incident was a deplorable one, but the blame does not rest on either team. It may yet have to be incorporated in the O.H.A. rules that special trains for matches are forbidden. Visiting teams can always depend on square treatment from their opponents—the trouble is always caused by the turbulent supporters, who accompany them to fight, bet or drink whiskey.

HOCKEY.

Fenelon Falls defeated Bobcaygeon at the Falls on Tuesday night by 16 goals to 2, thus capturing the championship of district No. 8. The winners did not have their entire line-up on the ice.

—An order was issued from the Canadian Pacific management at Montreal that the men in the employ of the system be afforded every facility for polling their votes yesterday. The chief train despatcher in consequence of the order, at once gave instructions that the freight traffic time be temporarily rearranged and the movement of trains expedited or retarded as may be found most convenient in order that the train-crews might exercise their franchise, irrespective of party. The company adopted a similar policy in the general provincial election of 1902.

Ancient Forks.

A London jeweler has made a collection of ancient forks used in England which shows some little known facts about the table manners of a few centuries ago. The forks, which are of solid silver, date from the sixteenth century. In many cases the designs in all this time have scarcely varied in any detail, and the forks look like those which might be bought today.

Beards and Nails.

In every seventy years the average man grows a beard twenty-five feet long, hair almost fifty feet long and nails twenty-three feet long.

African Natives.

A traveler in the African wastes says that nearly all the natives show a great aversion to solitude, even in broad daylight. This aversion is due to their superstitious terrors.

Cool Water In Mexico.

The Mexicans do not use ice, but nevertheless there is no country where a man can get a glass of cool, sweet water quicker than in Mexico. The water jars are made of a porous pottery, which allows the water to ooze out through the material of the tank, and the evaporation keeps it always cool.

Gun In a Wooden Leg.

A wooden legged beggar shot and killed a man in the streets of Valverde, Spain. When seized no weapon could be found upon him until his wooden legs were examined. Then a gun was found secretly fixed in one of them.

Left to the Breakers.

The Norwegians have a primitive way of breaking up old wornout wooden ships. They take them to exposed rocky parts of the coast and after anchoring them leave the breakers of the next storm to smash them to pieces. After the storm the floating fragments are picked up and sold for firewood.

Life Tenure In Germany.

In Germany only 412 out of 1,000 males reach the age of fifty years, while more than 500 out of 1,000 females reach that age.

Sentiment.

Sentiment is as old as anything else, as is indicated by the discovery in Egyptian tombs dating back B. C. 2000 of wedding rings engraved with a heart and two clasped hands.

Chinese Rain God.

In cases of drought it is customary in China to organize processions to the temples, everybody going bareheaded. If they meet any one in a covered chair or carrying a sunshade they destroy the chair and the shade in the belief that the gods will be merciful and grant relief sooner if everybody is suffering from the heat.

Coal Mine Thoroughfare.

The longest underground thoroughfare in Great Britain is in central Derbyshire, where you can walk seven miles upon a road connecting several coal mines.

Kings and Queens.

It has been shown that out of a list of 2,550 sovereigns 300 have been overthrown, 134 assassinated, 123 taken prisoners of war, 108 executed, 100 slain in battle, 64 forced to abdicate, 28 died by their own hands, 25 were tortured to death, while 23 became mad or imbecile. This gives a total of 905 whose reigns have ended miserably.

Pygmy Persian Camels.

The western part of Persia is inhabited by a species of camel, the pygmy of its kind. It is snow white and only five feet high.

Chinese Cues.

The custom of Chinese wearing pigtails is not so very ancient. It dates from 1627, when the Manchus, who then commenced their conquest of the Celestial empire, enforced this fashion of doing the hair as a sign of degradation.

Rubber Shoes.

In 1820 a pair of rubber shoes was seen for the first time in the United States. They were covered with gilding and resembled in shape the shoes of a Chinaman. The rubber was in some parts of the shoes from an eighth to a quarter of an inch thick.

Copenhagen's Deer Park.

Copenhagen has the largest inclosed deer park of any city in the world. Its area is about 4,200 acres.

Eating Snow.

The water which will allay our burning thirst augments it when congealed into snow. It is stated by explorers of the arctic regions that the natives prefer enduring the utmost extremity of thirst rather than attempt to remove it by eating snow.

The Blue Jay.

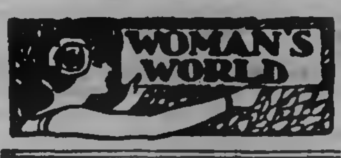
The blue jay, with his fascinating briskness, is the bully of the birds. When he wants to eat, all others must or get themselves out of the way. Few are bold enough to contest his absolute right of way. Almost as soon as he comes within hearing the other birds leave and usually do not return until he is well out of the way.

Easy Cure For a Sore Throat.

According to an old Anglo-Saxon formula for quinsy, you need only press the throat with the thumb and the ring and the middle fingers, cocking up the other two, and tell the disease to be gone.

Blind In Europe.

More women than men go blind in Sweden, Norway and Iceland, more men than women in the rest of Europe.



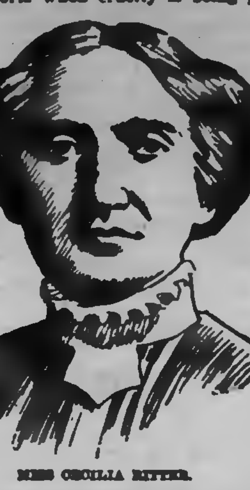
MISS CECILIA RITTER.

One of the Foremost Charitable Workers in Cincinnati.

Miss Cecilia Ritter of Cincinnati, a director of the Audubon society, is one of the foremost charitable workers in her city and state.

As secretary of the Ohio Humane society she has gained international prominence as an indefatigable worker in the interest of neglected children and dumb animals.

Although but small of stature, she represents the strenuous type of womanhood. Aside from being the only woman in Cincinnati empowered by law to make arrests, no driver of horses is too strong or husky to evade her efforts when cruelty is being perpetrated. Dozens of drivers will attest to her persistency when making arrests, and also to her vigor in punishing crime.



MISS CECILIA RITTER.

Miss Ritter is not an advocate of the whipping post for cruel husbands. She favors the workhouse instead, with some method in vogue whereby part of the earnings of such prisoners goes to maintain their families at home.

She is a strong advocate of humane education, which she says, if systematically followed, will ultimately result in raising the standards of morality. It is her ambition to establish a branch of the Humane society in every town and hamlet in the country. She has been a director of the Humane society since 1896.

Your Own Daily Hour.

Every woman, whatever her work or whatever her station in life, should adopt the rest cure, which is indeed a preventive rather than a remedy. At least one hour of the day should be spent absolutely in recreation.

The manner in which this recreation is obtained must differ according to the person. What is recreation to one woman is work to another.

For the woman who is constantly among people, who is nervous and overtaxed mentally and physically and seldom free from the demands of people near her, one hour a day in the open air, absolutely by herself, will prove beneficial. She should spend that hour alone and at rest.

For the woman who is alone by day there must be a different treatment. She should for an hour each day seek the society of those who interest and entertain her. If every woman who is much alone and consequently subject to fits of depression would practice this sixty minute cure, there would be little melancholia and less insanity in the world.

The woman who is on her feet all day should lie down for an hour daily.

A little self study will convince any woman of her individual needs during the rest hour. Each will find something restful to do. If the day comes when the rest hour seems absolutely impossible, be especially careful to observe the hour on that day, for it is at such times the most needed.

The woman who will keep young and beautiful and happy will adopt this method of living. She will make it as much a part of her life as she makes her religion.—Pittsburg Press.

One Woman's Way With Children.

I desire to have all of my children's meals served at the family table, so that I may give attention to the kind and quantity of food which they eat and also to their manners at table. As we have so many guests, I particularly wish my children to appear well bred, and for the same reason I do not wish to be obliged to be continually talking to them at the table. My children coax for pennies like other children, and I teach them the value of a penny while they are very young in this way: When we go into the dining room I place in front of my plate a penny for each child. At the close of the meal the child who has not been corrected in any way is given a penny. They are encouraged to talk, but not to interrupt. They are taught to eat properly, to ask properly for anything they may wish. Any misdemeanor which they understand to be such results in the loss of the penny. Sometimes they are fined a penny besides for any particularly unpleasant act. For any disrespectful word to the waitress they are at once sent from the table. It may not be the best way, but one thing is certain, the meal hour is the pleasantest in the day to children, guests and myself.—Ines Redding in Epitomist.

Domestic Economy.

One of my pet economics is being careful of little things in the kitchen. If things are not attended to there, there is apt to be waste. Always have everything left from dinner, however small the quantity, put into clean plates and the gravy or sauces into clean jars, so that in the morning you can see the extent of your resources. Cold sauces of any kind are nice stirred in with buttered eggs. This is a very convenient breakfast dish when the whites have been used for dinner dishes, as only the yolks are required. Cold vegetables, too, are delightful in salads or very good curried and served with rice. Cold parsnips are excellent fried in butter. Small pieces of cold meat and fish may be made into a nice luncheon dish by covering with salad dressing or mayonnaise and serving with lettuce; they may also be made into fish or meat patties, rissoles or gratins. A good curry can be prepared from inferior joints of poultry that have been served the day before. A white soup or puree can be made from the liquor in which meat or poultry has been boiled. There is an endless variety in economics of this kind.—Woman's Home Companion.

Love and Marriage.

Love and marriage have naturally a deep and abiding influence over the thoughts of woman. When the last century was young early marriages were very common, and a young girl was frequently a wife and mother several years before reaching the age of twenty. Now it is an unusual occurrence for a girl to assume such responsibilities until well on in her twenties or perhaps thirties, and a wise change it is, for upon considering girls of fifteen and sixteen at the present day it would be an open question as to whether they would be willing to forego all the joy and happiness which come at no other period of life and settle down into the house mother. Let the girls play golf and tennis; let them row and dance; let them read and study and fit themselves for the greater work which comes with later years; let their judgment mature, and there will be fewer mistakes made in choosing a life partner and less cause for divorce.

A Wash Day Help.

How many housekeepers who do their own washing realize what a help an ordinary garden hose is on wash day! I attach mine to the spigot by means of a suction cup, place the other end in the boiler on the stove and thus fill the boiler without lifting one bucketful. In the same way I fill the tubs for rinsing, and when all through washing I empty the washing machine and tubs by putting the hose into the tub to be emptied, first turning on the water for awhile, then removing the hose from the spigot, when the water will all run out the other way. When one tub is emptied I quickly remove the hose to another tub, and so proceed until all have been emptied. Of course your tubs must be higher than your spigot, or the water will not run from the tubs.—Designer.

For Home Dressmakers.

In home dressmaking the long seams are often difficult to get quite straight. As an aid in seaming pieces for the skirts of dresses, cloaks, etc., adopt the following plan: Place one piece of the material on a smooth deal table and the other above it. Smooth lightly into place, and at one end of the seam pin a tape measure to the stuff and through into the wood. Draw this down to the other end of the seam and again knock in a pin. Then with long thread tack by the edge of the tape measure, and in seaming use these stitches as guiding lines.

Toilet Implements.

Keeping toilet implements out upon a dressing table is a most insanitary habit. Any amount of soil collects on them in this way. The proper place for them is in a drawer. A fancy box makes a good receptacle for the toilet things of a girl who sleeps in her sitting room. If it has a tray in it there will be room for everything inside. The arrangement is most convenient, and the box can be as decorative as the owner chooses.

A Wardrobe Secret.

The clever girl has three petticoats nowadays for the price of one. She has the foundation in black moreen, reaching below the knees. This foundation is nicely finished off with a deep hem, on which are sewed buttons a few inches apart. By means of this device the clever girl has three or four different ruffles, which can be buttoned on to the foundation, according to the costume to be worn.

Blankets.

When blankets are to be washed for the first time they should first be soaked overnight in cold water and then rinsed. This is to remove the sulphur used in the bleaching. After this they should be soused until clear in a lukewarm lather made with boiled soap and water and then rinsed well in clear water.

Hot Gasoline.

To heat gasoline for cleaning small articles place the corked bottle of this dangerous stuff in a bucket of hot water out of doors, adding boiling water as the water cools. Hot gasoline will clean laces speedily and thoroughly.

A small piece of paper or linen moistened with spirits of turpentine and put into a bureau or wardrobe for a single day two or three times a year is a sufficient preservative against moths.

Ebonize old or unpainted furniture, especially chairs or library tables, by rubbing in a mixture of lampblack and turpentine.

In dieting to reduce flesh drink no liquids at meals and no water until an hour at least after the meal.

The glory of a woman is at the hearthstone.—Mary Anderson.

DREAMS AS WARNINGS.

Periodicity of Impressions an Explanation of Premonitions.

Dr. Herman Swoboda of Vienna has recently provided us with some very interesting data in reference to dreams, data which may do a great deal in explaining many phenomena which up to the present have been looked upon as the work of mysterious agencies. This scientist believes that impressions and events are again brought into the field of consciousness after certain specified intervals, in the case of men after twenty-three days and in the case of women after twenty-eight days. Thoughts and recollections, on the other hand, have a periodicity which is apparently not explained in any way by examination of the customary train of ideas. The reproduction of impressions and recollections is so regular that Dr. Swoboda has frequently succeeded in predicting the appearance of certain dreams at specific times.

He himself always has the well known "flying dream" twenty-three days after he has been skating, and it is probable that continual use of our arms and legs in other than in a normal manner, as in dancing, skating, bicycling, etc., will, after a period of twenty-three or twenty-eight days, produce the "flying dream." This form of dream is doubtless the result of the so called muscular sense, for we possess a feeling not only of the position of our muscles, but also of the changes which these muscles undergo in movement.

However, the most remarkable part of Dr. Swoboda's work is its bearing on premonitions and the key it gives to the explanation of a large mass of these phenomena. Again we will resort to the cases mentioned by the author, which will indicate his meaning clearly and briefly. Dr. Swoboda tells of the case of a physician who dreams that he is called upon to see a sick child. On Jan. 3 the physician made a visit to the child under discussion, and the night of March 27 and 28 he had his dream. During his visit of Jan. 3 he had received his impressions, which after the triple lapse of the period of twenty-eight days were again presented in the dream. At the same time the physician had his dream the mother of the child had a dream which represented the former visit of the physician, in the case of the physician the dream creating a premonition that he would be called to see the child, while with the mother there was suggested the advisability of calling in the physician.—Public Opinion.

A Disconcerted Committee.

Ferdinand Hassler, the father of the United States coast survey system, was once waited upon by a committee of congress sent to inquire into the progress of the work. The committee reached New York and wended their way upstairs to the room where Hassler was drilling his classes and preparing them for the work. Hassler, who allowed no intruders, met them at the door and inquired their business. They answered that they had come to investigate. "What part of the work do you wish to inspect?" inquired the Swiss mathematician. Congress had no definite idea on that point. "Then you had better go and find out," returned Hassler as he shut the door in the faces of the astonished committee. The committee looked at each other and on second sober thought concluded that Hassler was about right and quietly wended their way downstairs and back to Washington.

One of the Election's Surprises.

Zenos J. Rives, unknown beyond the limits of his home city, Litchfield, Ill., is representative elect from the Twenty-first Illinois district, and the fact is as surprising to him as it is to his defeated opponent. Mr. Rives is only thirty years old and is just beginning the study of law in Litchfield. He did not make a campaign of his district at all. Representative Caldwell, who is defeated for re-election, is one of the popular men of Illinois and has been repeatedly elected to the lower house of congress without difficulty. He was renominated without opposition and was thought to have the election won, but the Roosevelt landslide carried Mr. Rives into congress, to almost everybody's infinite amazement.

Resourceful Policeman.

Patrolman Plischke of the Los Angeles police force is a man of resources, as he proved one evening not long ago. He belongs to the bicycle squad and was walking along a handsome residence street when he observed a suspicious stranger who was unable to give a good account of himself. The officer found on the man a porch climber's outfit, including a dark lantern and a coil of rope. Plischke did not think he could handle his prisoner and at the same time take care of his wheel, which he feared to leave behind. So he made the man put his hands on either side of a lamp post and handcuffed him there. Then he went for help.

Grip Preventive.

An excellent preventive of influenza is said to be found in adding a few drops of eucalyptus oil to every pail of hot water used in cleaning the woodwork of a house and to the water in which the broom is frequently dipped when sweeping the carpets. Turpentine may be used if preferred in place of the eucalyptus. The whole house in this way becomes disinfected.—Boston Budget.

An Obliging Earthquake.

Earthquakes occasionally profit mankind, as in the case of Ouzoun-Ada, a town on the Caspian. The port of the town was visited by an earthquake last year, and since then it has been found open to steamers which could not enter it before, owing to the shallow water.

GEORGE DUCHSCHERER
PROPRIETOR

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH.

GENTLEMEN,—

I desire to thank you for the handsome majority by which you have returned me as your representative in the Provincial House. Believe me, that as far as in my power lies I will endeavor to serve faithfully and honestly your interests as well as the interests of the country.

To my Conservative supporters, who devoted both time and labor to ensure my success, I offer heartiest thanks. No candidate could have had assistance more freely offered and generously afforded. A new factor in the campaign was the valuable work done by the Young Conservative Club, and I recognise that I am largely indebted to its kind offices for my success.

I know that I received the votes of many Liberals, and that my majority was increased thereby. I appreciate this mark of confidence, and offer most hearty thanks in return.

West Peterborough joined with the Province in an expression of want of confidence in the late government and in the endorsation of the principles put forward by our leader, Mr. Whitney, and which policy as your representative I shall support.

Again thanking you for favors received, I am,

Yours faithfully,

T. E. BRADBURN.

ROSS WILL RETIRE.

Likely to Enter Dominion Cabinet—McKay May Lead Opposition.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—The latest report in well informed political circles here is that Hon. George W. Ross is not likely to sit in Opposition in the Ontario House and that he will enter the Dominion Senate.

It is said that Hon. A. G. McKay, of North Grey, or Hon. G. P. Graham, of Brockville, is likely to succeed him.

GOLD-MOUNTED PEN GIVEN

New Brother Foresters Appreciate Long and Faithful Service—High Chief Ranger Initiates Members.

Last night's meeting of Court Chemong, I.O.F., was one of exceptional interest. Bro. G. N. Brown, D.H.C.R., by request was present and initiated quite a number of new members. The business of the evening being concluded, a very pleasant event then took place, when Bro. J. W. Buyers, who has been Recording and Corresponding Secretary of the Court for nine years, was presented with a valuable gold mounted fountain pen by his brother officers as a mark of their esteem and respect for himself and his faithful and painstaking efforts in connection with the office he occupied. Bro. G. N. Brown, on behalf of the officers and brethren present requested Bro. Buyers to come forward. He then made the presentation to Bro. Buyers, remarking at the same time that he trusted that the recipient might live long to use the pen in the interests of his Court. After applause and the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow," Bro. Buyers, although quite taken by surprise, suitably thanked Bro. Brown and officers and brethren for their great kindness in presenting him with such a beautiful pen as a mark of their esteem, and trusted he would be enabled to use it to good advantage in the interests of the Order. Several of the officers and members made brief addresses, and referred in feeling terms to Bro. Buyers' long and faithful services.

VERY FINE PICTURE.

That of Shamrock Lacrosse Club, World's Champions.

There is on exhibition in the window of Mr. M. J. Hickey's tailoring establishment a very fine picture of the players and officers of the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, of Montreal, champions of the world, and probably the most famous lacrosse team in existence. The picture is a very large one, and the players are prominently shown.

The photo has been generously donated by the Shamrock Club to Rev. Dr. O'Brien and St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society. It will form a valuable addition to the many fine pictures of athletes which already adorn the reception room of the Society's headquarters.

—A meeting of George-st. Young Men's Guild was called for last evening, but on account of the very small attendance, Mr. D. W. Dumble did not give his address on "Commercial Law." It is presumed that hockey matches of the evening explain the failure of the meeting.

May he be equally successful in the battle he has gone to fight.

—Last Monday evening as a passenger coach was being shunted towards Sherwood-st., Bobcaygeon, the brake failed to work and it ran off the track striking H. Page's stable and turning it clean over. The only damage done to the coach, was the breaking of the steps and one door. Another engine was sent from Toronto, and the coach was drawn on the track and taken away Tuesday last.

—On Monday evening last, a young gentleman, accompanied by two young ladies, met with an unpleasant experience whilst driving home to Lakefield from Peterborough. When near Mr. Cullen's residence a deep pitch-hole was encountered with the result that the sleigh was upset and the horse ran away, leaving the occupants on the road. A rig was secured from Mr. Cullen and the party reached home none the worse for the mishap. The horse and rig arrived at the livery barn without any damage being done.—News.

—Mr. R. J. Todd received a letter from Uxbridge to-day, apprising him of the fact that the carriage factory operated by his brother Mr. & B. Todd in that place, had been destroyed by fire on Wednesday night. The weather was very cold and the fire brigade was thus at a disadvantage in dealing with the flames. Several buggies and cutters were destroyed besides a considerable quantity of new stock. When discovered the flames had made such headway that it was impossible to save any of the contents. It is understood that the loss is partly covered by insurance.

"I had stricture for eleven years. It finally brought on Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. I had an uncomfortable shooting pain in the groin and feeling as though something was in the urethra. My back was weak and I could scarcely stoop over. Urine was full of sediment. Had a desire to urinate frequently. Family doctors, so-called specialists, patent medicines, electric belts, all failed. I was discouraged. I had spent hundreds of dollars in vain. Finally I consulted Drs. Kennedy & Kergan as the last resort. The Daily Review

FRIDAY, JAN. 27, 1905.

ELECTION AFTERMATH.

Ontario! Ontario!

Yes, we are the people.

Whitney will build up New Ontario.

How big a majority do some people want anyway?

When Mr. Ross spelt "f-i-g-h-t" he defied the people's might.

Yes, Mr. Anderson got there; but he had the run of his life.

The electors of Ontario made the punishment fit the crime.

Hon. J. P. Whitney, Premier of Ontario, looks well in print.

It was a greater sweep than the Liberal victory of November.

The fortunes of the Conservative party have turned the corner.

Great was the old machine, but greater are the People of Ontario.

And now it is keeping several parties busy to explain how it all happened.

The People of Ontario had to rise in their might to put the machine "out of business."

This province has taught a lesson to political corruptionists that will not be forgotten.

You may call it a landslide, a snow slide, an avalanche, or a funeral — whatever you like Ontario has done a real kindness to "the little Father" by reducing his inordinate self-esteem.

Good-bye forever to the "Crew of Crooks." Ontario is finally rid of the Machine Boodling Gang.

In future the cry "Remember Ross" will send a chill down the spine of political corruptionists.

Ottawa Conservatives, says the Citizen, feel like walking outside the city limits to have a good cheer with the rest of the province.

A few Moore votes and the Conservative candidate in East Peterborough would have won out.

Gibson may now take a trip on the Minnie M. He is no longer Attorney-General, not even a "constable."

Five Cabinet Ministers of Mr. Ross were of a very retiring disposition, once the people got after them.

You can meet the man on every corner who greets you with a smile and tells you he knew it was coming.

Kruger Ross will have to reckon with the Uitlanders now under slightly disadvantageous circumstances.

R. C. Clute was one of those who called at the premier's office on Wednesday night to commiserate with Mr. Ross.

Mr. Bradburn has received scores of congratulatory telegrams and letters on his great victory in West Peterborough.

Mr. Ross might have spared himself this blow by a timely observance of truthful methods and respectful regard for popular rights.

"Slander won the day," remarks the Lindsay Post. What about the Conservatives and the thousands of honest Liberals who voted against machine rule?

"Joe" Downey's many friends in Peterborough are glad to see the splendid victory he scored in South Wellington and would not be surprised to see him in the new Cabinet.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams sent the following despatch to the Toronto Star: "Several hundred Liberals voted against me, partly because of Government, partly from factional enmity. Other elements swung also."

The Lindsay Post says, "While full and correct returns are not available, it may be taken as a certainty that the administration of the Ross Government has been routed." — Yes that was a pretty safe prediction.

The Toronto Star rises from the ashes of the great disaster of Jan. 25th, and goes into a serious discussion of the topic "The Decline of Ping Pong." Everybody will be at a loss to know just what that had to do with the defeat of the Government.

Toronto Star—The most dire apprehensions with regard to West Peterborough, Hon. J. R. Stratton's old seat, were more than realised. A Liberal majority of 1,200 was turned into a Conservative majority in even larger figures. The sect known as Stratton Conservatives must have been even larger than was imagined.

Perhaps Mr. Whitney will be able to wiggle along on that majority—if he gets a little encouragement.

"What is the majority now?" asked a leading Peterborough Conservative today. "Oh, about forty-two," was the reply. "I thought it was larger than that," he said. "I heard it was growing and had now reached fifty-one." "Look here," said his friend, "you should be satisfied. How can you possibly get a majority of fifty-one out of a House of ninety-eight members? Why man, think what you are talking about."

FOR BETTER ELECTION LAW.

The current number of the Canada Law Journal contains an article by Judge Wallace, of Halifax, on proposed amendments to the election law. Though the medium in which it appears brings the article mainly to the attention of lawyers, laymen will find that it presents matter of very general interest in an extremely readable form.

In Judge Wallace's opinion the chief cause for the unsatisfactory working of the Controverted Elections Act is that its enforcement is largely in the hands of parties who are often as guilty as those against whom the proceedings are instituted. That criticism is supported by recent experience in this province. Corrupt practices can never, the judge maintains, be suppressed or even materially checked in Canada under the present law. It should be made more simple, summary and severe. Even with an ideal law, however, the writer recognizes that corruption might continue. The best law would be little better than the one we have if its enforcement were not made certain. To make it certain, Judge Wallace would have an independent general superintendent of elections, who could be removed from office only by a vote of two-thirds of the House of Commons. Judge Wallace notes that his idea was favored by Mr. Borden, the leader of the Opposition in the last Parliament. Mr. Borden urged "that an election chief as independent as the Auditor-General should be appointed. Remarking on this the writer says—"Even if the present machinery of the law were sufficient (as it may be) to deal with certain offences such as the outrageous ballot-box crime recently exposed in one province, it would still be necessary to have some qualified and directly responsible official and staff entrusted with the duty of eradicating the other and more common forms of corrupt practices and the root-cause, bribery."

Judge Wallace would add to the list of statutory offences the promising of Government appropriations or public benefits of any kind to a constituency at any time during a campaign or three weeks prior thereto. He would also prohibit making or promising of subscriptions by candidates during the campaign or a month previous to the campaign. He would have the Ballot Act amended to cover the canvassing of workmen by their employers. The contribution is on sound lines, and is worthy of the attention of all who have given any thought to the subject.

THE NEW PREMIER.

Toronto World.

Mr. Whitney has received a tribute of confidence of which he has every reason to be proud. It has been well deserved and testifies to the clean, straightforward and manly manner in which he has conducted the contest throughout. He has never swerved from the simple and plain issue upon which he appealed to the province, and he refused to limit it to merely party lines. An issue, indeed, so vital for the future of free government in Ontario could not be made a party question, and as Mr. Whitney declared, the victory of his cause could not be regarded as a mere party triumph. And he will be the first to recognize that the sweep which he has made throughout the length and breadth of the province has been due in no small degree to the independent and honorable action of the many Liberals who have subordinated for patriotic reasons their party to their principles.

The leader of the late Opposition, soon to be Premier and head of the Government, has now an opportunity seldom enjoyed by a public man. His task is not a light one, nor will it be an easy matter to act up to the measure of his pledge. But there is no reason to doubt that the same sterling qualities which have now borne fruit will enable him to fulfil to the letter the important trust which the people have so unreservedly placed in his hands. He has set himself a high standard of public duty, he has accepted to the full the great principle of government responsibility to the people for the fair and pure conduct of elections, he has promised honest government—these we are confident, will, in his hands, be kept inviolate. Mr. Whitney has it now in his power to build up a truly patriotic party, guided with a single eye to the best interests of the province and to the conservation of the rights and privileges of the people, and the confidence of the people that he will do this will, if he is true to himself, be amply justified.

Facial Paralysis

Mr. W. J. Brennan, Western Hill, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "My face was all twisted out of shape with facial paralysis, and five doctors failed to cure or even relieve. By the persistent use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I have been entirely cured, and have returned to work strong and well. I have gained in weight and feel that I have a new lease of life." 10

MR. FOSTER AS A RAILROAD MAN.

Rapid Rise of the New Local District Passenger Agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The recent appointment of Charles B. Foster as successor to the late A. H. Notman, in the post of C.P.R. district passenger agent at Toronto, is another of the frequent reminders of the truth of the saying that he who would succeed in a railway career must begin young, "the younger the better." Mr. Foster can look back upon a record of 13 years spent continuously in the service of the C.P.R., and he is still well under 35 years of age. When it is said that the territory over which he is now called upon to exert supervision extends over all Ontario west of and including Kingston and Sharbot Lake, to Detroit, and also south of North Bay and Detroit City, it can be easily seen that a wide range of responsibility is opened up, and that the post of overseer of all the passenger arrangements for so extensive and largely travelled a district is not a gilded sinecure. The post calls for a man of quick, decisive judgment, almost unlimited executive capacity, and, lastly, tact. To be at the helm in the passenger department of any road, demands these qualities and upon their possession in greater or lesser degree depends the measure of success.

CHARLES B. FOSTER

Mr. Foster's record speaks for itself. He has always been in the atmosphere of passenger tickets and his railway lore is of the concentrated kind. His thirteen years' experience has been all along one line, but, then, that one line is a life study in itself. Getting into a rut is a thing impossible, or nearly so when it comes to the matter of handling passenger transportation. The problems that arise and the contingencies that confront are diverse and peculiar, and straighten out the kinks all those gifts above spoken of are required.

Born in Kingston, Kingston County, New Brunswick, Sept. 30, 1871, Mr. Foster entered the C.P.R. passenger department, at St. John, N.B., when under 20 years of age, as stenographer. Within 18 months he became senior clerk in that department, and in September, 1893, was promoted to the position of traveling passenger agent. During the six years which followed, Mr. Foster remained, thus accumulating in that time a thorough knowledge of transportation technique, and becoming intimately acquainted with the ins and outs of it, as specially concerned the Maritime Provinces and part of New England. In July, 1899, he was appointed chief clerk in the department at St. John, and was given an opportunity to use in an executive way the knowledge assimilated by him as traveling representative. That he was enabled to do this effectively is shown by the fact that in February, 1902, or two and a half years after becoming chief clerk to the district passenger agent at St. John, he was chosen to fill the latter important position. It gave him charge of territory east of Oldtown, Maine, and Levis, Que., including New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, P.E.I., and Newfoundland. His duties embraced the looking after of the C.P.R. winter Atlantic steamship service, and the summer excursion traffic, neither being a small item.

The death of A. H. Notman, one of the most popular railroad men in Canada, made a gap in the ranks of C.P.R. officials which required an able man to fill. That Mr. Foster was asked to be Mr. Notman's successor was but the forging of another link in a career of the rapid, steady and consistent progress. After 13 years spent in the Maritime Provinces he was called upon last November to enter a new field, and to deal with problems more complex. It need only be said that his work has already abundantly justified the wisdom of the appointment, and that his personal popularity is no mean factor in the success he is achieving in Toronto.

DEVELOPING MARKETS.

Notes From the Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture.

The Dairy Division of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has again this year operated a number of creameries in the North West Territories, so that farmers in districts adapted to dairying might be able to obtain a cash income from their cows until such time as they are able to carry on the work for themselves. Considerable attention has recently been devoted to developing new markets for the butter produced, and the results have been quite satisfactory. In spite of the fact that the price of butter in Eastern Canada was lower last year than the year before, the patrons of the North West creameries have received an average net price of 20.98 cents a pound for the butter manufactured from the cream supplied by them, over a cent more per pound than in 1903, and the highest price ever obtained for the season's output of the Government creameries.

British Columbia has naturally been the chief market for Territorial butter in the past and still continues to take the bulk of the shipments. Freight rates and other expenses are so heavy that a satisfactory trade with Great Britain cannot be carried on at present, but a considerable export trade is being developed with Japan and other Oriental countries. Before the Osaka Exposition there was scarcely any Canadian butter sold to Japan, but in spite of the war, some 34,000 pounds have been shipped to that country from the Government Creameries during the first ten months of this year. The total consumption of butter in Japan is not large, but there are indications of a decided increase in demand for the Canadian article at the close of the war.

The Yukon butter trade is also being recovered for Canada. The total amount consumed in that territory annually is over 500,000 pounds, of which nearly 200,000 pounds have this year been contributed by the Government Creameries in the North West Territories. When the country was first opened several shipments of tinned butter sent up by Canadian firms were found to be very inferior in quality, and, consequently, the Canadian article got a bad name, and the market was practically monopolized by the United States. Indeed until 1903, about the only Canadian butter used in the Yukon was that sent to the Mounted Police. Meanwhile the Dairy Division had been testing various styles of tins and other packages, and had found that a first class article, properly packed, could be shipped there at a profit. Orders for 90,000 pounds were received in 1903, and this amount was more than doubled last year, as mentioned above.

THE VALUE OF STRICT DAIRY LAWS.

There has been some opposition to our stringent legislation, such as the Dairy Products Act of 1893, and the Butter Act of 1903, which forbid the manufacture and sale in Canada of adulterated dairy goods, including filled cheese and process butter. The Hastings Cheese case, recently reported in the press, has shown that if our dairy laws had been one whit less strict, the Canadian cheese trade might have received a blow from which it would have required years to recover. The case in question is still fresh in the public memory. A leading firm of grocers in Hastings, England, was charged with selling as pure cheese an article which the local analyst alleged was adulterated with foreign fat. Fortunately the Canadian High Commissioner and the chief inspector in Britain of the Department of Agriculture were able to present a vigorous defence, backed up by indisputable evidence forwarded from Canada by the Chief of the Dairy Division. It shows that in Canada the manufacture of margarine, or "filled" cheese was absolutely prohibited under heavy penalties, and the conditions of manufacture were such that it was quite impossible for this to happen without the fact coming to the notice of the authorities. The purity of the cheese was admitted and the charge finally dismissed, when it was found that the Canadian contentions were proven by the report of the Government analyst, which showed that the sample in question contained 43 per cent. of milk fat and no foreign fat whatever.

The case has attracted almost universal attention in Great Britain and the triumphant vindication of the purity of Canadian dairy products will prove a great advertisement for our goods. If, however, our dairy laws had been lax or our departmental organization imperfect on either side of the Atlantic, the result might have been different.

Cured Kidney Disease

Mrs. Fred Hills, Walton St., Port Hope, Ont., states: "I was troubled for some time with kidney disease, and though I tried a great many different medicines never succeeded in obtaining relief until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. By the regular use of this preparation for a time I was completely cured of kidney disease."

TRENT VALLEY CANAL

No Report Received By the Government as to Surveys.

Referring to a discussion on the Trent Canal in the House at Ottawa, a despatch says—

The oft-heard of bifurcated Trent Valley Canal again occupied the centre of the stage for a few minutes. Col. Ward, who heard much of this two-mouthed canal last fall, wanted to hear something more and put a question on the Order paper. In his absence yesterday Mr. Foster asked the questions. Mr. Emmerson replied that surveys have been, or are being, made between Rice Lake and Port Hope, Cobourg and Trenton. These surveys were under the general direction of F. J. Walsh, C.E.; those at Port Hope and Cobourg were being made by Mr. G. L. Law, and at Trenton by Mr. S. E. Patterson. No reports had been made to the Government because the surveys were not finished.

In a letter addressed to her mother, she bade her good-bye and asked that her body be buried in Detroit. The girl was tired of life on account of her position, and a love affair, in which a young man of the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, played the role of sweetheart. She came to the Soo from Toronto last October.

THE DOMINION HOUSE.

Private Members' Day in Which Questions Were Asked and Answered.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—Yesterday was private members' day, but apart from questions there was no private business ready to be taken up, and so estimates were again proceeded with in committee of supply.

Replying to a question by Mr. Sloan (Comox-Atlin), Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the Government had no information that the Imperial authorities intended to abandon Esquimalt as a naval station.

Mr. Lefurgey was informed that the Marconi apparatus in the Government steamers Stanley and Minto cost $1,550 each, and the arrangement was very successful.

Ralph Smith was informed that the British Columbia Act, to regulate immigration, passed in 1904, had been disallowed because it was ultra vires and interfered with the Dominion policy.

Mail Offender Reported.

Mr. Ames of St. Antoine division, Montreal, renewed his question of Wednesday to ascertain what action the Postmaster-General had taken with regard to the illegal stamping of letters in the Montreal postoffice by an employe of the Public Works Department, named Thibault, an electrician, whose work brought him into contact with the letter-stamping machinery on the premises.

The facts, as alleged, were that by the use of these stamped letters one Bissonette and others sought to obtain information of the Conservative committee rooms, and to use these letters to facilitate personation in the Liberal interest in the general election of November last.

Sir William Mulock, in reply, produced a report on the subject from the deputy postmaster of Montreal, in which that official corroborated the statement that Thibault had stamped the letters without authority and had pretended that he did so not knowing that he was violating any rule of the service. With reference to the fact that Thibault was still employed Sir William said the letter only reached the Public Works Department just before the Christmas holidays, when the acting Minister (Mr. Hyman) was absent from Ottawa. The matter, however, would no doubt receive immediate attention

Too Soon For Rural Delivery.

Mr. Foster elicited from Sir William Mulock that there was no competition in the manufacture of uniforms for letter carriers, the department purchasing the cloth and having the garments made up at a scale of prices fixed by the department.

The Postmaster-General, replying to Mr. Bergeron, said that contracts for the tubes for the pneumatic systems in Montreal and Toronto had been let.

Sir William declared in the course of things that it was altogether premature to talk of a rural mail delivery in Canada. It would involve millions upon millions of expenditure.

Mr. Foster concurred in the wisdom of the Postmaster-General's conclusions. Postoffice estimates were then dropped for the time and several votes for the Indian Department passed The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

FAR FROM VAGUE.

Premier Balfour Denies Charges of Opponents and Makes Announcements.

London, Jan 27.—(C. A. P.)—Speaking to his constituents in Manchester, Premier Balfour denied the assertion made by his opponents that he had been vague regarding the fiscal question in his utterances. Mr. Morley had offered a reward to anybody who could state his fiscal policy on a sheet of note paper. He would do it on a half sheet Holding up a sheet of note paper he read from it:

"I desire such an alteration in our fiscal system as will give us freedom of action, which is impossible while we hold ourselves bound by the maxim that no taxation should be imposed except for revenue purposes. I desire this freedom in the main for three reasons—it will strengthen our hands in negotiations by which we may hope to lower foreign tariffs; it may enable us to protect the fiscal independence of the colonies, which desire to give us preferential treatment; it may be useful where we wish to check the importation of those foreign goods which because they are bounty fed or tariff protected abroad are sold below cost price here.

"Secondly, I desire that closer commercial union with the colonies which has received so much colonial support. I think it might produce great and growing commercial advantages both to the colonies and the mother country by promoting freer trade between them. Such a commercial union is beset with many difficulties, but those can best be dealt with by a colonial conference, provided its objects are permitted to be discussed unhampered by limiting instructions. I recommend that the subject shall be referred to a conference on these terms.

"Lastly, I do not desire to raise home prices for the purpose of aiding home production."

Colonies and Preferences.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, M. P. (Liberal leader), addressing his constituents at Queensferry, said he believed the colonies would be unwilling to give us any preference that would affect their advantage over us. The colonies were bound to us by ties of blood, long association and common interest. Mr. Chamberlain's theory tended ultimately to imperil the unity of the Empire.

His Child Dies.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—Yesterday morning about the time Giaconni, the Italian murderer, was leaving the Montreal jail to serve a life term at St. Vincent de Paul, his little boy, the only child, died of diphtheria.

WHITNEY'S MAJORITY STILL STAYS AT FORTY

But it Will Likely be Increased, as Protests Will be Made in Certain Constituencies.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt Obtained Only Twenty Majority in Monk---Prince Edward County Goes Liberal---Several Recounts to Take Place—One in West Huron—Mr. Whitney Returns Thanks for Congratulatisns.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Although Mr. Whitney will probably be able to worry along on his slim majority of 40 this figure is liable to grow before the Legislature meets. A tie is claimed in West Huron by Dudley Holmes, while M. G. Cameron says he has four majority. A recount is altogether probable. The Conservatives will also ask for a recount of the ballots cast in Kingston, where the majority is only 16, in Prince Edward, where Dr. Currie has three majority, and in Peel where John Smith has only 18 of a margin.

Complete returns are in from quite a large number of the constituencies and show a considerable increase in the Conservative popular majority. Only eight Conservatives had majorities less than 100. Premier Ross is quite safe in West Middlesex, but he came within 100 votes of defeat. Hon. Mr. Harcourt had 15 in Monck. The majorities so far as ascertained are:

PREMIER SEES GOVERNOR.

His Resignation May Be Already Handed in, But Cabinet Meets to Decide About Things.

Premier Ross paid a visit to the Lieutenant-Governor yesterday afternoon; but whether his resignation was handed in or not is not known. The Lieutenant-Governor and Mr. Ross have nothing to say. It is expected that a Cabinet meeting will be held to-day at which the Government will decide what course to pursue.

There is little or no routine work to be done in any of the departments. That was finished some weeks ago in anticipation of what has happened. The usual procedure in the British Government is to hand in the resignation to the Crown, and after a reasonable time in which the Government may dispose of routine business, Parliament is called. The Lieutenant-Governor, representing the King in Ontario, would then call upon Mr. Whitney to form a Government, but before accepting office each member will go back to his constituents for re-election. It may be that the Premier's resignation is in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor, and that nothing will be given out until after the Cabinet has met, or it may be that Mr. Ross will consult his ministers before forwarding his resignation.

Not Till Saturday.

Mr. Whitney is not expected in the city till Saturday. As soon as the Lieutenant-Governor has the Premier's resignation he will send for Mr. Whitney. Not till then will the names of the new Cabinet be definitely known.

None of the ministers attempted to account for the landslide of Wednesday. Mr. Dryden lays his own defeat to the use of money, and thinks the Pickering incident did not do him any harm. He will retire to private life. He was getting together his personal effects yesterday.

About the buildings there was a feeling of gloom. The officials do not know where the axe will fall, but the impression prevails that there will be few dismissals. Only those who have been offensively active will be let go, as wholesale removals without good cause might be followed by retaliation by the Liberal Government at Ottawa.

Acknowledges Congratulations.

Morrisburg, Jan. 26.—The immense number of messages of a congratulatory nature received by me from all parts of the Dominion, and which are still coming, renders it necessary for me to ask the aid of the press in acknowledging them and expressing my hearty thanks for and appreciation of them.—(Sgd.) J. P. Whitney.

Blake to Whitney.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—S. H. Blake has sent the following telegram to Mr. Whitney: "I congratulate you most heartily on the magnificent victory of yesterday, the result of your arduous campaign. All honest men in the Dominion should join in thanking you for the verdict reached yesterday at the bar of public opinion by an outraged province, unanimous in the head centre of the iniquities—Toronto—which found the indicted criminals in high places guilty of treason against our commonwealth. We are now hopefully and confidently looking forward to the end of the breaking down Ontario by crooked ways, broken promises, concessions to grafters, and poetic effusions, and to the building up Ontario by a progressive Government, based on equal rights, truth and righteousness."

See Trial Over.

Sault Ste. Marie, Jan. 27.—The court sat only for a short time yesterday morning. Mr. DuVernet renewed his application for a summons against C. N. Smith, but the judges held to the decision of Wednesday, leaving the criminal courts open to proceed against him. P. J. Galvin's case was dropped. The arguments against William Coyne will be proceeded with in Toronto, Feb. 14; also that of George Sutherland. Their Lordships left for the east yesterday.

Something In Addition.

A German grocer, newly arrived in New Orleans, opened up a downtown establishment. He got along fairly well for awhile, but soon all his customers ceased coming.

Meeting one of them on the street one day he inquired the cause.

"Because you don't give lagniappe," was the curt reply.

"But what is dot lagniappe?" he persisted.

"Oh, simply a custom here. When one buys anything at a grocery store the clerk or proprietor usually gives lagniappe—that is, a little something in addition."

"Och, dot is it, eh?" replied the grocer reflectively and went his way.

The next customer who came in was served by him in person.

After the package was tied and handed over the counter the grocer said suddenly:

"What is der sum of sixteen hundert unt forty-seven unt eighteen hundert unt nine?"

"Why, whatever do you mean?" cried the astonished purchaser.

"Why, dot's your lagniappe—a leetle something in addition, aindt id?"

The grocer shop closed the following week.

Library Book Thieves.

"No public library is safe from book thieves. In the big libraries they have spotters to watch men who ask for rare editions, but in the small libraries we must depend on the girls employed who happen to detect a thief by chance. If possible we catch the book thief before he reaches the door and ask him if he has not forgotten to have the volume checked off at the registry desk. If he is an old hand he says:

"'I have forgotten my card, but I will bring it around tomorrow.'

"He hands back the book and disappears to reappear in that particular library no more for many months. The majority of book thieves do not steal novels. They go after works of reference, almanacs, year books and such things, that most of them probably need in their business, but cannot afford to buy. That is why such volumes are nailed down in many libraries. I have actually known a woman to get away with a city directory under her cloak."

Natives of the San Blas Coast.

The natives of the San Blas coast, part of the western coast of South America, have many peculiar customs. The Indian boy after his marriage becomes the slave of his father-in-law and must submit in all things to his will until emancipated by his own daughter's marriage, when he sets up his own home and becomes thenceforth master of his son-in-law. The men are very jealous of their women, and in case of war or other grave danger their first step is to kill their wives and children. They believe dreams and insanity to be the work of evil spirits, and the dreamer upon telling his dream is killed. The insane are burned alive. They allow no foreigner to sleep in one of their villages.

A Famous Aqueduct.

One of the most imposing architectural relics of western Europe is the aqueduct of Nismes, in southern France. After the lapse of sixteen centuries this colossal monument still spans the valley, joining hill to hill in nearly perfect state. The highest range of arches carries a small canal just wide enough for a man to creep through and still retaining a thick lining of Roman cement. The height of the structure is 188 feet and the length of the highest arcade 872 feet. Its use was to convey to the city of Nismes the water of two springs twenty-five miles distant.

A Right of the British Navy.

The British navy since the time of Alfred the Great has claimed the position of being "first among equals" and has maintained this position to the present day. It is acknowledged by the navies of the world in the fact that on meeting a British man-of-war they first salute, the courtesy being returned by the British ship. The Dutch resisted this demand until 1675 and the French until 1704, since which date it has been an item of international law.

"Ye" For "The."

"Ye" for "the" is not now and never was a proper form of expression. The word "ye," as it appears in all old books and legal documents, should always be pronounced as "the," the "y" being only a corruption of the thorn letter, a symbol which stood in place of "th" and which was formerly used by printers when difficulties were experienced in "spacing out."

Obtuse.

"Pa," said little Willie, who was struggling over his lessons, "what is an obtuse angle?"

"An obtuse angle," replied his father, "is an Englishman to whom you try to explain a joke."

Awkwardly Expressed.

Newlywed—You bachelors are foolish. Now, when a married man gets a few dollars saved up he doesn't go and spend it on some woman he admires. Bachelor—Doesn't he? Newlywed—No. He buys something for his wife.

Both Wrong.

"He offered her his hand and his fortune."

"Did she accept?"

"No. The first was too large and the second too small."

An Alternative Theory.

She—It's no use talking— Her Husband—No, it is not. But I suppose you do it merely from a sense of duty.

The labor of love leads to love of labor.—Chicago Tribune.

POLICE COURT

Two Sentences of Six Months For Vagrancy.

Several six months terms in the Central were handed out at police court this morning.

The familiar face of Frank Meehan once more bobbed up serenely in answer to the same old charge of vagrancy. It wouldn't be a police court without Frank and his pathetic excuses. The magistrate thought that he had been there too often and sentenced him to six months in the Central.

Henry Nolan was charged with stealing a jack knife from Wm. Wall and on being found guilty was committed to the Central for six months. It will be remembered that this is the individual who figured in a row at Havelock a little over three months ago. Nolan and his pal John Gilligan were both prominent figures in the mix-up, the former smashing several windows in a hotel. He has just been released after a three months' term in the local gaol.

Nolan had also to face the charge of vagrancy and was committed to Central on this charge also, the two sentences to run concurrently.

John Gilligan, Nolan's companion in the Havelock episode was also charged with being a vagrant. He has had a record of four convictions for the same offence and has just served a three months' term in the gaol here. He was allowed to go, the magistrate advising him to get out of town as soon as possible.

NOTED ARTIST COMING

In view of the approaching visit to Peterborough of Herr Wilhelmy principal of the vocal department of Conservatory of Music, at the formal opening of that institution shortly, the following from the Globe will be of interest—

Toronto Globe—At Mr. Frank Welsman's recital at Association Hall next Tuesday, Herr August Wilhelmy, baritone of London, Eng., will assist. The Leipsic papers were very enthusiastic over his singing. One of these said—Herr Wilhelmy from the Royal Opera of Schwerin was the principal artist of last night's "Gesangsverein" concert, and through his magnificent rendering of his selection of songs took the audience by storm. His intonation is perfect and he possesses a voice of rare beauty. In performing some specially difficult variations by Hummel, he scored a success rarely achieved by an artist, and such was the impression that the name Wilhelmy will long be in the memory of his appreciative audience.

A CHANCE.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

Another Milestone Passed --- Highly Encourcouraging Reports From all Departments.

Pastor's Salary Increased by $200—Tribute to His Faithful Work—Balance of $370 After Meeting all Expenditure—Forty-five Families Want Seating Accommodation—More Pews Necessary—Good Services of Choir, Organist and Choir Leader—Summary of Record for Past Year.

"Progress all along the line" may fittingly describe the past year in the history of St. Andrew's Church.

At the annual meeting last night it was shown that the receipts over the expenditure for 1905 amounted to $370.69 and it was decided to increase the stipend of the pastor Rev. J. G. Potter, by $200 in recognition of his faithful and zealous work for the past eight years. This will make his allowance $1400 per annum.

After devotional exercises conducted by Mr. Potter, Mr. T. C. Elliot was elected to the chair and he proved to be an admirable presiding officer.

SESSION REPORT.

The Session report, which was signed by Rev. J. G. Potter, Moderator, and Mr. J. S. Ferguson, clerk of Session, said that the church life and work had given good cause for encouragement. A survey of the various departments of congregational activity showed there was a strong note of advance and a deepening of the spiritual life. While the work of the Managing Board and the Ladies' Aid Society needed no comment from the Session, the members were of the opinion that the whole congregation recognised the ever developing work of the young people of St. Andrew's to be its great inspiration and hope.

During the year Elders Alex. Campbell had removed to London, Ont., and Adam Gillespie to Tweed, and there had been added to the Session James Girven, Geo. Cockburn, W. C. Forman and William Smithson. Appreciative reference was made to the good service and excellent work of the choir as well as the choir leader, Mr. Mark Wilson. The Session would also notice the moral value of the floral tributes to the sick, which had been adopted as a special object of the Young Men's Guild work.

There were added to the church during the year 50, being 33 by certificate and 17 on profession of faith, fourteen being from the Sunday school. There were twenty baptisms. The present membership of the church is 452.

LADIES' AID.

The Ladies' Aid Society reported a membership of 52, 30 new members being added at "an home" held in March last at the residence of Mrs. T. C. Elliot. Eleven regular and six special meetings had been held during the year, with an average attendance of fourteen. The special offering on the anniversary Sunday of the church for the renovation of the edifice was a liberal one, and at the High Tea on Thanksgiving day $120 was cleared. The officers are Mrs. John McClelland, President Mrs. J. G. Potter, Vice-President; Mrs. W. R. Thompson, Secretary, and Mrs. Hugh Harper, treasurer.

W.F.M.S.

The report of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, Mrs. J. G. Potter, president; Miss Annie Edmison, secretary, showed that $166.50 had been sent to the treasurer of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. There were two new life members during the year—Mrs. John McClelland and Mrs. George Edmison. The meetings had been successful, and thanks were returned to an all wise Providence for His many blessings.

MISSION BAND.

The Mission Band has a membership of 24, and the average attendance at the ten regular monthly meetings was 14. During the summer months quilts and clothing were made for a girl in the Northwest. The amount raised during 1894 was $20.80. At the "Conversat" held in November, $7.27 was cleared. The officers for 1905 are: President, Miss Bertram; 1st vice-president, Miss Langford; 2nd vice-president, Miss Richardson; secretary, Miss Curry; assistant secretary, Miss Thornton; treasurer, Miss Thompson; organist, Miss Mathieson, convenor of the N.W. Clothing Committee, Miss C. Anderson; convener of Social Committee, Miss Allan.

For the Willing Workers Mrs. George Laing verbally reported a membership of 12 and good progress during the year.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Superintendent George Stevens and Secretaries Donald Potter and W. S. Laing reported on behalf of the Sunday school that good progress had been made and faithful work done by the members and officers. Mr. John M. Laing, the efficient secretary, had to lay down his work for a time owing to ill health, but it was hoped he would completely recover. The work had been carried forward by Messrs. Stewart Laing, William Langford and Donald Potter. Supt. Alex. Campbell, Assistant Superintendent A. Gillespie and Miss Aggie VanEvery, organist and teacher, had removed during the year and regret was expressed at their loss. Mr. W. C. Forman and Mr. F. E. Kerr were valued additions received to the Sunday school staff. The Bible class, formerly conducted by the pastor, will be re-organised as a men's Bible class. Special reference was made to the Primary and Kindergarten departments, wherein Mrs. Laing and Miss E. Tully and their assistants deserve the recognition of the congregation. The total number of scholars on the roll was 282; teachers and officers, 34; total, 316; average attendance, 200; kindergarten class, 35; primary, 51; Bible class, 41. The receipts during the year were $346.74, and there was a balance in the bank of $64.25.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Mr. J. S. Ferguson, President reported a favorable work being accomplished, in spite of discouragements and failures. Cottage prayer meetings had been held during the winter at the homes where the occupants find it inconvenient to be at the regular meetings, and much success had attended these gatherings. The society was sending to Rev. Dr. MacKay $15 for the support of a native teacher and the remainder of the contributions for missionary work were included in the church funds. The membership was about 60.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD.

Mr. Wm. A. Richardson, secretary of the Young Men's Guild, reported a steady increase of interest and that the number of members now amounted to 75. Mr. H. H. Edmison was president last year. The baseball team created a good deal of interest, although it was not successful in winning the championship, as in the previous season. The sixth annual excursion and the St. Andrew's Day concert were highly successful. The church decorations on Christmas were undertaken by the Guild, and greeting cards were sent out to the members, absent guildsmen, and others. The meetings are held the first Tuesday evening of each month, and a good programme is always given.

ST. ANDREW'S GUARDS.

The Club, composed of boys and known as St. Andrew's Guards, Ernest Reid, secretary, is an organisation to help keep up the attendance of the boys at the Sunday School and to support two cots in the Lakeside Home, Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto.

The sum of $65 had been raised to endow two cots for last summer. The Guards will hold their annual concert this year about St. George's Day.

JUNIOR BOYS' GUILD.

Fred. Richardson, is chairman and Allan VanEvery secretary of the Intermediate Guild, which looks after the Junior Boys' Guild. The latter is composed of lads from 10 to 16 years of age. Meetings are held every Friday night and the members, who number about 35, are all pledged against the use of liquor and tobacco. The Sabbath school lesson is studied at each meeting.

DAUGHTERS OF ERIN.

Mrs. J. J. Cooke, secretary of the Daughters of Erin, reported a membership of 16 and meetings are held monthly at the homes of the respective members. The annual concert in March last was a great success. The receipts for the year were $107.50, and the expenditure $90 70, of which $50 was sent to the Point Aux Trembles school, towards the support of a pupil, and a further $10 to the building fund.

MANAGER'S REPORT.

Mr. J. D. Tully, chairman of the Board of Managers, read the following—

In presenting our annual report for the past year we are pleased to be able to show a substantial reduction of our indebtedness. We then (1903) had a debt of over $1,000 which is now reduced to about $425. It was hoped by the committee who undertook to canvass the congregation that the entire amount would have been paid off, but the balance is not large enough to be burdensome.

On account of the steady growth of the congregation and the increased work of the pastor, the members of the Board felt justified at our last meeting in submitting a recommendation to increase his salary by the addition of $200 a year.

We would also ask you to consider what is now a necessity, and a further result of our pastor's faithful work, the providing of more seating accommodation. I have been handed a list of the names of 45 families requiring pews and if our congregation is to increase it cannot be done otherwise.

We would also respectfully suggest that in order to meet our regular expenditure, so as to avoid the necessity of extra subscriptions that our pew holders would endeavor, as far as reasonably possible to contribute at least what would be considered the value of a pew, as there is no doubt that if the pews were rented, as in most churches, we would have sufficient revenue to meet all expenses.

REPORTS ADOPTED.

All the reports were adopted, and the recommendation of the Managers to increase the pastor's salary by $200 was carried after a short discussion by a unanimous standing vote. Mr. Potter warmly thanked the people, and said the addition to his stipend was entirely spontaneous on the part of his congregation and had not been suggested by him in any way. Mr. H. M. Lloyd, Mr. T. C. Elliot and others referred to the efficient services of Mrs. Peter Kerr, organist, and suggested that the Board of Managers take into consideration the advisability of increasing her salary. Messrs. George Laing, Frank Pakenham and H. M. Lloyd were added to the music committee and a hearty vote of thanks tendered the church choir for their faithful work. Mr. Andrew MacFarlane moved a cordial vote of thanks to the Ladies' Aid Society, which was carried. Messrs. Lloyd and Elliot were reappointed to the Board of Managers for three years; Rev. Mr. Potter was re-elected as representative on the Nicholls Hospital Board and Mr. Wm. Fowler to the Charity Board.

The annual meeting, which was in every way successful, encouraging and harmonious, broke up with the singing of the doxology, after which all the members partook of choice refreshments, generously provided by the members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

BELLEVILLE WON O. H. A. GAME

Peterboro Juniors Defeated At Brock St. Rink.

LOCALS OUT OF THE RUNNING

Game Was a Poor Exhibition -- Only a Small Crowd - Winners Have a Fast and Well Balanced Team — How It All Happened.

Belleville won the junior O.H.A. game at the Brock-st. rink last night decisively by a score of 6—2. The half time score was 3—0 in favor of the visitors. This defeat puts Peterborough out of the running and gives Belleville a good lead for the district championship. Only a very small crowd saw the game, which was a poor exhibition. It was well contested, the checking being close and no very brilliant playing was done by either side. The visitors, especially the rush line, were too fast for the locals, and only the good work of the Peterborough defence kept the score from being larger than it was. Little or no combination work was done, the goals being nearly all scored as the result of individual rushes. It was a clean contest, only three men being ruled off, two Peterborough players and one of the visitors.

The showing of the locals was a great disappointment to their supporters, who felt that after the good work they had done away from home, they would have little difficulty in winning on their own ice. They were decidedly off color last night. Their shooting was very inaccurate and no combination was in evidence, the forwards bunching too much to give any chance of combined work. The defence played good hockey, and if the forwards had been up to their standard the score might have been different.

Fitzpatrick, in the nets, put up a grand game, stopping shot after shot and most of the goals scored were at close range. Moore blocked and checked well, and his rushes were a feature. Long also did very effective work, breaking up many dangerous rushes and figuring in some nice advances on the enemy's goal. Hall was the star of the forward line, and if he had received better support the Peterborough score would have been larger. He was very fast, handled his stick nicely and checked well. McWilliams aided the defence greatly with his checking, but otherwise was not of much use to the rush line. Smith worked hard at right wing, but missed some nice opportunities for a score. McFarlane was fast, but that was about all.

The visitors have a fast and well balanced team, which should go a long way towards winning the junior championship. The forward line especially is very strong. It is composed of very speedy men, who are nice stick handlers and good shots. Their fast checking back was a feature of the game. With a little more combination they would be very hard to beat. Holton stopped some nice ones in the nets. Townsend played a very effective game at point, blocking and checking well. He has a very pretty wrist shot. Conley at cover was very speedy and worked in a number of beautiful dashes. On the foward line Weller at right wing was probably the star. He is very fast, a neat stick handler and has a very effective lift shot. Pepper at rover also put up a nice game.

Chaucer Elliott made a very impartial referee. He did not, however, exercise his usual strictness.

The teams were:—

Belleville.		Peterborough.
	Goal
Holton		Fitzpatrick
	Point
Townsend		Moore
	Coverpoint.
Conley		Long
	Rover
Pepper		McWilliams
	Centre
Allen		McFarlane
	Right Wing
Weller		Smith
	Left Wing
Hamilton		Hall

Play was very close at first and each goal was attacked several times wtihout a score. Peterborough forwards made a nice rush, but Townsend was in the way. Holton turned aside a hot one, and the puck travelled to the other end of the ice, where Fitzpatrick got in front of a nice shot. Belleville kept pressing, however, and Pepper succeeded in scoring the first one on a nice shot from the side. Score 1—0.

The next one came soon, Weller finding the nets after a pretty combination rush. Score 2—0.

Peterborough began to get into the game a little. Moore rushed nearly the length of the rink, but failed to connect with the goal. Smith had an opportunity to score, but didn't make good. Finally Belleville got going again, and Weller scored on a pass from Hamilton. Score 3—0. Half time.

Peterborough changed their forwad line for the second half. Hall was played at centre with McFarlane rover and McWilliams at left wing. This shake-up made a decided improvement. Moore made a beautiful rush and nearly scored. Peterborough pressed for a while, but Belleville scored again on a neat shot from the side by Weller. Score 4—0.

Peterborough got the next in short order on a nice rush by Moore and a pass to Hall. Score 4—1.

Peterborough were playing better hockey than any other stage of the game and kept the visitors on the defensive for a while. Long went off ford one minute for tripping and wasn't on the ice long before he was sent to the boards again for the same offence. Belleville again broke away and Hamilton scored on a pass from Weller. Score 5—1.

The locals got the next one after some hard playing, Hall rushing from centre and passing to Smith, who scored from the side. Score 5—2.

There was still twelve minutes to play, and Peterborough worked hard to win out. It was not to be, however, for Allen got what proved to be the last score of the game by a nice shot. Score 6—2.

Several rushes on the Belleville nets were fruitless. Time was nearly up and Belleville played a defence game. With only six seconds to play, Conley went off for bodying. Time was called with the puck near the centre.

DANGER IN THE KISS.

Professors extra wise declare
That danger lurks in kissing.
Dear reader, you are not aware
Of what you have been missing.
If after kissing some sweet pet
Disease does not pursue you
It seems you really do not get
All that is coming to you.

For microbes roost on rosy lips,
Germs that are ever ready,
According to the latest tips,
To bite the lady's steady.
If they can only get him lured
Within the zone of danger,
Before the doctor says he's cured
He'll wish he'd been a stranger.

It really seems a measly trick,
Almost too mean to mention,
Just when a fellow's getting thick
And paying her attention,
That when he plants a loving kiss
To help him in his wooing
There should turn up a germ like this
To add to his undoing.

But to a couple young and gay
Such talk as this seems silly,
And not a thing to bring dismay
To Mary Ann and Willie.
A smack that's clinging, sweet and warm
Will supplement their glances.
And though a million microbes swarm
They'll bravely take their chances.

A small woman has been known to so chasten and subdue a big man that he had to be identified before his mother would own him.

Never look a gift horse pistol in the mouth until you have examined the load.

Before the census is taken the inhabitants of an ambitious city should eat cucumbers. That would double them up.

Domestic Diplomacy.

Grimes—I suppose you tell your wife everything when you get home? Grant—No, not everything. Grimes—Of course not, but the things she wants to know. Grant—My dear fellow, those are the things I don't tell her. I use up so much time telling her the things she doesn't care to know that there is no time left for her to question me about the things she does want to know.

Get Out of the Rut.

It is never best to travel in a rut. It is wearisome. It is nerve destroying. Wise people choose the smoother road, or if that road must be traveled they try to fill up the ruts with stones and gravel. There is such a thing as getting out of the rut, and the world would be better and happier if more of us did it.

Charm of Poverty.

Poverty adds a thousand charms to love. If there is more than enough for all one never knows the pleasure of choosing the nastiest piece of bacon when there are only two on the dish and love sits opposite.

The Shallows Murmur.

"He talks a great deal about his family tree."

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "A family tree is much like other trees—the smallest twigs do most of the rustling."

Two Varieties of Unpopular Men.

There are two kinds of unpopular men—first, those who are naturally mean; second, those who do right and stand firm for the right.—Charlotte (N C.) Chronicle.

A WILLFUL WIDOW

By KATE M. CLEARY

Copyright, 1904, by Kate M. Cleary

"So altogether I'm in a deuce of a fix," concluded Carruthers.

He sprang to his feet, looking for all the world like a big, perturbed boy as he paced restlessly across the library floor. He was so well formed, with his straight shoulders and the fine, flexible lines of his body, that he appeared to be ten years younger than the thirty-five allotted him by the family Bible. Then his brown hair would curl even at thirty-five.

"I understand," said Claridge. In truth, he did not understand at all. He had no children of his own. Indeed, he found the caprices of his fashionable wife quite sufficient to absorb his attention. But he liked Max Carruthers, and it did seem to him—

"They're such adorable little things, Max! And you're so absurdly wealthy! If it were not for our house being closed for the summer and Clotilde doing Europe for the steenth time I'd ask you to let us take the tots. One fancies that a man with your money would have no difficulty in finding a person"—

A rather desperate laugh interrupted him.

"Ah, the 'persons' who are willing to take care of my little people, Claridge, are the bane of my existence. I've advertised; I've met and talked with them; harpies all. Some would undoubtedly give the children proper care as far as physical requirements go, but that isn't enough. I want to find some woman who would really love them for their own sake."

"That ought to be dead easy," growled Claridge.

"Of course I think so; but, then, they're my bairns. I want some one who will give them a bit of mothering—kiss the place to make it well and that sort of thing."

"I have it!" exclaimed Claridge. He brought his fist down on the arm of his chair with a bang. "The most idyllic old home in the country that your eyes ever rested upon. It's a big, rambling house, almost covered with Virginia creeper. There's an immense, well kept lawn and clematis across the porch, and the house itself is just filled with the most delicious scents. The bedrooms are perfumy with lavender. And as for the food—why, it's something to set an anchorite sighing!"

"But what makes you think the possessor of this ideal home would welcome into it two rather lively children? If it's only a question of money"—

Claridge shook his head.

"Go slow! That's the difficulty—it isn't a question of money at all. And my powers of persuasion may be less effective than I think with Mrs. Varine, but I'll try."

"Your friend is a widow, I presume?"

Claridge smiled—a dry, slow, curious smile—his legal smile, Carruthers called it.

"Yes; she happens to be a client of mine. Oh, yes!" he repeated, as though convincing himself of the fact. "She's a widow!"

When Carruthers called a few days later to ask if Claridge had heard from Mrs. Varine, the letter jumped up briskly.

"It's all right, Max. You are to settle the question of payment with me. Mrs. Varine says she'd rather take nothing. She's very lonely, is awfully fond of children, and is delighted at the thought of having the youngsters with her during their vacation. You'd better take them down next Thursday. Oh, by the way, there's a condition. Mrs. Varine does not wish to meet you personally!"

"What's that?" cried Carruthers, aghast.

"Well, she doesn't!" reiterated Claridge doggedly. "Maybe she has no reason but a woman's reason. Anyhow, she's entitled to her caprice. Her aunt, Miss Howard, will meet you on your arrival and show you over the place."

"Queer," muttered Carruthers. He looked up sharply. "You say you know the lady—that everything is all right?"

"I say she's one of the sweetest women God ever made and that you may bless your stars she is taking your children into her home—which means her heart!"

He had spoken with warmth. Carruthers held out his hand.

"Thanks, dear boy! You're a mighty good friend."

It was at the close of a perfect June day when a little party reached Cedarville. A surrey drawn by two fat white ponies met them. About two miles outside of town the driver turned off into a wide carriage road that wound up an avenue of elms and oaks till a turn brought in view a great sweep of emerald lawn, beds of scarlet geraniums, a fountain flashing in the golden light and a sleepy, old vine covered house that looked hospitable and picturesque.

"Let us out, papa!" implored Eustace.

"Is it fairyland?" queried Dorothy in a timid, entranced whisper.

The gentle, faded woman who received the travelers had a face like a cameo and appeared to harmonise admirably with her old fashioned surroundings. She showed Carruthers the rooms the children were to occupy—airy, immaculate rooms, with blossoms nodding in at the windows. She offered him luncheon, which he declined, apologised for the invisibility of her niece and appointed a day each week he was to come to visit the children. Already charmed by their surroundings, they let him go without a protest.

When he came down the next week it was to find the two rosy, radiant and ecstatic over their environment. He took them into town, bought them some small treasures and listened to their raptures about "Florence." She had made a mull dress for Dorothy; she had gone fishing with Eustace; she played the piano for them while they were having a game of hide and seek, low or loud as they were "hot" or "cold." And they were going to have a party one of these days, with luncheon served under the biggest oak.

"But who is this lady who is so kind to you?"

"She's just Florence!" they answered in chorus. "She's good as a real mamma, only she plays like she was just a little girl."

Always he heard these tales, and always, it seemed, the playmate, Florence, was the center and source of their joy. Later in the season an important business summons made it imperative that if he were to see the children before his trip west he must run down at once.

Walking up the avenue, he stopped short at the bend of the path, for on the velvet award a game of tag was in progress. A slim, graceful young girl in a pink lawn gown was the pursued.

"You're it, Florence!" cried Eustace triumphantly as he succeeded in touching the fleeing figure. And just then, as the victim paused, flushed, breathless, her copper gold hair loosened from its pins and falling in a bright shower below her waist, Dorothy caught sight of the newcomer and set up a hailing shout. "It's papa! Here's papa!" she cried.

The captive made one wild movement toward flight, but the victor manfully held on to her. And, after a laughing protest, she came over to Carruthers, where he stood bareheaded, his eyes gleaming with admiration, and held out her hand.

"I've been doubly caught, I'm afraid, Mr. Carruthers! I did not dream you were coming today or I should not have been found engaged in such an undignified pastime. My name is Florence Varine."

He leaned forward. "Mrs. Varine's daughter?"

"No." She colored deliciously. "I am Mrs. Varine," she explained.

"Impossible!" exclaimed Carruthers. He looked at her, amazed, mystified. Why, she could not be much over twenty! And Claridge had said that she was a widow!

"I was a very distant relative of Mr. Varine's," she explained. "He wished to leave me his property, but there would have been contention and litigation on the part of others more nearly related were he to do so. But when he knew he was dying he asked me to marry him that he might legally will me all he possessed. He died an hour after the ceremony was performed. Mr. Claridge was present."

"But," stammered Carruthers, "why didn't Claridge tell me? Why was I not to see you?"

"Oh, I was afraid if you knew how young and irresponsible I was you would not let me have the children to take care of. Mrs. Claridge had told me what darlings they were, and I was so lonely down here. We've had such good times together." She paused, gathering up her shining hair. She looked at him with luminous gray eyes grown suddenly apprehensive. "You won't take them away, now that you know?" she entreated.

"Assuredly not!" he made quick reply. "They are the most fortunate children in the world. For the first time since the death of their mother I have felt quite happy about them."

It was astonishing how easily the important business matters of Mr. Carruthers could be set aside. He grasped at the invitation to stay to dinner as though that meal were in truth to save him from starvation. And when he finally did discover that if he would catch his train back to the city he must exercise all haste it was with positive dismay that he left the three who stood on the terrace, waving him farewell.

The next morning he walked into Claridge's office.

"You'll have to take a run out and attend to that Montana matter, Claridge," he said. "I can't go."

"Can't, eh? What's up? Something more important?"

"Very much more important!" He was smiling like a boy, and his eyes were shining. "Fact is, I've not been seeing enough of Eustace and Dorothy. I'm going to take a room at the hotel down there—they tell me there's good fishing to be had—and I'll see more of the children."

Claridge stared at him. Then he nodded and laughed.

"You've seen that willful little widow down at Cedarville."

Carruthers went off laughing.

When he came in a few weeks later the tan of country wind and sun was on his cheek. He walked like a conqueror, with his head up, and his voice had a ring good to hear.

"Congratulate me," he commanded. "The children are going to have the loveliest mother in all the world!"

Claridge gripped the other's hand warmly. "You're a lucky dog, Carruthers!"

"I know it, Claridge. There isn't a king under heaven I'd change places with! And those children"—

Claridge laughed leniently.

"You infernal fraud!" he said.

ANAEMIA

is thin blood. It causes pale faces, white lips, weak nerves and lack of vitality. A blood-enriching, fat producing food-medicine is needed. Scott's Emulsion goes to the root of the trouble, strengthens and enriches the blood, and builds up the entire system. For anaemic girls, thin boys, and enfeebled mothers, it is the standard remedy. It builds up and strengthens the entire system with wonderful rapidity.

Pleasantest Path Downward.

Prosperity has ruined many a man, but if a fellow is going to be ruined at all that is the pleasantest way.—Philadelphia Record.

The Dying Year.

How inexpressibly sad and solemn to witness the dying of the year!

The flowers fade, the leaves fell to earth and the erstwhile festive mosquito throws a couple of fits, turns up his toes and is no more.

Nature sleeps after its supreme effort; the sad eyed kine stand around and chew their cud as industriously as though it were the rag and mourn over their lost pastures, while their conscience twitches as they watch the milkman work away at the pump to make up the shortage.

But that is not the saddest part by half. Just around the corner up some dark and infrequented alley the coal man lurks to take what is left of your summer savings, the wind whistles mournfully down the pike in ragtime strains, and you feel in your lower left vest pocket to see if the pawn ticket for your overcoat is still there. On top of all this Christmas is coming, and every last nephew, niece and forty-second cousin will expect an expensive present in exchange for a 3 cent necktie or a cheery Christmas card.

Truly it is to weep!

Seasonable.

When the frost is on the pumpkin
And the fodder's in the shock
We can doze throughout the morning,
All unmindful of the clock,
And may dream of pleasure coming
In the good time by and by,
When the frosting's on the cup cake,
And the pumpkin's in the pie.

Really the Wisest.

"You know Solomon was the wisest man who ever lived."

"I know nothing of the sort. He couldn't hold a candle to my wife's first husband."

Can See Them.

That love is blind you often hear,
And yet its sight is very clear
And not a bit of trouble gives
In finding where the preacher lives.

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

The man who is dunned too frequently feels all undone.

There is some talk of lengthening the president's term, when really it should be shortened to about forty minutes to give all of the good boys who start out after the job a chance to land it.

It isn't fair to judge a dog by the company he keeps. He is not responsible for his ownership.

The man who thinks that every youth should sow a few acres of wild oats gets over that notion as soon as he has boys of his own.

A Toad's Cunning.

A scientific journal tells this story of a toad's cunning: A brood of chickens was fed with moistened meal in saucers, and when the dough soured a little it attracted large numbers of flies. An observant toad had evidently noticed this, and every day toward evening he would make his appearance in the yard, hop to a saucer, climb in and roll over until he was covered with meal, having done which he awaited developments. The flies, enticed by the smell, soon swarmed around the scheming batrachian, and whenever one passed within two inches or so of his nose his tongue darted out and the fly disappeared. The plan worked so well that the toad made a regular business of it.

Fevers and Foods.

In typhoid fever the intestines are the seat of the trouble, and all solid foods should be debarred. Here nutritious broths and liquids are needed, but no meat should be given until the temperature has been normal for several days. In scarlet fever avoid all nitrogenous foods, because the kidneys and skin are congested, and those are the organs that excrete nitrogen. Their work should be lessened, not increased. For this reason any of the legumes, beans, peas or lentils should not be used. Broth made from them would be most disastrous, while beef or mutton broth, which is less nutritious, can be readily assimilated.

A Good Blower.

A worthy dame of Dundee, Scotland, in order to keep down her gas account was in the habit of blowing down the pipes, thus reversing the hands of the registering dial of the meter. All went well until a new inspector came. After examining the meter he ciphered long and earnestly. At length the old lady anxiously exclaimed, "A'm no' tae hae a big accoont this time, am I?" "No, mem," said the inspector. "It's the other way aboot. The company's owin' you tuppence. You have surely been blawing verra hard this time."

MUTINY BALKS RUSSIA

Kuropatkin Wires Czar That Troops Refuse to Advance.

European Russians in the Army At Mukden Argue That Now That Port Arthur Has Fallen the War Should Cease—Japan Making Enormous War Preparations—Blockading of Vladivostock Imminent.

London, Jan. 27.—The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent asserts that Gen. Kuropatkin has telegraphed to the Emperor that his offensive power is seriously hampered by the obstinate reluctance of his troops from the European provinces to advance against the enemy. Whilst the Cossacks and Siberians are full of dash, the Europeans argue that now that Port Arthur has surrendered, there is no object in continuing the war.

Japan Makes War Preparations.

The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says that Japan is making enormous war preparations. Besides immediately laying down a battleship of 19,000 tons at Yakasuka, and the contemplated building in Japan of a 12,000 ton cruiser, large additions to her torpedo and submarine flotillas and two cruisers already have been started building at Kure. All future ships will be armed heavily, but guns below the 10-inch will be discarded.

The fifth army is being organised under command of Lt.-Gen. Kawamura, the correspondent says, who is calling out more reservists. Conscripts are expected. All men under 40 years of age are being drilled.

To Blockade Vladivostock.

The blockading of Vladivostock is imminent. A fleet of cruisers is leaving for the south and Admirals Togo and Kamimura will follow with battleships. Three cruisers and several torpedo boat destroyers are near Borneo. A division has been landed at Formosa.

It is now evident that the cruiser Takasago was lost. The names of her crew, from the commander down, are now officially published as killed.

Negotiations continue for the purchase of a Chilian cruiser. Fifteen new submarine boats will be provided this year. Two recently arrived under control of American instructors.

Japs Fight Russians.

Gen. Kuroki's Headquarters, Jan. 27.—A heavy and continuous artillery roar was heard to the westward all day yesterday. Apparently the largest engagement since October is being fought. Reports received here are to the effect that the Russian force has crossed the Hun River on the Japanese left wing. A Japanese force advanced against the Russians making an attack.

The fighting must be attended with great suffering from the cold. A snowstorm began on Monday, following a long period of remarkable mildness. The temperature is below zero and the plains are covered with several inches of snow. The ground is too hard for rapid trenching. Yesterday's move by the Russians is the first important one since Gen. Mistchenko's recent raid.

CANADA'S SEED WHEAT.

Secretary Shaw Recommends Passage of Law Granting Refund of Duty.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Secretary Shaw yesterday sent to Congress letters recommending the passage of a law that will permit him to refund duty paid on wheat for seed purposes. Mr. Shaw thinks it would be impossible to allow wheat intended for seed to be entered free of duty. Such a provision would open the door to fraud, but a refund or "drawback" on wheat actually used for seed seems to Secretary Shaw to be feasible, thereby permitting Canadian hard wheat to be imported for seed, which, under existing tariff regulations, is now impossible.

The present tariff on wheat is 25 cents a bushel, which is wholly prohibitive. Secretary Shaw, said that under the law as suggested by the Secretary of the Treasury, probably a million bushels of Canadian wheat would be imported for seed purposes.

It is expected that a fight will be made in the Committee of Ways and Means against throwing down the bars to Canadian wheat by some of the northwest states.

MANY STRIKES APPEAR

Though Situation in Russia is Nowhere Now Acute.

Whereabouts of Father Gopon a Mystery, Though It Is Thought That He Is In Moscow—Strike Spreading in the Ancient Capital, But There Have Been No Collisions of Special Gravity—Strikers Remain Indoors.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 27.—Although the strikes in Reval, Libau, Kieff, Odessa and a few smaller places are extending the situation is nowhere acute. An increasing number of workmen are out in Moscow, but there is no general disorder there. The whereabouts of Father Gopon still remains a mystery, although it is believed the priest is in Moscow.

The Russian capital presents almost a normal appearance, and the authorities are confident that the backbone of the strike has been broken. Some factories and mills already have resumed, and a general resumption of operations is expected on Monday. The authorities expect the failure of the strike here will have a discouraging effect upon the workmen in other cities to which the troubles have been spreading, and believe that there is no longer danger of a complete suspension of all the industrial concerns in Russia.

Minister of the Interior Swiatopolk-Mirsky has promised a delegation of editors who called upon him that he will investigate the arrest of several prominent writers who are now confined in the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress and secure their release as soon as possible.

Moscow Strikers Indoors.

Moscow, Jan. 27.—Although the strike is steadily spreading the movement thus far has not been accompanied by collisions of great gravity. Yesterday's events were restricted to minor skirmishes in the northern and eastern outskirts of the city, in which the troops successfully resisted all efforts of the crowds to break through the cordon. No bloodshed is reported. Both the authorities and the masters have shown admirable coolness in the face of the situation, the former avoiding provocation by studiously concealing the troops and the latter by displaying a readiness to meet the men's demands.

It appears that when the strikers made the round of the mills calling on their comrades to quit work, under threat of wrecking the plants, the masters decided to allow the men to take a holiday with full pay, providing they remained in their dwellings, and the workmen unanimously consented, the result being that the intimidators were unarmed.

In the meantime workers and masters are negotiating for a settlement of their differences. Several firms have offered an advance in wages which would bring the average earnings of their workingmen to $10 per month and lodgings. One firm has offered to knock off one hour from the legal working day of 11 hours, but this is the burning question on which the majority of the masters are unwilling or unable to agree to concessions. The Danilowsky textile factory alone continues working.

Trepoff Optimistic.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 27.—Governor-General Trepoff manifests complete confidence that the crisis is over, and that public order and the safety of the city are assured. Further than this the Governor-General takes an optimistic view of the situation in the province.

Thirty Workmen Killed.

London, Jan. 27.—A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Co. from Riga confirms the previous announcement of a collision there between strikers and troops. Thirty workmen were killed or wounded, and a sub-chief of police and two soldiers were mortally wounded.

Employes Return to Work.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 27.—Three hundred employes of the Baltic works returned to their employment yesterday. It is expected that work at the Neva shipbuilding yards will re-commence to-day.

Factory Burning.

London, Jan. 27.—A despatch from St. Petersburg, timed 9.26 p.m. yesterday, to a news agency, reports that Pahl's factory and a large cotton mill have been set on fire and are burning fiercely.

Damage Telegraph Lines.

Libau, Russia, Jan. 27.—Telegraph lines and telephone wires have been damaged. A strike has also begun at the wire works. Men singing songs and blowing trumpets went from factory to factory calling out the workers.

All the Printers Strike.

Saratoff, Russia, Jan. 27.—All the printers have struck. The employes of the Riazan-Ural Railroad have joined in the movement. There has been no rioting thus far.

Street Cars Stop Running.

Kovno, Jan. 27.—This town is calm. Some of the factories were reopened yesterday morning, but they were closed later. The street cars have stopped running. Troops are patrolling and bands of workmen are parading the streets, but there has been no disorder.

True Bill For Murder.

Quebec, Jan. 27.—A true bill for murder has been returned by the grand jury at the Criminal Court now in session at Chicoutimi, against Joseph Maltais. The crime with which Maltais is charged took place on April 4, 1904, at St. Fulgence, when it is charged Maltais, during a dispute over the ownership of a piece of land, struck Joseph Laforest with a pivot, crushing his head and causing his death.

Honor to Minto.

Ottawa, Jan. 27.—The Earl of Minto has been appointed honorary commissioner of the Northwest Mounted Police.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

Manitoba Government Fully Accepts This Principle As Guide.

Winnipeg, Jan 27.—Hon. Robert Rogers made an important statement on behalf of the Manitoba Government regarding its acceptation of the principle of public ownership in the House last evening. The matter came up in connection with the adverse report of the private bill committee to the application of the Northwest Telephone Co. and the Independent Telephone Co. for incorporation. In this connection the Minister of Public Works stated that the principle of public ownership has been accepted by the Government and there is nothing to prevent it from undertaking, owning and operating telephone systems of its own; if a full consideration of the conditions would appear to make this advisable. The Government, therefore, would proceed to make a close examination of the advantages and disadvantages of a public owned system for Manitoba, and would be ready next session to make a decisive recommendation on this question.

Fruit in Florida Ruined.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 27.—It is believed that the frost Wednesday night in Florida destroyed all citrous fruits on trees, excepting in the extreme southern part of the State, the total destruction being placed at 300,000 boxes, possibly more. It is feared that trees in the Jacksonville section are injured, if not killed. It will be impossible to arrive at definite conclusions before spring. The fear as to orange trees, however, is confined to the northern section of the State.

No Interest in North Sea Incident.

Paris, Jan. 27.—The international commission to inquire into the North Sea incident resumed its sittings yesterday with diminished attendance and interest, owing to the many fishermen witnesses repeating practically the same story.

OCEAN TRAFFIC SUFFERS.

New England Swept By Blizzard and Many Disasters Noted.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 27.—New England was engaged yesterday in shaking itself free from the grasp of Wednesday's blizzard and reckoning the damage caused by the severest storm in six years. On land the loss was comparatively small, but along the coast the list of marine accidents showed one steamer, 11 schooners, and a small sloop ashore between Block Island, R.I., and Eastport, Me. Most of the vessels probably can be floated.

Elections With Troops.

Buda Pesth, Jan. 27.—The elections are proceeding throughout the country with the aid of troops. No serious disorders are reported, but small rioting has occurred in several provincial towns, and in the sixth district of Buda Pesth, where Socialists attacked Minister Hieronym's supporters and the military were obliged to intervene.

Kills His Crazy Father.

Montreal, Jan. 27.—It has been reported at Esquimalt Point that a young man named Sauvageau has killed his insane father and burned the body. The crime took place at St. Augustine, 250 miles from the Point and Dr. Tremblay, the coroner of the district, is now en route to investigate.

PUTTING IT STRONG

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting starving themselves or going to the opposite extreme or else deluging the already over burdened stomach with "bitters" "after dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained?

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy but its success and popularity leave no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach. The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and last but not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

THE FORCE OF FEAR.

Fright Was the Cause of the Death of Frederick I. of Prussia.

There are several well authenticated cases where fright was the cause of death. An English surgeon tells of a drummer in India across whose legs a harmless lizard crawled while he was half asleep. He was sure that a cobra had bitten him, and it was too much for his nerves, and he died.

Frederick I. of Prussia was killed by fear. His wife was insane, and one day she escaped from her keeper and, dabbling her clothes with blood, rushed upon her husband while he was dozing in his chair. King Frederick imagined her to be the white lady whose ghost was believed to invariably appear whenever the death of a member of the royal family was to occur, and he was thrown into a fever and died in six weeks.

But perhaps the most remarkable death from fear was that of the Dutch painter Pentman, who lived in the seventeenth century. One day he went into a room full of anatomical subjects to sketch some skulls and bones for a picture he intended to paint. The weather was very sultry, and while sketching he fell asleep. He was aroused by bones dancing around him and the skeletons suspended from the ceiling clashing together. In a fit of horror he threw himself out of the window. Though he sustained no serious injury and was informed that a slight earthquake had caused the commotion among the ghostly surroundings, he died of nervous tremor.

Automobile Beginnings.

How many persons remember that from 1834 to 1840 George Hancock's steam coaches ran at a profit between Paddington and London? It is realized generally that Gottlieb Daimler, the true father of the petrol engine, had worked in England as well as in Germany before he patented, in 1884 only, the Otto gas engine and fitted it in 1886 to his bicycle, which may be regarded as the first motor car driven by an explosion engine? From this date progress abroad was of remarkable rapidity, while in England none was possible until in 1895, when Mr. Evelyn Ellis imported a four horsepower Panhard and Sir David Salomons a Peugeot.

There followed a modest demonstration at Tunbridge Wells of these two vehicles, a De Dion steam car and a petrol bicycle, and then, after some agitation, the light locomotives act of 1896. In fact, from a modern point of view, Gottlieb Daimler is the parent of the infant motor car, and Mr. Henry Chaplin is its sponsor in England.—London Times.

HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The Peterborough team for to-night will be as follows;—

Goal—Wasson.
Point—Glover.
Cover Point—Crowley.
Rover—Cavanah.
Centre—Morgan.
Right Wing—Parnell.

The ice is in splendid condition for to-night's game with Lindsay.

To-night's game at the Brock-st. rink between Lindsay and Peterborough should be a good exhibition. Last Monday night's game between the two teams was by far the fastest that the locals have participated in this season, although the score was one-sided. Lindsay will be strong to-night and should put up a hard fight, as it is their last chance to win out. And one other thing, let us treat our visitors right and not have any such disgraceful occurrences as took place at Lnidsay on Monday night. Of course the treatment received there was none of the best, but any attempt at retaliation will only make matters worse.

The defeat of the Peterborough juniors last night leaves the standing of district No. 2 as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.	To play
Belleville...	4	2	0
Cobourg...	3	2	1
Port Hope...	2	2	2
Peterborough...	0	4	2

The Marlboros started in the same way as the famous Wellingtons and are fast catching their record. The champions went through last season without a single defeat.—Toronto News.

It seems to us that a team from Ottawa once trimmed the doughty Marlboros last season, and we have also a feint recollection of seeing a bunch going under the name of Marlboros defeated here last winter by 20—4. If it wasn't the Marlboros, it was most of them.

Lindsay has a changed line-up for the game to-night, and promise to make things interesting for the locals. The forward line is completely shaken up. Koyle, of the L.C.I. team and Callaghan, "the man with the wrist shot," will be with the rush division.

Their team will be as follows:—

Goal—McGrath.
Point—Reilly.
Cover Point—Irving.
Rover—Callaghan.
Centre—Parkins.
Ringt Wing—Taylor.
Left Wing—Koyle.

Mr. W. W. Muir, of Toronto, one of the best referees in the O.H.A., will handle the bell.

The Eko Camp and B.A.C. teams will clash at the Brock-st. rink tomorrow evening between 10 and 11 o'clock in what should prove one of the best games of the season.

The Lindsay-Port Perry game scheduled for last Wednesday night was postponed.

Cobourg is playing a league game in Port Hope to-night. It is a most important contest, as a win for the visitors will put Port Hope out of the running.

Fair's Golden Lions and Cressman's Counter Hoppers will come together to-night.

The Northern Lights Hockey team challenge the Rough Riders to a game as soon as the Brock-st. rink can be obtained. J. Revoy, captain.

FINANCES SHOW SOUND FOOTING

Annual Meeting of Charlotte St. Church.

ENTIRELY FREE FROM DEBT

Report of Trustee Board Showed Balance on Hand $783—All Departments of Activity Are Healthy.

The congregational meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist church was held in the school room last evening. There was a large attendance of the members of the church, who listened with deep interest to the reports of the various societies, each of which presented most favorable reports. The finances of the church were shown to be on a sound footing, while the spiritual advancement has been along encouraging lines, and the church membership had shown a marked increase.

During the past year the church has been entirely freed from debt, and, besides, had been renovated and improved on an extensive scale. These repairs were all paid for and there is a substantial balance in the bank at the present time. According to the reports presented, the church has never enjoyed such prosperity as is being experienced at the present time and the outlook is most encouraging in every way. As regards finances, $700 more has been raised during the present pastorate of two years, than has been raised in any previous pastorate. The missionary givings have increased by 75 per cent. and other departments have also advanced materially.

Last evening's meeting was presided over by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe. The proceedings opened with devotional exercises, after which the various reports were presented. Mrs. Wharton reported on behalf of the Ladies" Aid Society, which showed that the receipts were $430.16, and that the balance on hand was $5.43. Mrs. Morris is president of the society, which is in a prosperous condition.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Miss Emmerson reported on behalf of the Epworth League. The receipts had been $79.20, and the balance on hand was $8.57. The meetings throughout the year had been well attended, and were of much interest. Mrs. Armstrong is the president of the society. The secretary reported as follows:

"The League is very helpful to our young people, and they are putting vim into the work.

"Our missionary department has more than doubled the number of those who are taking part in the systematic giving in the last few months, which is very encouraging.

"The social feeling is still being maintained, and our prayer meetings are a great help, and then to make the members more zealous to work for Christ and the church.

"We have 45 active and 29 associate members, making a total of 74 on the roll, and our average attendance is 46.'"

Mr. Bookhout, president of the Young Men's Guild gave a satisfactory report of that society. There was a balance on hand of $6.71, and the Guild has furnished a room for its members and had expended a considerable sum in this undertaking. A number of most interesting meetings had been held with good attendances.

Mrs. A. L. Adam presented a most favorable report of the Women's Missionary Society. She outlined the work which had been accomplished during the year. The Society had raised $53, which was sent to the Branch Treasurer. The following was the report as presented:

"It is said that Charity begins at home, but it does not stay at home. The river has its source, but should it stay at the source it means for it stagnation. The river finds an outlet running down the mountain slope and through the valley, watering and fertilising the region through which it flows, until finally it is lost in the fathomless ocean. So with the love of God, or Christian charity, it begins at home, but is sure to find an outlet.

"We have met here tonight to present and to hear the reports for the year from the different departments of our church work, and it is a cause for rejoicing that each department is in a flourishing condition. It is no less a cause for rejoicing that although every other department of our own church work is well sustained, yet we have not become self-absorbed; our love to God and humanity finds an outlet. A missionary church is a live church, and we are a missionary church, as the reports of the missionary societies, both the general society and the W.M.S., will show that we aim at being a missionary church. The amount reported tonight as being the total raised by our auxiliary, $54.34, is really last year's report, and as it is considerably less than the income of the preceding year, will require explanation. Last year the powers that be, decreed that a change be made in the termination of our missionary year, changing from September to May. We were obliged to close our books and send in our reports four months before the end of the year, hence the falling off. It is yet four months till the end of the present year in May, therefore we cannot present a full report. However we can make a very encouraging statement. We have now a membership of thirty-nine, which represents $39.00. In October we held our "New England Tea." The proceeds, together with the Sunday collection were $27.20. Also in October a box of clothing was sent to the All People's Mission, Winnipeg, valued at $26.00. We hope to do some more active work during the next four months, and give a good account of ourselves at the next meeting. Last May a Mission Band was organized, which tonight will speak for itself.

Our meeting tonight might be compared to vessels meeting in the ocean—sailing under the same colors, and bound for the same port—which meet in the ocean, salute, exchange signals, sail together for a little time and then part. We are all sailing under the blood-stained banner of King Jesus, we have met, we saluted, and soon we must part. We trust we shall all feel cheered and receive a fresh impetus to nobler service.

The flag which is unfurled over our Mission ship has this motto inscribed on it, "The World for Christ." We would that every woman in our congregation had a share in the great, grand undertaking, and a share in the joy of knowing that precious, Christless souls, will be piloted into the safe Harbor."

Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour is president of the Auxiliary.

Miss Letitia Elliott presented the report of the Olive Mission Band, which had been organized but a short time ago, and which was proving to be a strong factor in missionary work. There were 66 members and from May 10 to Dec. 31 1904, $49.21 had been raised, with a balance of $45.30. Mrs. Robt. Neill was president.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Mr. Percy Hamilton presented the report of the Sunday School, showing that the past year had been the most prosperous in the history of the school, both in attendance and collections, the total membership now being 360, an increase of 35. The largest attendance on any one Sunday was 355, and the smallest 190. The average attendance was 345. The total number of officers on the roll is 41, and of these the largest attendance was 38 and the smallest 22, and the average 33. During the year 385 visitors have been in the school.

The total collection for the year was $329.30, or an average of $6.86, against $6.53 last year. The classes having the highest collections were Mr. J. Goodwin's, Miss Collins' and Miss Thomas'. The missionary collection was not up to the standard, $47.83 being contributed, against $67.37 last year.

The financial statement showed that the receipts for the year were $728.04 and the expenditure $526.90, leaving a balance on hand of $201.14

Three scholars were removed during the year by death, Rev. J. Kilgour, Miss Nellie Gray and Miss Olive Kidd.

The report was adopted.

TRUSTEE BOARD.

The Trustee Board account showed that $2,513.45 had been raised with a balance on hand of $783.00. The Quarterly Board showed $1891.75 receipts during the year. The total receipts as shown in the Auditors' report presented by Mr. Cunningham were:

Trustee Board	$2,513 54
Quarterly Board	1,734 49
Missionary givings	486 80
Woman's Auxiliary	53 00
Olive Mission Band	589 01
Ladies' Aid	333 29
Sunday School......	421 85
Young Men's Guild	138 11
Epworth League	62 67
Total	$5,782 97

THE PASTOR SPEAKS.

At the close the pastor made a few remarks congratulating the church upon its excellent showing during the year. While it was gratifying to see the finances in such a flourishing state, it was also a source of thankfulness that the spiritual side of the church work was showing a healthy condition and the membership had been steadily growing. This was where the real strength of the church lay and this was the object of the church.

During the evening Mrs. Read rendered a vocal solo and was encored. Mr. G. W. Jones' violin solos were much enjoyed as was a monologue by Mr. F. Breininger.

After the meeting refreshments were served and an enjoyable social time was spent.

The prospects for the present year could hardly be brighter, and a banner year in the church's history is looked for.

RETURNS COME IN VERY SLOW

Bradburn's Majority Still 1268 —Anderson's Lead Reduced.

The election returns from the East riding have not yet all been received. There are several places in the back country still to hear from, and it is claimed that these will be in favor of Mr. Moore. A despatch from Keene this afternoon gave Mr. Anderson a majority of only 57 with two more places to hear from, while a telephone message from Norwood states that the Liberal candidate's majority has been reduced to 25 with two places to hear from. In the election of November last the voting went strong for Sexsmith at these places and a victory for Moore is still nursed as a possibility. The actual figures so far received however, place Anderson in the lead by 116.

There is no material change in the West riding figures. The returning officer, Mr. Sheriff Hall, will make his official announcement on Monday. Mr. Bradburn's majority still remains at 1,268.

POLICE WILL USE IT.

Montreal Gazette, Jan. 18.

Chief Campeau issued an order yesterday that the captains of the fifteen police districts of the city were to assemble at police headquarters this morning. They are called together to receive instructions from Dr. McKay on how to administer his treatment for alcoholism to drunken prisoners brought to their stations. The Finance Committee voted $500 to have the treatment placed in every police station in the city, and in order that the officers may know how best to administer it, Dr. McKay will give them a few instructions.

TESTIMONIAL TO MR. ROSS.

Liberals Will Present Him With Purse of $25,000.

Toronto, Jan. 27.—Some months ago a meeting of the friends of Hon. G. W. Ross was held in Toronto for the purpose of raising a sum of money to be presented to him as a recognition of their regard. Mr. W. E. Calvert, M. P., and Mr. H. M. Mowat, K.C., were the prime movers in the scheme.

It is understood that the sum of $25,000 has been subscribed and paid in, and this will probably be handed over to Mr. Ross at an early date.

It has been suggested that the presentation should be made the occasion of a demonstration to Mr. Ross personally, while, on the other hand, it is said that a committee representing the subscribers will wait on him privately and present him with the testimonial. However, nothing definite has been decided upon.

Drummond, and the groom Capt. Charles Glendenning Thompson, of London, England. A large number of guests attended the wedding, and the bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Edith Drummond, while Mr. Wishart VanEvery, of town, was best man. Rev. D. D. McDonald, of Keene, officiated. The bride was handsomely gowned in white silk, and the bridesmaid's dress was of white voile. The bride was given away by her father, and Miss Mamie Russell, of Toronto, played the wedding march. After the ceremony a sumptuous dinner was served. Many well-wishes and congratulations were expressed ere the happy couple left upon a trip which has London, England, as the objective point, and there, it is understood, they will reside for some time.

SCHOLARS AWARDED PRIZES

Murray Street Sabbath School Held Annual Entertainment.

The scholars of Murray-st. church Sabbath school will long remember the night of January 27th as having contained much that was delightful to them. It was the occasion of their annual entertainment and distribution of awards, and no further reason may be given for the very large attendance of young people, the capacity of the school being taxed to the limit by the happy multitude. Mr. E. B. Edwards, Superintendent of the school, presided, and the manner in which he performed the duties of that office was a source of great pleasure to all present. Great interest centred in the programme, and frequent outbursts of applause gave evidence of the appreciation with which the numbers were received. Tea was served from 5.30 to 7.30, and this also proved a season of enjoyment. The programme consisted of the following numbers:—Song by the infant class; instrumental solo, by Mr. Percy Blade; duet, by Miss Clara Kidd and Miss Emily Miller; chorus, by the Baracca class; recitations, by Desmond Green, Harold Yelland, Morgan Cottingham, Stella Duggan and Mabel Cunningham; reading, by Mr. Lee; violin solo, Miss Hope Miller; Daisy Chorus, Miss Hardwick's class; solos, by Walter Fitzgerald and A. A. Armstrong; chorus, by Miss Roberts' class.

The presentation of prizes was the most interesting feature of the evening. Solid gold stars were presented to thirty-two scholars for punctual attendance throughout the year, while gilt stars were the rewards given to eight young people who were punctual during six months. Sixteen scholars received silver stars for three months' punctuality. A set of Longfellow's poems, presented by Mrs. T. F. Matthews fo memory verses, was won by Minnie Ellis; while the second prize, Tennyson's poems, by Mrs. C. B. Routley, was won by May Stabler. For bringing in new scholars May Stabler won the first prize, presented by Mrs. W. D. Scott, and Miss Ethel Robinson, the second. The Star classes of the school with the teachers and number of Sundays on which all of the scholars were present are: 1st, Mrs. Elcome's class, 39 Sundays; 2nd, Mrs. Ellis' class, 35 Sundays; 3rd, Mrs. Martin's class, 30 Sundays. The average attendance for the year was 192.

SLICK REDMOND LIVED BY FRAUD

Sharper Who Worked in Orillia Struck Town Lately.

PEOPLE WHO WERE BITTEN.

He Beat the Cavanagh House for His Bill and Says the Peterborough Police Are Nice Lot of Guys.

The Lindsay Watchman-Warder says—

A chap who evidently intends that other people shall help him along in the world recently put that idea into operation in this district and is now quite badly wanted by the police. He gives the name of Redmond and his home as Toronto.

He struck Fenelon Falls last Tuesday, hired a rig and drove to Bobcaygeon, where he stayed until Thursday, and then leaving the outfit there, came up to Dunsford. Constable Brock of the Falls, went over and got the horse and rig. At Dunsford Redmond employed a farmer to drive him to Lindsay, and gave him a cheque for $2. The cheque turned out to be no good. Here he bought some goods at Braund's and tendered a cheque for them, but it was not accepted. With Jacob Houser, the William-st. Jew, he had better luck. From Jacob he bought on Friday a $13 suit, and a pair of mitts, borrowed $1 and offered a cheque for the whole amount. Mr. Houser refused to let him have the suit but agreed to deliver it at Bobcaygeon the next day. Redmond got away with the dollar and the mitts but next day when Mr. Houser appeared in Bobcaygeon with the clothing, his customer was nowhere to be seen.

On Friday morning Redmond hired a livery at Lindsay's barn and was driven to Peterborough, intending, he said, to return that night. When the rig had not got back on Tuesday Mr. Lindsay telephoned Liveryman Corneil and found out that it had left there at 7.30 the night before.

On Monday, Constable Brock, of Fenelon Falls, was in town with a warrant from Orillia on a charge of fraud. Learning that his man had gone to Peterborough the constable telephoned the officer there to arrest him giving them the descriptions he had received from Orillia. These included a peculiar marking about the eye.

Learning that his missing customer was wanted by the police, Mr. Lindsay was naturally a little anxious when his rig and driver had not returned. On Tuesday night, however, they got back, and the whole story was known.

The driver Mr. Oswald Dagnais, says that they put up at the Cavanagh House, in Peterborough, and left the rig at Corneil's livery.

On Monday when the Peterborough police got Chief Brock's message to arrest Redmond they went to Corneil's livery and found their man, but could not identify him and let him go. When released he laughingly remarked that the Peterborough police were a nice lot of guys. He tried to buy an overcoat in Peterborough and pay by cheque, but did not manage it. He borrowed $1 from Corneil and got away without paying that, a 75-cent telephone message and his horse's keep, $2.75 in all. He beat the Cavanagh House for all of his bill there but 50 cents, and on the way to Omemee borrowed $1 from his driver, which he did not repay. He spent Monday night at Omemee, and early next morning left the hotel saying that he was going to walk out to see a farmer a mile away. He borrowed a $3 fur cap and a pair of overshoes from the driver, and it is supposed he took the 9 o'clock train for Toronto. Redmond is a young fellow, about 23 years of age, well built, rather nice looking, with light hair, which he parts in the middle. He claimed to be an agent for an insurance company and was going from place to place presumably looking after the payment of sick claims. He did visit one or two sick men in Peterborough, and it turns out that the Omemee farmer whom he said he was going to visit, was ill, but was not receiving $15 a week benefits or any other sum, as Redmond had said he was. When there Redmond claimed to be acquainted with some of our citizens, but they knew nothing of him. At Peterborough he said he had $45 locked in his room at Maunder's Hotel here, but he is unknown to Mr. Maunder.

WHAT CHIEF SAYS.

Chief Roszel, when seen this morning, stated that about two weeks ago he received a letter written by the Chief of Police of Orillia to the Chief of Fenelon Falls, saying that he had a warrant for the arrest of Harold Edmonds, whose right name was Pamphelon. When leaving Orillia about the 10th inst., he took two boys with him—Leo Hallway and John O'Donnell, whose parents were anxious about them. Pamphelon was seen in Fenelon Falls. He was described by the Orillia officers as a young man with a white spot in one of his eyes. He takes insurance risks, and it was pointed out, a man whom he supposed to be the one wanted, was located at Corneil's livery stable. The Chief also arrived shortly afterwards and proceeded to look for the only definite means of identification—the white spot on the eye. This, however, was lacking, and the young man persisted in his innocence. He was allowed to go. Whether he was the individual wanted by the Orillia officers, the Chief is not prepared to say, but the marks referred to in the Orillia letter were not in evidence.

—Mr. Percy K. Holmes will be the speaker at the Y.M.C.A. again tomorrow on the subject "The Physical and Spiritual Man." Miss Bertha Parnell will be the soloist. All men are welcome.

—At the annual meeting of St. Andrew's church, Campbellford, the receipts for the past year were shown to be $3,283. The total contributed for missions was $447. The membership is 257. Rev. A. C. Reeves is the pastor.

—Next Thursday will be Candlemas Day—the day when the woodchuck and the bear make a break in their winter's nap and come out to see whether the back of the winter is broken. It is hoped their opinion will be in the affirmative.

—At a business meeting of the members of St. George's Anglican Church, it was announced that the Rev. C. F. Westman, of Windsor, had been appointed by the Bishop of Toronto, as incumbent of the Hastings church.

—There are some weak-minded people who would like to see Sunday prostituted by making it a day of general business and unrestrained pleasure. Only last Sunday a man walked into a dry goods store in town and wanted to buy a shirt. He was promptly refused.—Campbellford Herald.

—An early start at cheesemaking will be made this year, as the supply is becoming exhausted, and the demand will be active. Dairymen feel assured that prices will rule high at the opening of the market, and there is every prospect that this year may be one of the best in the history of dairying.

—On Jan. 24th, at a meeting of the congregations of Burnbrae and Rylstone, Rev. S. S. Burns, of Stirling, moderated a call in favor of the Rev. J. B. Smith, B.A., of Cookstown. The call was unanimous. The congregation voted that the minister's stipend be $850.00, with a manse, glebe and one month's holidays.

—The other day in the country two chipmunks were seen disporting themselves about a stump fence—only a little incident, but it is very unusual at this time of the year. Three blue jays were also seen, and about the same time a hawk hovered in mid-air, uttering its usual cry, just as it does in summer.—Campbellford Herald.

—A very pretty house wedding took place at noon on Tuesday, Jan. 24th, at "The Maples," Hastings, when Mr. James A. Fraser, of Carstairs, Alta., and Miss Jean M. Fowlds, Hastings, Ont., were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. A. Thomson, of the Presbyterian church. The wedding march was played by Miss Bessie Parker, Stirling.

—Miss Katie Gallagher was married to Mr. Dennis Corkery, of Harwood, last week. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Whibbs in the presence of a large number of the bride's friends. The bridesmaids were Miss Annie Beahn, of Cobourg, cousin of the bride, and Miss A. Picard, of Peterborough. The groom was assisted by Mr. Dennis Hays, of Harwood.

—A correspondent writes—The colors of the two political parties in West Peterborough this week were the red and the blue. In the language of our national colors "red" signifies courage; "white" is the emblem of purity, and "blue" is the symbol of truth. The red showed the courage of Mr. McWilliams in undertaking to champion the Ross outfit, the blue symbolises the true interests of our Province, for which Mr. Bradburn stood, and let us hope that white was represented by purity of the election in this riding this week, and thus uphold the traditions of the "Red, White and Blue."

—The Hastings Star says—By the figures presented to the public, we learn that Mr. John Finlay's election expenses (East Peterborough) in the recent Dominion contest were $614.86, and Mr. J. A. Sexsmith's $321.10. In East Northumberland, Mr. J. H. Douglas' expenses were $65.43. The Conservatives who contend that the Liberals of East Northumberland spent a mint of money at election time will now have to confess they are mistaken. Of course the municipalities and school trustees were very lenient with the Liberals, for in Mr. Douglas' expenses we notice he had to pay for just two halls.

—The other day a collie dog strayed into McLaughlin's Hotel, Hastings-ville, and an argument arose between the owner of the hotel and Jackson Reid, as to the advisability of shortening the canine's tail. A hammer and chisel were soon forthcoming, and the dog's tail removed and horribly mutilated. The collie was then turned out in the cold and ran home in great pain, and on gaining admission, it spattered blood over everything it came in contact with before it could be secured. Mr. Dallas, the owner of the dog, had a warrant issued, and McLaughlin and Reid were arraigned before the Police Magistrate and each fined $32.20 and costs.

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, JAN. 28, 1905.

A CREDITABLE SHOWING.

The annual meeting of the Toronto Savings & Loan Company, which was held in Peterborough yesterday—a full report of which appears in the news columns of the Review—demonstrates that this well known and capably managed institution is still among the foremost financial concerns of the province.

The returns cannot be otherwise than highly gratifying to the shareholders and directors. They show that the affairs of the company are in good hands and that the institution is as popular as ever. The Toronto Loan & Savings Company has been in existence since 1883, and the total earnings—$152,612.12 during 1904 are considerably in excess of the previous year. The earnings are equal to 9.35 per cent of the total paid up capital. After the payment of six per cent dividend the directors are in a position to transfer the substantial sum of $30,000 to the reserve fund, while the amount carried forward to the credit of profit and loss from last year—$21,140.80—was increased by the gratifying sum of $3,477.89.

The amount carried forward at the end of the year just closed is $24,625.69. The total reserve fund—$510,000—now represents considerably over fifty per cent of the paid up capital of the company, which to-day stands at $1,000,000. All payments to the company arising from its investments have been satisfactorily and promptly met, while the rentals of its properties have been of the most encouraging character.

The directors feelingly referred to the death of Mr. A. A. Cox, one of the vice-presidents of the company, who took an active part in its affairs.

All the old directors were re-elected, which is a strong testimony to their efficiency and faithful service. Mr. W. G. Morrow is the courteous and obliging managing director of the company, in which the citizens of Peterborough take a just pride.

Premier Ross still refuses to talk. He evidently feels very keenly his defeat.

Mr. Harcourt may be the new leader of the Opposition in the legislature. The Hon. Richard has a rather thankless task cut out for him.

According to the election returns the Dominion House of Commons now stands 139 Liberals and 75 Conservatives, as follows—

	Con.	Lib.
Quebec	11	54
Ontario	48	38
New Brunswick	6	7
Nova Scotia	0	18
Prince Edward Island	3	1
Manitoba	3	7
British Columbia	0	7
The Territories	4	7
	75	139

The Review has just received from Mr. Robert Bell, Acting Director of the Geological Survey of Canada, a set of fourteen pamphlets on the Mineral Resources of Canada. They treat of platinum, apatite, graphite, manganese, asbestos, salt, mica, zinc, molybdenum, tungsten, peat, marl, etc., and give all available information on the subjects in condensed form. The department is doing a good work for the development of Canada's rich mineral resources, and serving to advertise our country to the world of finance and industry.

It is pleasing to note that Mr. J. P. Downey, of Guelph, who scored such a signal victory in South Wellington, in the face of the fiercest opposition, is likely to be included in Mr. Whitney's new Cabinet. Mr. Downey spoke in Peterborough in November last and as an orator he has few peers. He is young, energetic and aggressive, and one of the cleverest newspaper men in the Province, being editor of the Guelph Herald. He has proved himself to be a most efficient, zealous and painstaking representative and now that higher preferment is about to come to him, his many friends and admirers will not only join in expressions of hearty congratulation, but will say that no man is more worthy of the honor. He will add strength to the new Conservative Cabinet, and will prove a wide awake administrator.

The following talented and capable Conservatives may be in Mr. Whitney's new cabinet—

Premier and Minister of Education, Hon. J. P. Whitney.

Attorney General, J. J. Foy, South Toronto.

Provincial Treasurer, Col. Matheson South Lanark.

Provincial Secretary, I. B. Lucas, Centre Grey.

Minister of Agriculture, J. W. St. John, West York.

Public Works, Col. J. S. Hendrie, Hamilton.

Crown Lands, W. J. Hanna, West Lambton.

Minister of Mines, J. P. Downey, Guelph.

The size of Mr. Whitney's majority in the new parliament is causing some comment. It is claimed by certain parties that it is altogether too large and unwieldy and that it would be better for the Conservative leader and his party if the majority was smaller—say ten or fifteen. But it must be remembered that with such a plurality as the Premier elect has at his back he is master of the situation and that he can exercise a free hand, whereas if he had only ten of fifteen at his back he might possibly be held up by corporations and vested interests. The inconvenience, turmoil and dissatisfaction caused by a narrow majority has been evidenced in the case of Premier Ross and his predecessor, Hon. A. S. Hardy, who experienced great difficulty in keeping themselves in power. The majority is not too large.

Paralysis May Be Creeping Upon You

In a Score of Ways the Warning is Given, if You Will But Heed it and Restore the Nervous System—Study the Symptoms Stated Here.

Paralysis is sudden and unexpected only to those who are unfamiliar with the symptoms of declining nerve force.

After the stroke has come, bringing helplessness and suffering, the victim looks back to find that there were months, or possibly even years, of warning symptoms.

Paralysis, or loss of power of movement, is caused by the exhaustion of nerve force and is the natural result of neglected nervous diseases.

Paralysis can usually be cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and always prevented if you begin treatment with the first indications of nervous exhaustion.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most successful treatment for diseases of the nerves on account of its extraordinary blood-forming and nerve-creating power.

Gradually and certainly it instils new force and vigor into the wasted and depleted nerve cells, and overcomes the wasting process which is undermining the system and leading slowly but certainly to paralysis.

Symptoms

Twitching of the nerves or muscles.
Brain fag or headache.
Numbness in any part of the body.
Sleeplessness.
Nervousness and irritability.
Nervous dyspepsia.
Tendency to anxiety and worry.
Loss of memory.
Sparks before the eyes.
Weak and easily fatigued.
Inability to concentrate the mind.
Loss of energy and ambition.
Difficulty in controlling the movement of arms or legs.
Muscular weakness.
Pains and cramps in legs.
Sensitiveness to light, motion and sound.
Feelings of melancholy and discouragement.

You cannot afford to waste time and money in experimenting when this treatment of proven worth is at hand to cure you.

Put Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to the test and you will not wonder why so many surprising cures have been brought about by its use.

Was Stricken With Paralysis

Lost Power of Speech and Could Not Walk—A Bad Case, the Doctors Said.

Mrs. R. W. Sutherland, St. Andrew's, Man., writes:—"In February, 1903, I was stricken with paralysis, fell helpless on the floor and had to be carried to bed. The doctor pronounced it a bad case, as I had no power in my tongue or left leg. I remained in that condition for six months without obtaining benefit from the doctor's prescriptions or other medicines.

"My husband advised me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and by the use of this treatment all symptoms of the disease disappeared. I can now talk plainly, my leg is all right and I can do my house work. How grateful I am to be cured by so wonderful a remedy."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

HOW THE PAPERS VIEW THE RESULT

The most interesting thing after an election contest is the comment offered in the press. This is how the landslide against the Ross Government is viewed by a few of the leading journals. The Ottawa Free Press (Liberal), says:—

"The vote of the people has spoken, and the will of the people must prevail.

The overwhelming defeat which the Ross Government sustained yesterday, shows that notwithstanding the convention and the other strenuous efforts that were made to purify politics by the Liberal party, the people of Ontario have come to the conclusion that the time is ripe for a change.

It is not Liberalism that has been beaten.

The spirit still lives and will achieve many notable triumphs—more notable even than that in Ottawa yesterday, practically the one bright shining light amid the encircling gloom.

The people have condemned the men, not the principles, and the reasons are not far to seek.

Apart from electoral corruption, which was magnified beyond all resemblance to the truth, there was the feeling that the same group of men has been too long in power.

Not in any British country since Parliamentary institutions have been expressive of the will of the people has there been such an unbroken period of domination by a single party."

The Hamilton Times (Liberal) remarks:—

It is needless to say that the result is not to the Times' liking. It admires neither the shifty "policies" of the Tory leader, nor many of the men who are his encumbrances, and who help to guide his course; and its opinion of them has not been changed by the vote of yesterday. But the voice of the electors has been heard, and any of whom is equally entitled to his opinion, and Mr. Whitney will have his chance to redeem his reputation; and the Times will be untrue to its duty if it does not show him, in that effort, greater fairness and consideration, than he and his organs have shown toward their Liberal opponents. Conservatives have equal rights with Liberals, and the good of the Province should be equally dear to all.

The following is from the Hamilton Herald (Independent):—

The Ontario electorate smote the Ross Government yesterday and overthrew it. Such a defeat has rarely been experienced in Canada. The turnover has not only come as a great surprise to the Liberals, but it is safe to say that the most sanguine Conservatives in their most hopeful mood never anticipated such a victory as the one which their party has achieved.

The result is not due to any superiority of Conservative policy over Liberal policy, nor to the superiority in character of Conservative candidates. Nor was the result due to dissatisfaction with the administrative record of the Government, concerning which there was hardly any criticism. The result was brought about by a combination of these causes

The Toronto News, referring to the result of the election, says:—

One lesson of the election is that the people of Ontario, in the bulk, can be trusted to do right if they have the facts before them. The feature of the campaign that closed with such a decisive defeat for the Ross Administration was the moderate way in which the undeniable facts were stated and kept before the public. Mr. Whitney and his platform supporters framed their appeals to Liberals in temperate and convincing language. The abundance of material supplied by the election courts was used without violence, and, as the result shows, led thousands of Liberals to join in driving from power the Government in whose behalf all the villainy has been committed. It is distinctly creditable to the Liberal party that so many refused to follow their leaders who were tied to the machine. It is proof that there exists in this Province a great body of enlightened, patriotic sentiment that will not countenance or condone electoral corruption. The government of the country is in the hands of that element. It can punish another administration as it has that of Mr. Ross, and we believe that should the occasion unfortunately arise the verdict will be as overwhelming as it is in the present instance. The heart and conscience of Ontario is sound.

The Ottawa Journal, whose editor, P. D. Ross, was the defeated Liberal Conservative candidate in the Capital, says:—

The size of the victory gives Mr. Whitney the clearest field for better work. He comes in power absolutely untrammelled. He is a dictator, if he wills. He is placed in a position of such supremacy that he has no need to fear in the slightest the clamor or discontent or treachery of the less decent sort of politics or politicians. He has a free hand to give the province a clean government—and assuredly a direction from—the people that that is what they expect and demand from their political leaders. We hope and believe that Mr. Whitney will do full justice to his opportunity and to his responsibility.

The London Free Press (Conservative) observes:—

The forces led so ably and well by Mr. Whitney have achieved a victory beyond all precedent in the political history of Ontario. It was an uprising of the moral forces of society against long continued and unrepentant wrong doing. The Conservative leader attracted to his standard a countless host of the independent electors, without whom his cause was powerless. We feel sure that Mr. Whitney will understand the depth of his obligation to the men of moral fibre, irrespective of party, who rallied to his help in the cause of political purity in this country. We feel also that he is so constituted by temperament as to bear with due modesty and moderation the greatness which has been conferred upon him. It is a great source of gratification to the lovers of their country that the victory has been so decisive as to leave Mr. Whitney a free and strong hand in the work of redemption. He will be in a position to use his own and his best discretion in the choice of assistants in the conduct of affairs.

The Montreal Star says:—The decent elements in Canadian politics will feel a freshened confidence in themselves after the magnificent proof of self-respect given yesterday by the Province of Ontario. The people of our sister province felt that they themselves, rather than any group of politicians, were on trial; and never have a free people more signally or resolutely re-established their good name. Quebec did the same thing a number of years ago, when it overwhelmed a powerful but corrupt government, and we have been feeling rather "uppish" these last few years, and we contrasted our robust virtue on that occasion with the paltering timidity with which the people of Ontario regarded their Old Man of the Sea. But now Ontario has vindicated itself. It can now flatter itself on being nearly as good as Quebec. Plainly it only awaited the opportunity.

This is from the Ottawa Citizen. (Conservative.)—

Mr. J. P. Whitney was yesterday placed in power in Ontario with a majority of 42 in a house of 98 members. Hon. G. W. Ross barely succeeded in being elected in a hitherto strong Liberal constituency and five members of his cabinet went down to defeat. The 70 Conservatives elected nearly all went in by large majorities, while, with a few exceptions, the 28 Liberals elected had majorities represented by two figures or less. Seldom has a government in this country received such a crushing defeat at the hands of the electorate. The Liberal wave which swept over the Dominion on November 3rd was not in it with the wave that swept the Ross government out of power yesterday and submerged nearly the whole cabinet. Hon. G. W. Ross and Hon. Mr. Harcourt barely escaped defeat. All the other members of the Ross-Stratton outfit went under, but Messrs. Graham and McKay, who had no records as ministers to answer for were re-elected.

The Toronto Star rises to observe:

If a thing is worth doing it is worth doing well, and nobody can accuse the Province of lacking in thoroughness in what she did yesterday. In 1898 and in 1902 the results of the elections were inconclusive, giving one party hollow victories and the other teasing defeats. There is nothing inconclusive about yesterday's voting. It was decisive. The deadlock is ended. Long live the people!

Mr. Whitney has so large a majority that he is not dependent on any man or combination of men in his following. He can pick his Ministers on their merits, and if he does not do so he will have more reason than any other man to regret it. With so large a following in the House the new Ministry can map out a policy and carry it through without bothering about an Opposition that is outnumbered three to one. The law of compensation has thus come into operation, and the party that has not tasted power for thirty-two years will have everything its own way for the next four.

The Province is a going concern, and in the hands of the new managers the wheels will still go around pretty much as before. The merit of representative government is that change comes without violent wrenchings. The new managers of Provincial business will have to be judged by their administration

The Hamilton Spectator, Conservative, says—

It will perhaps take a day or two to discover the actual figures in all the ridings, and there may be some little change in the lists as they now stand.

But that Mr. Whitney's majority will be over forty, in any event, may be accepted as true.

The Spectator fully expected that Mr. Whitney would win; but the result was beyond all expectation. Aside from the pleasure the Spectator derives from the result as a party victory, it is exceedingly pleasant to us to know that the conscience of Ontario is still awake; that there is a point of corruption and election deviltry beyond which the majority of the people will not go; that the people can emphatically cry "halt!" when the limit is reached.

The issue was almost entirely the crookedness of the government, and the result is a condemnation for Ross and his gang of grafters, such as no Canadian premier was ever subjected to.

The people had finally woke up, and they declared for clean government.

The Toronto Telegram says—

"Died of too much smartness" would be the true verdict of the coroner's jury that searches into the causes of the departure of the Ontario Government from this life. It is no pleasure to comment on the weakness of Hon. G. W. Ross. It is a duty to mention this weakness without belittling the eloquence that commands or doubting the personal qualities that explain the loyalty of the friends who gladly follow G. W. Ross.

The smartness of Hon. J. R. Stratton was the guide; the caution, not to say cunning, of Hon. J. M. Gibson was the philosopher, and the fool flattery of the organs was the friend of Hon. G. W. Ross. In every crisis Mr. Ross seemed to ask, "What is the smart thing to do?" or "What is the cautious thing to do?" He was afraid to take Courage for his friend or Right for his guide. Smartness and caution failed Mr. Ross at the last, and his defeat suggests the truth that it is sometimes true in politics that "he that saveth his life shall lose it."

SATURDAY, JAN. 28, 1905.

WELL DONE, ONTARIO

Well done, Ontario! The people have given their verdict with no uncertain voice on the side of electoral purity. At the inaugural meeting of his campaign Premier Ross referred complacently to the fact that the election day was also the anniversary of the birthday of Robert Burns. This, he said, made the day all the brighter, and it suggested the democratic character of the Ontario Government. Following his habitual practice, he quoted these lines of the plowman poet:

"Who will not sing God Save the King?
Let him bang as high's the steeple,
But while we sing God save the King,
Let's not forget the people."

Mr. Ross spoke better than he knew. The day has been all the brighter because it has sounded the death knell of a government which ardently professed to be democratic, which traded on a name to which it had lost every vestige of right, but which was daily selling the birthright of the people for a mess of pottage. Mr. Ross will not forget the one hundred and forty-sixth anniversary of Robert Burns' natal day, and he will not forget the people. He has played his tricky game long and skilfully, but he has been found out at last. The very magnitude of the victory renders all question of its cause impossible. Nothing but the clearest conviction of the complicity of Premier Ross and his government in the many gross scandals which have disfigured the electoral record of the province can account for a landslide unprecedented in its history.

There has been a campaign of slander in this contest, but it has been conducted by the defenders of the government, and it has hurt none but themselves. No more disgraceful episode could be imagined than the roorbach sprung on Monday last in connection with the South Ontario election. It is more than probable it cost the Hon. John Dryden his seat, and no better answer could be given to it. Yet the government defenders had nothing better in the way of argument than similar vain and unscrupulous attempts to prove that Mr. Whitney could no more be trusted that Premier Ross. Never once during the whole course of the contest did the government or its friends face the real issue of its responsibility for the electoral purity of the province. Knowing their case in this matter to be hopeless, they souhgt to divert public attention from it by overlaying it with a mass of petty and irrelevant details.

But the people were not so easily misled this time. Facts were too strong and Premier Ross himself gave them additional point and force. When he deplored the dark pages of his record—asked that it be closed and sealed with seven seals, and promised amendment, he simply sealed his own fate. His fall was necessary for the cause of political purity, and it will remain a signal example to all succeeding governments. No better stroke has ever been struck by a free people in defence of their right to fair and honorable expression of their will. The election of nineteen hundred and five is a perpetual monument of the resolve of the citizens of Ontario that its government shall be honest, capable and pure. —Toronto World.

Cure Your Indigestion With Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and You Will Never Suffer as Jackson Johnson Did.

When you feel that slight discomfort after eating, that gas rising of the stomach or a little pain in the chest, did you ever stop to think that you were in the early stages of Indigestion, and what the consequences might be if you do not take care of your stomach?

If you didn't just listen for a moment to the story of Jackson Johnson, of Norham, Ont. It will make you think.

"I suffered from Dyspepsia for a long time and spent large sums with doctors. Finally I was taken with Diarrhoea which became chronic and continued about nine months. I continually grew weaker till I was confined to my bed.

"Then a person who was using Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets persuaded me to try them. I began at once to improve and am now completely cured."

It is easier to cure your Indigestion now that if you wait and suffer as Mr. Johnston did. Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

SPLENDID GATHERING.

Sabbath School Convention of Smith and Lakefield Held This Week.

The annual Sabbath School Convention for the Township of Smith and village of Lakefield was held in the Presbyterian church, Lakefield, on Monday afternoon and evening, both sessions being well attended. The afternoon session commenced at 1.45, the devotional exercises being conducted by Rev. C. A. Campbell. Rev. F. H. Scott delivered an address on "The Teacher and His Class." The speaker gave a number of practical thoughts which could not but be of special interest to each teacher. This was followed by a lengthy address from Mr. E. A. Hardy, secretary of the Sabbath School Association, the subject being "Preparation of the Lesson." The Nominating Committee was appointed and nominated the following gentlemen for the year 1905:—President, Mr. B. C. Clifford; Secretary, Mr. J. W. Cornish. The session was brought to a close with praise and prayer. The evening session opened at 7.15 o'clock, the devotional exercises being conducted by Rev. T. W. Leggott. The officers elected were installed, after which Rev. G. Warren gave a very interesting address on Home and Sunday School." This was followed by an address on "Teacher Training," by Mr. E. A. Hardy, which proved to be one of the best addresses of the convention. The question drawer was conducted by Rev. B. M. McKinnon, and Mr. E. A. Hardy, after which the session was brought to a close by praise and prayer. The convention was one of the most successful held for some time, and it is to be hoped that much good will result from it.

BRITAIN CALLS RUSSIA

Lamsdorff Apologizes to Britain For Calumnious Proclamation.

Czar Nicholas Placed On the Death List of the Terrorists, Who, For the First Time in History, Have Slated the "Little Father"—Czar Was Regularly Tried By the Mysterious Body—The Circle of Five.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—A profound sensation was caused here yesterday when Sir Charles Hardinge, the British Ambassador, went to the Foreign Minister and officially and emphatically protested to Count Lamsdorff against a proclamation posted throughout Moscow on Wednesday.

The proclamation warned the Muscovites that the strikers were aided and abetted by the Japanese and the British Governments; that the disturbances in the Russian dockyards and arsenals were incited by these enemies, and that Great Britain and Japan were spending vast sums to prevent the second Russian Pacific squadron from sailing.

Ambassador Hardinge pointed out that identically the same statements were published Thursday in The Russky Invalid, the organ of the Russian army.

Britain and Russia, hereditary enemies, have just bridged one war chasm with the North Sea inquiry now in session at Paris. Another gulf was widening between them until Russia in effect apologized for the proclamation.

After an investigation Count Lamsdorff gave the British representative full assurances that the Moscow proclamation had no Imperial sanction, and that such an announcement would not be repeated.

The people of St. Petersburg, outside of high official circles anyway, are angered by the proclamation. They regard it as a stupid calumny which might lead to serious trouble with England.

CZAR ON THE DEATH LIST.

Terrorists Slate the "Little Father" For First Time in History.

London, Jan. 28.—The most startling and impressive development so far in the Russian situation is the announcement that the Boyevaya, the extensive branch of the Terrorists, has placed the Czar on the list of those condemned to death.

Notwithstanding contrary reports, this is the first time the present Emperor of Russia has been condemned by this organization, which has the gruesome reputation of never having failed to compass the death of a man against whom its edict has been issued.

Its most recent victim was Von Plehve. After the destruction of this Minister the Fighting League, which is its English name, informed the Czar that he was not menaced by the body.

Czar Regularly Tried.

The league, though not accepting the Czar as the "Little Father" in the sense that he was the object of the idolatry of the Russian peasants, considered that he was not such an enemy to humanity as were the Ministers and grand dukes who surrounded him. But when he permitted his people, coming to him with childlike faith that he would protect and relieve them, to be shot down by thousands by his soldiers, his status changed.

He was regularly tried, in accordance with the procedure of the mysterious body, and the vote being against him, he was formally condemned to death. It is even stated that the agent is already selected who is to carry out the verdict of the court of terror.

The Fighting League consists of a hundred men, reputed to be the pick of the extremists of Russia. Every apostle of violence among the Russian radicals cherishes an ambition to be chosen one of this committee. It is the direct successor of the terrorists' organization which was exterminated at the time of the assassination of the present Czar's grandfather.

Under torture a member of the old body confessed and yielded the names of his associates. Those of them who were not executed, or who were within the reach of the Russian authorities, were sent to solitary confinement, and some are still in fortress dungeons expiating that sentence.

A Circle of Five.

The Fighting League organized by the survivors of the old Terrorist body took a lesson from the fate of their fellows, and now no member of the deadly one hundred knows more than five of his associates. These constitute his circle.

On occasions when a meeting is demanded for such a purpose as the present they designate a chief of the five to represent them. He is given the meeting place only a few minutes before the time for the session. The trials are said to be held with every member masked and shrouded, so that even if a traitor should be among the chiefs he could not betray his fellows.

The body is self-perpetuating. When a member dies or is imprisoned, or for any other reason no longer is able to act, a selection is made from among the thousands of sympathizers and he receives his notification of election to this aristocracy of violence.

There are circles in London, Geneva, Zurich, Paris and New York, but where the head centre is located, or who are the chiefs of the order, is known only to themselves. They claim to be conservative, if the word can be applied to such an organization, inasmuch as they are sparing with their condemnation.

Governor Makes Promises.

Kovno, Russian, Jan. 28.—The Governor, in receiving a deputation of workmen yesterday, promised assistance in improving their relations with their employers. On the Governor's initiative the latter met and drew up a scheme for the amelioration of the workers' position. A proclamation has been posted by the Governor, urging the strikers to resume work and promising all legitimate help towards obtaining a satisfactory settlement of their just demands, at the same time announcing that he would have recourse to the troops in the event of street disorders.

Strikers Accept Promises.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The strike situation generally is improving. In St. Petersburg there is no longer any doubt that the strike is practically broken. Fourteen establishments, including the Franco-Russian Aboukoff, Baltic, Russo-American Rubber Co., and Ropes American Refinery already have resumed, and an entire starting up of factories seems to be assured for next Monday. A remarkable feature is that the men who are returning to work are not asking conditions of the employers. They have seemingly turned their backs upon political agitators and accepted the Government's promises in the matter of shorter hours and an equitable adjustment of their grievances at their face value.

That the Government purposes to compel settlement upon the Government's terms is plainly evidenced by Finance Minister Kokovsoff's response to a deputation of masters Thursday to whom he announced the Government's decision, after an impartial investigation of both sides of the controversy to carry out the latter and the spirit of the proclamation of Jan. 25. Naturally to the masters this means they will have to foot the bills.

RUSSIAN STRIKES SPREADING.

Milau, Russia, Jan. 28.—Labor agents from Riga organized a strike here yesterday morning. Bodies of strikers marched to the factories and workshops and compelled the men who were at work to leave their employment. Troops have been summoned to the scene of the disturbance.

Warsaw, Russia, Jan. 28.—A strike was started here yesterday morning and is spreading rapidly. A number of factories are closed. The workmen are quiet.

Riga, Russia, Jan. 28.—Twenty-nine men and two women were killed and thirty-seven civilians and eight soldiers were wounded by revolver shots during Thursday's rioting, according to the returns made by the hospitals. At the request of the workmen of Riga, the theatres of this city have been closed.

Lodz, Russia, Jan. 28.—A general strike has commenced here.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—General Dedioulin, chief of the Gendarmerie Staff, has been appointed prefect of St. Petersburg.

Moscow, Jan. 28.—Yesterday passed quietly. It is now almost certain that the strike movement in Moscow and its immediate vicinity will wear itself out within a few days.

Caught At Chatham.

St. Catharines, Jan. 28.—Chief of Police Parnell got back from Chatham Thursday night with a youth, Roy Clarke of this city, who is charged with burglarizing several stores in company with another lad, George Bryson. The St. Catharines police chased the lads to Buffalo, Lockport and Tonawanda. Then the fugitive jumped back to Welland and stole a ride to Chatham in a box car last Saturday night. They nearly froze to death.

Largest Diamond Ever Found.

Johannesburg, Jan. 28.—The largest diamond ever discovered has been found near Pretoria. The stone weighs 3,032 carats, and is said to be a pure white diamond of good quality. It is locally valued at $3,500,000 to $4,000,000. The famous Kohinoor, which is valued at $600,000, weighs 123 carats, though it is said to have weighed 900 before it was cut. There is tremendous excitement here and at Pretoria as a result of the discovery.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poisons of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefitted by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in the ordinary charcoal tablets."

LINDSAY TEAM IS WHITNEYED

Lost to Local by a Score of 11 to 0.

TISITORS NEVER DANGEROUS

Game Was Fairly Clean, and at Times Very Fast—score at Half Time 7 to 0—Practically Gives Locals District Championship.

A large crowd saw the local intermediates make an exhibition of Lindsay at the Brock-st. rink last evening by a score of 11—0. The score at half time was 7—0. This is the third time this season that the visitors have gone down to defeat at the hands of the Peterborough team. Lindsay were never in it for a minute and the game was too one sided to be interesting. The match was very fast in spots and in others as slow as the proverbial funeral. The locals could easily have made the score much larger if they had wanted to exert themselves, but they knew that they were going to have an easy time of it and consequently did not work like they would have to in a close game. The defences, especially Lindsay's, did a lot of lifting which made the game very slow at times.

The Peterborough team played nice hockey and won easily. Most of their goals were the result of clever combination rushes and they certainly shone in this part of the game. The defence was impregnable and the forwards fast and clever.

Wasson in goal took care of everything that came his way. Irving's long lifts kept him on the alert but he always got in front of them. He made an exceptionally fine stop in the second half when Taylor got clean through the defence and came in on the goal. Glover was impassible and the Lindsay forwards only got through him a couple of times the whole night. He also lifted well and indulged in some nice rushes. Crowley put up a grand game at cover, using his weight to advantage in breaking up rushes. His dashes down the ice were of great assistance to the forward line.

On the rush division Cavanah at rover played his usual effective game. His rushes and stick handling could hardly be improved on and his shooting was of the "Dick Dead-eye" variety. His speed enabled him to be of great assistance to the defence as he was always back to help them to repel a rush. Morgan at centre was as usual there with the necessary. He is a most unselfish player and is generally the one to start the combination going. As always he scored a large number of goals last evening. Graham at left wing played the best game he has done this season. He was always in his place and his dashes down the boards were of great assistance, resulting in several scores. Parnell on the other wing also loomed up prominently. He is a hard worker and never lets up. He did some splendid stick handling and rushing.

The visitors were outclassed from the beginning. They only got through the local defence a couple of times, but no score was made, and Wasson handled all the long shots sent at him. McGrath made some nice stops, but a couple of easy ones should have been turned aside. Reilly played a fine game at point, checking well and rushing splendidly. Irving although a little slow put up a strong game. His lifting was very accurate, being dead on the nets every time. On the forward line Taylor at right wing probably was the star and did some fine playing. Callaghan could shoot a little, but that was about all. Parkins worked hard but didn't seem to be able to do much. Koyl was not in Parnell's class.

The referee W. W. Muir, of Toronto, was thoroughly impartial, but gave some rather queer decisions on off sides some times.

The teams were—

Peterborough 11		Lindsay 0
	Goal.
Wasson		McGrath
	Point.
Glover		Reilly
	Coverpoint
Crowley		Irving
	Rover.
Cavanah		Callaghan
	Centre
Morgan		Parkins
	Right Wing
Parnell		Taylor
	Left Wing
Graham		Koyl

Referee—W. W. Muir.

Time keepers—Geo. H. O'Neil, Lindsay; J. T. McCabe, Peterborough.

Penalty time keeper—J. S. Knapman, Peterborough.

Goal umpires—J. Leggoott Lindsay; E. Hurtubuise, Peterborough.

Lindsay were very aggressive at the start and it looked as if the game would be closer than the crowd were expecting. Several advances were made upon each goal without a score. Parnell worked in a nice rush but failed to connect with the nets. Callaghan rushed but Glover was in the way. Parkins went off for jolting Glover with his stick.

Parnell and Morgan got going and the latter located the nets. It was off side however and the referee called them back. Immediately after the face off Cavanah secured the rubber and dodging Irving scored with a neat shot. Score 1—0.

The locals kept pressing and lost several opportunities to score. McGrath stopped a nice one, but Reilly made an off-side, the puck being faced in Lindsay's goal. Morgan slammed it through. Score 2—0.

Morgan visited the time keepers for tripping. Cavanah and Morgan worked in a nice rush but there was no scoring. Parnell went off for slashing. McGrath turned aside a hot shot from Morgan. Cavanah rushed but his shot was blocked and the puck went back again. Finally Parnell broke away from near Peterborough's goal and after dodging Irving handed it over to Morgan, who transferred it to Cavanah, the latter scoring easily. Score 3—0.

The next one was not long in coming, Cavanah securing the puck at quarter way and scoring on a pretty shot. Score 4—0.

Cavanah went off for a body check. Callaghan soon followed for tripping. A nice shot from Parnell was stopped by McGrath. An off side caused a face off almost in Lindsay's nets. The rubber was shoved out to the side, but Graham brought it around behind and passed in front to Morgan who found the nets easily. Score 5—0.

The next one soon came. Morgan scored after one of the prettiest combination rushes of the evening, the puck travelling from Parnell to Cavanah and then over to Graham whose shot was blocked, but Morgan slammed it through on the rebound. Score 6—0.

Wasson made several nice stops and the puck remained in Peterborough territory for some time. Graham finally broke away and dodging Irving centred beautifully to Morgan who scored once more. Score 7—0.

Morgan went off for loafing off side. Half time was called with the locals in the midst of a pretty rush.

Lindsay presented a changed line up in the second half. Koyl played cover, Irving rover, Callaghan right wing and Taylor left. This shake-up strengthened forward line, but left the defence in bad shape. McGrath turned aside a hot one. Glover went off for bodying and was soon followed by Morgan for tripping. Parkins was sent to the fence for loafing. Peterborough forwards made a nice rush and nearly scored. Parnell visited the time keepers for slashing. Finally after twelve minutes playing Parnell got away, dashed down the side, centred to Morgan, who transferred the disc to Graham and there was another goal. Score 8—0.

The next one came soon. Cavanah tore off a pretty rush, handed the rubber over to Morgan and the latter beat McGrath. Score 9—0.

From a scrimmage in the corner near the Lindsay goal Graham passed back to Parnell who scored on an easy shot which McGrath should have stopped. Score 10—0.

Parnell made a beautiful dodging rush, getting clear through the defence but failed to score. There was a terrible mix-up in front of the Lindsay nets, but the puck came out. Parkins retired for some reason or other and Graham went off with him.

Cavanah scored the last goal of the night with time nearly up by a beautiful dash down the side. Final score, Peterborough 11, Lindsay, 0.

The goals were scored by Morgan 5; Cavanah 4; Graham 1; Parnell 1.

Those ruled off were Parkins 2; Morgan 3; Parnell 2; Cavanah, Callaghan, Glover.

THE PENNY READINGS.

Novel Entertainment at Y.M.C.A. Hall Was Great Success.

The first of a series of Penny Readings Entertainments held in the Y.M.C.A. hall last evening was voted a great success both in point of attendance and excellence of program.

Mr. R. E. Harding, president of the Strangers' Fellowship Club occupied the chair and in introducing the program referred to what the club was doing.

The instrumental by Messrs McCoy and Beach, the latter playing the drum, was loudly encored, the numbers being "Burning of Rome" and "Warming up in Dixie."

Little Miss Helen Rush made a great hit in her songs and was recalled. Clever piano instrumentals were executed by Herb Johnston and Gladys Seward. The latter is a little musical wonder.

Master Herb Mowat is always popular and excelled last night in the two selections he sung.

Hollie Hill, a very young boy, made his first bow to an audience and was well received.

Fred Hall brought down the house with his whistling solo, to which Miss Florence Hall played the accompaniment. The other accompanists were Miss Rush and Mrs. Mowat.

Mr. Dormer presented some comic lantern views which were introduced with some very witty remarks.

The "Shadowgraphs" were amusing and well given.

A prominent feature was the debate between the Boys and Intermediates championed by Ed. Mann and Max Dobbin on the one side and and John Evans and Fred Hall on the other side. Result was declared a draw. The evening concluded with "God Save the King."

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The Gospel meeting to be held tomorrow afternoon at 4.15 will be of an unusual character. Members of the Association will have charge of the meeting, the subject for which is "Sabbath keeping and Sabbath breaking." All young women are cordially invited to attend and to take part in a discussion on the subject. A vocal duet will be the special musical feature of the meeting.

'TWAS BRAW TIME FOR THE SCOTCH

Anniversary of Burns' Birth Was Celebrated.

A VERY FINE PROGRAMME

Scotch Readings by Miss Elspeth MacDonald—Selections by St. Andrew's Choir—Largely Patronized Entertainment.

The one hundred and forty-sixth anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Scotland's great lyric poet, was celebrated in most appropriate and effective manner last evening by the choir of St. Andrew's church. Burns was born on the 25th of January, 1759, and that his memory is fondly cherished by Peterborough may be presumed from the very large attendance at the concert which had been arranged for the occasion. Scottish song and story featurized the program, and all were greatly appreciated. Especially pleasing was it to hear Miss Elspeth MacDonald, of Toronto, who, as a Scottish reader, has become very popular in Peterborough. The choir, under the leadership of Mr. Mark M. Wilson, added to the evening's entertainment by a number of choruses. There were about thirty voices, and the merit of the contributons was recognised by the audience in hearty applause.

Rev. J. G. Potter was chairman, and in a brief address he extended a welcome to the gathering, and said that the programme as arranged warranted him in assuring them an enjoyable evening. The opening number was a chorus, "Sweet and Low," by the choir. This beautiful composition gives fine opportunity for vocal blending and toneful expression, and in obtaining this result the singers were very successful. On another occasion, the choir sang effectively the chorus, "Drops of Rain," and, at the close, in "The Men of Harlech," the vocalists seemed to catch the spirit of the words, and their efforts were greatly appreciated by the audience. Not only the members of the choir, but Mr. Wilson, as leader, are to be congratulated upon the very high standard of efficiency which has been reached by them in musical accomplishment.

The ever popular "Dame Durden" was sung as a trio, by Messrs. Wilson, Laing and Tilley, and in such a manner as to receive well merited applause. They were also very heartily received in another number, "Clackety-Clack," and also in "Gloamings," for which Miss Florence Stevens took the alto.

The first appearance of Miss MacDonald was in the reading, "How Foster voted," a very amusing story, told in Scotch dialect and with application bearing particular reference to the recent election in West Peterborough. So popular was the number, and so faithfully were the characters impersonated that an encore was enthusiastically requested, and Miss MacDonald replied with "The Soldier's Song," showing herself to be equally as much at home and impressive in gay as in grave selections. To be Scotch and also correct, one may well say that Miss MacDonald is "a wee winsome thing," in her elocutionary efforts, and she was always well received. She placed the poet's interpretation upon "A Man's a Man for A' That," and she sang sweetly "Ye Banks and Braes of Bonnie Doon." Much merriment was provoked by the comic sketch, "Them Oxen," and the peculiarities of the perplexing juvenile were well portrayed in the numbers, "Nurse's Day 'Off,'" and "Unasked Assurances." Miss MacDonald was frequently encored.

An Irish folk song was selected by Miss Ruth Dawson for a vocal number, which was received with great evidence of appreciation on the part of the audience, and on another occasion her fine voice was heard with pleasure in the "Slumber Boat Song."

Mr. Gilbert Scott gave the proper spirit to his song, "The Standard on the Braes of Mar," and he was equally successful in "Scots Wha Hae," his strong ringing voice being happily adapted to the songs.

"The Highlandman's Toast" was a contribution in which Miss Bryce, of Keene, did full justice to her ability in Scotch song, and the number proved very acceptable. Her other songs, "Blue Bonnets over the Border," and "I'm Glad my Heart's My Ain," were equally pleasing.

"Larboard Watch," a duett that never grows old, was well rendered by Mr. Jas. Gerard and Mr. Wilson, and another duett which proved to be one of the great favorities of the evening was "Gang wa' Jamie," by Miss Bryce and Mr. Wilson. They were encored and sang effectively "Life's Dream is O'er."

Mrs. Peter Kerr was the accompanist of the evening.

At the conclusion of the programme Rev. Mr. Potter expressed appreciation of the large attendance, and of the manner in which the numbers arranged by the choir had been received. He invited all those who had taken part to spend a social hour or two with him at the manse.

The National Anthem brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

AN ADVANCE IN ALES.

Owing to the large advance in the cost of malt and hops, brewers have been obliged to raise the prices of ales. In accordance with such advance local dealers are obliged to ask higher prices. In another column will be found the schedule of prices which will be strictly adhered to.

NOT TOO OLD TO VOTE.

Probably the oldest voter in Peterborough County on Wednesday was Mr. Robt. Hope, of Otonabee, township, who walked from his place to Villiers to cast his ballot for Mr. Henry A. Moore, the Conservative candidate. Mr. Hope, although 90 years old, is still hale and active.

ST. LUKE'S GUILD.

Mr. Dennistoun Delivers Interesting Lecture Before the members.

A large audience was present last night to enjoy a lecture given under the auspices of St. Luke's Guild. Mr. W. J. Kelly, the president, was in the chair and made a good chairman. The first number was a vocal solo by Miss K. Wilson, which was well received by the audience. The chairman then called upon the lecturer, Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, to proceed with his lecture. The subject was "Jean Valjean," the hero of Victor Hugo's book, "Les Miserables." The lecture was given in a most pleasing style, and held the rapt attention of the audience for over an hour.

Miss K. Wilson favored the audience with another vocal solo. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Dennistoun, which was seconded by Mr. J. J. Turner, jr., and heartily approved of by the audience.

The next open meeting will be held on Monday, Feb. 13th, with a lecture on "Macbeth," by Mr. Jeffreys. After singing the National Anthem the meeting was brought to a close. Mr. J. L. Armstrong acted as accompanist.

HOME DEPARTMENT RE-UNION

Pleasing Affair Participated in by Sabbath School Workers.

The officers, visitors and members of the Home Department in connection with George-st. Sabbath School participated in a very enjoyable occasion last evening. It took the form of a re-union of the entire department, which it may be explained, has for its object the home study of the Sabbath School lessons, and the visitation of certain divisional districts in the Sabbath School. It was the visitors of the Department who last evening entertained and there were about 150 present. An excellent high tea was served from seven to eight o'clock and this was succeeded by a programme of short addresses and music. Mr. A. W. Cressman, the president of the Department was in the chair. Solos that were highly appreciated were given by Miss Parnell, Miss Clara Belleghem, and a pleasing instrumental duet was that given by the Misses Crothers. Rev. Dr. Crothers, Mr. T. W. Robinson, Mr. Dumble and Mr. Jeffries gave appropriate addresses, which had particular reference to the work of the department. Appreciation of the kindness of the visitors in preparing so delightful an entertainment was frequently expressed. A reading by Mr. G. W. Jones proved very acceptable.

The officers of George-st. Home Department are—

President—Mr. A. W. Cressman
Secretary—Mrs. Lewis.
Visitors—Miss Cooney, Miss Taylor, Miss Noble, Miss Brough, Miss Lumsden, Miss Morrow, Miss Higgins, Miss M. Higgins, Miss Hartley, Miss Edgar, Miss Sherris, Miss Jeffries.

AN EXCELLENT ESSAY.

Read by Miss E. M. Powers at T.A.S. Ladies' Literary Association.

The Ladies' Literary Association of St. Peter's T.A.S. held its fortnightly meeting last evening when an able and highly interesting essay, "Books as Friends" was read in a pleasing manner by Miss E. M. Powers.

The essayist introduced her subject by dwelling on how to read books, to get the value of the thought the beauty of the thought, and the manner in which the author has brought out its value or beauty or both.

Miss Powers in beautiful language described books as companions, that the class of books a person reads is an index of his character, and likewise the reading of good books assists a person to persevere in righteousness.

The writer refreshed her essay with beautiful quotations, which would inspire her hearers to desire to know the great men of the past, who rule us from their urns. She put special stress on books being well kept, in a library, and in choice language described Charles Lamb's love for his books.

Miss Powers treated her subject in a masterly way, and by her aptness of language and effective selection of detail, showed that she possesses literary charm and force.

Miss Coleman presided at the meeting and the following programme added to the evening's entertainment—

Instrumental solo—Miss Legros.
Recitation—Miss Kennedy.
Vocal solo—Master C. A. Legros.
Instrumental solo—Miss V. Donoghue.

The next meeting will be held on Feb. 10th, when a paper on "Joan of Arc" will be read by Miss H. McCahill.

NORWOOD HEARD GOOD CONCERT

Peterborough Talent Contributed to the Programme.

MRS. W. J. MORROW'S SUCCESS

Her Piano and Vocal Numbers Were Well Received—Mr. R. N. Jolliffe and Mr. Joe. Legg Took Part—Pleasing Cantata.

Special to the Review.

One of the most successful and enjoyable concerts that have been held in Norwood for many years, took place here last night in the town hall. Every seat in the hall was occupied and many were standing, there being numbers present from Hastings, Havelock, Campbellford and Peterborough besides a large representation of the music-loving people of Norwood. The audience was most attentive and appreciative and evidenced their hearty pleasure by the warm applause which followed each number. Both the foreign and local talent was very popularly received, and the programme was from every standpoint a delightful one.

The first part of the programme consisted of a cantata, "The Singing Leaves," by Mayhew. The choruses were sung by Mrs. Callender's class of 25 mixed voices, while the solo scores were taken by Miss Ina Watson, Hastings, soprano; Mr. Joe Legg, Peterborough, tenor, and Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, Peterborough, baritone.

The singing of the chorus was most creditable. The parts were nicely balanced, the tone good and the expression well marked. The chorus gave signs of careful training, and to the directress, Mrs. Callender, is due unstinted praise for the success of her class. The music was tuneful and was rendered very acceptably. The soloists sang their parts very satisfactorily, and the whole affair was very enjoyable. The ladies appeared in Grecian costume, which added an attractiveness to the affair.

The second part of the programme was equally pleasing. Mrs. W. J. Morrow scored a great success in her piano solos, and was heartily encored on both occasions. Her numbers "Fantasia Impromptu," (C Minor) by Chopin, and "Perpetual Movement," by Weber, were brilliantly executed. Mrs. Morrow's vocal numbers were sung in excellent voice and with a marked clearness of enunciation and nicety of expression. Her numbers were "Rory Darlin," and Italian aria (Puritani Opera), Bellini, which was sung by special request. As encore numbers Mrs. Morrow sang "Annie Laurie," and "In May."

Miss Ina Watson, of Hastings, a favorite with Norwood audiences, sang very effectively in a sweet soprano voice, "The Flight of Ages," and responded to a hearty encore.

Mrs. Callender sang Arditi's "Daisy" in a manner which was heartily enjoyed, and she received an enthusiastic recall. As an encore she sang "Awake."

Mr. Joe Legg, the popular tenor, was at once a favorite with the audience, and his solo, "Troubadour," by St. Quentin, was much enjoyed. As an encore Mr. Legg sang "Tick-Tack-Too," with signal success. Mr. Legg and Mrs. Callender were heard in an festively rendered duet, "Spanish Bolero," by Edgar.

Mr. R. N. Jolliffe was warmly received upon his rendition of Adams' spirited song, "The Veteran's Song," and in response to a hearty encore sang "Because of You." Mr. Jolliffe and Mr. Legg were heard in a duet, "The Battle Eve," by Bonheur, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable numbers of the evening. As an encore the "A.B.C." duet was sung.

The closing number was an unaccompanied chorus, "Good Night, Gentle Folks," by Thompson, and proved an appropriate conclusion to a splendid programme.

LECTURE ON DANTE.

Further Arrangements for Rev. Prof. Clarke's Course—Subscribers' List.

Subscribers to lectures on Dante will have the choice of seats reserved in the order that their names are on the subscribers' list.

If any person putting down his or her name does not wish to take a ticket by the first of May, when the allotment of seats for the course will be made, it will not be necessary to do so. A guarantee list of this sort, however, indicates whether or not the management is warranted in proceeding with the undertaking. As this course is really a benefit which Rev. Prof. Clarke is taking for himself after years of services given free to the public it is felt that some such acceptance of his proposal is both courteous and desirable. Prof. Clarke is now 77 years of age and no man in Canada combines scholarship and culture to a greater degree. It is almost equal to a year at the University in literature to here as learned a man in a continuous course of six lectures upon the poetry and literature of the great Italian. So general is the interest that no difficulty is anticipated in carrying out the undertaking which in a community of this size might otherwise be considered somewhat problematical.

ANOTHER YEAR OF PROGRESS TORONTO SAVINGS & LOAN CO.

Gratifying and Encouraging Reports Presented at Twentieth Annual Meeting.

Gross Earnings for Past Year Were $152,600.12—Net Profit of $93,487.89—Reserve Fund now Amounts to $510,000—Old Board of Directors Re-elected—A Well Managed and Progressive Institution.

The Twentieth Annual General meeting of the Shareholders of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company was held at the Head Office of the Company, number 437 George street, Peterborough, on Friday, the 27th day of January, 1905, at two o'clock, p.m.

The President, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, having taken the chair, the Manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow was requested to act as Secretary to the meeting.

After reading the notice convening the meeting, the Secretary read the Twentieth Annual Report and the accompanying Financial statement.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The Directors submit herewith their Twentieth Annual Report, showing the result of the business for the past year, accompanied by the balance sheet, to the 31st of December, 1904.

The gross earnings for the year amounted to $152,600.12, and after the payment of interest on deposits and debentures, expenses in connection with money borrowed or loaned, and all expenses of management, there remained a net profit of $93,487.89. To this amount has been added $21,140.80, the balance carried forward from last year, which makes a total sum for distribution of $114,628.69.

This amount has been disposed of in the following manner:—

(1) By payment of four quarterly dividends of 1 1-2 per cent each, equal to 6 per cent. for the year and amounting to $60,000 00

(2) By addition to Reserve Fund 30,000 00

(3) By amount carried forward to Profit and Loss 24,628 69

The above addition to the Reserve Fund increases that account to $510,000.00.

All payments maturing during the year on the Company's investments have been most satisfactorily met, and the rentals from the property owned by the Company have also been promptly paid.

The books, accounts and securities of the Company have been carefully examined by the Auditors and their report is appended to the Financial Statement.

At the close of the year just passed, we were called upon to mourn the loss of one of the Vice-Presidents of the Company, in the person of Mr. Aaron A. Cox, who, up to the time of his decease, took an active part in its affairs, having attended a meeting of the Directors the day previous to his death.

Messrs. Finlayson, Auld & Mackechnie still continue to act as the Company's representatives in Great Britain.

The Officers and Staff of the Company have performed their duties in a highly creditable manner.

MORE HOUSES REQUIRED.

The real estate man of the town claim that Peterborough is still going ahead and builders need not fear to go on when spring opens. Messrs Lindsay & Might say although this is the slackest season of the year, when real estate is considered quiet, their sales this month have reached $15,000, so that when the favorable part of the year comes they expect a good year's business. They have been making improvements in their office, painting and papering and have installed a furnace. Water has also been brought in. Mr. C. Blewett has been added to the staff as special agent with horse and rig. There are not houses enough in the town yet, especially at a price the workingman can buy or pay the rent for. Very few houses are to be had less than ten dollars per month.

NEW BANK COMING.

Definite Negotiations Concluded by the Bank of Nova Scotia.

It is now practically certain that Peterborough is soon to have another bank. A representative from Toronto, of the Bank of Nova Scotia, was in town yesterday, accompanied by an architect, and looked over the ground with a view to obtaining suitable quarters in which to locate. It is understood that some negotiations are now under way for the acquirement of a location on George-st. Among the places mentioned is the office in the Market Hall block now occupied by the Tax Collector. On pretty good authority it is learned that the Bank has decided to locate a branch here, and that it will open just as soon as suitable offices can be secured and fitted up.

HOW THE VOTE STANDS JUST NOW

Bradburn's Majority is 1239, Two Places to Hear From.

MR. ANDERSON'S MAJORITY

Is Still 130, With Two Places in Chandos to Hear From—Several Stories in Circulation—Official Figures Will be Made Known Monday.

The snow-bound condition of the roads in the north country is responsible for failure on the part of deputy returning officers in remote places to reach town with the results of the voting in Wednesday's election.

Two polling places still remain out, Cochrane's in Cavendish and Pluard's in Harvey. An error was made in lists hitherto published which gave Bradburn a majority of 36 in Harvey. This belongs to McWilliams, and his majority in Galway is given as 40 instead of 46. This makes Mr. Bradburn's majority 1,239, with two places to hear from. These will likely go for his opponent, but it is thought will not reduce the total below 1,200. In the East Riding figures so far received give Anderson a lead of 130 with two places in Chandos to hear from. These, it is claimed, will not effect the total very materially one way or the other. A report was circulated to-day that Anderson's majority had fallen to 12, but there appears no proof of the truth of such a remarkable statement. The official returns will be made known on Monday.

WILL PLAY TO-NIGHT.

A hockey match has now been arranged for the week end, between Eko Camp and the B.A.C. The latter organization has yet to be beaten, and though it is in a bad state of repair on account of Ernie Best's beclouded optic, they view with considerable degree of hope the prospect of another victory to-night between 10 and 11 on Brock-st. rink. The Eko Camp team will be picked from the following—

H. Martyn, J. Comstock, Ed. Clarke, H. Gillespie, W. R. G. Higgins, J. Gibson, J. Gammell, H. Waram, J. M. Watt, M. Comstock, Bert Cammiff and T. Glover. W. Comstock, manager.

The B.A.C line-up will be— Goal, Hutchinson; point, Moore; cover point, Wood; rover, Jolliffe; right wing, Best; left wing, Robertson; centre, Dobbin. Mr. H. R. H. Kenner has been petitioned to referee.

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, JAN. 28, 1905.

DULL DAY IN THE HOUSE.

Members Fritter Time Away Over Some Very Small Things.

Ottawa, Jan. 28.—The third week of the session closed at 6 o'clock last night. When the orders of the day were called W. F. Maclean asked if there had been any change in the instructions issued to the new Governor-General.

"Not that I am aware of," was the Prime Minister's answer.

Mr. Foster wanted to know if the Department of Railways had any reports of surveys on the G.T.P. between Quebec and Moncton.

Mr. Emmerson replied that the department had no reports, and furthermore that such reports would be made first to the commission, which had charge of construction.

The answer did not please Mr. Foster, who protested against Parliament having to wait 18 months for reports of surveys. He threatened to make trouble for some one in connection with the matter at a later date.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier sought to straighten out the difficulty. He pointed out that there were no final reports as yet, and that until such reports were ready the question of their production in the House need not be discussed.

The Indian Estimates.

Passing on to the consideration of Indian estimates the House heard from Mr. Cockshutt of Brantford an interesting account of the Six Nation Indians with whom he is familiar. He discussed the destiny of the noble red man in Canada, and reached the conclusion that he would be ultimately assimilated by the paleface.

When the legislation estimates were taken up Mr. Bergeron appealed to the Speaker for accommodation for members of the Opposition. He thought a few rooms might be spared for this purpose, but Speaker Sutherland gave him no encouragement.

A long controversy ensued over the addition of three permanent messengers to a staff of eight. The staff was increased without the written recommendation of the sergeant-at-arms, and Speaker Sutherland was not able to give a very good explanation of this oversight.

Peter White objected to this way of adding to the House staff, and Mr. Foster was strong in his denunciation of such practices.

Speaker Sutherland was able to show that he was in no way responsible for putting on the additional messengers. He admitted the force of the objection, and promised there should be no repetition of the error.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Federal Standing Committees.

Chairman of the Standing Committees of the House were elected as follows yesterday morning: Public Accounts, C. F. McIsaac; Banking and Commerce, Archie Campbell; Railways and Canals, Hon. Chas. Hyman; Privileges and Elections, H. J. Logan; Miscellaneous Private Bills, L. P. Demers; Standing Orders, George D. Grant; Expiring Laws, J. A. C. Ethier; Agriculture and Colonization, T. Greenway; Debates of the House, H. Gervais.

Only One Out of Three.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—The North Grey and North Norfolk Federal election protests will be dropped. They are in the nature of a saw-off.

The Wentworth protest will be tried in Hamilton, Feb. 1, on a stated case, the point being as to whether ballots initialed by a D.R.O. are invalid.

Little Sister Dropped Baby.

Galt, Jan. 28.—A shocking fatality occurred near here Thursday night when the seven months' old child of Martin Prong met death under peculiar circumstances. A 12-year-old sister was sitting on a sofa nursing the child when it gave a sudden turn, falling to the floor. In falling it landed on the side of its head, breaking its neck. Death was instantaneous.

Ran Into Snowbank.

Tweed, Jan. 28.—The Bay of Quinte snow plow and two engines ran into a snow bank about five miles from Tweed Thursday night. Both engines left the track. The snow plow is badly broken up, consequently traffic was delayed for some hours. The snowstorm is still raging in this vicinity. The mail clerk was the only one hurt in the collision.

Steamer Reported Lost.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 28.—It is reported that the steamer Nellie Eaton of Calais, has been lost near Provincetown, with all on board. Capt. Huntington, his son Frank, Charles Jackson of Milltown, N.B., and D. Watson of St. Andrew's, N.B., are amonst those on board.

Satolli Improves.

Rome, Jan. 28.—Cardinal Satolli, as announced Thursday, is suffering from an illness which may develop into pneumonia, was better yesterday, his temperature being 100.

ARCH ENEMY OF MANKIND.

Who It Is and How to Escape His Clutches.

Save Yourself To-day.

The arch enemy of human life is not Satan, but Pneumonia.

Consumption may number its thousands, but Pneumonia its tens of thousands; and, besides, it's much quicker in doing its deadly work. A person may catch cold, get Pneumonia and die in two or three days.

The only safeguard is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

They will, if taken in time, prevent Pneumonia from developing.

But, of course, if you wait too late, from a really bad attack nothing can save you.

That's why we lay so much stress on the fact that a common cold is such a dangerous thing to neglect.

You never know what may come of it.

And, nowadays, when we have at hand, in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, such a safe, certain and perfect cure for a cold, there is no excuse whatever for letting it run along.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets act directly upon the mucous membranes of the body, the inflammation of which is generally called "Catarrh," which inflammation is nearly always caused in the first place, by a cold.

As soon as you begin to sneeze, and your eyes and nose begin to run, fly for relief to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They will not fail you.

Cases of chronic, long-standing catarrhal trouble, accompanied by discharge from nose and throat, coughing, hawking, spitting, offensive breath, indigestion, irritation of the stomach or bowels, are also easily cured by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

In cases of long standing, however, a cure cannot be expected in a day, as it will take some time to build up the weakened, inflamed and flabby membranes to their original tonic state of health.

It will take time, but perseverance will win the day—if assisted by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

It is important, however, to remember to use Stuart's.

No others are genuine.

No other tablets, or any other medicine, will give you the real, positive, permanently curative results that Stuart's will.

Try them.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents a box.

Free Traders Win.

London, Jan. 28.—The Free Traders captured another Parliamentary seat in the bye-election held in North Dorset Thursday. A Liberal, A. W. Willis, defeated the Conservative candidate, Sir Randolph Baker, by a majority of 909. The vacancy was caused by the death of John Wingfield-Digby.

Another Government Gone.

Buda-Pesth, Hungary, Jan. 28.—The defeat of the Government at the recent election appears to have been complete. The Opposition secured 171 seats out of the 318 results so far as known. One hundred and eighteen of these are members of the Kossuth party.

Killed By a Train.

Shakespeare, Jan. 28.—A man named G. Auerbrigg was killed while crossing the Grand Trunk Railway two and a half miles east of this place. His horse and cutter were all torn to pieces. Auerbrigg was about 60 years of age, and unmarried.

THEIR NIGHT OFF

By.... Thomas E. Hinchman

Copyright, 1905, by T. C. McClure

Twombley had been watching with silent satisfaction the very artistic smoke garlands he was reeling off his post luncheon cigar. Suddenly his glance fell to the figure of the girl bending over a desk by the window. Evidently she was puzzled by the letter he had given her to his father's Venezuelan representative. She shifted her position to throw a better light on the book. Incidentally it brought her profile out sharply against the early afternoon sunlight. Twombley forgot all about the smoke wreaths.

"By Jove," he said to himself, "that's a profile for the sculptor. I wonder where she sprang from and where the governor found her."

"The governor," otherwise Thomas Twombley, Sr., had been called suddenly to London, and Thomas Twombley, Jr., was spending his summer in the office instead of at Newport or on some friend's yacht, as was his usual custom. The summer nights in town were something of a revelation to the young man, who, despite his city birth, knew little of city life, so much had he traveled with his mother.

The girl swung round to her desk, and the typewriter clicked insistently. Tom laid down his cigar and bent forward, watching her curiously. It must be devilish hard to work like that when you know you were meant for better things, thought the young fellow, and the light of a strong resolution shone on his smooth, square cut face.

"I wonder how she'd like to spend an evening as I do around town?"

Then he paused uncertainly. Would she have the clothes to wear? He remembered the flimsy, extravagant gowns he had seen at the casino the night before. Then he as quickly decided that she'd look well no matter what she wore. He strolled across the room to draw down the shades just a trifle.

"Beastly hot, isn't it?"

"Very warm," replied Miss Carruth without looking up from her work.

"If I owned the Stock Exchange or controlled big business interests I'd stop everything short in hot weather."

She looked up at him with a grave smile. "Then I'm afraid you couldn't own a yacht and a shooting box in the Adirondacks."

"That's so. The wheels of commerce must grind on the year around, I suppose."

"And what a lot of poor people they grind down!" The girl spoke to herself rather than to him.

"Oh, but the town's not so bad in summer," he said. "It's corking jolly if you know the right sort of people. I've had some good times the last few weeks."

She looked at him almost pityingly, but he did not notice it.

"You know, there are the roofs and the gardens, and nearly all the fellows in town have their automobiles. Oh, it's not half bad."

She did not answer, but resumed her writing. He went back to his desk, but the idea of giving her an evening out had become thoroughly imbedded in his mind. About 4 o'clock he rose with sudden determination.

"Oh, I say, Miss Carruth, let's knock off for the day."

"Knock off?" she said wonderingly. "I don't understand."

"Let's take a trip around town."

The girl swung around in her chair and looked at him in silent amazement. Twombley looked back at her with an engaging, boyish smile, and the faint flush which had come into her face died down again.

"I think we have been working pretty faithfully since the governor went away, and we deserve a holiday. I'd be awfully much obliged to you if you'd have dinner with me tonight, and then we will go up on one of the roof gardens and see the show."

A faint smile curved the girl's lips, and he felt encouraged.

"It's awfully jolly, don't you know, and if you have never seen that sort of thing you'd like it."

"Oh, I understand," said the girl—"you're going to give me just a taste of the life you and your friends lead. But it might make me very dissatisfied with my surroundings, you know."

Twombley found himself actually blinking at her. She put it so baldly.

"Oh, I say, that's not fair. Just for tonight I think we might be jolly good pals and forget that my father pays your salary."

The girl laughed. Twombley pulled down the lid of his desk with a snap.

"Wait," said the girl; "you must sign these letters."

"Oh, hang it," he said, "I forgot."

While he dispatched that work the girl was closing up her own affairs for the day, and when she took the letters from him and touched the bell for the office boy to carry them away he noticed that she had her hat on and a neat pair of gloves were caught through the handle of her purse.

"We'll have time for a spin in the park before we go to dinner," he said.

"I must go home first and change my frock."

He looked her over critically. The shirt waist suit was simple, but it had an air. He didn't feel quite so safe about the finery she might deem necessary for evening wear.

"Oh, don't bother," he said quickly. "You look very fit in that."

She shook her head. "I must go home, because mother would worry, and I have no way of telephoning to her."

Twombley saw that it was useless to argue the question.

"When and where shall I call for you?"

The girl flushed suddenly. "Oh, I will meet you at the park entrance. It's not far from our house, and I would much rather do that than give you the trouble of calling."

"All right," said Twombley cheerfully, and under his breath he added: "Ashamed of mamma and the little flat, I suppose. You can't exactly blame her when she's made something of herself."

At 6 o'clock she met him at the park entrance, and just for an instant Twombley felt actually dazzled. Her statuesque figure was draped in some soft, billowy gray stuff. He knew somehow that it took an artist to design and make such a dress. Her face was shaded by a picture hat of softest gray chiffon clouding pink roses.

Twombley hailed a hansom and they drove rapidly through the park to the casino. With a thrill of satisfaction he noticed that as they passed down the aisle between the lines of tables all eyes followed the slender gray figure and low murmurs of approval reached his ear. He wondered whether this was a twentieth century Cinderella, this graceful figure at his side, transformed by shimmering gray silk from the tailor made stenographer who had worked beside him for the past few weeks. She was perfectly self possessed, only a slight flush and a singularly bright light in her eyes showed that she was excited.

All patronage died out of Twombley's bearing. He was genuinely anxious now to please her. As for the girl, she displayed a knowledge of books, plays and pictures of the hour which astonished Twombley. Wonderfully adaptive creatures are the American girls, he decided. That must be the reason why it was so hard to tell whether a family had been born to money or born to make it. Before they re-entered the hansom to drive to the roof garden he had decided that money really didn't count after all.

The roof garden seemed stupid and cheap. He looked at the girl at his side, then at the occupants in the boxes around him; then he leaned toward her and whispered: "Let's get out of this. I know it's boring you. We'll go over to the Beauclaire for a bit of supper and hear the mondolin club play."

She rose with evident relief, and they walked through the quiet side street to an odd, foreign looking cafe on whose roof the mandolin and guitars tinkled limpidly. Here no lights blazed, for the moonlight flooded the scene.

The girl leaned back restfully in her chair, and Twombley smoked in silence, studying her profile the while. Somehow his father's brownstone mansion on the avenue seemed very far away. His austere and critical mother faded into a vague background. It would not be any condescension on his part, he decided. They could slip away to Italy or Japan or some other faraway place for the honeymoon, and the world would get through talking about it before they came back. A filmy cloud passed over the moon. The girl's hand, white and slender, lay on the table, temptingly close within his reach. He leaned forward impetuously.

"Hello, Twombley! What are you doing in town at this season of the year?"

Twombley scowled at the intruder; then his face cleared.

"Hello, Davidson! When did you land?"

The girl had made a move as if to rise; then she sank back in the chair, her face white and set in the moonlight.

"I came in on the Lucania yesterday and thought I'd see something of little old New York before starting for"—

He had turned slightly toward Miss Carruth, and just then the moon slipped from under the cloud, and the clear light struck her face.

"Helen!"

He leaned heavily against the table. The girl's head was bent so low that he could not look into her eyes.

"Jack," she said softly, but not so softly that he missed either the word or the tender accent with which she lingered over his name.

They had forgotten Twombley's existence. Now the newcomer pulled himself together.

"I beg your pardon, old man, but Miss Carruth and I were once—very—good—friends, and"—

"I see," said Twombley, rising, with an amused smile, "and if you'll look after Miss Carruth for a moment I'd like to have a chat with an artist friend I see buried behind a row of steins."

Without so much as a "thank you" Davidson dropped into the vacant chair.

"Helen, I've come back to look after you for always, and, dear, if you'll forgive my selfishness I'll promise you can study sociology and found working girls' clubs and endow industrial schools—anything, so you will come to me."

* * * * * * *

Twombley had forgotten all about the artist friend. He was leaning over the parapet looking down on the flaring street lamps.

"And to think I patronized her and thought there was need of a secret honeymoon in Italy or Japan. Tom, my boy, you're a fool!"

He glanced across the area of tables. The gray picture hat and a stiff, white straw were close together.

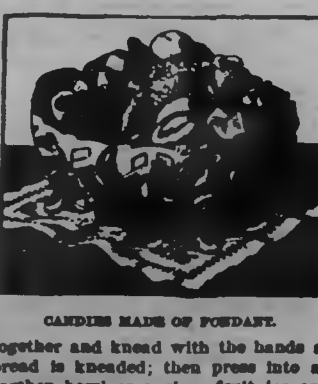
The Art of Making Fondant and All Sorts of Fine Bonbons.

Fondant is the basis of all French cream candies. It also makes the best frosting for eclairs and small cakes. The variety in candies made from fondant is almost limitless. This is produced, first of all, by the kind of sugar used in the fondant itself, as white or maple. Then the white may be varied by tinting and flavoring to correspond. The flavors in general use are vanilla, almond, rose, lemon, orange, peppermint and wine. The centers may be of fondant or of nuts or French fruit, either alone or in combination. Marshmallows, gumdrops, pieces of fruit jelly or whole candied cherries may be dipped in fondant.

To make fondant a beginner might start out with a pound of sugar (two cups) and half a cup of water. Set it over the fire and stir until boiling begins, then remove the spoon and in a few moments, with the hand or a brush dipped in cold water, wash down the sides of the saucepan to remove any grains of sugar that have been thrown up in boiling. Cover again and let it cook about five minutes. This process will tend to decrease, if not to obviate entirely, the accumulation of sugar on the sides of the saucepan. Now add one-fourth teaspoonful of cream of tartar, and let the sirup cook to the soft ball stage.

To determine when this stage is reached have ready a wire skewer, standing in a dish of cold water. Remove this from the water and plunge it into the sirup and then back again into the water. Let it remain in the water about ten seconds, then push off the sugar between the thumb and forefinger, and if it can be worked beneath the water into a soft ball that will not stick to the fingers it is boiled enough.

When the sugar is done, turn it on to a large platter or on a marble or slate slab lightly dampened with water or rubbed over with the best grade of olive oil. Let it stand undisturbed until a dent can be made in the surface; then work the candy back and forth with a wooden spatula to a white, smooth, soft, creamy paste. While the paste is still soft and warm gather it together and knead with the hands as bread is kneaded; then press into an earthen bowl or a glass fruit jar and cover closely with confectioner's paper, then again with a double fold of heavier paper. Store in a cool place. After twenty-four hours the fondant is ready for use.



CANDIES MADE OF FONDANT.

If the sirup be jarred while boiling, or if due care be not exercised in washing down the particles of sugar from the sides of the saucepan, or the mixture be not cooled enough before working with the spatula is begun, or if it be cooked too long, the fondant will not be smooth and creamy, but granular. To remedy this water may be added and the whole process repeated.

In dipping centers melt a portion of the fondant over hot water (double boiler), adding a few drops of hot water and such flavor as is desired. Stir constantly while the fondant is melting, also while the centers are being dipped. The fondant may be tinted at this time very delicately with color paste. Drop in the centers one at a time and when well covered remove with candy tongs to a sheet of confectioner's paper.—Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Broiled Codfish.

Select a piece cut from the thick part of a codfish and soak overnight in cold water. Wipe it dry, and broil it over clear coals for about ten minutes. Place it on a hot dish, score or gash it lightly with a very sharp knife and spread it generously with butter. It makes a nice relish for supper if placed to soak at noon.

Bright Cranberry Sauce.

Take equal measure of berries and sugar. To a quart of berries allow nearly a pint of boiling water. Cook the berries slowly till tender, then stir in the sugar and cook a few moments longer. Prepared in this manner the berries retain their bright color.

ASTHMA

Completely Eradicated from the System by Clarke's Kola Compound.

Clarke's Kola Compound is no watery, greasy spray, or snuffing cocaine powder. It is a constitutional cure. It not only affords instant relief from the choking, but also makes the attacks less frequent and severe, and quickly eradicates the disease from the system. In long standing cases of Asthma, the action of Clarke's Kola Compound is little short of marvelous, while the less severe ones disappear as if by magic.

Mr. S. Till, St. John, N.B., writes: "I have, for ten years, been a sufferer from Asthma, which became worse each year. Our doctors finally could not help me; six bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound have completely cured me. I also know of several others in this city who have been cured by it."

RUSSIANS HAVE WINS

After Sudden Successes They Take Sandepas.

Gen. Kuropatkin Reports Capture of Strongly Entrenched Japanese Village After a Desperate Fight—St. Petersburg Believes News to Be Most Opportune—Russians Also Occupied Weheitaitse, and Captured 100 Japanese.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 28.—The news of Gen. Kuropatkin's successful repulse of the Japanese advance comes most opportunely. The belief exists here that Field Marshal Oyama ought to take advantage of any depression prevailing in the Russian ranks, as the result of the news from St. Petersburg, to launch an attack against Gen. Kuropatkin's right; but the Russian commander-in-chief seems to have nicely turned the tables, inflicting considerable loss upon the Japanese on Thursday and taking several positions westward along the plain of the Hun River.

Evidently Gen. Kuropatkin is following up his victory, the latest despatches to the Associated Press from the front dated here on the evening of Jan. 27 indicating that there is a battle in progress extending along the centre and becoming more and more serious. However, it seems to be confined to artillery. If the fighting develops into a general engagement, military men here believe that it must reach out to the flanks, their opinion being that a frontal attack by either side under the present circumstances is impossible.

Kuropatkin Talks.

Gen. Kuropatkin reports that Russian troops at 7 p.m. on Jan. 26, after a desperate fight, occupied the Village of Sandepas, which had been strongly fortified by the Japanese.

Gen. Kuropatkin, under date of Jan. 25, telegraphed as follows to Emperor Nicholas:

"The advance has commenced of our right flank against the enemy. We have occupied Khailatosa and Kheigoutaya."

Gen. Kuropatkin adds: No details have been received of the losses at Khailatosa and Kheigoutaya, which are seven versts southwest of Sandepas. We occupied Khailatosa without firing, the Japanese being bayonetted. Kheigoutaya was bravely defended, but we finally occupied it at 10 o'clock at night. Our cavalry pursued two regiments of Japanese Dragoons, which fled southeastward. On our left flank a detachment repulsed the Japanese and occupied a defile between Khandiesnan and Expanan. Another detachment sent against the enemy's flank near Hindhecheng, forced the Japanese to retire and captured 200 cattle."

Supplementing the foregoing, General Kuropatkin says: "From later reports it appears that in capturing these positions we made prisoners of 100 Japanese. We also occupied the Village of Weheitaitse, on the Hun River, losing fifty men.

"On Jan. 26 our troops continued the offensive against Sandepas. The Japanese attacked our position near the village from the south and southeast, but were repulsed. Our cavalry participated, manoeuvring against the left flank and attacked the Japanese in the rear. Our force then attacked Sandepas and at 7 p.m., after a desperate fight, with the assistance of sappers, we surmounted the strong entrenchments and occupied the Japanese village. The same day our troops occupied the enemy's entrenchments at Shakhe and repulsed the Japanese attempts to retake them."

Japs Grow Active.

Russian Headquarters, Huan Mountain, Manchuria, Jan. 26.—After three months of quietude, the Japanese have resumed activity, attempting to force back the Russian right wing. A stubborn fight began Jan. 25 and is continuing to-day, Jan. 26, which may be a curtain raiser for the spring campaign. According to reports, the Japanese attack was repulsed and a Russian counter-attack was so energetically pressed that a village within the lower Japanese lines of strategical importance was taken. It is rumored that several Japanese guns were taken. There was no fighting at the centre or on the flanks. A bitterly cold wind is blowing, snow is falling and heavy frost prevails.

Balfour to Workingmen.

London, Jan. 28.—(C.A.P.)—Premier Balfour again addressing his constituents at Manchester congratulated the workingmen on their Imperial sentiments. Referring to the colonial conference, Mr. Balfour said that any scheme decided upon will have to be referred not only to the electorate of the self-governing colonies, but to the electorate of Great Britain.

Rouvier's Policy Approved.

Paris, Jan. 28.—The Rouvier ministry held its first formal council at the Elysee Palace yesterday, under the presidency of President Loubet. Premier Rouvier submitted his declaration of policy, which was approved. Later the Premier presented the declaration to Parliament. It follows the policy of the late Premier Combes.

What Sulphur Does.

For the Human Body in Health and Disease.

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," a tonic and cure-all, and mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years research and experiment have proved that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health: sulphur acts directly on the liver, and excretory organs and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins, while experimenting with sulphur remedies soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any form. He says—"For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils, and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article, and sold by druggists, and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles and especially in all forms of skin disease, as this remedy."

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics, and so-called blood "purifiers," will find Stuart's Calcium Wafers, a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.

PREMIER ROSS STILL HANGS ON

Gives no Sign of Handing Over Seals of Office.

WHITNEY'S MAJORITY IS 42

Ministers, Though Making Personal Preparations to Leave, Did Not Decide the Question of Resignation At Cabinet Council—Some Minor Appointments—Reception to Mr. Whitney Will Not Be of the Hurrah Order.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—Premier Ross still holds the seals of office. He gives no sign when he will hand his resignation to Lieutenant-Governor Clark and make way for the accession of the new Premier. However, the ministers are making their preparations, packing their personal effects and clearing up odds and ends.

A Cabinet meeting was held yesterday. Besides the Premier there were present Hon. Richard Harcourt, Hon. John Dryden, Hon. W. A. Charlton and Hon. George P. Graham. Hon. A. G. Mackay was delayed by a snow blockade, Hon. J. M. Gibson is ill, Attorney-General Latchford and Hon. F. E. A. Evanturel are still in the east. When the ministers emerged from the council they announced that no decision had been arrived at regarding resignation. A Deputy Minister said that there were some matters in abeyance that would require a couple of weeks to clear up, but the general impression is that the Cabinet will step out in a few days.

All the Premier had for the press were several minor appointments. W. D. Eckert of London, W. H. Heyden of Claremont, and John Ludlow of Centre Augusta, are granted pensions as superannuated teachers; Fr. A. Moure is appointed bursar of Toronto University, John S. Mercer is granted a specialist's certificate in manual training, and Lucy Cumming is appointed instructor in sewing at Ottawa Normal School.

Reception to Whitney.

There is little doubt that the Conservatives of Toronto will give a loyal reception to Mr. Whitney on his arrival in the city, but it is not likely that the party will make it an occasion for great jubilation. A Toronto member said yesterday that he had been approached in regard to a fitting celebration, and he had said "there should be no pyrotechnic display, no fireworks. Nothing of an ostentatious kind."

He was of the opinion that this is no time for Conservatives to rejoice with boasting and loud acclaim.

"The people," he said, "have entrusted us with responsibility, and we must show them that we are in earnest by good laws and honest work."

A prominent Liberal stated yesterday that Mr. Whitney would meet the Legislature with a majority of 50.

Mr. Ross to Lead Opposition.

The Globe understands that Mr. Ross has no present intention of withdrawing from public life, and will remain in the Legislature as leader of the Opposition. Those who have been in conversation with him state that Mr. Ross is by no means discouraged by the result of the election, but is looking forward with much interest to his work as leader of the party to the left of Mr. Speaker.

The corrected returns, up to date, are:

Flourfax Fables.

The Young Wife and the Honest Grocer.

A young wife decided to go to housekeeping and do her own marketing.

"Now I want to save all the money I can," she told the grocer.

"I am going to buy just as economically as I can, and I am going to do my own cooking and bake my own bread."

She saw some eggs.

"How much are eggs?"

"Well, we have them at various prices. The best are thirty cents a dozen."

"My, how expensive! Haven't you some for twenty?"

"Yes m'am, but I can't recommend them.

"But we are trying to save money."

"True, but you can't afford to save money on eggs, butter and flour."

"Those are three things you want good and you can't have them too good.

You can save in lots of ways but don't do it on the necessities."

"What is your best flour?"

"Royal Household."

"How much does it cost?"

He told her.

"Have you cheaper flour."

"Yes, cheaper in price but really not as cheap in the end. You see in Royal Household Flour you get the largest amount of flour value for your money."

"What do you mean by 'flour value'?"

"The largest amount of wheat nutriment—of pure flour.

"The cheaper the flour the less nutriment it has in it and the more bran.

"The bran is in all flour till its taken out.

"It's all taken out of Royal Household Flour, and that means the best machinery and the best milling.

"And another thing, madam, perhaps you haven't heard of the new process used in making Royal Household Flour.

It is purified by Electricity and that seems to make all the difference in the world in flour.

"Everybody wants "Royal Household" now—they seem to think it is healthier, and I guess it is."

Suddenly she looked suspicious at the earnestness of his argument.

"Don't you make more money on Royal Household Flour?

"No m'am—not as much as we make on cheaper priced flour."

"Then why do you recommend it?"

"Because when a customer once tries 'Royal Household' our trouble is all over. It sells itself after that and we never have any complaints. If you send to The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, Montreal, they will send you the Royal Household Recipes.

"Well; send me a barrel of 'Royal Household' then; and I'll have some of those 30c. eggs too."

Ryan Gets Five Years.

Toronto, Jan. 28.—"You were a trusted servant of the public and betrayed that trust. It was not the mere taking of the money but the impairment in the public mind of confidence in the institutions of the country." So said Chief Justice Falconbridge yesterday in sentencing James Ryan, a postman, for theft of money letters, to five years in the Penitentiary, dating from Nov. 8, last.

Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

Montreal, Jan. 28.—After a three days' stay in the city the vice-regal party left yesterday afternoon for their home in Ottawa, their special car being attached to the 4 o'clock express on the C.P.R. A large crowd of citizens assembled at Windsor street station to witness the departure. Their Excellencies being heartily cheered as they wended their way with difficulty through the throng to the train. Before leaving the party visited the Bank of Montreal.

HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The Auburn hockey team challenge the Wm. Hamilton Co. or the Karnots to a game of hockey as soon as the ice can be secured, Karnots preferred.

The Bank of Montreal team, of Toronto, are anxious to play a game with a team picked from the local banks. It is possible that the game may be played.

Last night's victory practically gives the locals the championship of this district. The standing is as follows:—

	Won	Lost	To play
Peterborough...	5	1	2
Lindsay...	2	3	3
Port Perry...	0	3	5

One of Peterborough's games left to play may not be played off, as it is not likely to be needed to determine the standing.

The Peterboroughs are certainly a great score outfit. In seven league games they have scored 81 goals to 35, an average per game of over 11 goals to 5.

Port Perry plays in Lindsay on Monday night. A win for Lindsay will put the visitors out of the running and give the championship to Peterborough.

Peterborough plays in Port Perry on Wednesday evening next. It will probably be their last game in this district.

Next week's City League games promise to be the best league contests of the season. The game between the Furriers and Karnots is attracting a lot of attention, as neither team has been defeated in a league game this season. Neither outfit needs the game as both have qualified for the semi-finals.

A citizen remarked that when the Peterborough Hockey Team went to Lindsay they were vaccinated with two barrels of last season's eggs. In return, when Lindsay came here, their team was presented with a handsome duck egg. Such is life!

The Young Eagles defeated the Frontenacs by a score of 5—2 on the Y.M.C.A. rink on Friday night. The teams were as follows:—

Eagles		Frontenacs
G. Hyde	Goal	......J. Carson
D. Layfield	Point	...A. Overend
H. Morrow	Coverpoint.	...J. Close
C. Hayes	Rover	.........C. Smith
S. Sheehy	Centre	...H. Anderson
R. Sheehy	Right Wing	.....R. Carson
V. Hayes	Left Wing	.........J. Mahony

The Lindsay team were banquetted by the local club at McCallum's after the game last evening. Some eloquent speeches were made and an enjoyable time spent. It is pleasing to be able to record that no rowdyism was displayed during the visit of the Peterborough team.

Cobourg defeated Port Hope juniors at the latter place by 3-2.

Port Hope will be here to play the juniors on Monday night. It should be an interesting game. There will be several changes in the local line-up.

The juniors practice tonight at 10 o'clock.

LITTLE LOCAL LINERS.

—Tickets for the Y.M.C.A. rink for 25 cents for rest of the season.

—A report of the Peterborough-Lindsay hockey match and other local news will be found on page three.

—The death was announced yesterday of Prof. E. B. Kenrick, of Winnipeg. The deceased was a brother of the Rev. C. B. Kenrick, formerly curate of St. John's church here, and was well known in town.

—At Police Court this morning John Gilligan, who was warned to get out of town yesterday, and neglected to take the advice given to him, was sentenced to six months in the Central on a charge of vagrancy.

—There was a fairly large market this morning, but the cold weather kept many away. There was plenty of beef at from 4 to 6 cents, and pork at 7 and 8 cents, but poultry was very scarce. Fresh eggs brought 25 cents, and butter from 23 to 25 cents.

—A runaway occurred this morning on Brock-st. which might have been attended by serious results. As a farmer and his wife were driving across George-st. in a cutter, the horse became frightened at a street car, bolted and threw the couple out. Neither was hurt. The farmer hung to the lines and was dragged some distance before the horse came to a standstill.

SOURCE OF SUPPLY POISONED.

An Alarming Condition Present in many places in Canada. How best to correct it

Many people all over the Dominion are being poisoned slowly but surely, and that by their own carelessness.

The food may be pure but digestion is not complete and all that is not digested rots and ferments, giving off the most violent poisons. What was intended to sustain life really turns into that which destroys life.

The temperature of the body is a little over 98 degrees. Every particle of undigested food lies in the Stomach and Bowels, subject to this temperature, which is as high as in the sun on a hot summer day. It is not necessary to explain how quickly such heat will decompose dead matter, either animal or vegetable.

The stomach and Bowels must be set right—Anti-Pill will do it. Dr. Leonhardt made his Anti-Pill specifically to correct these conditions, it has never failed when given a fair chance.

JOIN DOMINION CONGRESS.

Trades and Labor Council Decides to Become Part of That Body.

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council which was held last night it was decided to become affiliated with the Dominion Trades Congress. This will have the effect of bringing the local organization into close touch with the national movement. There are now about forty Councils represented in the Dominion Congress, and the annual conventions are assuming large proportions. This speaks well for the labor cause in Canada.

The new officers took their places. They are:—
President—Charles P. Murty.
Secretary—Walter Tighe.
Fin. Secretary—Jas. Henry.
Treasurer—W. J. Johnston.
Sergeant-at-Arms—W. Joyce.

HIS DIABETES IS ALL GONE NOW

Donat Laflamme Found a Cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They Always Cure all Forms of Kidney Disease From Backache to Bright's Disease.

St. Marguerite, Dorchester Co., Quebec, Jan. 27 (Special)—That the most serious forms of Kidney Disease cannot stand before Dodd's Kidney Pills is being daily proved in Quebec, and one of the most convincing proofs is given right here in St. Marguerite. Donat Laflamme whom everybody knows had Diabetes. This is one of the extreme stages of Kidney Disease and it baffles ordinary medical skill. Consequently it is not surprising that the doctor who attended Donat Laflamme could not help him. But let Mr. Laflamme tell the most wonderful part of his story himself:

: "Two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me," he says. "My Diabetes is all gone and I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all my friends and to all who suffer."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney Disease from Backache to Bright's disease.

SLAVES OF TIME.

Women Should Plan Their Work So as to Enjoy a Little Leisure.

Nothing, except, perhaps, strength, is so lavishly squandered by the average busy person, man or woman, as time, and yet to the credit of this other sex be it said that, as a rule, men do their loafing in a more systematic way than women do.

A woman will work herself almost to death over housework or sewing and then, instead of dropping her work with the day, will go on with it doggedly all the evening.

A woman who works all the time not only can't do her work well, but works necessarily more slowly, for a high speed can't be kept up indefinitely. She loses more time in this everlasting keeping at it than she'd gain by resting half that time and working rapidly the rest.

And losing time and quality makes a double loss.

So many women are time servants, with consciences warped to such an extent that a little rest or relaxation they look upon as interrupting the performance of their duty.

There's nothing higher than duty, and true women always respond to it nobly. But duty sometimes consists as much in taking as in giving.

If it could be possible that women's work could be arranged so that they should "work on hours" there would be as great a revolution in women's health and spirits as there has ever been in anything. The depression of facing never ending work, of going to bed at night worn out from increasing exertion, wearied and cross, with nothing in her future but endless days of endless work, is enough to drive her wild. —Philadelphia North American.

SKIP THE MEAT.

Make Cheese Take Its Place at Dinner Once in Awhile.

Make cheese take the place of meat once in awhile. Nearly every one has been told that there is as much nutrition in a pound of cheese as there is in three of meat. Without accepting this literally, it is yet true that cheese is nourishment in a concentrated form.

Just because it is so concentrated it is hard of digestion for some persons, especially if it is eaten raw. But it may be grated, mingled with breadcrumbs, milk and egg and cooked into a delicious and nutritious dish which is not difficult of digestion for the normal stomach.

Study such dishes as these and give them to your family once in awhile in the place of meat. Or when you have given them a good heavy soup do away with meat altogether and proffer in its place a salad made of any one of the many varieties of vegetables or fruit that are so good when well combined.

A salad of three or four different kinds of cold vegetables cut into neat cubes and tastefully arranged upon lettuce leaves is as good as it is pretty. Serve with a French dressing—the oil will cost less than meat would—or a boiled salad dressing.—Philadelphia Press.

TOILET TIPS.

Rose water, eight ounces, and tincture of benzoin, two drams, make one of the best skin tonics and whiteners.

Stains on the fingers that will not yield to ordinary methods can be removed by dipping the fingers in peroxide of hydrogen.

A shiny, oily nose may be helped by bathing several times a day in a wash made by dissolving half a teaspoonful of common washing soda in half a pint of warm water.

Iodorated almond oil nightly massaged into the skin will aid in removing scars. The pits from smallpox may be greatly lessened if the treatment is conscientiously followed.

Filing the nails to keep them the right shape and length is better than cutting. The palm of the hand is the best nail polisher; the chamois nail buffer comes next and should be used when a polishing powder is applied to the nails.

The False Note.

She took off her glove carelessly and got the nickel for car fare and, dropping her purse in her lap, again drew on the glove. I don't think there was a man in the car who was not quietly watching this beautiful woman, for she was one of God's own creatures who would make a man better only to look at. Then— She had on tan shoes, too, and they peeped out just a trifle from under her tan skirt. She leaned back on the seat, and her right foot came out just a little farther from under cover, and—oh, horror! A wee bit of broken skirt braid, a bit about an inch and a half long just a little frayed, showing that it had not been broken recently, hung over the nice new tan colored shoe. That was all. The stock of the beautiful woman went down 99 per cent with a plump.—Pittsburg Gazette.

Painted Woods.

When the painted woods of the interior of the house are spoiled or spotted get a plate of very good whiting. It will cost only a few cents. Dip a piece of flannel into warm water, squeeze nearly dry and dip it into the whiting; then rub the paint with the whiting, and all the dirt and grease will disappear, and the paint will look like new, no matter how delicate.

Gilt Frames.

In order to clean a gilt frame brush off every bit of dust, and then wet a small area at a time with alcohol applied with a camel's hair brush. Rub the alcohol off before it dries with a clean, soft cloth of silk or flannel, and these cloths should be changed often, as the dirt comes off the frame with the alcohol on the cloth.

Fruit-a-tives
or Fruit Liver Tablets
Instead of Fruit.

Fruit is a splendid tonic for stomach and liver. The active principles give fruit its medicinal value. But they occur in such minute quantities, that when fruit is taken with other food, and goes through the process of digestion, their action is lost.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the active principles of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—extracted from fruit juices, combined by our own secret process, and compressed into tablets. They are the concentrated medicinal virtues of fruits and act much more effectively than any other known treatment in curing Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Torpid Liver, Biliousness and Kidney troubles. At all druggists. 50c. a box.

A remarkable peculiarity is said to belong to the Russian cross of St. Andrew. All who are decorated with it have the right to demand a pardon for one Russian subject condemned to death.

Odd Postal Boats.

One of the strangest postal arrangements in the world is to be found in China. Twice a week small mail boats leave Tchungking for Itchang, a trip of two to five days down the Yangtsekiang. These boats never return. They are made into firewood, because it would take several weeks to get them back over the rapids.

Byron's Queer Household.

Byron's household, according to Shelley, consisted, besides servants, of ten horses, eight enormous dogs, three monkeys, five cats, an eagle, a crow and a falcon, and all except the horses went to and fro in the house at their pleasure.

Paul Revere's Bells.

A bell cast by the Boston patriot, Paul Revere, hangs in the bell tower of the Chapman street schoolhouse at Greenfield. There is another of his bells in the church at Sunderland. A third one was in the church at Northfield, which was burned several years ago.

Salt in India.

Salt is always an extra in India and is never served unless called for.

Baby Carriages in Berlin.

Berlin police are very strict about baby carriages. In certain of the busiest streets, especially those in which most shopping is done, nurses are not allowed to wheel the baby carriages at all. A license has to be obtained from the police before one can be used, and each vehicle is numbered.

A Horrible Tragedy.

A jealous wife of Perpignan soaked her dress with petroleum, locked the house door and then called her husband to her. Just as he approached she lit a match and set her clothes on fire. Then, seizing her husband in her arms, she held him tight till they were both enveloped in flames. The woman died, and the man went crazy.

Denmark's Landowners.

In Denmark there are 224,000 rural landowners. More than half have not more than one acre, 96,000 have less than four acres, and only 2,000 have more. The small landowners mainly occupy themselves with the egg and fowl industry.

PAMPHELON CAUGHT.

The Sharper Appeared in the Police Court This Morning.

Harold Pamphelon, alias "Slick" Redmond, the man who has been living on his wits at other people's expense, in Orillia, Lindsay and Peterborough appeared at police court this morning in answer to the charge of obtaining $1 in money, and a quantity of oats and hay under false pretences, from Wm. Corniel, a local livery man.

The man was rounded up yesterday in Cavanville. The local police had been informed that a man answering to the description of Pamphelon was in that village and P. C. McGinty drove down yesterday and got his man. He confessed that he was the person wanted in Orillia, but he has not the white spot in his eye as described in the letter from Orillia.

This morning he was remanded until Thursday.

A case of selling liquor during prohibited hours was dismissed.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

The subjects for yesterday's gospel meeting were dealt with in an interesting and practical manner by Miss M. J. Barnard, who spoke on "Sabbith keeping" and by Miss Louise Best, whose subject was "Sabbath breaking." The duet rendered by the Misses Chasty was much enjoyed by all present.

It has been decided to have Mrs. Roberts' Bible class meet hereafter at eight o'clock on Thursday evenings instead of on Friday.

Beginning Tuesday, Feb. 7th, at 7 p.m. Miss A. Williamson will resume the Raffia class work which was discontinued after the holiday season.

THOUSANDS KILLED

Tokio, Jan. 30—The casualties during the fighting at Chenchioppas and Heikoutai are estimated at 5,000 on the Japanese side, and 10,000 on the Russian side.

RUSSIANS' FUTILE MOVE.

Gen. Kuroki's Headquarters, Jan. 29, via Fusan, Jan. 30.—The Russian attempt to turn the Japanese left has resulted in complete failure. The Russians chose the worst weather of the season, depending perhaps upon their familiarity with the snowy contry to aid them in their operations. Their artillery attacks on the Japanese permanent lines were, it is thought, a demonstration to prevent the withdrawal of forces for the purpose of reinforcing the Japanese left. All yesterday afternoon and into the night an artillery duel was waged across the Shakha River. It has been quiet today, except on the left.

MONDAY, JAN. 30, 1905.

PEN POINTS.

There is one good characteristic in this country, and that is the enmity and jealousies created by party strife are soon forgotten.

There will not likely be another election contest till 1909. The majority of us will now have ample time to attend to our own affairs, which is or should be, the business of making a living.

We don't hear from Grit journals now so much about Mr. Whitney's alledged incapacity to govern. It's wonderful when victory smiles upon a leader how those, who formerly denounced, are ready to bestow praise and treat him with courteous consideration.

One of the most notable turn overs in the Ontario elections was West Peterborough. In 1902, Mr. Stratton carried it by about 1,200; on Wednesday, the Conservative majority was a trifle larger. Nearly every other Liberal voter in 1902 changed his vote in 1905.—Montreal Gazette.

Mr. Tarte expresses his opinion of Mr. Whitney in these words: "He is instinct with force, energy and determination. He is a man of capacity. He is eminently capable of being the Prime Minister of the most important Province of the Confederation."

There are not likely to be many protests entered as the result of Wednesday's battle. The majority is decisive enough and few constituencies will care to go through another election. With the federal, municipal and provincial contests within three months surely there has been enough excitement.

It is pleasing to note in the Liberal press comment on the election result there is, except in a few instances, no spirit of bitterness or resentment manifested. The great majority of newspapers who supported the Ross Government accept defeat in a calm, philosophical manner, and believe that the Liberal party will eventually emerge from the landslide with new aims, new ideals and possibly new leaders.

A change likely to take effect in the near future will be that of the personnel of the Boards of License Commissioners. It is hardly likely that the present Boards will have the privilege of issuing the licenses beginning next May. The present make up of these boards is intensely partisan, and according to Mr. Whitney's programme, the administration of the license law is to be taken out of partizanship.

In Toronto, though the population has increased considerably, the attendance at school is about the same as it was five years ago. Inspector Hughes explains it by pointing out that good times have made work easily procurable by boys and girls, and that the increased cost of living had made such work absolutely necessary for the support of many families. The conditions which take a child from the school it should be attending are not satisfactory.

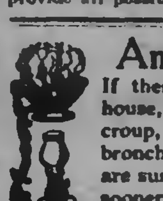
Mr. Ross's defeat on Wednesday adds "the old war horse, thirty-two years in the saddle," to the departed of an interesting animal collection which gained fame in connection with Ontario politics. Mr. Dryden's "old silver medal bull," the ram "Dan.," the "calf with a cough," and the cholera stricken hog, all had their day as subjects of political attack and defence. They have now received into the limbo of dead issues their most noted member.

Mr. Lancaster, the Conservative member for Lincoln, who has received great praise from the farmers for the efforts he has put forth to secure better cattle guards on the railways, is to the fore this season with a bill for the protection of life at level railway crossings in congested localities. Mr. Lancaster is engaged in a movement, the object of which is to provide all possible safeguards at our grade crossings. Trains run through our towns and cities in thickly settled localities at the rate of ten and twelve miles per hour, and under present conditions and with inadequate legislation the railway mangers can snap their fingers at municipalities.

Our evening contemporary is very much concerned in pointing out the causes that led to the defeat of the Ross Government. In doing so it refers to a condition of things that the electorate did not certainly accept as an issue. The Rossites boasted of splendid administrative ability and claimed re-election on that issue. Mr. Whitney went to the country solely on the issue of political corruption under the auspices of the Ross Government, and on that issue was elected. The electorate stand for political honesty and purity, which Ross belittled and which Whitney promises to uphold. Therefore the electorate in their might pronounced Ross guilty of the the charges brought against him by Mr. Whitney.

On election night Hon. G. W. Ross was in his office at the parliament buildings in Toronto receiving the returns, surrounded by quite a brilliant company, including many ladies. As the reports indicating overwhelming defeat gradually accumulated, the faithful courtiers quietly slipped away until the old man was was entirely left alone. It was a pathetic picture of the ending of a long political career. It would also show that Mr. Ross did not enjoy that loyal allegiance and personal respect and esteem which have been claimed for him. A man whose personal characteristics and course in public life command the approval of his friends usually finds an old guard of steadfast followers to rally round him in the hour of his deepest adversity.

The first test to which Mr. Whitney will be submitted will be that of cabinet-making. He will be judged by the men he chooses, and by those he leaves out. When Sir Wilfrid formed his cabinet in 1896, he did not confine himself to the men behind him in Parliament; and there is no reason why Mr. Whitney should be similarly restricted. He ought to feel free to summon strong men to his side wherever he may find them. Imagine what the Laurier Government would have been like without Mowat, Fielding, Blair, Sifton and Joly! Mr. Whitney has all Ontario to draw upon. There are many men who have not been drawn into provincial politics for reasons which it is not difficult to guess, who would, nevertheless, make excellent ministers, who should be men of unimpeachable character.



Any Boys?

If there are boys in the house, or girls either, then croup, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis, and sore throat are sure to be there, too, sooner or later. Don't crowd their stomachs with medicine, just have them breathe-in the vapor of Vapo-Cresolene; they'll like it, and it will give immediate relief. In this way you put the medicine right on the place that needs it. For whooping-cough it's the perfect cure.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists, or sent express prepaid on receipt of price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit including a bottle of Cresolene, complete $1.50. Send for free illustrated booklet. Leeming, Miles Co., Ltd., Agents, 288 St. James Street, Montreal, Can.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

In some quarters fear is expressed that the Whitney Government will make a clean sweep of Provincial officials. We don't think there is any cause for apprehension on that score, says the Hamilton Herald (Independent.) The government would be justified in dismissing all office holders who have been engaged in election work as active partisans. These men, if there are any such, disobeyed the law and they deserve to lose their offices for that reason, as well as for the reason that a permanent public official, who is the servant of the whole people, has no manent public official, who is the servant of the party in power.

But such a thing as the general decapitation of civil servants is exceedingly improbable, partly because Mr. Whitney is an honorable man who would shrink from such a cynical cal resort to the spoils system, and partly because such a course would be certain to be followed by reprisals on the part of the Ottawa government. There are hundreds of Conservatives in the Dominion civil service. If the official guillotine at Toronto is made to work unfairly and too actively, we may be sure that a guillotine will be set up at Ottawa, and Dominion civil servants throughout Ontario, and perhaps in other provinces as well, will lose their official heads.

One of the reasons given by the Rev. Dr. Ryckman, pastor of the Cornwall Methodist church, in a sermon delivered last Sunday, why he was going to vote against the Ross government, was this: "During the 33 years the Liberals were in power every office and position of honor or emolument in their gift had been awarded to partisan supporters, and the other half of the community were shut out completely." That is a true charge. But it is one that could be made with equal truth against every other Canadian government, Dominion as well as Provincial. We have not yet got above the application of the spoils system in Canada, so far as the appointment to office only of friends of the dominant party is concerned. The Whitney government will be as partizan in its appointments as the Ross, Hardy, and Mowat governments were. Only one thing can rid the province of this system, and that is a radical measure of civil service reform. We cannot blame Conservatives for not wanting such a reform at present. They can with reason argue that it will be time for such a change when the public offices are fairly divided between supporters of the two parties. But civil service reform would be an excellent principle for the Liberal opposition to adopt and make part of its policy.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEET

14th Convention of Cavan and South Monaghan Association.

GOOD ADDRESSES GIVEN

Association Embraces Eighteen Schools—Next Meeting Will be Held in Cavanville—Claims of Home Department—Dr. Speer's Address.

The fourteenth annual convention of the Cavan and South Monaghan Sabbath School Association was held in the Methodist church, Millbrook, on Tueday last.

At both afternoon and evening sederunt the attendance was good and enthusiasm was at no low ebb. This Association embraces eighteen schools. It was truly an inspiration to see Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist workers, reviewing the past, planning for the future, and asking the Divine guidance and blessing as one person. Mr. Jonathan Smith, of Springville, discharged the duties of President to the thorough satisfaction of all.

Devotional exercises were led by Rev. G. R. Clare. The heartiness of the singing was no doubt due to the leader of the union choir and orchestra.

In the evening Miss Leah McCutcheon, of Toronto, charmed and inspired everyone by her mastery and sympathetic rendition of "The Gates of Paradise," and "If a Christian meet a Christian."

The lesson for the next Sabbath, "Jesus and Nicodemus," was taught by the Rev. George Yule, M.A., of Springville, in a manner which revealed the deep theologian, and also one who realized the supreme need of man. Rev. J. E. Robeson, Fraserville, urged in eloquent terms the claims of the "Home Department." The Association enjoyed a real treat from Miss Williamson, Superintendent of Kindergarten Department, St. Paul's church, Peterborough. By means of flowers and sandmaps, stars, moons and stones, men, houses and crosses, she gave emphasis to the thought "God is Love."

EVENING ADDRESSES.

The addresses at the evening service were masterly pieces of oratory eloquence and persuasion. "The influence of the Sabbath School on the character of the community" was very ably treated by Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, B.A., B.D., of Omemee, under the figure of a circle, the Sabbath school being the centre, influence being the radio; within the circle thus drawn, he portrayed the positive and negative influence of the S.S. upon the teacher, the pulpit, the church, the parent, the one outside the church. To exert a true and eternal influence for good, the S.S. must be Christo-centric. Any other centre leads to irreverence and disaster. We were apt to have self-satisfaction, success, denomination, numerical or financial strength as centres—each must fail. Christ revealing the love of God is the alone true centre.

Rev. Dr. J. C. Speer, of Toronto, in his treatment of "The New and True Patriotism," was witty, eloquent and inspiring. His mental pictures of the heritage passed to us by the early settlers of Ontario, were painted with the juices of wild flowers, the sap of the soft maple in the balmy spring time of hope, and the charcoal from the old fireplace of former days.

Rev. William Johnston, of Millbrook, in a characteristic Irish speech, moved a hearty vote of thanks to all who had contributed in making the convention a success. His review of the leading points showed an appreciative and attentive listener. The vote of thanks to the friends of Millbrook for their hospitality, moved by Mr. W. Graham, of Mount Pleasant, was vociferiously seconded, then all united in singing "God be with you till we meet again."

The convention meets in 1906 at Cavanville.

Injured While Wrestling

—William Eley, of Roseneath, a young man 21 years of age, while wrestling on Friday last, sustained an injury known as strangulated hernia. Dr. Hayden was soon in attendance, and concluded with Dr. Ferris, who was in Roseneath that afternoon, that he should be sent to the hospital at Cobourg, where he was brought that night, and Drs. Ivey and Ferris operated early Saturday morning, successfully relieving the condition. Except from an accompanying attack of bronchitis the patient is doing fairly well.—Cobourg Sentinel-Star.

AFTER THE BATTLE.

There is joy in the Province—there's hope in the land—
The people have triumphed— the boodlers are banned!
From place and from power they're driven—are hurled
By hosts, whose example illumines the world,
Led on by a Chief who, with honor unstained
'Gainst the foulest of forces, long, battle maintained
'Till Victory perch'd, hov'ring pinions to fold
On his brow "bold and honest, and honest as bold."
What though of his chieftans some fell in the fray!
Not even the victors were braver than they.
Loud, loud be the praises of Chief, and of all
Who acted so nobly in forcing to fall
A Septemvirate that, search the world around,
No equal in rottenness there could be found.
No deed was too dastard—no crime seem'd too great
For adoption, if helpful to stay their sure fate;
No means, low, repulsive; no wiles, no deceit;
Were untried in vain efforts that fate to defeat.
Though long, all too long, they were suffered to reign;
Yet now our lost prestige we soon will regain.
There is joy in the Province—there's hope in the land—
The people have triumphed— the boodlers are banned!

VOX POPULI.

GREAT THINGS FOR BOB.

Representatives of C.P.R. Getting Bearings for Summer Business.

Mr. C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent of the C.P.R. and Mr. John J. Rose, Travelling Passenger Agent, were in Bobcaygeon last week. They are getting their bearings for the summer business and development of the lakes Naturally it is the interest of the Company to bring tourists there, says the Independent and while nothing definite has been yet arrived at, there is no question that energetic action will ultimately be taken. The whole proposition of the lakes, however, marks back to the question of accommodation. A development of private cottages and camps can be made, and a large trade obtained in that way, but the better class of American traffic needs first class hotels This requires a large outlay, and the season being short the risk is high. That is the trouble. If that were done, we would soon see through Pullman's coming in from Pittsburg and Buffalo. In the meantime efforts should be made in other directions. An express ought to make the run from Toronto here easily in two hours, and that is practically making our lakes a summer suburb of Toronto. Low fares, say a dollar, return, good for one day, ten hours on the lakes, and season tickets for still less, would bring hundreds down daily and crowd the miles of lake shore with cottages and camps. The swell hotel is a good enough line, but if it cannot be done, then tackle what can be done, for life is short. Providence has done much for our Lakes, a mighty sight more than is locally appreciated, and it is no use laying asleep under cedar bushes, waiting for Providence to provide swell hotels. Providence is not in that business. The management of C.P.R. is energetic and resourceful, and it may be depended upon that the officers of that Company will be quick to make the Bobcaygeon railway something more than a carrier of hogs and cattle.

THEY ARE INDIGNANT.

Campbellfordites Not at all Pleased at Being Left in Peterborough.

Speaking of those who were left in Peterborough after the hockey match—Campbellford vs. T.A.S.—on Tuesday night, the Campbellford Herald says:—

"The most memorable part of the whole event was the return journey, and it will be equally well remembered by those who participated in it, and those who failed to connect. This is just another marked instance of the accommodation afforded the citizens in return for the $35,000 which was given the railway as a bonus, and it should be chronicled in history as the latest method of expressing gratitude for favors received.

The train pulled out of Peterborough before one-half the excursionists had time to get to the station, and as many of them were not prepared for such an emergency there was a great deal of inconvenience. It is to be hoped, however, that the unfortunate occurrence will not tend to deter the citizens from supporting the boys in any similar venture in the future."

KUROPATKIN'S HERRING

Sakharoff Hinders Drawing It Across Scent of Russians.

Russian General Has Been Compelled to Retire From Sandepas—His Rumored Success Was a Real Defeat—Japanese Account Says They Defeated Twice Superior Force of Russians and That They Captured Many Prisoners

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—Instead of confirmation of Saturday night's report that Gen. Kuropatkin had broken through the Japanese left there came Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff's official admission to-day that the Russians had been compelled to retire from Sandepas on account of their inability to carry a redoubt. It is also significant that despatches from Russian correspondents at the front have again suddenly ceased, which is regarded as an indication of the failure of the operation and strengthens the first impression that it was a demonstration undertaken to distract the people at home from the present situation.

Russians Admit Defeat.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—Lt.-Gen. Sakharoff has telegraphed the following report to the general staff, under date of Jan. 28:

"On Jan. 26 the enemy began to concentrate in considerable force near Sandepas, intending to take the offensive against the villages of Sumapu and Paotsao, south of Sandepas, which were occupied by the enemy. During the whole of Jan. 27 an obstinate fight was going on here and after midnight we took Sumapu.

"On Jan. 26 another column, advancing upon Sandepas, occupied in the evening a great part of that fortified village; but, coming upon a strong redoubt with a triple row of artificial obstacles, which had been scarcely damaged by our fire, and which was armed with field artillery and quick-firers, and seeing the impossibility of carrying the redoubt without a preliminary bombardment, our troops left Sandepas, which had been set on fire, it being impossible to remain there without risking defeat.

"On Jan. 27 and 28 Sandepas and its redoubt were heavily bombarded, while our extreme column engaged near Samapu and Paotsao. Details have not been received.

"On Jan. 26 and 27 our cavalry, operating six miles south of Sandepas, attacked and defeated a Japanese company and took 100 prisoners. Altogether the Japanese must have suffered considerable losses."

JAPS OCCUPY LIUTIAKO.

Twice Entirely Repulsed Superior Force of the Enemy.

Tokio, Jan. 30.—Telegraphic advices received here yesterday from the Japanese Manchurian headquarters, dated the 29th, says:

"Our detachment occupied Liutiako yesterday (Saturday), and was twice counter-attacked by a superior force of the enemy last night. We entirely repulsed the enemy.

"Our other detachment at dawn today (Sunday) attacked the enemy in the neighborhood of Feitsaihotsu, about two miles north of Heikoutai and occupied the position. The enemy fiercely counter-attacked our force, which assailed Heikoutai last night, but was repulsed entirely. To-day our force occupied the neighborhood of Heikoutai.

"The enemy in the direction of Liutiako and Heikoutai has entirely retreated to the right of the Hun River. Our force is now pursuing them.

"In the direction of Chenchiephao and Likajentan, the enemy made several attacks last night, but were repulsed. The enemy attacking these points belonged to the eighth and tenth corps.

"In the direction of Heikoutai the enemy is composed of the first and mixed corps of infantry, together with a cavalry division under Gen. Mistchenko.

"We captured 500 officers and men.

"The casualties on both sides are under investigation.

"The Russians are massing about 65,000 troops on the Japanese left, and bombarding the left flank and centre. Small forces of Russians are attacking all along the line.

Right and Centre.

Manchurian headquarters of the Japanese army report that on Saturday the Russians occasionally bombarded the right and centre armies, following up the bombardment with attacks, which the Japanese immediately repulsed. In the direction of the left wing a Japanese detachment were victors at Chenchiephao and occupied Liutiako and Livchiawopeng on Saturday, the Russians retreating north and west.

The Japanese occupied with infantry positions southeast of Heikoutai on Saturday and are now assaulting the main position. Another detachment dislodged a regiment of infantry, a brigade of cavalry and twelve guns occupying Haerphao five miles south of Heikoutai.

The Russian strength opposing the Japanese left flank is roughly estimated at eight corps, consisting of fourteenth and fifteenth infantry division of the tenth corps, part of the sixty-first infantry division, part of the first Siberian corps and the first and ninth brigades of rifles.

Battle of Jan. 25.

Sanfangtai, 60 versts, southwest of Mukden, Jan. 28.—Via Pekin, Jan. 29.—A battle commenced at daylight Jan. 25, the right flank reinforced by troops from the east began a movement against the Japanese left. One corps, leaving Sanfangtai at midnight, Jan. 24, marched about seven miles southwest and at daylight attacked.

The infantry, backed up by artillery, drove the Japanese from two villages at midday after a sharp fight and continued to make progress, the rest of the right flank becoming engaged. The Russian artillery fire was heavy, but the Japanese remained almost silent. The captured villages presented a warlike picture with Japanese and Russian dead lying side by side in the streets.

The Russian infantry kept under the cover of the walls and houses to protect themselves from the Japanese fire from adjoining villages.

The country is flat and thickly populated, and the villages are large and rich in foodstuffs.

It is snowing and bitterly cold, and the troops eagerly seek the protection of the villages, which in this district have escaped destruction.

On Jan. 26 there was a heavy fire along the right front and an advance was made. The wind at the Russians back drove the snow in the faces of the Japanese, and was very difficult to see any distance. One Siberian rifle regiment suffered somewhat heavy loss.

Jan. 27.—The fighting continued on the right flank, but it does not seem to be developing along the centre or eastern flank. Probably the cold weather prevents a further continuance of the battle.

There is more artillery on both sides than in any former battle of history.

Cannonading in a Storm.

Mukden, Jan. 28.—(Via Tientsin)—The most important cannonade since the first battle on the Shakhe River was maintained all yesterday in a continuous storm against the Japanese left, which Field Marshal Oyama has been reinforcing with troops from Port Arthur since General Mistchenko's raid. The attack was centred about seven miles west of Shakhe station, and it resulted in the Japanese withdrawing from Holantai and Funchuang Chitatsza, which the Russians have occupied. The cannonading and snowstorm continue undiminished to-day. It is considerably colder.

The cannonading indicates that an extended contest is progressing. To-day's reports indicate that the Japanese are continuing to fall back, while the Russian cavalry have, it is understood, advanced their lines 10 miles. The Japanese flew a large kite into the Russian lines. The kite was covered with photographs showing the treatment of Russian prisoners in Japan. It was evidently intended to attract the Russian soldiers. On Jan. 27 there was a heavy cannonading on the right flank. It subsided entirely shortly after noon and quiet now continues throughout the centre and right.

Mistchenko Hit in the Leg.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—A telegram from Huan Mountain states that General Mistchenko has been wounded in the leg

Three Steamers Carry 2,000 Refugees.

Che Foo, Jan. 30.—Three steamers carrying 2,000 Russian refugees left here yesterday for Odessa. Two junks, the vanguard of 25, which left Port Arthur, Jan. 27, arrived there yesterday. The coldest weather of the season was experienced during the trip, and a majority of the women and children aboard were nearly frozen.

GOVERNOR BALKS ROSS.

Appointment of Moribund Administration Refused Sanction.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—Last night a gentleman whose sources of information are invariably reliable, said that Lieutenant-Governor Mortimer Clark is holding up certain appointments that the defeated Ross administration desires to have put through before the new ministry comes into power. The Lieutenant-Governor shows a disclination to be interviewed, so confirmation of the report could not be gained last night. It is said, however, that Premier Ross wishes to superannuate Dr. Clark of the Toronto Asylum for the Insane and place in his stead Dr. McKay, late Liberal candidate in South Oxford. Other appointments are asked for, but the Lieutenant-Governor refuses to sanction them.

To Protest Graham's Election.

Brockville, Jan. 30.—Complete returns give Hon. G. P. Graham a majority of 169, the figures being, Graham, 2,201; Donovan, 2,032. Hon. Mr. Graham's seat is none too safe, and that he will have to face a number of charges of bribery and corruption on the part of his agents, and the seat protested, is almost as good as settled.

TRIP TO THIBET.

Younghusband and the British Government Cause Friction.

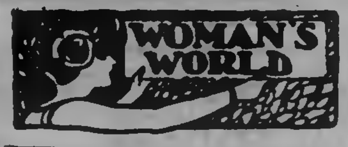
London, Jan. 30.—A voluminous blue book, issued on Thibetan affairs, has unusual interest as revealing strong friction between the Government and Col. Younghusband, concerning indemnity which Younghusband fixed at $3,750,000, payable in 75 annual instalments, which would have resulted in British occupation of the Chumbi Valley for 75 years.

Mr. Brodrick, Secretary of State for India, on Sept. 13, telegraphed suggesting a reduction to $1,125,000. Col. Younghusband's response to this and other Government protests strongly deprecated alteration in this treaty as tending to defeat the object of the mission.

Finally, a lengthy correspondence between Secretary Brodrick and Lord Curzon of Keddleston, the Viceroy of India, ended in the Government accepting the situation as regards the $3,750,000 indemnity, but refusing to permit of the occupation of the Chumbi Valley beyond three years and protesting that Col. Younghusband had framed the convention in defiance of expressed instructions.

Rush to Canada.

London, Jan. 30.—(C.A.P.)—So great is the demand for passages to Canada during April that the Lake Manitoba will make an extra trip from Liverpool on April 11.



MRS. JOHN D. SHERMAN.

A Chicago Woman Who Is an Expert on Parliamentary Law.

Mrs. John D. Sherman of Chicago, recording secretary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and one of the most prominent club women in the Illinois state federation, also holds the position of instructor of parliamentary law in the John Marshall Law school. Before assuming this position Mrs. Sherman had been lecturing to the women of the school on parliamentary law, but now she is instructor to the more advanced classes of men students, a position heretofore filled by men of national reputation.

Mrs. Sherman began the study of parliamentary law about ten years ago.

MRS. JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN.

Five years ago she became instructor to small classes organized in some of the leading women's clubs of the city.

Mrs. Sherman is also the official parliamentarian of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. In addition to her class work, Mrs. Sherman conducts a parliamentary law department in the American Monthly Magazine, the official organ of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and she is the author of a book on parliamentary law which is now in its fourth edition.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Youthfulness.

Youthfulness is a quality very difficult to describe. As often as not it proceeds from the mind rather than from appearance, and one often feels with middle aged and elderly people that they are in reality far more youthful in ideas, in the keenness of their enjoyment and in their fresh outlook than many of one's acquaintances who in point of years are mere girls. It is said that every age has its compensations, and undoubtedly there are many mothers of families and grandmothers, too, who own to an enjoyment and zest for life equal to those experienced in early years. Youthfulness is temperament and the capacity for taking the simple goods that are to be found in existence rather than in waiting for superlative joys which may never arrive, says Woman's Life. The bored person of either sex is invariably a wearisome companion, while one with a keen sense of enjoyment adds to the well being of others a thousandfold.

Daughters and Home.

Mothers who love their daughters supremely cannot afford that any place should seem pleasanter to them than the home nest. A mother should not be so interested and insistent on keeping the home in apple pie order as to frown upon the free and hospitable welcome within it to her children's friends. She should open wide the doors of heart and home. It costs little to have boys and girls come to the house for informal frolics, to practice songs together, to play games, to talk over plans and pleasures. A mother should make it natural for her daughters' friends to come because the welcome is so warm, the meeting place so cheery, the atmosphere so friendly and uncritical, as to make self consciousness impossible. In this way mothers will get to know their daughters' friends and make it unlikely that any unfortunate attachment should grow and ripen without her knowledge until too late to uproot it.

The Girl Who Works.

God bless the girl who works! She is brave and true and noble. She is not too proud to earn her own living or ashamed to be caught at her daily task. She smiles at you from behind the desk or counter or printer's case. There is a memory of her sewed up in the silent gown. She is like a brave mountaineer already far up the precipice—climbing, struggling, rejoicing. The sight should be an inspiration to us all. It is an honor to know this girl and be worthy of her esteem. Lift your hat to her, young man, as she passes by. Her hand may be stained by dishwashing, sweeping, factory grease or printer's ink, but it is an honest hand and a helping hand. It stays misfortune from home; it supports an invalid loved one maybe; is a loving, potent shield that protects many a family from the almshouse. All honor to the brave toiler! God bless and protect the girl who works!—Chicago Chronicle.

Her Unenviable Lot.

Under heaven there is no other creature so forlorn as the woman of educated and refined tastes who marries a really poor man and who must combine in her own person mother, wife, cook, seamstress, laundress and nurse. In comparison the lot of the so called working woman is idyllic ease and luxury, for she at least has some hour out of the twenty-four that she can call her own and some money, however little, that she can spend on herself, whereas the unpaid household slave has none. The romantic goose of a girl who is willing and anxious to marry on nothing a year dreams of spending her life in a rose covered cottage, where she will hang perpetually over a rustic gate welcoming and speeding her adoring spouse, and it is only when it is too late that she realizes that, translated into actualities, the vine embowered cot is a 2 by 4 flat and that it is her unhappy destiny to fry Cupid to death over the kitchen range.—Chicago Tribune.

Woman's Wisdom.

Women are the inheritors of the oldest, most universal human wisdom. They have more sense than men, for the simple reason that a man has to be a specialist, and a specialist has to be a fanatic. The normal man all over the world is a hunter or a fisher or a banker or a man of letters or some silly thing. If so, he has to be a wise hunter or a wise banker. But nobody with the smallest knowledge of professional life would ever expect him to be a wise man. But his wife has to be a wise woman. She has to have an eye on everything.—G. K. Chesterton in London Daily News.

Nerves and a Milk Diet.

An entire milk diet is an excellent thing for the woman who is troubled with insomnia. It is also good for the one who is so nervous that when she does sleep she has the sensation of falling and wakes with a terrific start. When these conditions exist it is well to subsist on milk alone for some time. A grown woman should take a pint of milk as a meal, but to keep up her strength she should take four meals a day instead of the usual three. People with weakened nerves require a larger quantity of water than those whose nerves and brains are strong.

Curried Meat.

Cut into dice two cupfuls of cold roast beef, veal, lamb, mutton or chicken. In a frying pan melt three tablespoonfuls of butter, and fry in it a sliced onion. Take out the onion and stir into the butter two tablespoonfuls of browned flour mixed with a tablespoonful of East India curry powder. When well blended, pour in a pint of stock and stir to a smooth brown sauce. Now add the cold meat, which should have been seasoned with salt and pepper. Toss and stir until heated through. Serve with boiled rice. It should be accompanied by bananas.

A Graceful Hand.

The most graceful carriage of the hand is with the second and third fingers held slightly together. To acquire this carriage practice the following exercise: Holding the second and third fingers together, curve them and the thumb in toward the palm of the hand until a perfect circle is formed, then open slowly until the fingers and thumb are again straight. Practice the exercise until the fingers naturally assume the above carriage when the hand is in repose.

Be Careful When Making a Home.

Most of us are careful when we make our wills. We should be far more careful where we make our homes. To the sensitive man or woman place means very much. It affects the health of the body. It considerably transforms the mind, changing greatly the outlook on life. It even plays tricks with that very delicate piece of mechanism, the heart.—Robert Hichens.

Ginger Jars.

The person who would throw away the ginger jar after the ginger has been eaten has no appreciation of beauty. The jars are excellent for flowers and, being low, are especially adapted to table use. In pictures of Japanese arrangements of flowers jars of this shape are frequently seen, and no one will deny that the surface is as interesting as many expensive potteries.

What Women Are Learning.

The gift of commanding friendship is undoubtedly of far greater worth than beauty; but, like beauty, it can be to some extent cultivated. This is a fact not generally recognised. But then a few years ago women allowed themselves to age prematurely because they did not know of certain ways to keep themselves young both in appearance and manner.—Lady's Pictorial.

Economy In Table Linens.

When tablecloths are beginning to wear out in the folds cut two or three inches off one end and one side and rehem them. This process will change the places of the folds and will add new life to the cloth. Serviettes and towels should be treated in the same way.—Household.

Plump Arms.

Physical culture will produce round, well shaped arms. One set of exercises alone should not be used; this will develop only one or more muscles at the expense of the rest of the arm. Have the exercises arranged so every muscle is brought into use.

When cleaning wall paper use dough made of flour mixed with a little soda and water. The soda will not injure the paper, and the work will be done more rapidly with it.

The vinegar cruet should be put into a closed closet after each meal. Light renders vinegar tasteless and takes away its snap.

Cotton rugs are best for bathrooms. Have them of white and a color to match the tile paper.

When walking breathe deeply, carrying the chest elevated and expanded.

WILL BUY NEW PIANO

George St. Church Will Have Improved Musical Equipment—Remedies for Organ.

The Ladies' Aid of George street church have instituted a movement which has in view the purchase of a new piano for the lecture room of the church. The instrument at present in use will be placed in the ladies' parlor. The Sabbath School, Epworth League and other departments have agreed to assist towards raising the necessary funds for this purpose, which when realised, will make musical conditions particularly advantageous.

It is also stated, on good authority, that the large church organ is to be the subject of special attention very shortly. It is the intention to give the instrument a thorough over-overhauling with the object or remedying some of the disorders which seem to have surreptitiously crept into its system during the past few years.

McCormack, aged about 35 years, who has been living here for the past few weeks, but who hails from Devonshire, England, and who has a wife and a child there, has been committed to the Peterborough jail for the present, on a charge of insanity. Not that insanity is an indictable offence, but simply because there is no other place of accommodation for such cases. McCormack, while seated in the reading room of McNicholl's hotel on Sunday concentrated his gaze on the coals in the stove, and in a few minutes was fast asleep. His condition was discovered by the proprietor and medical aid was summoned, but nothing could be done to awaken the man. On Monday McCormack came out of the cataleptic state, but his conversation and other symptoms speedily convinced the medical authorities that he was insane, and he was accordingly committed to the Peterborough jail, temporarily.—Havelock Standard.

DEATH IN HAMILTON.

W. J. Waters, Father of Mrs. J. A. Armour, of Peterborough—Buried in Hastings.

The hand of death was laid suddenly on an old and respected resident of Hamilton last week, when Mr. William Campbell Waters dropped dead at the residence of his son, Mr. W. J. Waters. Mr. Waters enjoyed his usual good health up to the time of his death and ate a hearty breakfast. The family were preparing to go to church about 10 o'clock, when deceased was suddenly stricken, and died within a few minutes. Heart disease was the cause. The sad affair was a terrible shock to his relatives and a host of friends who will deeply regret his sudden taking off.

Mr. Waters was 74 years of age, and had been a resident of Hamilton for many years. He was of a kind disposition and held the highest respect of all who were acquainted with him. He was a member of the First Methodist Church, and his death caused much sorrow among the congregation. Dr. Wilson referred feelingly to it at the morning service.

Two sons and a daughter survive. They are W. J. Waters, District Manager of the North American Life Assurance Co., Hamilton, A. J. Waters, Minnesota, and Mrs. J. A. Armour, Peterborough. Rev. Dr. Wilson conducted a service at the house and the funeral proceeded to the T. H. & B. station. The remains were sent to Hastings for interment.

WEDDED IN BRAMPTON.

A very pretty wedding was solemnised at the home of Mrs. Wm. Nelson, of Brampton, when her youngest daughter, Lilley Margaret was married to James Martin, of Brampton. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Alex. Armstrong. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. J. Gordon Cheyne, of Claude. The bride was attended by Miss Ida Davis, of Toronto, and Miss Edna Armstrong, of Brampton, while little Miss Lilley Armstrong was flower girl. The groom was supported by Messrs. Jno. McEachern and Jno. Martin, both of Inglewood. Master Stanley Armstrong, nephew of the bride, was page, carrying the ring in a small basket, which was embedded with forget-me-nots.

The bridal party stood under a canopy of evergreens, decorated with white satin streamers and smilax. The house was very prettily decorated pink and white and evergreens. Miss Smith, of Brampton played the wedding march, and the wedding bell which was suspended over the heads of the happy couple, pealed forth.

After congratulations were extended, the guests, over a hundred, sat down to a wedding breakfast, after which the usual toasts were proposed and responded to, and amidst the good wishes of all, the happy couple left for a short trip to Peterborough and other places.

GREATER EFFORT BY INDIVIDUALS

Rev. C. H. Marsh Preached Anniversary Sermons.

ALL SAINTS' THIRD YEAR

Large Congregations Attended the Services—Special Music Was the Feature—Preacher Points to Field For Renewed Effort.

The congregation and friends of All Saints' Church, attended services in large numbers there yesterday, and the third anniversary of the church was appropriately considered as a very special occasion. The choir had made preparations for it, and the music was one of the enjoyable features. Rev. C. H. Marsh, rector of Lindsay assisted the Rev. Wm. Major and delivered two excellent sermons. In the evening he preached from Joel 2—28. "And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions." The speaker pointed out that Joel who had uttered these words was probably one of the earliest prophets of Judah, his language was figurative of the coming of the great Northern army which would destroy the land of Israel and he exhorts them to repentance, fasting and prayer to avert these calamities and he promises them that if they would turn to the Lord there would come blessing. The speaker advised his hearers to read the book of Joel, which foretold in beautiful imagery some of the things which would come upon the Jews, and to consider whether they have been fulfilled.

God's greatest works were not by might not by power but by His spirit. The words of the text were twice quoted in the New Testament once in Paul's Epistle to the Romans and again in the Acts of the Apostles. We still live in the last days, said the speaker, in the days of the dispensation of God's Holy Spirit. He still breathes upon the seeking sons of men, baptizing them from above with His mighty power and His holy spirit. His love is still unexhausted, still unchanged. We are workers and witnesses in that Church which was sent forth on its mission and what hinders us from doing that work of witnessing as the early Christians did for Christ, is nothing but our unbelief. Will we not, to-night, as we keep this third anniversary, pray that God may pour out His blessing upon us from above? Your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and as you know, prophecy means speaking for God, and what would you desire more than that your sons or daughters be touched by the spirit of God. The words were not only intended for the clergy, ministers and apostles, but for laymen and laywomen. God calls you often to speak for Him, not perhaps in the congregation, but as individuals. That is where the best work is seen often by clergymen. The young men should see visions of splendid work done; in lifting up and helping others, they themselves shall be strengthened, for he that turns a sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul in death.

The Church was the force which should go out into the field, the world, and win victories for Christ. Many of the great leaders in the Bible were laymen. They took the talents which God had given them, and laid them down at the feet of their Master that he might use them. The speaker expressed the opinion that the Word of God was not spoken in the Word of God as formerly. Parents were inclined to the opinion that if they send their children to day school and Sunday school they did their duty by them. But God commands that the Word shall be taught diligently unto the children in the house. Young men had high, noble, splendid aims and ambitions set before them of visions of God, and of the work He would have them do. Old age was often looked upon as a dull, dreary, desolate time. Yet the hoary head was a crown of glory if it be found in the way of righteousness. "It shall come to pass that in the last days that I will pour out my Spirit upon all flesh; your sons and daughters shall prophesy; your old men shall dream dreams; your young men shall see visions."

In the morning the choir sang Simper's anthem, "What Shall I Render," Miss Mary Rush taking the solo effectively, and in the evening Gounod's "Send Out Thy Light," was sung with good expression. Eldon's evening service was used, and the music was a very enjoyable feature.

SCHOOL BOARD

Mr. J. J. Hartley Will Likely be Re-elected Chairman For 1905.

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. No business will be transacted beyond the appointment of a chairman and the election of committees for the year. It is likely that Mr. J. J. Hartley will be re-elected as presiding officer. He has a wide experience as a practical builder, and will be able to render good service in connection with the erection of the new Collegiate Institute. Dr. George Burnham's name has been mentioned by several, but the doctor stated to-day that he was not after the position, having been chairman for four years away back in the nineties.

SOME HOT SHOT FOR ABSENTEES

Non-Church-Goers' Idle Excuses Severely Criticized

BY THE REV. E. A. LANGFELDT

Rector of St. Luke's Says the Rain is Wetter on Monday Than on Sunday—People Sick on Lord's Day Generally Well the Next Morning—A Strong Discourse on Idle Excuses.

"Little Excuses" was the subject of a practical and outspoken sermon last night at St. Luke's to a large congregation, at which a great number of young men were noticed. The text was from St. Like xiv., 18: "And they all with one consent began to make excuse."

Rev. Mr. Langfeldt said that idle excuse is the oldest, as it is the commonest of sins. It began with Adam in Paradise, and ever since that time men have, more or less, continued with one consent to make excuses. When a man does wrong, instead of confessing his sin to God, he will take the devil's bribe, and allow him to put an idle excuse in his mouth. Mr. Langfeldt proposed to look some of these excuses fairly in the face. He was sure that his hearers had made them over and over again.

Some excuses for putting off repentance: One of the strongest weapons the devil has is to persuade a man to put off repenting. On the other hand, God says: "Now is the accepted time; now is the day of salvation." If a drunkard were to say that after another week of excuses he would reform, or if a thief were to promise that after another robbery he would become honest, no one would believe in their repentance; likewise with those who put off repentance from day to day; it is not real.

Another excuse for delaying repentance is: "I am no worse than others." It would be a foolish thing for a drunkard to say that he was worse than others, because there are many drunkards around us; because your neighbor swears, or steals or lies, that is no excuse for you to do the same.

Another excuse is: "It is so hard to repent." But it is still harder to die in our sins, and to receive the wages of sin, which is death. It is hard to give up a bad habit, but it is harder still to be runied by it. If a man is in earnest about repentance God will heldp him. He will take the sinner under his guiding care and raise him up to a new life. But if a man is determined to do wrong God will not help him against his own will. Another class of excuses which people make for staying away from church, the Rector dealt with. "Church-going will save no one." That is quite true. Those who attend church merely from habit and are glad when the service is over, those who behave irreverently, whispering and laughing in the very presence of God, these people get no good, they had better stay away. Attendance at church is a "means" of grace, not grace itself. If rightly used, it is a means of placing us in the way of salvation and of keeping us there.

Another self-excuse says: "Church-going is a mere form of show; pure religion is not outside, but inside." That is true. But surely we must show outside what we feel inside. Supposeing a friend made you a present, or your employer showed you a special mark of his good-will by promoting you would you leave him to imagine that your gratitude is inside, or would you rather not go and show him and let him know what is inside you of gratitude.

Another excuse: "I can say my prayers quietly at home." The speaker doubted that such excusers would ever pray at home. All he knew of devout and consistent Christians were only too devout to go to church. "Sunday is a day of rest. I work hard all the week; I like to rest on Sunday." Yes, God provides this rest for His people. But sloth and self-indulgence are not rest. The man who lies in bed half of the Sunday, gets up to eat and drink, is simply dishonoring God and himself. The true meaning of all these idle excuses is just this, "people love themselves better than God." No converted man or woman would ever use such excuses.

"Sunday was so wet and stormy I could not come to church." But Saturday is often just as wet and stormy, and yet people will go out and buy food for the body, that body that will soon be in the grave, and the soul, which lives for ever, was starved because it rained. It is so strange that to some people the rain is so much wetter on Sunday than on Monday. Again: "I live such a long way from church." That is a disadvantage. But this distance never keeps people away from town or from their shopping, or work.

Another excuse is: "I was not well on Sunday. It is a curious fact that more people are unwell on Sunday than on any other day of the week. They are quite able to do business on Saturday and are dressed and ready for business on Monday, but are poorly on Sunday. The disease is one of the will rather than the body. There is no will to come to church, and consequently there is no way.

Another excuse: "I am not going to church any more because the rector does not call upon us as often as he ought." But what has that to do with a man's personal relationship to his God? Are people merely worshipping God as long as their minister pleases them? Yet with a large number of people that is what church-going amounts to; not the worship of God and the giving of thanks to God for all His goodness.

One more excuse which is as common as it is foolish; "I don't go to church, but my wife does." So much the better fo the wife, so much the worse for the husband. You cannot do your duty to God by deputy; you cannot save your soul by deputy. There is an old legend of a man who never attended church, but whose wife did regularly. At the gate of Paradise the woman went in, but the man was refused admittance on this argument:—"Your wife worshipped God for both of you, and she is in Paradise for both of you. You cannot enter in."

The Rector closed his sermon with an earnest appeal to think on these things and to learn from these lessons.

Miss Kathleen Wilson sang an offertory solo, "Abide With Me."

As a Convalescent Food

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington, Co., Ont., writes:—"My wife had congestion of the lungs, along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and as well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

Copyright, 1904, by Duncan M. Smith.

AT CHRISTMAS TIME.

We lay aside our work and play.
Romp with the children bright and gay;
Care flung away and fancy free,
We dance around the festive tree;
Send good will tokens far and near,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

Peace rules our hearts, good will toward men,
And, really, we feel young again.
With Toddlekins we laugh and shout
And help to work his puzzles out.
His laugh is music to our ear,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

We gather round the family board
And carve the crisp, brown barnyard lord;
Put generous slices on each plate
And do not make the children wait;
And each twice round his plate must clear,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

Perhaps we get out with the boys
And make a little extra noise,
Around the circle gayly swing
And, if encouraged, try to sing,
Partake with them of much good cheer,
For Christmas comes but once a year.

Conquering Disease.

When civilization pushes a few doctors and disinfectants into the unhealthy spots of earth it is a caution to Katie how disease germs take to the woods.

Man's marvelous mastery over the microbe is something to pause and contemplate if a man doesn't happen to be trying to catch a train or going after the doctor.

In regions where the natives once thought they were not putting in a full year if they did not have the yellow fever or the bubonic plague they are now tacking up signs inviting the sick to come and get well at $7 a week, with table board and mosquitoes thrown in.

Slowly and painfully the heathen learn that a whitewash brush and a little physical culture beats a bushel of charms in warding off disease, but when he does learn the lesson he is always pleased to rise up and call blessed the nation that shot this useful branch of civilization into him.

Putting Them Wise.

The farmers—it is strange indeed—
Don't know what happy lives they lead,
Since city men write many a screed
To tell them all about it.

Christmas Presents.

In buying Christmas presents the person to whom they are to be sent should always be kept in mind so that appropriate selections may be made.

Do not send a middle aged gentleman with a grouch and a bald spot a tin horn, as he might not appreciate it.

Do not send a beautiful young lady a calcimine brush with directions how to use it. The directions may be superfluous.

Do not send an elderly lady a package of cigarettes. She may not have any small boys in her family and may not be on good terms with the neighbors.

A copy of "The Quiet Life" might please a college student who has just had his voice tuned, and then again it might not.

Remember that the earth neatly tied up in a blue ribbon is always an acceptable present for most anybody.

Couldn't Keep Up.

He, in an awful frenzy
And fine poetic style,
Was writing after Riley—
But back about a mile.

LADY BOUNTIFUL

A Christmas Story

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1903, by Martha McCulloch-Williams

Clouds are never so black and threatening as they look to be when rising to shut away sunshine. Lettice knew that very well, being that she was country bred and spiritually as well as actually a daughter of the open. But in this pinch the knowledge did not help her—that is to say, she did not think of the parallel between clouds actual and metaphorical. The sun had shone for her so blithely, with such strength and power, the shutting away left her in a manner numb. Notwithstanding she had one consolation—the Farnham girl did not know. She never should know if Lettice could help it, no matter what the keeping her ignorant might cost Lettice herself.

They had never quarreled—Lettice was too thoroughbred for such a thing and the Farnham girl too politic—but from the beginning they had been intuitively antagonistic, although environment enforced a certain surface cordiality, even friendliness, between them. Both were western, with yet a subtle difference. Fate had, it appeared, an eerie, even malicious, pleasure in throwing them in each other's way. They had been classmates in the same fresh water college three years before they found themselves, wholly by chance, fellow lodgers in Mrs. Vanston Quigley's New York apartment.

Necessity and inclination had brought them there—each to try for a literary career. By help of honest ignorance, limpid innocence, a heart ever joyous, an industry that never flagged, Lettice was now a full fledged newspaper woman, with a salary beautifully sufficient if none too large, whereas Faith Farnham, in spite of undeniable cleverness joined to a personality as striking as it was unscrupulous, had still much ado to make ends meet.

That went hard with her in face of the fact that she had an oriental delight in luxury and was withal indolent. In excuse she pleaded "temperament," whatever that may be. Without these keen appetites, susceptible senses, she said, or with them starved and thwarted, she would never be able truly to express the genius burning and writhing within. Lettice had smiled over the excuse until she found it leading its possessor into squandering her money on violets at their costliest and leaving her laundress a month unpaid, although the poor creature faltered out something about hungry children and rent day. Lettice, overhearing by chance, thrust a bill into the woman's hand and mentally set her down to be thrice remembered at the Christmas tree the paper she worked for was even then planning. She said nothing to the Farnham girl—except, that is, what was eloquently spoken by her altered manner. Unluckily Miss Farnham chose to hear in it other things than it was meant to express.

"I fear I shall have to go away; it hurts me so to have anybody jealous of me," she cooed to Philip Arran as Lettice flashed in and out of the parlor, with the barest brief greeting to the two. "Ever since the Century asked me to let it share my work with Scribner's Lettice—I ought really to say Miss Lane—has been as you see her. Of course I make allowances. It must hurt dreadfully when one is ambitious, and she is frightfully so, to find you can do only low and common things. I should starve if I tried newspaper work, and I feel that I would rather starve than try it. Yet I am so glad Lettice is wiser. She really does very well at it. But, only fancy, she isn't the least bit satisfied. Mrs. Quigley says Sundays—you know she never goes to church—she writes things—stories actually—and sends them to the magazines!"

Arran smiled at her behind his hand. Nature made him a critic. Fate gave him money; some ill fairy thrust upon him aspirations for playwriting—aspirations that had flowered into superfluous success. Lettice had written a Sunday special about him and in writing it had so managed to strike the middle line between ridicule and panegyric as to come warmly into the kingdom of his regard. They had been cheery comrades until Faith Farnham had somehow managed to turn the duet into a trio. After that everything went wrong. Slight, sinuous, ethereal, in delicately colored, high waisted, trailing robes, with always a knot of violets at her breast, she easily put Lettice, with her rosy cheeks, her hearty laugh, her walking suit and trim hair, out of court. Arran yielded himself joyously to her fascinations. "She's a reversionary type, and a rare one," he explained to Lettice. "I like to study her, to see how she makes up to herself for all the things her ancestors felt it was religion to do without."

"Take care," Lettice had answered, smiling a smile openly, honestly, uneasily.

"That's your part—you are to take care of me always," Arran had answered, speaking very low and trying to take her hands.

Then the telephone bell had rung, with the result that Lettice found herself whisked out of town for a week. She came back to find Arran apparently a Farnham bond slave. The very first news she heard was that Faith was to make one of the Christmas house party at Arranmore, Philip's country place, where his widowed mother still dispensed a noble hospitality. Lettice was also asked, but with Christmas but three weeks off going was out of the question. She had neither the clothes nor the time. All the money her common sense would let her spend had gone into overflowing Christmas boxes ready for dispatch to the dear folks at home. Above and beyond that the Christmas tree was specially in her charge. She had helpers galore, but those in authority had said to her, "You have never failed in anything set you; now go ahead and make this the biggest success of its kind the city ever saw."

She was doing it. Scoffers at her inexperience, her country ways, were discovering a very shrewd and level head upon her shoulders. The most part of her coworkers had fallen readily in with her enthusiasm. "Let's feel real Christmasy ourselves; then everything will come easy," she had said to them in the beginning, going on to tell artless tales, gathered by the way, of the people the tree was meant for. Before she was done the listeners were at one with her—even the scoffers, silent and ashamed of their scoffing. As a result upon the 23d of December the big trees groaned under bizarre fruitage, and all the ropes stretched above them were so laden they were a joy to the kindly heart, whatever they might have been to an artistic eye. Nothing remained but to flash up the lights, the myriad tiny electric bulbs strung along the green. Lettice turned away with a long, long sigh, too tired to be anything but very happy at this good end to labor.

For three days she had hardly thought of anything but the tree. Ten thousand gifts, good gifts, for mothers and babies otherwise giftless, 20,000 toys for little hands otherwise toyless, had seemed to her enough to crowd her own concerns aside. Back in her cosy room she ran through a sheaf of letters, her face as she read reflecting her mood as water reflects the sky. Home news made her smile softly, but wipe her eyes at the end. Three notes from aspiring strangers puckered her forehead in a reflective frown. Other notes, a handful, sent to Santa Claus and by some magic turned over to her, brought lumps of varying hardness into her throat, lumps that swelled visibly over a line from Arran, a beseeching line, "Letty, if not for Christmas, can't you come the day after?"

She dropped it and took up the very last of the sheaf, her eyes too blurred to note the imprint in the corner, but after the first line she sat up, breathing hard, a bright red spot in either cheek, and at the end sprung up, waved the letter over her head and said inaudibly, since it was 1 o'clock: "Hurrah, Lettice! Hurrah! Hurrah!

A knock, hesitating, apologetic, made her turn about to see her door open before she could speak, revealing Faith Farnham, who came in, closing it precipitately behind her, and said in her airiest way:

"Oh, Miss Santa Claus, I've come to you like the rest of the poor things! Lend me $50, please. I've spent everything on frocks and frills for this visit, and those wretched magazines are holding up all my checks"—

"How funny! I got mine—my first," Lettice said, holding out a note and fluttering a blue slip so Faith could not choose but see. "As I am $100 better off than I thought to be, you shall have the money," she ran on. Faith covered her face, sobbing hysterically, but held out her hand for the bills Lettice thrust in it, and, clutching them tight, ran away without a word of thanks. Lettice looked after her, wondering at herself. This vengeance ought to be sweet, yet here she was finding it bitter. She was ashamed for womanhood, for humanity, by this clumsy lying. She flung open her window and leaned out of it, as though to let the night breeze sweep away something unsavory, unwholesome. She never understood the impulse that sent her scurrying to Faith's door, there to whisper through the barest open crack of it:

"Don't worry, Faith. I—won't tell—anybody. And I hope you'll have a real merry Christmas."

The next twenty-four hours went by in a whirl. Lettice slept normally, ate hurriedly and worked like a machine. Nothing else kept the Christmas tree enterprise from getting away from everybody, it was so unwieldy, so turbulent, so sloppily full of enthusiasm. The paper had called for volunteer helpers. They came in droves and nearly swamped the distracted regulars. But somehow, some way, the bedlam at last arranged itself in orderly semichaos. The ruler of the chaos, without whom it would at once have become uproarious, was smallish and rosy, with the blackest eyes in the world; not at all the figure of a saint, yet canonized in the heart and on the lips of one decent woman, who stood hugging a warm plaid and looking tearfully at her flock of five, brave in new shoes and each with a toy and a fat bag of sweets. What she said to the volunteer who had brought the gifts is not necessary to be written down. He listened intently and afterward went with happy, shining eyes straight up to Lettice, who started violently at sight of him.

"You've overlooked one case of destitution," he said, plucking her sleeve. "I hope you will do something about it, Lady Bountiful."

"If only I can. But we have only gewgaws left—nothing the least useful," Lettice began anxiously. Arran drew closer and said, with his lips almost on her ear: "It's my mother, sweetheart. She's fearfully in need of a daughter—just such as you. Will you come?"

Lettice vows to this day there was a conspiracy. Certainly Mrs. Vanston Quigley must have been in the secret. However else should both her lodgers have been properly dressed at the Arranmore Christmas dinner, where the lady of the manor announced her son's engagement to Miss Lettice Lane?

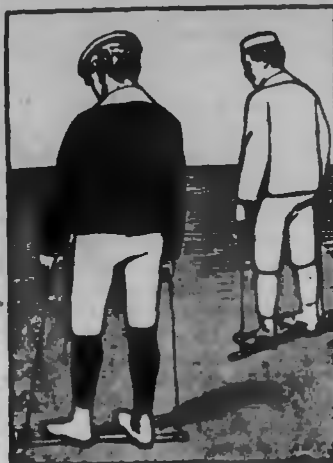
FOR YOUNG FOLKS

A HEELING MATCH.

Slow and Careful Going Is What Wins In This Game.

By looking at the picture you will see just what is needed to prepare for a "heeling match"—a stout broomstick for what you might appropriately call your "heel bit" and two lengths of strong clothesline or light rope securely knotted to each end of the stick for the reins. Grasp the reins firmly in your clinched fists and draw the "heel bit" taut so that the balls of your feet are off the ground and your weight resting entirely on your heels.

The course must be short, as the race must be run entirely on the competitors' heels. This would not seem at all hard, but the "heel bits" must be kept in place, and it is this condition which makes the race much more difficult than it appears. The second you lift your heels from the ground there is a great chance of your "heel bit" slipping out of its position, which instantly disqualifies you.



AT THE START OF THE MATCH.

You are also disqualified if you let the ball of your foot touch the ground, a ruling that will compel you to proceed slowly and with care if you want to show your competitors "a clean pair of heels."

A COIN TRICK.

One That Will Puzzle All Who Are Not In the Secret.

This apparently superhuman trick is so absurdly simple when explained to the puzzled spectators that they will feel very foolish indeed.

The magician first is blindfolded; then three or four pennies of different dates are obtained from the audience and well shaken up in a hat. One of the coins is now selected at random, and all the company are requested to notice the date, for which purpose the coin is passed from hand to hand. It is now returned to the hat, and the coins are vigorously shaken again.

The wizard announces that he will pick out that particular coin from among the others, which he does, much to the astonishment of his audience. They cry out that it was only a piece of luck, but after he has again chosen correctly they will begin to wonder what occult science he uses in determining the right coin, and they will ask him to show them the trick.

The feat is based upon the well known fact that metals are very sensitive to heat, so much so that when the coin is handled by a number of people it gets warm by the contact of their fingers and when it is dropped back into the hat can be readily picked out a minute or so later because it is warmer than the other coins.

Japan's Auctions.

They have a queer way of holding auctions in Japan, and these affairs are entirely without noise. The auctioneer puts up the object to be sold and asks for bids on it. Each bidder then writes his highest price on a bit of paper and deposits it in a box. The box is opened, and the object is given to the one who has offered the most for it.

The Hanging Ring.

A simple but amusing pastime is to have a ring hang from the chandelier at a convenient distance from the floor. Each child must walk directly up to the ring and without hesitating try to run a pencil through the ring. This sounds very easy, but if you try it yourself you will be surprised how difficult it really is.

Some Good Advice.

Any difficult lesson mastered in school, every finished task or anything else done as well as it can be done, gives so much added power for the next lesson or task. Likewise every slighted lesson, every half finished task or every slipshod piece of work weakens the power for the next undertaking.

A CREAMY FOOD

Scott's Emulsion is cod liver oil prepared as a food—not a food like bread or meat, but more like cream; in fact, it is the cream of cod liver oil. At the same time it is a blood-maker, a nerve tonic and a flesh-builder. But principally it is food for tired and weak digestions, for all who are fat-starved and thin. It is pleasant to take; children like it and ask for more.

An honored member you may be,
For every one may have a place.

The rules say you must never let
The corners of your mouth droop down,
For by this method you may get
The habit of a sulky frown.

If playmates tease you, let your eyes
A brave and merry twinkle show,
For if the angry tears arise
They're very apt to overflow.

If you must practice for an hour,
And if it seem a long, long while,
Remember not to pout and glower,
But wear a bright and cheerful smile.

The rules are simple, as you see.
Make up your mind to join today.
Put on a smile—and you will be
An active member right away.

The best corks come from Algeria. There are 2,500,000 acres of cork forests in that country.

Brazilian Ants.

Brazilian ants make little gardens in the tree tops and sow them with pineapple and other seeds. The gardens are found of all sizes, some containing only a single sprout and others a densely grown ball as large as a man's head.

The Grand Mulets.

The Grand Mulets is a mass of granite on Mont Blanc "rising up like an island in a tremendous billowy ocean of ice and snow." In the face of the rock a rough shielding of stone and boards has been built where a bed and refreshments can be had. It is in charge of a woman, who ascends in the beginning of the season and remains there three months.

SABRE BRITISH CONSUL

Swashbuckling Russian Hussars in Warsaw Run Amuck.

Inflict Severe Cuts Across Face and Lower Lip of British Vice-Consul Mucukain—British Consul General Has Narrow Escape From a Similar Fate—Sergius the Man Behind Russia's Cruelties and Its Evil Genius.

London, Jan 30.—The correspondent at Warsaw of The Daily Mail telegraphs as follows: "A group of Hussars ran down the British Vice-Consul Mucukain Saturday night in Marshal Kovski street. Two Hussars rushed at him with their swords, inflicting severe cuts across his face and lower lip. Dripping with blood Mucukain was conveyed to the hospital, where he is now doing well. British Consul-General Murray had a narrow escape from being similarly run down in Wiersebova street. It appears that the incidents were due to a company of Hussars getting drunk and running amuck.

What Will the Night Bring?

The same correspondent describes Warsaw as being in a state of complete anarchy. "Many have been killed or wounded in charges by the troops and the recklessness of swashbuckling Hussars," he says. "The only conveyances moving in Warsaw to-day have been military supply cars, ambulance wagons and tumbrils for the dead. The attempted rising of the workmen has failed and the great demonstration timed for to-day has been postponed. After some fighting the wrecked and distraught city pauses to see what night will bring."

Saved By Sacred Ikons.

Describing the pillages of stores, the correspondent says: "Many put chalk crosses on their doors or lighted ikons in their windows, and thus secured their safety. The rioters paused before the sacred emblems. The hoarse murmurs of the mob drowned the church bells. In several cases soldiers fired on looting mobs, and in one case in a working class suburb, they fired a cannon shot, hoping to disperse the crowd. Intermittent firing was proceeding there all day. Hundreds of shops were wrecked and several stores were burned. Probably a few score were killed: The ambulances were busy all day. There were alarming rumors from the country districts. It is rumored that the town of Bestlitovsky is burning."

Hardinge Active.

The Daily Mail's St. Petersburg correspondent reports that Sir Charles Hardinge, the British Ambassador, has asked the Russian Government to make inquiry into the outrages on the British Consul-General and Vice-Consul-General at Warsaw.

Russia's Evil Genius.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—Evidence is accumulating that Emperor Nicholas throughout the present crisis has acted largely upon the advice of Grand Duke Sergius, who is the most reactionary member of the Imperial family, the head of what is denominated the war party, and whom the Liberals stigmatise as Russia's evil genius.

With the first appearance of Father Gopon in the movement, Sergius urged the necessity of putting down the demonstrations in the most energetic manner. Since Sunday last his hand is considered to have been visible to the appointment of General Trepoff to the governor-generalship of St. Petersburg, with the exceptional powers conferred upon him.

Where His Hand Is Shown.

Sergius is known to be responsible for the charges placarded by Deputy Chief of Police Roudneff of Moscow, which is causing Foreign Minister Lamsdorff embarrassment, and now it is believed he is about to prevail in the matter of naming as Prince Mirsky's successor in the ministry of the interior, M. Bouligan, formerly Governor-General of Moscow, who, like his patron, is an extreme reactionary.

Sergius more than M. Witte is responsible for the elimination from the Imperial manifesto of Minister Mirsky's plan for an elected Zemstovist's Council of the Empire. Against Sergius' influence the ministers at present are apparently powerless. He remains in the little palace inside the strong ramparts of Kremlin fortress in Moscow, from whence he despatches daily a courier to Tsarskoe Selo.

Arrests Continue to Be Made.

Arrests continue. Among those seized last night and conveyed to St. Peter's and St. Paul's fortress were Yakoshovich, the poet, who served a term of exile in 1886 for connection with the revolutionaries; Madame Pimenoff, an aged writer, and her daughter. Father Gopon, it has now been definitely established, escaped through Finland and was conveyed across the gulf to Sweden by sympathetic Finns. At present he is supposed to be in Stockholm. A story has been started, and which is attributed to the police, that Gopon is a Jew.

Czar Must Yield Demands.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—A marshal of the nobility from one of the central provinces has expressed the opinion to the Associated Press that the Government could not extricate itself from the present situation without very substantial concessions. He believed that within three months, in the face of thickening troubles, it would be obliged to create a zemsky sobor.

The situation in Poland is increasingly threatening, especially in Warsaw and Lodz. In the latter place, it is reported, 100,000 men are out on strike. There are prospects of extension of the strike in Odessa, and other manufacturing cities of Southern Russia, where the workmen are better organized and more serious.

Meanwhile practically all classes anticipate renewed terrorism. It is said that when the leaders notified the Social Democrats that a truce had been proclaimed immediately after the close of the Zemstvoists' Congress, they were told that the gauntlet would again be thrown down to the aristocracy, but that this time the sovereign, who was specifically declared to be exempt from danger during the recent activity, as shown in the trial of Sasoneff, the assassin of Minister Von Plehve, would be included in the challenge. Attempts especially are expected upon the officers who a week ago ordered the soldiers to shoot.

Roman Mob Makes Holiday.

Rome, Jan. 30.—Many meetings were held yesterday in the principal cities of Italy to protest against the alleged Russian cruelties. At Brindisi, an attempt was made to pull down the Russian arms from the door of the Consulate. In Rome, notwithstanding a prohibition by the Government and a great display of troops, about 3,000 people assembled and tried to break through the cordon of troops and reach the capitol. There were cries of "Long Live the Russian Revolution!" and "Down With the Autocracy and the Cossacks!" The troops charged. Several people were injured.

Accident Caused By Carelessness.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 30.—Formal charges of negligence and inattention to duty have been preferred against Sub-Lieut. Kurzeff, who had immediate charge of the gun from which a shell was fired Jan. 19 during the ceremony of blessing the waters which was attended by Emperor Nicholas. The official view is that the accident was a result of carelessness in leaving a charge of grape in the gun after a practice which had occurred two days previously.

PUTTING IT STRONG

But Doesn't It Look Reasonable?

This may read as though we were putting it a little strong, because it is generally thought by the majority of people that Dyspepsia in its chronic form is incurable or practically so. But we have long since shown that Dyspepsia is curable, nor is it such a difficult matter as at first appears.

The trouble with Dyspeptics is that they are continually dieting, starving themselves or going to the opposite extreme or else deluging the already over burdened stomach with "bitters" "after dinner pills," etc., which invariably increase the difficulty even if in some cases they do give a slight temporary relief. Such treatment of the stomach simply makes matters worse. What the stomach wants is a rest. Now how can the stomach become rested, recuperated and at the same time the body nourished and sustained?

This is a great secret and this is also the secret of the uniform success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. This is a comparatively new remedy but its success and popularity leave no doubt as to its merit.

The Tablets will digest the food anyway, regardless of condition of stomach. The sufferer from Dyspepsia, according to directions, is to eat an abundance of good, wholesome food and use the tablets before and after each meal and the result will be that the food will be digested no matter how bad your Dyspepsia may be, because, as before stated, the tablets will digest the food even if the stomach is wholly inactive. To illustrate our meaning plainly, if you take 1,800 grains of meat, eggs or ordinary food and place it in a temperature of 98 degrees, and put with it one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets it will digest the meat or eggs almost as perfectly as if the meat was enclosed within the stomach.

The stomach may be ever so weak yet these tablets will perform the work of digestion and the body and brain will be properly nourished and at the same time a radical, lasting cure of Dyspepsia will be made, because the much abused stomach will be given, to some extent, a much needed rest. Your druggist will tell you that of all the many remedies advertised to cure Dyspepsia none of them have given so complete and general satisfaction as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and not least in importance in these hard times is the fact that they are also the cheapest and give the most good for the least money.

—The Bay of Quinte snow plow and two engines ran into a snowbank about five miles from Tweed Thursday night. Both engines left the track. The plow was badly smashed, consequently traffic was delayed for some hours. The snowstorm is still raging in that vicinity. The mail clerk was the only person hurt.

CIVIL ENGINEER'S FALL

Russell Barrett Found Unconscious On Toronto Sidewalk.

Fellow Sleeper in York Street Lodging House Saw Him Disappear Through Window of Attic and Policeman Picked Him Up—Lived Only Two Hours—Son of Customs Collector At Windsor and Steady Young Man.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—Under circumstances that are at least strange at 5.30 yesterday morning Russell H. Barrett, a young civil engineer, and recent S.P.S. graduate from Amherstburg, either fell or threw himself from the third storey window at 123 York street, receiving injuries from which he died in the Emergency Hospital two hours later. At first it was thought he might have been the victim of foul play, but investigation by the police and press tends to discount that theory, though by no means accounting for the fatality. Barrett was on his way to Windsor from Pembroke and reached the city on Saturday evening.

Befriended the Friendless.

Evidently he missed connections and to his desire to do a charitable act for five strange Polanders can probably be traced his death. He was at the station at midnight when a party of five Polanders, who had bought tickets for Buffalo, were turned out of the waiting room. They were friendless and unable to speak English. Barrett, from his survey work in the backwoods, evidently sympathized with the men and inquired of the station policeman where lodging for the night could be found and he was directed to Jos. Kazel's on York street.

At Kazel's After Midnight.

Mrs. Kazel says they arrived shortly after midnight. Barrett asked for accommodation for his proteges, who were left standing outside, and arranged that they be given beds for $1. He beckoned them in and was about to leave when the lateness of the hour evidently struck him. The reception room at Kazel's is not uninviting, and as Barrett has been used to roughing it he asked if he could get a double bed. Mrs. Kazel said it could be arranged, and he paid a quarter and was shown upstairs.

The Fall to Death.

The room assigned to him was in the attic. It contained a bed and a cot. The bed was stretched crossways at the front part, close to the wall and window. The cot was stretched along the south wall and with a table and chair almost filled the room. The cot was already occupied by Fred Hetherington, who, it seems, is also a civil engineer in hard luck, and who comes from Montreal. Hetherington says Barrett complained of feeling restless and unwell when he awoke at 4 o'clock. Hetherington fell asleep again and was awakened by the crash of breaking glass, and just saw Barrett's legs as he disappeared through the window.

His Skull Fractured.

P. C. Martin and Hackman McCarron, who were on York street nearby, heard a crash and saw something falling. At first they thought it was a rush of snow from the roof. Instead it was the unfortunate Barrett. He was removed to the Emergency Hospital, where he died two hours afterwards.

At the Emergency the medical examination showed that deceased had received a bad wound on the back of the head on the left side, which probably fractured the skull. There was also a discolored swelling over the left eye. This, however, could have been caused by the blow in the back of the head. There were also a couple of abrasions on the knees, which it is thought were occasioned by striking on the wires when falling.

Relatives At a Loss.

His father, M. Barrett, who is customs collector at Amherstburg, accompanied by John A. Auld, M.P.P. for South Essex, and J. H. Rodd, Amherstburg, County Crown Attorney, and uncle of deceased, arrived in the city last night, but could throw no light on the affair.

Russell Barrett was 26 years of age. Two years ago he graduated from the Toronto School of Practical Science and was subsequently in the employ of Morrison Bros., engineers and surveyors, Pembroke. Last summer he received a Government appointment as first assistant, section 6, Georgian Bay and Ottawa River survey. He was in Prembroke on Thursday last. The victim was thoroughly steady and of temperate habits, and an unfortunate accident is the only explanation. The young man's father is very willing that an inquest be held, and Coroner Aikins will open an inquiry at Millar's at 4 p.m. to-day. The body will be taken to Amherstburg to-night.

Tea Salesman Takes Life.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—The suicide who was found by P. C. Tinsley in High Park with a bullet hole in the roof of his mouth on Saturday has been identified as Sydney Parton, a tea salesman, who came out from England about fourteen months ago. Parton had no friends in this country. He boarded on Dovercourt road and got his mail at 507 Yonge street. He has a wife and other relatives in England, but their address is not known yet.

Parton traveled through the country with a horse and rig selling tea. Recently he got into financial difficulties and his horses were taken from him. He wrote to his brother in England for money and received a letter about two weeks ago, in which his brother said he could not give him further assistance. Deceased was over 50 years of age and had seen better days.

Struck By a Trolley Car.

Hamilton, Jan. 30.—Saturday night about 9 o'clock John F. Armour, Dundas, a civil engineer, was run into by a street car, near the corner of Charles and King streets. He was crossing from the north side of King street and was struck by the corner of the car vestibule and thrown under the car. The wheels passed over his foot and crushed it so badly that it had to be taken off at the City Hospital. He was reported to be doing well last evening. At one time he was the town engineer, Dundas, but of late has been engaged on the Grand Trunk Pacific, and had lately returned from Montreal.

Lived Only a Short Time.

Napanee, Jan. 30.—Alex. Breckenridge, a farmer, living three miles from town, was killed Saturday afternoon when returning home, by his team running away and striking the Grand Trunk large stone bridge. Breckenridge was pitched against the stone abutment and had his head badly crushed. He only lived a short time.

Toboggan Hits Tree—Girl Dying.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—While a party of young people were coasting on the hill near the Isolation Hospital late Saturday evening, one of the sleighs ran into a tree on the hill and upset, injuring 14-year-old Annie Waring so seriously that there is little hope of her recovery.

The girl was thrown against the tree, and when picked up she was unconscious. She was quickly removed to the General Hospital, where an examination proved that she was suffering from concussion of the brain. There were also several bruises on her body.

The girl has not regained consciousness since the accident, and her case is considered very serious. She lives at 131 Sackville street and is employed at the Christie-Brown Biscuit Factory.

Three Children Burned.

New York, Jan. 30.—James Saxon, 5 years old; Margaret Saxon, 8 years old, and John Saxon, 1 year and three months old, were burned to death in a fire in an apartment house in Westchester avenue Saturday night. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Saxon.

Met Awful Deaths.

New York, Jan. 30.—Shut in the steam room of a Russian bath house in Hester street, Abraham Pasternak and Peter Roos, tailors, living in Norfolk street, were scalded to death yesterday before their plight was realized by the attendants. Evidence that both had made frenzied efforts to attract attention was afforded by cuts and bruises on the bodies and by blood-stained scratches in the plaster of the wall.

With All On Board.

New York, Jan. 30.—The wreck of the steam lighter Clarence, which disappeared during the storm of Wednesday, was found Saturday, lying sunk in the ship channel off the Brooklyn shore with part of a mast showing above water. The crew of seven men are believed to be in the wreck.

MONEY RAILROADED AWAY.

C.N.R. to Amount of $3,000,000 Guaranteed By Manitoba Assembly.

Winnipeg, Jan. 30.—The Manitoba Legislature probably established a record for quick despatch of important business Saturday, when the Government's measure to guarantee C.N.R. bonds for 189 miles of new road within the province at $10,000 per mile, was put through all readings, while another bill to guarantee bonds to the extent of a million on the new C.N.R. terminals at Winnipeg, passed its first and second readings and the committee stage.

Premier Roblin said this expedition was rendered necessary to permit of prorogation on Tuesday next, and the measures did not require extended discussion, as their principle was the same as in the previous C. N. R. legislation, namely, that the Government guarantee bonds in exchange for mortgages on branch lines and the practical control of rates.

Hon. C. J. Mickle, leader of the Opposition, protested against the scandalous manner in which the Government rushed through measures involving a capital sum of nearly $3,000,000, and declared that the Government was going back on its declared policy of public ownership, in that it did not contract for and operate the terminals itself.

Bound to Come.

London, Jan. 30.—(C.A.P.)—John Dillon, M.P. (Irish Nationalist), speaking at Thurles, Ireland, said he would vote against the opening of British ports to Canadian cattle, but he feared it would come about since Mr. Chamberlain and the Unionist party had declared in favor of it, and it had the support of the Radicals also.

Expansion Is Costly.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The United States Naval Appropriation Bill was reported Saturday by Chairman Foss of the House Committee on Naval Affairs. The bill carries an appropriation of $100,070,079, while the estimates aggregated $119,629,638. The appropriation last year was $2,564,939 less.

C.P.R. Gets New Line.

Vancouver, Jan. 30.—It is reported that negotiations for the purchase of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway from James Dunsmuir by the C.P.R. have been completed. The railway runs from Victoria to Wellington on Vancouver Island, and is about 75 miles in length.

First Snow in 20 Years.

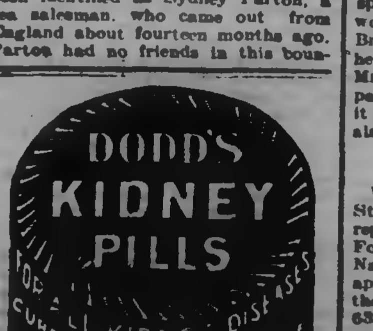
Rome, Jan. 30.—Severe cold is being experienced in Italy. Mount Vesuvius is covered with snow and even at Palermo, Sicily, snow fell abundantly for the first time in twenty years.

Wanted to Buy Warships.

Santiago De Chile, Jan. 30.—An American firm has offered a high price for six Chilean warships, but Congress, in secret session, has refused to sell them.

Held Court In a Cemetery.

The following story is being told about the judicial halls of Barkhamsted, Conn.: Wallace Case, judge of probate in Barkhamsted, held court amid gravestones in the Center cemetery in that town the other day. This, the villagers claim, beats the record of Justice W. D. Youngs, who while working in a hayloft stopped long enough to try a prisoner under an apple tree. A few days ago John F. Simmons of Winsted, conservator over Oscar Tiffany, now of East Hartland, made application to the Barkhamsted probate court for permission to sell the Tiffany property. Judge Case wrote to Mr. Simmons that he would hear the matter "in the cemetery," where he is assisting in the work of improving the burying ground. Mr. Simmons returned from the cemetery with the order to sell the property.



Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

Once again has victory perched upon the goal posts of the B.A.C. On Saturday night this, as yet, unbeaten organization had for their opponents in a game of hockey, a seven representative of Eko Camp and the Intermediate hockey team. It was a stiff fight all through with the Ekos' playing a defence game, and at the end of what appeared to be two hours' play the B.A.C. led by a score of three to two. The hard work of Ernie Best, Norman Jolliffe, Ross Dobbin, Wally Wood and Geo. Robertson, N. I., (newly initiated) set a fast pace for the Ekos', who towards the finish, were in a state of desperation and winded wonderment. They had their point player and rover Harry Morgan, who broke out with some of his O.H.A. stunts frequently, but they failed to take, for the simple reason that there were no men on his team who seemed capable of supporting him in combination. The casualty list is not yet complete, but so far as heard from Dobbin has two black eyes, Norman Jolliffe has a lacerated tongue where he bit it when cross-checked where his low-mellow notes begin to develop. Wally Wood has a scar that offsets the lustre of his left optic, Ernie Best is viewing the world from a towering orb on the left hand side and George Robertson has a kink in the left groin, the incompetent assassin having undoubtedly regarded this as a more vulnerable spot in George than the eye. The theory seems to be, that, allowing for impulses engendered by excitement, taking into consideration the hand to hand nature of the conflict, and giving records and reputation their due, Morgan's stick ought to be held responsible for some of the sanguinary slaughter which was one of the prominent features of the game.

The forwards of the B.A.C. and the cover point played brilliant hockey all the way through, while in goal, Mr. M. J Hutchinson outshone himself. The Ekos had good weight but their hockey wasn't well applied. Mr. Harold Dunsford refereed in a most satisfactory manner. The teams were:

THIS WEEK'S HOCKEY.

The Brock street rink is certainly a busy place in the winter months. The following hockey fixtures have been arranged for this week. This list does not include the regular practices of the Peterborough and T.A.S. teams—

Monday, 8.15, Junior O.H.A., Peterborough vs. Port Hope; 10 to 11, Farriers.

Tuesday, 5.45 to 6.45, Aberdeens; 10 to 11, McWilliams' Clear Grits vs. Y. M.C.A.

Wednesday, 5.45 to 6.45 Karnots; 10 to 11, Uptown Hustlers vs. Y.M. C.A.

Thursday, 5.45 to 6.45, Hickey's Tetriers vs. Bests' Happy Thoughts; 8 p.m., City League games, Farriers vs. Karnots. 9 to 10, Colonials vs. Verniers, 10 to 11, St. Andrew's Guild vs. St. Andrew's Guards.

Friday, 10 to 11, Wm. Hamilton's office vs. Pattern shop.

Saturday, 10.30 to 11.30, C. G. E. Machinists.

Port Hope will be here this evening to meet the juniors. It should be an interesting contest as the locals were only defeated by 2—1 in a game at Port Hope earlier in the season. The juniors will line up as follows—

Goal—Fitzpatrick.
Point—Moore.
Cover point—Long.
Rover—McFarlane.
Centre—Hall.

The Lindsay Post has the following to say about Friday night's game—"Lindsay went down to Peterborough last evening and allowed the Porridge Factory boys to trim 'em up handsome. Probably the zero weather affected our boys, as the score at half time was 7 to zero, and at full time 11 to zero. Deserved it, too, by gum! And now Peterborough will be dreaming of Intermediate championship.

Peterborough's stronghold last evening was in having a cracker-jack of a goal keeper, in Ernie Wasson. He stopped shot after shot, some of which looked like impossible. Irving lifted about ten shots into the goal, but he was in the way of them all. Lindsay boys worked hard and made numerous jabs at the nets, but that was all, they didn't get in. Peterborough has a strong team which will prove a serious obstacle to every visiting team this winter. The victory is theirs because they played a better game, Cavanagh and Crowley figuring frequently on the rush and shot line.

For Lindsay Taylor and Callaghan were the stars, playing a hard game. They rushed well and checked good. Koyl was not up to the standard, but will be a fast one. Parkins was in the game, but had a hard man to check. Our defence was good at relieving and made a number of good lifts. The trouble with the seniors is that when the puck goes towards their goal, our forwards don't get back fast enough to help the defence in clearing the goal.

The Lindsay players report the best of treatment at the hands of the Peterborough Club—as one player expressed himself, "We were used white!" The oyster supper was greatly enjoyed and put the boys in good spirits. It is the general impression that the Peterborough players did not play their usual game here on January 9th, when the home boys won. However, if Peterborough wins this district we wish them success in their aspirations for the intermediate championship.

A team representing the drafting room of the C.G.E defeated the office staff of the same institution on Saturday evening. It was a wild exhibition. The score was 3—0.

The Peterborough seniors will practice this evening from 7 to 7.45.

The executive of the City League will meet this evening at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. The Verniers' protest against the Earl Greys and other business of importance will be taken up.

The City League games on Thursday should be the best of the season. The rivalry between the two leading teams, the Karnots and Farriers, each with a record of four straight victories, is very intense, and the match will be a desperate one. It would take a good judge to pick the winner. Both teams are very confident of winning. The Colonials and Verniers clash on the same evening, and there will be something doing all the time.

KEENE BADLY BEATEN.

Campbellford, Jan. 28—In the Trent Valley League game played today, Campbellford defeated Keene by a score of 14 to 5. The score at half time was 7 to 2 in favor of Campbellford. The game was very rough throughout. Mr. Whitby, of Stirling, was referee. The result of the game leaves the T.A.S. and Campbellford tied for the championship of this district. Just when and where the final game will be played off, is not yet known, but the tie will probably be decided the latter end of this week on Lindsay or Port Hope ice.

Collingwood has notified Midland that tonight's game at Collingwood has been defaulted by the home club. If Midland beats Barrie in Barrie on Wednesday night, Victoria Harbor and Midland will be tied for their district.

The George street Guild team will practice tonight at 8.30 on the Y. M. C.A. rink.

Mr. Lou Burns, of Toronto, will officiate in tonight's game between Port Hope and the Juniors. The ice is in great condition, and fast hockey should be dished up.

BASKETBALL.

You should se the basketball game between Albert College and Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Boys' Club, Friday evenign, Feb. 3rd, at 8 o'clock. The boys are getting in good practice, and expect to play a strong game. The team is made stronger by the addition of A. Hodgson. Basketball is the best indoor game, that is, apart from ice hockey. Everybody enjoys a good fast game of basketball. Be up and cheer for Peterborough on Friday evening. There will be music and gymnastics between the halves. Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, 8 p.m. Admission, 15 cents.

ST. PETER'S FINANCES.

Church Improvements Paid For—Debt on St. Joseph's Hospital Reduced.

At the various masses in St. Peter's cathedral yesterday His Lordship Bishop O'Connor read an interesting statement of the finances for the year just closed.

The amount realized from the Sunday collections during 1904 was $3,976. Extensive improvements had been made to the cathedral and the grounds which had cost $1,820. These had been paid for out of current receipts, leaving a balance of $2,156.

The debt on St. Joseph's hospital in 1904 was $4,069. Interest on this sum amounting to $178 had been met together with $1,978, on the principal, leaving the net indebtedness of the institution at the end of 1904 as $2,091.

The financial statement was of a most encouraging character.

ELEVATION OF OATS.

They are Quoted at 36 Cents, and Farmers are Smiling.

These are the days when the farmer who had a good crop of oats last year is making money. To-day the price was quoted at 36 cents per bushel and this is the highest notch that has been reached in some years. The explanation of the present elevation is stated to be the very small crop last year. Farmers express the opinion that the price will remain where it is for some time and they also say that there is very little grain in the country to bring in. A dealer said this morning, on the other hand, that there was any amount of oats to be delivered, but that the agriculturalists were hanging on in the hope of securing better prices. It is not so long ago that oats were as high as 40 and even 50 cents per bushel in Peterborough. Some of those who seem to know predict that next spring seed oats will sell as high as 75 cents per bushel, and that it will not be long before 40 cents will be paid for oats delivered here.

PREPARING FOR SUMMER.

Vaudeville Park for South End—The Street Railway Co's Plans.

Mr. J. H. Larmonth, Superintendent of the Street Railway has received a proposition from Prof. Ryan, the phrenologist, with regard to the opening of a summer park immediately west of the Railway Company's rink. An acre and a quarter of land has been purchased for the purpose, and a pavillion will there be erected. Arrangements are to be entered into for the appearance at the park of a first class vaudeville company during the day and evening, and the operation of the street railway in connection appears to make expectation of a considerable degree of success in the enterprise very reasonable. It is understood that the admission to the grounds during the day will be free, but that in the evening a charge of ten cents will be made, this, of course, to include the entertainment. Prof. Ryan has had some experience in undertakings of this kind, and he will probably consider a proposal having in view the opening of a park in Cornwall, Ont.

Mr. Larmonth states that several parties have been negotiating for the opening of a park in the south end, and that the railway company are ready to co-operate with anyone which appears to have reasonable assurances of success. Discussing the plans for the coming summer, he said nothing has as yet been decided upon. He suggests that a frequent band concert in Jackson Park might prove a popular feature. With regard to the opening of a park on Clear Lake, he said he had heard nothing, but stated that it was the Company's intention to run a line to Young's Point as soon as possible.

SOME BEAUTIFUL DISTANCES

How Far the Votes Have to Travel in Peterborough County.

By the election campaigner this County must be seriously regarded as a place of beautiful distances. From Peterborough to Ford's house, the most northerly polling place in the riding, is fifty-six miles. It is in the Township of Cavendish, which is divided in two by the Dickson Company's limits, hence the necessity for two polling places in a township where there are only about forty voters all told. In some of the other northern townships, the population is also decidedly slight, and about fourteen years ago, on the occasion of an election, there was only one vote cast in Cavendish, and that was the returning officer's who had some compunctions about revealing how he went. There are some good farming lands in the north, but barren rocks and swamps predominate. The story is told of a man who got married and struck out for Galway, there to make a living by raising sheep. His house was equipped with a piano and all modern conveniences. The ranch failed to go as the country was not adapted to that kind oof business, but in subsequent years Coulter's ranch in that township has come to be known as a going concern.

CROWN HOTEL FOR BANK.

Building Regarded With Favor by Bank of Nova Scotia People.

A location which seems to be regarded with favor by the representatives of the Bank of Nova Scotia for their offices in town is the Crown Hotel, at the corner of Hunter and Water-sts. Mr. R. H. Jackson, the present occupant, says he has been approached in the matter and that he is willing to dispose of his lease of the building for the price he names. It is one of the most desirable localities in town for a bank, and, in fact, quite a number of years ago was used for that purpose. Its proximity to the centre of the town seems to be the great recommendation in its favor. Mr. Jackson has spent a considerable amount of money on the building lately, but he states that in the event of a sale he has other quarters already picked out for himself.

Another report is that the Bank of Nova Scotia representatives are conducting negotiations with a view to locating in offices to be fitted up in the market building.

NEW WHOLESALE HOUSE.

T. Kinnear & Co., wholesale grocers, of Toronto, intend opening up a large branch in Peterborough and have already erected suitable storage buildings and an office at the corner of Simcoe and Bethune-sts. It is understood that this is but the first step which has in view their establishment in more commodious quarters in the near future. The recognition of Peterborough by the large Toronto firm as a central point from which to carry on operations certainly points to the fact that the condition of business and its extent in this section of Ontario are all right.

Clover and Honey.

It is estimated that to collect one pound of honey from clover 62,000,000 heads of clover must be deprived of nectar and 3,750,000 visits from bees must be made.

Adirondack.

The word "Adirondack" is derived from the Indian "Ha-de-ron-dack," meaning wood eaters and applied in derision to the remnant of a once powerful tribe of Algonquins, who were defeated in war by the Iroquois and forced to seek refuge in the New York wilderness, living for weeks upon the bark and roots of trees.

Brooms in Finland.

A Finnish housewife buys a new broom every morning, a necessary extravagance, since she sweeps her whole house every day, and the broom she uses is just a bundle of fresh green birch leaves whose natural dampness licks up the dust.

Violet Perfume.

To make violet perfume take of violet pomade or oil one-quarter of a pound, extract of cassia five and a half ounces and alcohol eight ounces.

Whales.

Although whales grow to enormous size, sometimes eighty and even ninety feet long, the throat of the common whale is so small that it cannot swallow a bite as large as a tea biscuit. The spermaceti has a mouth large enough to admit a man.

The Highland Dress.

The Icelandic sagas contain the earliest allusion to the distinctive character of the highland dress. They relate how Magnus Olafson, king of Norway, and his followers, when they returned from ravaging the west coast of Scotland, went about barelegged, having short kirtles and upper wraps, and so men called him "Barelegs." This was in 1093.

COLD STORAGE MEETING.

A largely attended meeting of shareholders of the Peterborough Cold Storage and Provision Company was held this afternoon for the purpose of giving further consideration to the proposition to incorporate the manufacture of sugar from beets, with the other enterprises which the Company have in view. This question was up for discussion some time ago, and a basis was arrived at which seemed to be generally approved, but on account of an injunction which was taken out by certain parties no definite action could be taken. It is understood that the matter was thoroughly threshed out this afternoon.

MINISTER OF EDUCATION

Inspector James L. Hughes of Toronto May Enter the Whitney Cabinet.

The Toronto Star says—

The question of who will receive the portfolios of the new Ontario Cabinet is a problem of never-failing interest in the Conservative clubs.

The slate-makers are still busy, and this morning the possibility of Mr. Jas. L. Hughes being appointed Minister of Education found considerable backing. The position of Minister of Education has until now been assigned to Mr. Whitney, but now the prognosticators seem to be changing their opinion. It is pointed out that Mr. Whitney has taken no particular interest in educational affairs. The reason for believing that he would take charge of the Educational Department was not so much his fitness or liking for the portfolio, as the lack of other prominent members qualified for the position. It is confidently thought that Mr. Whitney will consult his own feeling largely in selecting his Ministers, and will, therefore, favor those who have stood by him for many years past. The introduction of an "outside man" has already been hinted at, and Mr. Hughes has in previous years been considered a likely man for the position of Minister of Education, should a change in Governments take place.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS

Dr. Shaw, Grand Z, Refers to Need of Quality, Not Quantity, in Membership.

In his address to the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, which met in Toronto last week, Grand Z. Dr. J. M. Shaw, of Keene, referring to the increase in membership, said: "Let me say there are times when I fear we are too eager to fill the quarries with unskilful and inefficient workmen, making the price of these degrees so cheap that many enter to gratify a morbid curiosity or a mere selfish ambition. Better by far to inculcate and maintain the almost priceless value, magnitude and glory of the truths incorporated in those degrees, so that worthy Masons who understand the teachings will alone seek admission and afterwards do good work for the upbuilding of the Order.

Grand Scribe Shaw informed the grand chapter that he had issued dispensations for new chapters at Fernie, Toronto Junction, Havelock, Fort William, Brandon, Cumberland, Maxwell, Brighton, Toronto, Listowel and Lucknow.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—William Reaf, Toronto, grand first principal; John Leslie, Winnipeg, grand second principal; George Moore, Hamilton, grand third principal; G. J. Bennett, Toronto, grand scribe, N.; Hugh Murray, Hamilton, grand treasurer; F. W. Harcourt, Toronto, grand principal sojourner; E. C. Nelson, London, grand registrar.

Toronto was selected as the next place of meeting, on the third Wednesday in January, 1906.

WHITNEY IN TORONTO

Came Totally Unannounced—Will be Given Reception in Morrisburg.

Toronto, Jan. 31—Mr. J. P. Whitney, who will within a few days' time be sworn in as Premier of the Province of Ontario, arrived quietly from Morrisburg last evening and went to the Queen's Hotel. He will return to his home in a day or two, where a monster demonstration will be tendered him on Thursday night by lifelong friends and associates in the St. Lawrence Valley. Mr. Whitney's arrival in Toronto was entirely characteristic of him. His natural modesty has always withheld him from willing participation in popular demonstrations when he could avoid them. He is looking remarkably well and is absorbed in the task before him.

The Daily Review
TUESDAY, JAN. 31, 1905.

PEN POINTS.

The Ottawa Free Press evidently believes that familiarity breeds contempt, so it speaks of "John" Pliny Whitney, as the new Premier, "John" Ellis, Mayor of Ottawa, and not long ago of Hon. "John" R. Stratton. The Liberal organ at the capital probably thinks that everybody is a "Johnny," except itself.

Well, Mr. Wm. Anderson, in the East Riding, nearly went down and under in the great landslide against the Ross Government. His majority was decreased from 443 in the election in 1902 to 118. Mr. Moore, the Conservative candidate certainly made a creditable run and has no reason to be discouraged. He will yet prove to be a winner, and no man better deserves success than he, for he put up a hard, vigorous and energetic campaign.

One of the first duties of the new Ontario government should be to do away with the numbered ballot in this province. The argument has been put forward that the ballot is secret but as a matter of fact it is not. No ballot is secret by which votes can be traced by the connivance of deputy returning officers. By the late Ross government the lack of secrecy in the ballot was used as a means of coercing voters, and became one of the abuses which it will be the duty of the new government to reform. That the numbered ballot has an advantage over the secret ballot used in federal elections is a sufficiently good reason for making the change, apart from any other—Ottawa Citizen.

Some of our contemporaries of Liberal persuasion are talking wildly of the iniquity of dismissing government officials and hysterically threaten reprisals from the Dominion government. In the first place, as there are a great many more officials under the Toronto administration than under the one at Ottawa, any dismissals from Ottawa would be followed by two from Toronto. In the second place, no one has suggested indiscriminate dismissals, nor will there be such. In the third place, those officials who during the last three elections forgot their positions and meddled in politics will have no reason to complain if they are dismissed. In the fourth place, the Laurier government set a precedent when they dismissed all officials who meddled in elections, however little. We think that those who are innocent of participation in elections since their appointment will have no reason to fear any loss of office.

That the advent of a Conservative Government in Ontario will lead to a wholesale dismissal of Grit office-holders is, of course, ridiculous. But that some changes will have to be made is equally certain. When the Liberals attained power in the Dominion in 1896, the axe was wielded quite freely and the London Free Press points out that in the post office in that city alone, seven Tory clerks were given their walking tickets. In fact there was so much hurry to get rid of them that the Postmaster General could not wait for a letter to announce the decapitations and so he sent a telegram saying that these seven were to be turned out on the street, some of them without a second dollar in their pockets. Similar instances were recorded in many other parts of the country. As far as Mr. Whitney is concerned it is not likely that he will go to such undesirable and indefensible lengths. This much is certain though—inefficient men, and—men who have been active in party work, while holding public office, will have to walk the plank.

Speaking of Mr. Whitney's proposal to amend the license law, the Toronto Star reports a prominent Conservative as saying that one way in which Mr. Whitney can carry out his proposal is the plan suggested by Mr. Dalton McCarthy which was that the License Commissioners in each riding should be composed of the warden of the county, the county judge, and one representative of the government. In this way it was claimed that all the different interests would be represented. The county would be represented by its warden, the judge would, it is supposed be non-political, and the government would still have a voice. These three commissioners would appoint an inspector who would be directly responsible to the commissioners and to no one else. If it happened that any political party preponderated in a riding, it might happen that the majority of or all the members of the Commission might be of that party, but party advantage obtained in this way, would be equally divided, and no one party would control the whole province as heretofore.

LOUIS TURNBULL TELLS OF FAMINE

Appeal for Needy People of Gujerat, India.

DIRE POVERTY AND DISTRESS

Wells Have Become Dry in Some Villages—Necessary Funds Are Lacking—Living Skeletons Will be Seen Few Months Hence.

Mr. Louis F. Turnbull, formerly of town, now a missionary in Mehmedabad, Gujerat, India, sends the following letter with regard to the famine in that country—

Dear Friends,—Several months ago a circular letter was sent from Mehmedabad to you telling of the impending distress here in Gujeret. About the time you received the bad news, the rains broke in many sections of India and a great general famine was averted. But the rain did not reach Gujert (save a few showers) as it was the Moonson from the Bay of Bengal, not from the Indian Ocean; so that the distress among the people becomes more acute daily.

The next moonsoon rains will not break until the first of July. So it will be six months before the people can hope for any field work in the regular way. What are we to do for the hundreds of needy Christians and candidates in this district during the next half year? Dear friend, if you were here in Gujerat at this time in our place, how do you think you would face the problem? Doubtless you would look to God for grace and wisdom! Would you not also write to the friends of missions in the homeland that they might have the privilege of helping their poorer brethren in suffering Gujerat?

JOY AND PAIN.

The writer has just returned from a trip on horseback among the Christian people in the villages in Mehmedabad Taluka (district). It was an experience of both joy and pain! It brought joy to one's heart to receive their glad welcome and witness the intentness with which they listened to the old, old story, but one could not help but feel pained to see their poverty and distress. At the urgent invitation of the people I went into a number of their humble houses and looked into the Kothals (earthen vessels) standing by the walls, in which they always keep their grain. In the great majority of the houses these vessels were quite empty, save the one vessel in which they had a few pounds of grain. One was frequently met with the question: "Sahib! you will give us work, won't you?" What could one do but answer, "I hope so." In several villages the wells have become dry, so that the people have to go quite long distances to some other well or river for water. If we only had the necessary funds they could be employed at digging new wells, weaving and brick-making—while thus employed they would earn enough to maintain themselves until the next rainy season.

FAMINE IN GUJERAT.

In the December number of the "India Alliance" there is an article on the "Famine in Gujerat," written by Rev. M. B. Fuller, who is the Supt. of the C. M. A. Mission in India. The following is a quotation from Mr. Fuller's letter and will have much weight with the home friends, as his opinion is worth a great deal in such matters—

"It will only be a few weeks till we shall see great suffering in Gujerat. The people are busy cleaning the scant harvest for they can afford to harvest what would not be worth the labor in America. A man or woman here can afford to work all day to clean three pints of grain from the field, and every stock of fodder must be saved for the cattle. But these scant harvests will soon be gathered and then—what then? The Government has already test relief works where men get a penny and a farthing a day, and women a penny, provided they do a certain amount of work, which many of them cannot do. We have hundreds of Christians who must be helped, children will be forsaken by their parents or left orphans, and all the sorrow and suffering which famine brings will be upon us. A few months hence we shall see living skeletons, and our hearts will be sick with the seeing of suffering.

"We want our friends at home to see the opportunity for themselves and for us on the field. It is surely more kind to keep people from becoming skeletons than to nurse them back to life at greater expense after they have suffered almost beyond endurance. . . . We plead especially for our native Christians whom we helped through the other famine and many of whom were brought to Christ by the faithful teaching which they heard as well as by the kindness shown by Christians in feeding them and their children.

"What answer can we give them in eternity if we know and God knows and they then know that we saw deliberately their need and refused to deny ourselves a little to save their lives from famine, or to save their souls from hell? Blessed is he that considereth the poor: the Lord will deliver him in time of trouble. 'He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord.' Do you believe that the Lord is good security?"

Dear reader, we believe you will do what you can to help these destitute ones in Gujerat!

Contributions to famine relief can be sent either by bank draft or foreign P. O. Money Order, to—

—In St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, on Sunday, Venerable Archdeacon Casey gave out the statistical statement of the year. After meeting all current expenses there was a balance left of almost $600 to be added to the church fund. The returns from the pew rents amounted to something over $2,000.

YOUNG'S POINT WEDDING

Miss Gertrude M. Blewett Bride of Mr. Geo. G. Hendren.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Maye Blewett, daughter of Mr. Mordecai Blewett, of Young's Point, to Mr. George G. Hendren, of Lakefield, took place at 6.30 on the evening of Wednesday, January 25th. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. McKinnon, of Gilmour Memorial Baptist church. The pretty home event was attended by a large number of friends of the happy young couple. The bride was unattended, save that her little neice, Gertrude G. Middleton, a dainty tot two years and nine months old, acted as flower girl, in a manner that was extremely pleasing. The bridal gown was of cream silk, with chiffon and sequin trimming, and bridal veil and orange blossoms. The flower girl wore a pretty gown of cream silk and a long pearl necklace. The wedding march was played by Miss Alice Hunter, of Lakefield, niece of the groom. A shower bouquet of roses was carried by the bride during the ceremony. A sumptuous wedding supper was served afterwards. Among the numerous gifts received by the bride was a very handsome China tea set from Mr. George Rosborough, uncle of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Hendren have taken up their residence on Queen-st., Lakefield.

As a Convalescent Food

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington, Co., Ont., writes:—"My wife had congestion of the lungs, along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and as well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

AN OTONABEE WEDDING

Miss Alice Taylor and Mr. W. D. Edwards Were the Principals.

One of the prettiest of home weddings was solemnized on January 18th, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Robert Taylor, "The Pines," Otonabee, in the presence of about 90 relatives and friends, when his eldest daughter, Mary Alice, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. W. D. Edwards, of Keene.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of white silk, trimmed with silk applique and lace and carrying a bouquet of white carnations, and wearing a long tulle veil and orange blossoms, her only ornament being a handsome gold brooch, the gift of the groom.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Ida Jury, Warsaw, was gowned in cream voile, and carried pink carnations. Mr. W. H. Avison, Alma, Ont., ably supported the groom. Mrs. (Dr.) Harrison played the wedding march.

After the ceremony, which was conducted by the Rev. W. B. Seccombe, of Keene Methodist church, a dainty wedding breakfast was served in the spacious dining room, the tables being decorated with pink and white carnations. The bride received many beautiful and useful presents, among them a splendid silver tea service, presented by the members of the church choir, of Keene, of which both bride and groom were members; also a silver tray, presented by the Methodist Sabbath school, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held.

The invited guests from a distance Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Matheson, Weston; Mr John L. and Miss Mabelle Waller, Courtice, and Mr. E. Wright, Toronto.

The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti for their future home in Keene. The bride's going-away gown was a dark green tailor made suit, cream silk waist and drab hat.

EAST, WEST AND SOUTH

United in One Respect.

There may be many differences of opinion regarding some subjects in sections of the country remote from each other, but there is none respecting he best remedy for piles, as witness the letters below:—

"I have been feeling so good I could hardly believe it, after suffering with piles for a year, to find that I am once more feeling like myself. I wish you could have seen me before I started using Pyramid Pile Cure, and look at me now, and you would say I am not the same man. I have gained 20 pounds, and all on account of Pyramid Pile Cure." Walter Sharkley, 56 Park-st., Springfield, Mass.

"I bought a fifty cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure and used as directed with the most unexpected results, a complete cure. I have been troubled with piles for thirty years and was in much distress and passed much blood, but at present am free from any kind of piles." F. McKay, Weaverville, Cal.

"Pyramid Pile Cure has been worth thousands of dollars to me; it cured me after using numbers of other remedies and taking medicines from doctors. It also cured my son, although he could hardly walk, eat or sleep: he is now all right." B. Stringfellow, Postmaster, Elko, S.C.

One thousand dollars is offered by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., to any one who will show the above testimonials to be not genuine.

Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists for fifty cents a package, and every sufferer should buy a package and try it to-night, being careful to accept no substitutes, and bearing in mind the fact that there is nothing else "just as good."

FEEDING BEEF CATTLE

Select the Best Animals—Some Timely Advice by Prof. Grisdale.

Before you begin to feed, select the best possible animals, said Prof. J. H. Grisdale, of the Central Experimental Farm at the Maritime Winter Fair. On the platform with him were two animals, one a six year old ox, the other a yearling steer

First, look at the steer's face—we want a broad face, not too long, with a mild large eye—a large muzzle. All good feeding steers have short, thick necks. We want a steer with a good constitution, for he must digest large quantities of food to make a rapid growth. To secure constitution and abundance of heart room is essential, shown by his thickness and depth. This also gives room for the organs of digestion behind the heart and lungs.

He compared the conformation of the two animals beside him, the large ox with a sharp shoulder and high back, the yearling with great width of shoulder, top and back, and fulness of loin.

The development of the hind quarters should also show length and depth and width—a straight and not a rounding ham.

The thick, low set steer will flesh much more cheaply than the rangy steer. From one year to two and a half years is the ideal age for feeding for beef. The relative cost of a pound of gain is as follows—

From birth to 6 months, 2c per lb.
6 months to 1 year, 6c per lb.
1 year to 2 years, 8c per lb.
2 years to 3 years, 17c per lb.

There is something in the young animal that enables it to make better use of its food than when it gets older.

We find it pays to put feeding animals in a loose box—of course they must be of fairly uniform size—8 or 9 in a box is enough; bed them well, and keep them comfortable—keep the stall well ventilated. Under poor ventilation, a bunch of steers gained only 1 lb. per day, while another lot gained 2 1-2 lbs. with exactly the same feed and care, but good ventilation.

When putting up steers in the fall, feed lots of succulent food, and all the roughage you can economically get them to eat. Give every steer as many turnips as he wants, with four or five pounds straw, and as much hay. Well cured clover is the best hay. After four to six weeks, begin the meal. Start with one pound per day; increase this quantity gradually. Oats, barley and peas mixed are a good ration. If you have to buy, get some food that is cheapest, according to its analysis.

Bran can often be got at a low price in summer. Gluten is one of our best feeds. The Edwardsburg Starch Co. of Montreal, has given me an honest gluten meal almost equal to oil meal. It is quoted today at $25 per ton on track at Ottawa.

A wide ration can be fed at the start of the feeding period with profit, but it must get narrower as the feeding period advances.

He urged all who were interested in beef raising to attend the Short Course at the new Agricultural College at Truro, and discuss with the experts who would be there the very best practices, as found by actual experience.

THE CLOVER SEED CROP OF 1940

It is difficult in any year to make a close estimate of the supply of Alsike and Red Clover seed until the season for threshing is well advanced. As a part of their work the instructors in seed growing, who are employed by the Seed Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, collect information and make observations regarding the conditions of this as well as other crops during the growing season.

From the best available information at this time, it would seem clear that the total output of Red Clover seed produced in the Province of Ontario will prove to be rather less than 2-3 of an average crop. The severe winter of 1903-4, combined with prolonged drouth in many of the districts where clover seed is most extensively grown, was exceedingly unfavorable to the clover crop of 1904. In consequence, the area left for the purpose of seed production was considerably less than in former years. The clover seed midge was also much in evidence in nearly all of the districts in Ontario.

The Alsike crop fared even worse than the Red Clover. Not only is the available supply of home-grown seed limited, but the quality of the seed produced this year is, on the whole, inferior.

The growing of high-class clover seed in the Province of Ontario has proved to be amply remunerative in the average of years, and has, to a considerable extent, taken the place of the production for sale of cereal grains. The extent to which clover seed is grown in Ontario can be better appreciated when it is mentioned that the Toronto seedsmen are said to control the world's prices for Alsike seed.

There are many districts in the other provinces, particularly in the Province of Quebec, where the production of Red Clover and Alsike seed could be taken up to good advantage. More than two tons of really good Red Clover seed has, within the last month, been threshed near Shawville, in the County of Pontiac, by the use of an ordinary grain thresher.

For Over Sixty Years

An old and well-tried remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

Give the Children

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" whenever the head aches, the stomach gets upset, or Constipation troubles them. Little folk may take them every day in the year without fear of ill-effects. It's just like giving them ripe apples, oranges, figs and prunes. That's what

Fruit-a-tives

or Fruit Liver Tablets

are. The fruit juices are so combined by our secret process, that the medicinal action is intensified many degrees. Nothing like them to keep the children plump and rosy—and free of the stomach and bowel troubles of childhood.

Equally effective with grown folk. 50 cents a box.

CABINET STILL CLINGS TO OFFICE

Ross and His Government Are Very Tenacious.

WINDING UP THEIR BUSINESS

May be Some Days Yet Before They Give Up—Twelve Sandfield Macdonald Appointees—Hon. J. M. Gibson Goes to Baltimore to Consult Specialist.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Whatever else may be said of the defeated Ross Cabinet, it does not possess the virtue of resignation. There was no news for the press after yesterday's Council meeting. Hon. J. M. Gibson, who has gone to Baltimore to consult Dr. William Osler, and Hon. F. E. A. Eventurel, were the only absentees. Mr. Evanturel's absence is not explained.

As the ministers came out of the inner room where they have been wont to hold converse with their chief, they were unusually cheerful. Mr. Mackay carried an armful of orders-in-council, a portion of the accumulated work of his department. He said he was clearing up these matters as rapidly as possible, but he gave no intimation of when he would have a clear table for his successor.

Several Days Yet.

From what could be gathered, it may take several days yet before the Premier will hand his resignation to the Lieutenant-Governor. The Cabinet will meet every day until the business is cleared away for the new Government.

There was considerable activity about the buildings during the afternoon, when a staff of men were busy unpacking and delivering to the Provincial Secretary's Department a large number of letter fyles. The only explanation offered was that the new Provincial Secretary had inaugurated a new system of fyling documents and had found that new fyles were necessary. In another quarter it was hinted that the fyles were required for all the departments and that the old cabinets and drawers were being ransacked and all important documents re-fyled, the unimportant papers being consigned to the waste basket.

Due to Clearing Out Process.

The delay of the Government in vacating the building may be due as much to this clearing-out process as to the desire to close up all matters and leave a clean slate for the incoming Government. A clerk in one of the departments expressed the opinion that the pending matters could just as well be left for the consideration of the new Government as the deputies had kept the routine well up to date during the time the ministers were busy in their constituencies.

There are twelve civil servants at the Parliament buildings who were appointed by the John Sandfield Macdonald Government. They are: J. F. C. Usher of the Registrar's Department; C. H. Sproule, Provincial Auditor; G. B. Kirkpatrick, head of the Survey Department; D. G. Ross and R. H. Brown, Crown Lands Department; F. J. Glackmeyer, Sergeant-at-Arms; A. H. Sydere, Assistant Clerk of the House, all appointed in 1867; J. P. Edwards, Public Works Department, appointed in 1868; K. Tully of the same Department, and Col. Delamere, Postmaster, appointed in 1869; Edwin Jenkinson of the Provincial Secretary's Department, and P. Simser of the Prisons Department, appointed in 1870.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE FAILS.

Magistrate Parker Finds There Was Not Sufficient Corroborative Evidence.

Pickering, Jan. 31.—The whole countryside came in to hear the conclusion of the Brown affair before George Parker, J.P., in the Town Hall here yesterday.

Mr. Robinette opened the case by reviewing the evidence as presented. He argued that the evidence did not convict. Drunkenness was no excuse. Because these accused were Liberals was no plea.

Crown Attorney Farewell, in a full treatment of the case, tried to show that drunkenness was the important element in the case when we consider how and for what purpose it occurred. He had Brown's sworn evidence that he did not bribe. As for conspiracy it was not necessary that the parties got together to agree to work a game on Brown. The peculiar features were that the charges were all made at the same time for the same purpose and published as soon as possible. He quoted the statutes liberally to show that probability played a leading part in the case. The fact that Palmer had overheard Vanstone say that they had got even with the Gamey affair showed the game that was being played.

Magistrate Parker, in summing up, placed the leading facts clearly before the court in a manner which showed some judicial turn of mind and held that not enough corroborative evidence was given to warrant a committal. He, therefore, had to discharge the men, Squires, Vanstone, Law and Stanley, on the charges of conspiracy. The remaining charges were not pressed, it being agreed that no civil actions would ensue.

HIS LEG WORTH $10,000.

English Boy and His Father Suing Women Farmers For Injuries.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Eric Tolgate, aged 16, came to Canada from England last August to learn farming. He is a son of Stanley Tolgate, a clerk in Law Society Hall, London, England. He also claims to be a nephew of Admiral Rowley, commander of King Edward's royal yacht Victoria.

When young Tolgate arrived in Toronto he was engaged by the sisters Heggler, Lizzie, Susan and Emily, who own and run a farm in Milliken township. He was to be paid $6 a month and board.

On Sept. 30, while the corn was being cut, Tolgate got caught in the mower. The result was that his leg had to be amputated. He claims that it was a windy day, that Miss Lizzie had charge of the machine and was driving the horses with plow lines and that she did not pursue a straight course up and down the field. He was gathering the cut corn, when he was run down by the machine.

He is suing for $5,000 and his father asks for the same amount. Justice Teetzel and a jury are hearing the case. The case will be finished this morning.

The Lady and the Man.

Montreal, Jan. 31.—Short-sightedness on the part of the lady is not sufficient reason for breaking off a marriage after the banns are published. Especially is this so when the lady has worn glasses for years. This was the reason Justice Archibald yesterday gave judgment in favor of Miss Anna Piche in her suit for breach of promise against Damase Limoges. She had sued for $10,000 and he admitted having promised to marry the young lady and having had the banns published. He had discovered a couple of days before the marriage that she was short-sighted, although she had always worn glasses since he first knew her. His reasons were not good enough for either the lady or the court.

Carnegie Draws the Line.

Pittsburg, Jan. 31.—Andrew Carnegie has refused to have anything to do with improvements in Pittsburg which would bring him even into remote connection with the liquor traffic. The head of a large concern in Pittsburg has just returned from New York, where he went to see Mr. Carngie about erecting a hotel larger than any one in the city, but he was told by Mr. Carnegie, while he thought such a building would make great returns financially, he would have nothing to do with it, since it would be necessary to have a liquor license in the hotel, and he would not lend his name or money to anything connected with the trade.

Taken to Amherstburg.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—The body of Russell M. Barrett, the young civil engineer, who fell out of a York street window to his death, was taken to Amherstburg yesterday on the 4.40 train. There is much conjecture but no light upon how he came to his death, and Coroner Aikin has commenced an inquest, which has been adjourned till Thursday evening. At yesterday's session, Dr. Cullen, who made the post-mortem, read his report. It stated death was caused by a fracture of the skull and hemorrhage of the brain, and that there were no marks of violence on the body. Dr. Riordan corroborated the report.

Bigamist Gets a Year.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Pierre Lacroix, alias Brown, who lured Lilly Valley from her Vankleek Hill home and married her, though he already had a wife and children, was yesterday sent to the Central Prison for one year. His first wife was in court and identified him, but was inclined to blame the Valley girl for the trouble and not him. Lacroix pleaded that he did not "remember marrying her at all," but remembered "living with her or rather boarding with her 11 years."

Dougal McPhedran Killed.

Watford, Jan. 31.—Dougal McPhedran, a well known resident of this place, was struck and killed by Lehigh express No. 8, about a mile west of Watford, about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Deceased was walking on the track and was on his way to visit his brother at Kingscourt. He was thrown about sixty feet, both legs being broken and his skull fractured. Dr. A. McPhedran of the faculty of the Toronto University Medical College, is a brother.

Still Unconscious.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Annie Waring, the young girl who was hurt while tobogganing near the Isolation Hospital on Saturday, is still unconscious, and her case is very critical.

Back to Toronto.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—J. G. Jardine, Canada's commercial agent in South Africa, has resigned his position on account of ill-health. Mr. Jardine has returned to Toronto.

PORT HOPE TEAM WON THE BATTLE

Defeated Peterborough Juniors by 4 Goals to 3.

VERY FAST AND CLEAN GAME

There Was Only Small Crowd Present—Locals Made Desperate Efforts to Win—Tally at Half-time Was 2 to 1 for Visitors.

Only a very small attendance saw the Port Hope-Peterborough junior O. H. A. game at the Brock-st. rink last evening. There wasn't one hundred people there including the teams, officials and rink staff. The fact that both teams are out of the championship running and thoughts of the poor hockey displayed in Belleville-Peterborough contest last week, no doubt kept many away. However those who turned out were rewarded by being given an excellent exhibition of hockey. The visitors won after the hardest kind of a game by 4—3, the half time score being 2—1 in their favor.

It was a fast contest, especially in the second half when each team played lightning hockey and it was rush and counter-rush all the way through. With only two minutes to play and the score 3—3, Port Hope scored the winning goal and although the locals made a desperate effort to win out, it was not to be and the tally remained unchanged. The game was not very rough although many players from each team were sent to the boards. Hall and Gamble the Port Hope goal keeper had several pugilistic encounters during the evening.

The playing of the home team was 100 per cent better than in the game with Belleville. The forwards played together better, displayed more head work and shot more accurately.

Fitzpatrick twined off some bad ones. Moore put up a great game at point, his rushes being a feature. He checked hard, a little too hard sometimes, for the adorned the fence four or five times for too strenuous defence work. Long at cover also played nice hockey and broke up many rushes as well as taking a hand at carrying the puck himself. Gilman of the Karnot City League team was tried out at left wing and certainly made good. He played his position nicely, always sticking to the boards. He made some pretty dashes along the side. Hall played a fine game at centre. He is a pretty stick handler, and a good shot. All three goals were scored by him. McFarlane at rover displayed the best form he has done this season. He made some brilliant rushes, one of which went the length of the rink and resulted in a score, after a pass to Hull. Smith at right wing also played nice hockey and was always in his place. He had hard luck in his shooting, several shots hitting the side of the net.

The visitors have a pretty fast bunch. They are comparatively light but very fast, especially on the forward line. They played nice combination. Gamble made some nice stops in the nets. McMillan at point relieved and checked well. He demonstrated that he could qualify for the position of goal keeper, for with the legitimate guardian of the nets on the fence, he made several beautiful stops. On the forward line Mercer was the star. He did some nice rushing and shooting. Rowden worked hard all the way through.

Mr. Lou Burns, of Toronto, officiated. He was thoroughly impartial but many off sides were allowed to go unnoticed.

The teams were—

Peterborough		Port Hope
	Goal.
Fitzpatrick		Gamble
	Point.
Moore		McMillan
	Coverpoint
Long		McClean
	Rover.
McFarlane		Rowden
	Centre
Hull		Mercer
	Right Wing
Smith		Alcott
	Left Wing
Gilman		W McClean

Referee—L. Burns, Toronto.

Goal umpires—J. Giddy, Port Hope; A. McWilliams, Peterborough.

Time keepers—F. Curtis, Port Hope; F. A. Clarke, Peterborough.

Penalty time keeper—E. Wasson, Peterborough.

The game started sharp on time. Several nice rushes were made with no score. Long was the first man to be sent to the boards. His offence was tripping. Port Hope made a pretty, combined rush, but the shot was wild. McMillan visited the timekeepers for slashing. Long rushed beautifully but failed to connect with the nets. McClean went off for tripping. Hall and Gamble got into a mix-up and both went off. With the guardian of the nets adorning the boards Port Hope still pressed and on a combined rush Rowden drew first blood with a pretty shot. Score 1—0.

Moore made a beautiful rush nearly the length of the rink and passed to Smith but the shot was blocked. Port Hope rushed several times but failed to score. Finally Alcott took a long shot from the side and beat Fitz. Score 2—0.

It began to look easy for Port Hope but the locals didn't let up. Hall went off for tripping. Gilman made a nice rush but failed to score. Moore visited the time keepers for too strenuous use of his body. Gilman and Hall broke away and after several pretty passes the latter located the nets. Score 2—1.

Port Hope forwards got clear of the defence but Fitz was in the way. Rowden was hurt and went off, the locals dropping Smith. Half time.

The Peterborough team brightened up in the second half and had the best of the playing. Gilman made a nice rush and nearly scored. Hall and Gamble again came to blows and were sent to the fence to cool off. McFarlane made a beautiful rush but McMillan turned it aside. He also stopped a nice one from Hall. McFarlane went off for slashing. Smith shot from the side and the umpire held up his hand. The referee over-ruled his decision and a new umpire was substituted. Finally after several shots had been stopped Hall brought the rubber from behind and scored. Score 2—2.

Moore went off for bodying. Port Hope scored but the referee called them back for an off side. Gamble turned aside a nice one from Gilman. Moore again adorned the fence for cross checking. Gilman made a nice rush but no score resulted. Port Hope brightened up and in a nice combination rush Mercer put his team in the lead. Score 3—2.

Alcott went off for slashing. Peterborough went right after them and Hall tied the score after a beautiful length of the rink rush by McFarlane. Score 3—3.

Moore again went off for a body check. There was only two minutes left to play and it looked like a tie game. However Port Hope started their "com" going again and Mercer found the nets for the last time. Score 4—3.

Peterborough tried hard to tie the score but grew too anxious. Hall went off for tripping and Moore followed for bodying which destroyed all chances of scoring. Time was called with the puck in Port Hope territory.

Croup Absolutely Cured

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. Wm. Magee, 49 Wright Ave., Toronto. Ont.

Workingmen's Insurance.

Consider the advance in the general spirit of kindness which is indicated by such a fact as the founding and successful operation of the system of workingmen's insurance in Germany. A certain sum of money is set aside for each workman every week (the employer and the employee each contributing half), and the government adds a supplement of $12 on each pension. Ten million workmen are thus insured against sickness, 17,000,000 against accident, 10,000,000 against disability from old age.

Six hundred and seven thousand persons receive the benefit of this fund in yearly pensions. Incidentally there has been an immense benefit in the increase of care and precautions to prevent accidents and to reduce dangerous occupations. The employer who is not yet willing to protect his workmen for kindness' sake will do it to escape heavier taxes.—Everybody's Magazine.

The Sarcastic Cabman.

The whip flicking hero of this story had driven an irascible old fellow a good three mile journey. When the fare climbed stiffly out and slowly produced a big pocketbook cabby drew a deep breath and prepared to be sarcastic. A watchful constable standing near prevented all thought of his relieving his feelings by the use of picturesque terms.

Cabby watched his fare make a lengthy mental calculation of the distance he had been driven, select the exact legal fare, count it twice over and then proffer it to him, with an expression on his face plainly indicative of "Now, then, you dare dispute it and I'll take your number."

But cabby didn't dispute it. Instead he promptly accepted it; but, slipping his hand into another pocket, he produced a farthing, which he handed to the fare.

"What's this for?" demanded the old fellow.

"One farden, currint coin of the rellum, sir," said cabby, gathering up his reins. "I druv yer jest the exact distance represented by arf of that there shekel under the three mile you reckoned. I ain't got no arf farden about me, but it don't matter. You can keep the change. I ain't mean. Goodby, sir, and God bless you. Geeup, 'orse!"—London Standard.

10,000 RUSSIANS FELL

Japanese Fiercely Bombarded the Whole Russian Line.

Gen. Oku Captured 600 Russians—Attack of Czar's Men Was Complete Failure—Kuropatkin Failed to Turn Japanese Left Position—St. Petersburg Authorities Admit Failure and Lay Blame On Sudden Drop in Temperature.

Gen. Oku's Headquarters, Jan. 31.—Saturday afternoon the Japanese began a fierce bombardment with artillery and musketry along the whole line. The firing was kept up until midnight and was resumed at dawn Sunday, continuing until noon. The Russian reply was feeble. A movement of the Japanese left wing, for the purpose of surrounding and cutting off the Russians in the neighborhood of Pokowtai, is progressing slowly, as the resistance is stubborn. Should the Russian force be cut off it will result in leaving Gen. Kuropatkin's right flank unprotected.

Two divisions of Japanese troops attacked Pehowaki and drove four divisions of the Russians across the Hun River. Six hundred Russians were making a stand across the River. One Russian division made several attacks on Eantanpu to the east, but was driven back with a loss of over 4,000. The Japanese bombarded the entire Russian line. The Russiasr replied feebly, showing little activity.

The casualties during the fighting at Chenchiehpao and Heikoutai are estimated at five thousand on the side of the Japanese and ten thousand on the Russian side.

Thousands Were Killed.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—General Kuropatkin's attempt to break through the Japanese left wing and outflank Field Marshal Oyama's position on the Shakhe River seems to have failed. Field Marshal Oyama appears to have answered the Russian advance with a counter offensive movement, but no great disposition was shown to carry the war into the territory held by the Russians.

At the War Office the chief blame for the failure of the movement is laid to a sudden drop of the thermometer to 20 degrees below zero, with a high wind, which drifted the snow and rendered it hazardous to expose the troops to camping in the open plain, and also impeded transportation.

The operation entrusted to the second army, under Gen. Grippenberg, was the capture of Sandepas, which, once in Russian hands, would serve as a pivot for a flanking movement against Field Marshal Oyama, but Sandepas proved too hard a nut to crack, and the Japanese, taking advantage of the check of the Russians, hurried up their reinforcements and assumed the offensive on the Hun River, as well as along the railroad and the Great Mandarin road. The Russians, however, appear to have been successful in repulsing all the Japanese attacks. General Grippenberg did not press the attempt to storm Sandepas.

Owing to the flat trajectory and the enormous penetration of modern projectiles, the capture of the outer line of trenches on Thursday entailed heavy casualties, some thousands on both sides being killed or wounded. The news of this defeat is especially hard for the Government. The popular idea continues to be that the advance was undertaken to divert attention from the events in European Russia.

Kuropatkin's Aim.

Russian Headquarters, Huan Mountain, Sunday, Jan. 29.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The object of General Kuropatkin's latest offensive movement was to capture the important position at Sandepas, on the left bank of the Hun River, west of Schili River, and thereby outflank the Japanese from the Shakhe River and enable the Russian army to undertake a general advance.

At Sandepas the Japanese occupied a strongly fortified position, commanding the triangle formed by the confluence of the Hun River and the Shakhe River. The Japanese had erected there a fort of a permanent type with triple earthworks and trenches extending in a southwesterly direction. Several villages to the northeast were also strongly fortified. The positions were held by twelve battalions of Japanese partly drawn from Gen. Nogi's army and partly reserves. The Russians carried the first line of entrenchments, but were unable to maintain their position on the outskirts of Sandepas in the face of fierce cannonading. The fighting was transferred westward. The Japanese counter-attacked with a brigade of infantry endeavoring to envelope the Russians, but the cavalry protecting the Russian flank drove back the Japanese with heavy loss.

A counter attack on the villages captured by the Russians at the outset of the fight was also beaten off, but at the cost to the Russians of several thousand killed or wounded, including General Mistchenko, who was wounded in the knee. The heaviest sufferers were the newly arrived brigade of riflemen. The official report of the casualties in the fighting at Houniitadzy and Hugodi, Jan. 25 and Jan. 26, says they were 45 officers and 1,050 men. A hundred Japanese prisoners have arrived here. They belonged to the division before Port Arthur. The wounded are suffering from the cold, which is increasing.

Writes Attorney-General.

Brantford, Jan. 31.—A. J. Wilkes, K.C., Crown-Attorney, has written the Attorney-General's Department asking that Kennedy, who was sentenced to two years in prison for assault, be prosecuted for rape. Kennedy was tried for the murder of Irene Cole, but was acquitted on perjured evidence.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST

Illustrated Lecture Delivered in All Saints Church by Rev. Canon Dixon.

The third anniversary of All Saints' church was concluded last night, when a large number assembled to take part in the service and view the pictures which were thrown upon the large screen to illustrate the lecture given by Rev. Canon Dixon of Toronto.

The service opened by the rector, Rev. Wm. Major, with prayer, and he then introduced Canon Dixon. The pictures,—about 150 in number—were from all the great masters—Tissot, Dore, Rubenstein, Hunt and others. Many of the views were reproductions in the original colors. All were clear, distinct, and remarkably well shown, illustrating the passion, death, resurrection and ascension of Christ. As each picture was displayed Canon Dixon repeated an appropriate passage of scripture. Interspersed were several hymns, in which the congregation heartily joined in singing. The silver collection taken at the door was in aid of diocesan missions.

The anniversary services in connection with All Saints' Church were very successful and mark another milestone in the history of the congregation.

COLD STORAGE SHAREHOLDERS

Annual Meeting of the Company Held Yesterday.

ENCOURAGING STATEMENTS

The Company Discussed Advisability of Extending its Powers to Manufacture of Beet Sugar—This Will Likely be Done—The New Officers.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Cold Storage and Provision Company, Limited was held yesterday afternoon in the Foresters' Hall, George-st. There was a large attendance, about one hundred shareholders being present.

Statements were received from the old directors and the auditors indicating a flourishing state of affairs.

The election of directors then took place and resulted in the following gentlemen being chosen.—Messrs. D. Comstock, Kendal; Geo. Best, Port Hope; J. W. Martyn, Canton; A. Jackson, Kendal and N. Wilson, Port Hope.

The old board of directors consisted of M. Carton, president; Jas. Middleton, Wm. Anderson, Dr. Jeffs and J. W. Miller.

After the election of officers a proposal was considered in reference to extending the powers of the company to the manufacture of sugar. The matter was thoroughly discussed and the proposal was looked upon favorably by a number of the shareholders. It is probable that some arrangement may be arrived at whereby all the shareholders may be satisfied. Those desiring to withdraw from the company may do so after satisfying certain conditions.

The new officers are—
President—D. Comstock.
Vice-Pres.—Geo. Best.
Sec. Treas.—J. W. Martyn.

The 57th Band will be at the Brock-st rink to-morrow night Splendid ice and good music.

ELOQUENT LECTURE

Given by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun Before St. John's Young People's Society.

The entertainment under the auspices of St. John's Young People's Society held last evening in the Sunday school room was a decided success in every way. There was a very large attendance and a most enjoyable time was spent. The president Mr. J. Patte was in the chair.

The main feature of the evening was a lecture by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, upon the subject "Jean Valjean." Mr. Dennistoun's address which occupied a little over one hour held the audience spell-bound and the subject was exceedingly well handled.

At the conclusion of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks moved by Col. H. C. Rogers and seconded by Mr. H. Cluxton was accorded the speaker.

A vocal duet by Miss Ruth and Thomas Dawson was well executed and warmly received. The entertainment was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

A short business meeting was then held. It was decided to have a sleigh ride around town on Monday evening Feb. 6th, after which refreshments will be served in the Sunday school room.

Mr. John Comstock was elected second vice-president to fill the vacancy caused by the removal from town of Mr. Chas. Deveraux. Miss L. Pratt was elected treasurer.

BARBERS TO PLAY

Benedicts Will Meet Bachelors at Hockey Next Week.

It will be the game of the season as both teams are training hard for the event.

PROF. KENRICK DEAD

He Was a Brother of Rev. C. B. Kenrick, Formerly of Town.

Prof. Kenrick, who died in Winnipeg, on January 26th, was a brother of the Rev. C. B. Kenrick, formerly of Peterborough. He was born at Bastry, Kent, England, in 1863, and at the time of his death was in his 41st year. He was a most distinguished student throughout his entire college career and early evinced his deep interest in chemistry and allied branches of investigation. He was graduated with first class honors in natural science and immediately entered the service of the government at Ottawa, where he spent several years. His work in Ottawa was in connection with the geological survey, where he rendered most efficient service. Leaving Ottawa he came west to Winnipeg in the late eighties and became professor of natural science in St. John's college. He was most highly esteemed in the college, and was a most successful teacher.

OBITUARY.

MRS. R. N. BAKER.

The death took place on Monday evening at eight o'clock of Frances Maria Steers, beloved wife of Mr. R. N. Baker, North Monaghan. The deceased lady, who was 29 years old, was born in London, England, and came to Peterborough in 1894. She had resided in this vicinity ever since. Last June she was married to her now sorrowing husband.

Her illness, though extending over four months, was borne with exemplary patience. Mrs. Baker was a very active and useful member of Bethany Tabernacle, and was greatly beloved by all who knew her. She is survived by three brothers, one residing in England, and two in Alberta, N.W.T.

The late Mrs. Baker resided, previous to her marriage, for nine years, with Mr. Thomas Allum, gravel road, North Monaghan, opposite the Altake place on Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, from her late home, NNorth Monaghan, opposite the Allum homestead, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery, where the remains will be interred.

The services will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Steuernagel, pastor of Bethany Tabernacle.

ICE MAN REAPS GOOD HARVEST

Little Lake the Scene of Much Activity These Days.

THE CROP WAS NEVER BETTER

Mr. T. Rehill Will Put Away About 45,000 Blocks—J. F. Allin Will Also Store an Immense Supply—Ice is Frozen to Depth of Over Two Feet.

There is always one kind of crop in this locality which it is always safe to bank on, and that is the ice crop. The men who dispense frigidity in the summer time are now reaping their harvest, and they say it was never better. Little Lake is the scene of great activity, and hundreds of tons of huge, transparent blocks have already been placed in storage. There will be no shortage of supply in Peterborough—in fact, there never was, for the opportunity of putting away more than a sufficiency every year is unsurpassed in a town situated such as this is, with its magnificent fields of ice close at hand. The blocks that are being taken out this winter are over two feet in thickness, and of such transparency that, bulky as they are, they could easily be used for windows in the huts of the Esquimau section. A microscopic examination of the ice would evidently therefore show the purest conditions existing, so that any fear of disease-making germs having their habitations in the congealment should cut no ice.

Harvesting operations began over over a month ago, and men with scrapers, ice ploughs, skids and all other necessary equipment have become features of Little Lake, and almost every other place where the crop is promising. The heavy scrapers clear a space of considerable area where the field is supposed to be of proper quality, and they are followed by the workers. The cross-cut saw gets busy and in short order order the blocks are hustling and skidding to the drays, thus to be hauled to their destinations.

The Peterborough ice men attribute the fine quality of the ice this year to the good start which it had of forming early in the winter before snow or rain began to interfere with its development. The early stages are always the most important in the growth of ice. This winter the ice is solid for a depth of over two feet in some places, the layers not being broken up with the frazil formation which sometime endangers the crop.

The two ice men, who in Peterborough seem to have a good thing in the ice crop, are Mr. T. Rehill and Mr. J. F. Allin. The men have for some time had their gangs at work on Little Lake. Mr. Rehill stated this morning that he expected to stow away about 45,000 blocks in his three large ice houses. Each of these blocks weighs about 250 lbs., so by a little figuring it will be seen that Mr. Rehill will face the summer with something like 6,000 tons on hand. Besides the stocking of his own houses, he supplies for many private ones, such as one or two hotels, the hospitals and the cemetery. The ice, he says, is splendid this year and has an unbroken depth of about 23 inches.

Mr. Allin has two houses, one in Ashburnham and another on Rink-st., the two together having a capacity of over twenty thousand blocks. He has been cutting for over a month now, and he also has quite a few private contracts to fill. When asked as to the prices which are generally charged during the summer, Mr. Allin states that there is such diversity of circumstances for the ice men to meet that it is impossible to give any fixed rate. But for an ordinary service, three times a week, the refrigerator being of reasonable capacity, the charge is $10 for the season. Refrigerators vary in size greatly, however, and, besides, the ice has sometimes to be delivered to places actually outside of the corporation and then carried to the top storey of a house. This adds to the cost.

Considerable quantity of ice is being cut on Chemong Lake this winter, the requirements of the summer cottagers there forming quite a promising market. Operations in Norwood are also being carried on extensively, the object being to fill a large order for the ice houses at Havelock, where the refrigerator cars are supplied.

THE CHILDREN HAD MERRY TIME

Entertainment by Little Ones of St. Paul's Sunday School.

GOOD PROGRAMME RENDERED

Members of the Cradle Roll, Kindergarten and Junior Departments All Take Part —The Choruses and Songs Were Very Enjoyable—Big Night for the Juveniles

The cradle roll, kindergarten and primary departments of St. Paul's church Sunday school were given an entertainment last night of which they will long retain pleasant recollections. A choice tea was served to the little ones and their parents from 5 to 7 o'clock, the delicate viands being generously provided by the ladies of the congregation.

After the wants of all had been satisfied a thoroughly novel and enjoyable programme was carried out, the numbers being furnished by the children, some of whom were scarcely large enough to toddle to the platform. Rev. H. B. A. Ketchen made an acceptable chairman, and after the Lord's Prayer, repeated by the children, Rev. Dr. Torrance gave a short address, which pleased the young folks, whose eager faces betokened their interest in all all that took place during the evening. A vocal duet was nicely rendered by Jean Anderson and Georgie Long, and received with applause.

Miss Cameron's class contributed a chorus in excellent voice and showed careful training. Those in the class were Mary Nelson, Kenny Laing, Keir Sturgeon, Hugh Carmichael, Gladys Hunter, Bessie Taylor, Irene Taylor, Dorothy Hall, Rapsey Pringle, Mary Cameron and Birdie Henderson. derson.

Agnes Carmichael rendered a clever doll song in a pretty manner and was liberally applauded. Then Fred and Kitty Torrance came to the front and sang in sweet childish voices a duet, which was much appreciated by the many other little ones and older ones, too. Prudence Long in a particularly clear and strong voice for one so young, next sang, and then came the drill—called the Mother Goose drill—which was the feature of the evening. Various songs were rendered and carefully sketched, the acting of the children reflecting great credit on those who had so carefully trained them. The King in his rich robe and crown was Hugh Carmichael, and the Queen in her gay garments and diadem was Miss Jean Anderson, both of whom took their parts in singing a Song of Sixpence exceptionally well. Claire Mason was the charming little maid in white, and Francis White the manly little page. In the Little Sparrow song Margaret Connal and Donald Pringle, each under four years, scored a decided success. The others who took part—and all of them are worthy of special mention—are May Nelson, who sang the introductory words to the drill. Wilma Nelson as Mother Goose, Kenny Laing as Humpty Dumpty, Georgia Long as Old Mother Hubbard, Rapsey Pringle as Little Boy Blue, Meta Meredith as Polly Put the Kettle On, Lillian Moore as Little Bo-Peep, George Dodds as Little Jack Horner, Donald Hunter as Hy Diddle Diddle, Jack Fife and Gracie Thompson as Jack and Jill. Two choruses—Jack Frost and the Sand Man were admirably given by the kindergarten class, and after a short address from the chairman, Mr. Ketchen, and the singing of the National Anthem, the entertainment concluded at eight o'clock and the little ones, tired, but happy, were taken home to dream of pleasant experiences and recall in childish chatter the delights of the evening. The training of the children, which required patience, skill and tact, was in the hands of Miss Williamson, the energetic superintendent of the cradle roll and kindergarten departments, and Miss Cameron, the zealous superintendent of the primary department. They, along with Miss Ethel Best, played the accompaniments of the evening in creditable style.

This evening the intermediate and senior scholars of the school will be entertained to tea and a good programme will be rendered.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

Held in T. A. S. Hall Last Evening — Good Programme.

Another delightful entertainment under the auspices of the literary section of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held last evening in the Society's hall. There was a large attendance and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The programme was varied and enjoyable. Mr. John Hanrahan made a very acceptable chairman.

The opening number was a well executed instrumental duet by Messrs. Ramsay and Burton. This was well received and an encore demanded. A comic song by Mr. Wm. Coleman met with warm applause. Miss Loretta Clancy contributed a solo in excellent voice and received an encore. A solo by Mr. Jas. Weir was one of the enjoyable features of the evening. Mr. Chas. Coleman showed that the art of comic singing was not confined entirely to his brother, by rendering a humorous selection. Miss Josephine Dalaire contributed a charmingly executed vocal solo. Miss Legros was heard with pleasure in a well rendered piano solo. Master Wm. Allen's solo was very well given and warmly received. The Coleman brothers united in a comic duett which was exceedingly well executed. A delightful vocal solo from Mr. W. McGregor concluded the programme.

The Literary section have been holding these concerts at intervals all through the winter and they are proving a great success.

THE PUSHING WEST.

Its Growing Influence In All the Affairs of the Nation.

A prominent Brooklyn preacher lately told his congregation of New York business men that the seat of power in the United States no longer rests in the east, but has passed to the west; that the really big things of the age are now done by western men and that unless the east shall rouse itself from its self complacent dream and open its eyes to facts its relative influence in the nation will continue to diminish.

The picture may have been painted in too high color, but in the main it is true. Western men and western states have grown greatly in political influence; western ideas constantly gain weight in national politics; western banks become more independent of eastern financiers.

The change is due, no doubt, partly to natural conditions. Big problems and a big country breed large men and liberal ideas. They make for progress rather than for conservatism. But an interesting side light appears in some recent remarks of an eastern college president who went west a few years ago and is now at the head of a state university.

"When I was in the east," he said, "I had to prod my students to work. Here they prod me. The west is no place for a lazy professor. If he is teaching in a college where the elective system prevails he will soon find himself without pupils."

Another western professor speaks almost in the same vein: "I have never known my students out here to complain of the length of the tasks set for them or the difficulty. Eastern students used to groan over the same amount of work."

If, then, the west is forging ahead of the east, the explanation seems to be a rather simple one. Getting at it early, sticking to it closely and keeping at it long will surely show results, whether in the classroom or in the wheatfield.—Youth's Companion.

Best Rule of Health.

AND HOW YOU ARE AIDED IN CARRYING IT OUT BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

"A movement of the bowels every day."

This is the fundamental rule of health. The one point on which doctors are unanimous.

But what causes the bowels to become constipated?

The inactivity of the liver

Bile is nature's own cathartic and so long as the liver is active in its work of filtering bile from the blood and passing it into the intestines, there is no trouble from constipated bowels.

Dr. A. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cure constipation by setting the liver right.

This is the only means by which the bowels can be regulated.

Salts and castor oil will effect a motion of the bowels, but, once the effects of the dose passes off, you will be more constipated than ever. They fail to set the liver right.

By regulating the liver by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills you ensure a healthful action of the bowels, and so prevent and cure scores of ills, such as indigestion, biliousness, constipation, kidney disorders, colds and contagious diseases.

Mrs. H. Trollope, 850 Water street, Peterboro, Ont., states: "I have used two boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and found them an excellent medicine. I had very severe pains across the back which came from my kidneys being out of order, and after using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for a time I began to feel a wonderful improvement in my health.

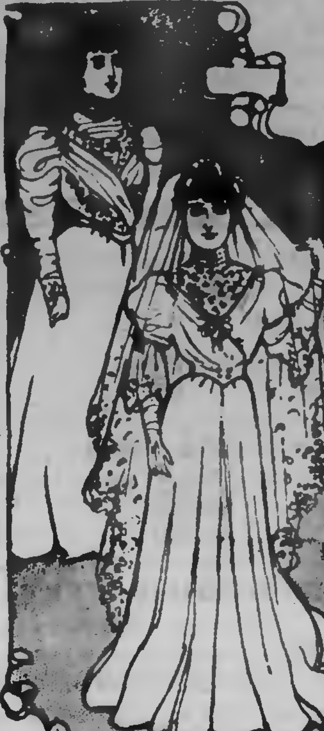
"I have no more pains in my back now, and am feeling as well as ever I did. Consequently, I am glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Toronto. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

FOR SOCIAL FUNCTIONS.

Frocks of the New Year's Dances. Wedding Gowns and Opera Hoods.

Ball gowns for debutantes and the young dancing contingent in general are the most airy creations imaginable in tulles, silk and thread nets, both plain and dotted, as well as figured lace nets, point d'esprit, chenille dotted nets, spangled nets, etc., besides the exquisite mousselines, painted, spotted, dotted and striped with silver and gold threads or with satin; lovely chiffons, embroidered rosebuds and other single flowers sprinkled delicately over the pure white surface. Mousselines in single colors are always in vogue, while the shades of colors this year seem lovelier than ever.



GOWNS OF BRIDE AND MAID OF HONOR.

As a hint of the winter's smartness here is a fascinating precursor. This dancing gown is of white mousseline. The skirt is flounced in narrow ruffles. Each ruffle has a row of white net puffing, with ruffle as a finish on the bottom, with a border of narrow valenciennes on the edge. There are twelve of these ruffles, the topmost three being a trifle narrower than the rest. The low bodice is draped in cross plaits both front and back. The sleeves are of the fine white net in two very full puffs, which stand out well from the sleeves and form a perfect short sleeve. A very narrow garland of pink rosebuds and forgetmenots edges the decollete bodice and meets upon the left side in a moderate cluster of the same flowers, with two or three small roses and a little delicate foliage. Girlish and bewitching is this crisp, light, graceful gown.

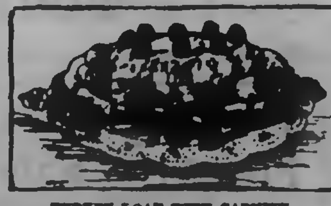
The maid of honor gown shown in the cut is of changeable amber satin messaline with a yoke of Irish crochet lace and point applique. The foundation is lemon taffeta veiled with mousseline de soie. The skirt is circular and slightly trained. Heavy white satin with yoke and sleeve ruffles of point d'alencon lace, velvet buttons and clusters of orange blossoms compose the bride's gown.

Nothing heretofore designed can compare with the exquisite perfection of the latest confection in opera hoods. Imagine a filmy cloud of lace over mousseline under which the intricacies of hairdressing are lost to view while the face peers out of a cluster of flowers. Besides there are two long lace scarfs lined with mousseline which hang like floating vapor to add to the beauty of this headdress, for that it in reality is, though a protection from winter winds when once the wearer is out of a heated opera house.

Opera cloaks are gorgeous affairs, most of them heavy with antique laces, while others are trimmed with light touches of sable. The majority are regal in their glittering sheen of golden embroidery, while every cloak may boast of its sumptuous brocades.—Vogue.

Turkey Loaf.

For a second dinner dish we chop the meat that remains on the roast turkey, season well with salt and pepper, add a cupful of soft breadcrumbs to the quart and sufficient beaten egg to make it hold together. Mold this into a loaf or pack in a greased mold, cover the top with thin slices of salt pork and bake or steam until firm. In serving garnish with olives and some of the dressing molded in small balls.—Table Talk.



TURKEY LOAF WITH GARNISH.

Pork Chops and Fried Apple.

Season pork chops with salt, pepper and a little powdered sage. Dip them first in beaten egg, then into fine breadcrumbs and fry them until well done. Pare some apples and cut them into slices crosswise, so that the core comes in the center of each slice. Pour part of the pork fat out from the pan, only leaving enough to fry the apples. When the slices have browned nicely on one side turn them carefully to cook the other side as well. Serve them on the platter with the chops.

"An Infusion" of "SALADA"

Natural Green Tea is a luxury that must be realized to be appreciated. "It's pure to a leaf." No Japan tea grown can begin to compare. It is as delicious to drink as the famous "SALADA" Black tea. Sealed lead packets only. Net weight guaranteed. By all grocers.

GIVEN THE HIGHEST AWARD AND GOLD MEDAL AT ST. LOUIS EXPOSITION, 1904

Consolation

By KEITH GORDON

Copyright, 1904, by K. M. Whitehead

Through the stained glass above the palms and roses the midday sun streamed in, flecking the scene with gorgeous reds, blues and greens. It shed a golden glory upon the tall, slender, graceful bride, and at the sight the best man shut his jaw a bit more determinedly. She was looking more than ever like an angel, and in five minutes she would be the wife of his best friend. That was the monotonous sentence which kept repeating itself in his mind. As if he were likely to forget!

Opposite him and just behind the bride the maid of honor stood. For the moment she, too, had forgotten the guests, forgotten everything save the fact that the one man in the world whom she might have loved—for she always phrased it thus carefully to herself—was at that moment vowing to love and cherish her closest friend. She had a curious feeling that when she was an old, old woman, when a yellow, withered face and dim, sad eyes looked back at her from her mirror, she should still be able to live over again the despair of this moment, when the white robed clergyman was taking him from her life, a thousand times more irrevocably than death could have done.

There was a stir about her like the rush of the wind. For a second she was too lost in thought to understand; then, as she dropped upon her knees somewhat hurriedly, her bewildered eyes caught those of the best man, casually at first and then with a quick, startled recognition of something she saw there. He, too, had the air of a person suddenly awakened from a nightmare, momentarily uncertain of the surroundings in which he found himself.

A moment later she had forgotten his very existence.

"He's Ethel's husband now—Ethel's husband," she said sternly to herself, skillfully turning a dry sob into a long, broken breath and composing her face to the radiant expression becoming the bride's best friend.

Meanwhile the best man admonished himself in a similar strain. "Steady now, old man! Now's the time to get out your happy smile." Then, as the rigid muscles of his face gave no indication of relaxing, his thoughts ran on crossly: "Don't be an ass! It's the worst ever, so you might as well cheer up!"

By the time the great organ pealed out the triumphant strains of the wedding march he and the maid of honor, their masks on, faced the guests that filled the church, ready to play their parts for all they were worth. Something in the music was at once an inspiration and a challenge.

"Isn't she sweet?" whispered one of the guests to a companion, referring to the maid of honor. "But how pale she is, and what a curious look there is in her eyes—sort of nothing can ever matter again expression—and yet"—

The speaker stopped, staring thoughtfully at the girl until she had passed.

More than once during the course of the wedding breakfast that followed the best man found himself watching her curiously. No one was gayer than she—none so gay, in fact. Her eyes were brilliant, and her laugh rang out valiantly, but his own misery made him subtly conscious of some undercurrent of feeling that was running strong and pitiless under the surface bubbles—an undertow of misery that she was resisting with all her strength.

He remembered that when, during the ceremony, their eyes had met in that confused, unveiled glance she had been staring at the groom as intently as he had at the bride. Could it be—He did not formulate the thought, but he watched her more keenly than ever after that—so keenly, indeed, that once, unable to bear it any longer, with an appearance of unconsciousness she taxed him with it.

"You are very rude!" she said lightly, but at his grave, sincere "Believe me, I have not meant to be," and the searching look that accompanied it, expressive of a sympathy he could not put into words, her lips quivered ever so slightly. "Weddings get upon my nerves," she explained, with a little grimace, and before he could reply she had turned away.

The shower of rice and old shoes had spent itself, and the bride and groom had departed, taking all the romance of the world with them and leaving behind a monotony without form and void. All of the guests felt it, and already the bustle of departure was in the air. But to the best man and the maid of honor it was a ghastly, appalling fact that made them linger on the steps after the others had re-entered the house, staring blankly after the carriage that had disappeared around the corner. Then the man remembered where he was and pulled himself together with an effort.

"Seems rather like the end of things, doesn't it?" he observed as they turned into the doorway.

"From our standpoint, yes," was the listless answer. Then she caught her lip between her teeth and darted a quick, inquiring glance at him. That was not precisely what she would have chosen to say, and she hoped that he would not notice it. But at the sight of the somber smile in his eyes the hope passed.

In a snug corner of the deserted library, where the farewells of the departing guests came to them but faintly, she next found herself, without being very clear as to how she came there. The best man was sitting in front of her holding one of her hands in a protecting, big brotherly fashion, while she vainly tried to keep back the tears that seemed to be rising as quietly and relentlessly as a flood. It was no use. Higher and higher they came. She winked hard and shut her teeth firmly. Then she snatched her hand away and covered her face.

"My poor little girl," murmured the best man softly.

"Weddings are always sad, don't you think?" she gasped out, dabbing at her eyes with her handkerchief and giving a little hysterical laugh. "Still, I don't usually behave like this. You see, when your best friend marries—she—that is—everything is different and"— She gave up trying to explain the situation in despair and ended with an incoherent, "But it's all very ridiculous, and I don't know why I should say all this to you."

She was the picture of helpless, girlish misery, and the best man's heart ached for her. Momentarily his sympathy took the edge off his own loneliness. He winced at the thought of her having to suffer alone the maddening sense of loss that tormented him.

"Perhaps it's because misery loves company," he said gently. "Perhaps you feel that this wedding hasn't been altogether like other weddings to me either," he went on, with a matter of fact air, as if it were the most natural thing in the world that they should be confiding in each other.

She was watching him with a dawning understanding in her eyes, and he met her gaze with a whimsical smile, as if he were offering her the open book of his soul to read if she would.

"Do you mean that you, too"—

There was no need to complete the question, for it was answered before it was spoken. Involuntarily her hands went out to him in quick, warm sympathy, and though her only comment was a breathless "Oh!" it was eloquent with feeling.

Little by little her composure came back to her.

"It was so good of you to tell me," she said gratefully. "I think I feel as Robinson Crusoe did when he discovered the man Friday.

"Not that I'm glad that you're unhappy, too," she added quickly; "only it doesn't seem so lonely now that I know that there is some one who understands. After all, that's what makes life worth living, isn't it?" she finished, looking up at him with what seemed to him the sweetest look he had ever seen in a girl's face.

When at the end of six months the bride and groom returned from their honeymoon abroad the best man and the maid of honor were among the first of their dinner guests.

"See here; it seems to me that you two have been making hay in our absence," laughed the bride, noting with a woman's quick instinct the deep, strong understanding that seemed to exist between the two, whereupon her listeners exchanged a somewhat humorous, albeit confused, glance, but refused to explain.

The following June they were married. Just before the Lohengrin march the organist played "Consolation," at which such of the guests as recognized the selection elevated their eyebrows and wondered. But the bride and groom alone were in the secret. It was a case of in memoriam.

Cure yourself of Catarrh with

Japanese Catarrh Cure

Save the hundreds of dollars you are paying to specialists, who only give temporary relief. Stop ruining your stomach with blood purifiers and tonics that are loaded with cocaine and alcohol. Neither will ever cure you. There is one—and only one—cure for Catarrh—Japanese Catarrh Cure. It never fails.

Here's what a druggist says about it:—"When I say I believe Japanese Catarrh Cure the only cure for catarrh on the market, I think I know just what I am talking about. I have tried every remedy and also several doctors but only received temporary relief. After hearing several of our customers speak so highly of it, I tried it. From the very first, it gave me much relief, and now, after using four boxes of Japanese Catarrh Cure, find myself completely cured. I have since recommended it to some of our customers, and know of several of them whom it has cured."

The Professor's Love Story.

An amusing story is told concerning Professor Duncan of St. Andrew's university, who was in his younger days a teacher in Dundee. The embryo professor proposed to a lady, who curtly refused him. Shortly afterward Mr. Duncan became Professor Duncan, and the lady heard no more of him, not even by letter.

Some time after she went to St. Andrew's to try the effect of sea bathing. She saw Duncan often, and he talked to her on every subject except the subject she was now apparently interested in.

At last she courageously screwed up her courage and, coming to the point, said:

"Mr. Duncan, there was a subject you once mentioned to me some time ago, and really I am rather surprised that you have never recurred to it, for I have changed my mind since that time."

The professor simply remarked:

"Yes, but I, too, have changed my mind."—London Tit-Bits.

BRITONS ARE INCENSED

Foreign Office Demands Inquiry Into Warsaw Outrage.

Ambassador Hardinge Has Been So Instructed—British Newspapers Unanimous in Condemnation of Russia and Attribute All Incidents to Anti-British Sentiment—160 Dead At Warsaw and the Strike Continues Unabated.

London, Jan. 31.—Reports of continued acts of hostility to Great Britain and citizens of this country in Russia are causing considerable perplexity and anxiety in official circles here. At the Foreign Office there is evident apprehension of another popular anti-Russian outburst here, and while diplomats say there is no doubt that full satisfaction will be given for the Warsaw affair, the newspapers are unanimous in condemnation of Russia and attribute all incidents to anti-British sentiment.

At the Foreign Office yesterday it was intimated that these accumulative evidences of hostility, which, either accidental or intentional, are causing much apprehension, and it will be necessary for the Russian Government to give full and prompt explanation, or otherwise popular sentiment in the United Kingdom might create a serious situation. It was pointed out that while the injured Pro-Consul at Warsaw, Mucukain, is merely an interpreter and native clerk in the Consulate, that fact made no difference, and that it would be necessary to prove that the affair was not the result of the publication of the objectionable notices concerning which Ambassador Hardinge already has protested officially.

The following communication was issued by the Foreign Office last night: "Information has been received from the British Consul-General at Warsaw that he and Mucukain, the Pro-Consul, were attacked by soldiers on Jan. 28. Murray (the Consul-General) is not believed to have been injured, but Mucukain, who is a Russian subject, was wounded by sword cuts, and is in an hospital. Representations were at once made by Ambassador Hardinge to the Russian Government, which demanded that the Governor-General of Warsaw institute strict inquiry into the incident. His Majesty's Ambassador also sent Colonel Napier, the military attache, to Warsaw to report on the subject."

160 Dead At Warsaw.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—Yesterday passed in perfect quiet. The report that a bomb was thrown at the Governor-General's residence is unfounded. Interest has been transferred from St. Petersburg and Moscow to Warsaw, Lodz and Libau, where a state of siege has been proclaimed.

In the rioting at Warsaw on Sunday, at least 160 persons were killed or wounded. The strike continues unabated, and business is paralyzed. However, the crisis is by no means passed, and there is great apprehension here with regard to what the night may bring forth, especially if the attempt to disable the lighting system should be successful. The Warsaw demonstrators evidently are in an ugly mood.

The public reprimand administered to the Deputy Chief of Police, Roudneff, of Moscow, on account of the posting of the anti-British telegram has been delivered, and in Government circles it is thought to be severe enough to satisfy British opinion.

Czar Approves Massacre.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 31.—In an interview, Grand Duke Vladimir says: "The shooting by the troops was not planned by anybody; it was done under the ordinary laws of the Empire after the police had failed in their efforts to stop the procession."

With extraordinary emphasis he added:

"The military did their duty only, and they will do it again if necessary.

"It is a mistake to assert, as the foreign press does, that the mob had no warning. The regulation warning given the mob by three blasts of the bugles is in Russia equivalent to a reading of the riot act in America.

"The people of Russia are absolutely unfit for a constitution, and there will be none given. The Emperor is unshakably resolute on that point.

"The Emperor has been much grieved by the recent bloodshed, but he recognizes and admits the necessity thereof, and has expressed his determination to resist all revolutionary demands.

"He is determined to grant all proper reforms, but they will come by his own will."

Bomb For a Prince.

Paris, Jan. 31.—The police early yesterday discovered a supposed bomb with a tube attached, containing a lighted fuse, in front of the house of Prince Troubeskey, an attache of the Russian Embassy here. The policemen extinguished the fuse and informed the authorities, who are investigating the affair

A meeting was held last night in the Tivoli, Vauxhall, to protest against Russian autocracy. During the exit of the audience into the Avenue de la Republique, a bomb was thrown into the centre of the group of police and Republican Guards, in which stood Prefect Lepine and other high officials. Five persons were wounded.

Canadian For Brazil.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—Prof. J. W. Hart, a graduate of the O.A.C., and who in 1903 was appointed head of the dairy department in Illinois University, has been appointed director of the College of Agriculture in the State of Sao Paulo, Brazil, for five years, at a salary of $4,000 a year and expenses, increasing to $5,000. H. A. Morgan, B.S.A., also a graduate, has been appointed director of the State agricultural experiment station of Tennessee.

Under a Delusion

London, Jan. 31.—(C.A.P.)—Prof. Bryce, M.P., speaking at Lewes, said the protectionists were under a complete delusion about Canadian sentiment. He had been recently in Canada and found scant interest there in Mr Chamberlain's scheme, which was scarcely even mentioned at the November elections. Opinion was divided, but certainly Canadian manufacturers feared British competition too much to let the tariff be lowered.

Dr. Barnardo Speaks.

London, Jan. 31.—(C.A.P.)—At the Lord Mayor's meeting re child emigration, at which many spoke. Dr. Barnardo said Canada was unsuitable for children under 5. He had tried an experiment and found the death rate 200 in 1900. He thought farms under Mrs. Close's scheme would soon be known as workhouse farms all over the country. He put an amendment to the original resolution that the Local Government Board be requested to reconsider Mrs. Close's scheme. To effect the scheme would be very costly, if not impracticable. The resolution was declared carried by a large majority, though doubts where expressed whether a count of hands would have justified this.

Accuse Wife of Neglect.

Toronto, Jan. 31.—"That John Honeywell came to his death on Saturday, Jan. 21, from pneumonia, accelerated by the neglect of his wife and family." Such is the verdict which Coroner Pickering's jury returned late last night at the morgue. The evidence of neighbors and medical men showed neglect on the part of the Honeywell family, which occupied a double stall in a barn in rear of 179 Jarvis street for about three months prior to Honeywell's death.

Sends a Sample.

London, Jan. 31.—(C. A. P.)—The Standard believes in emigration as a remedy for the unemployed, and is sending to Canada H. Watts with £5 as a man seeking employment in a new home for the means of livelihood. He will write his experiences.

ARCH ENEMY OF MANKIND.

Who it is and How to Escape His Clutches.

Save Yourself To-day.

The arch enemy of human life is not Satan, but Pneumonia.

Consumption may number its thousands, but Pneumonia its tens of thousands; and, besides, it's much quicker in doing its deadly work. A person may catch cold, get Pneumonia and die in two or three days.

The only safeguard is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

They will, if taken in time, prevent Pneumonia from developing.

But, of course, if you wait too late, from a really bad attack nothing can save you.

That's why we lay so much stress on the fact that a common cold is such a dangerous thing to neglect.

You never know what may come of it.

And, nowadays, when we have at hand, in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, such a safe, certain and perfect cure for a cold, there is no excuse whatever for letting it run along.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets act directly upon the mucous membranes of the body, the inflammation of which is generally called "Catarrh," which inflammation is nearly always caused in the first place, by a cold.

As soon as you begin to sneeze, and your eyes and nose begin to run, fly for relief to Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. They will not fail you.

Cases of chronic, long-standing catarrhal trouble, accompanied by discharge from nose and throat, coughing, hawking, spitting, offensive breath, indigestion, irritation of the stomach or bowels, are also easily cured by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

In cases of long standing, however, a cure cannot be expected in a day, as it will take some time to build up the weakened, inflamed and flabby membranes to their original tonic state of health.

It will take time, but perseverance will win the day—if assisted by Stuart's Catarrh Tablets.

It is important, however, to remember to use Stuart's.

No others are genuine.

No other tablets, or any other medicine, will give you the real, positive, permanently curative results that Stuart's will.

Try them.

All druggists sell them at 50 cents a box.

HIS BILL SHUNTED.

Fitzpatrick Takes First Step to Have Lancaster's Measure to Safeguard Public Put Out of Business.

Ottawa, Jan. 31.—Many seats that were vacant during the Ontario election campaign were occupied yesterday. The House is beginning to look something like a House, and business for the first time this session is being taken up seriously.

Hugh Guthrie introduced his bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. The bill provides against the canvassing or soliciting of workmen by their employers. The bill applies to mercantile men, professional men, manufacturers and corporations of all kinds.

"What about the farmer and the hired man?" asked W. F. Maclean.

"It includes them," answered Mr. Guthrie.

"And what about the civil service?" asked Andrew Broder.

Mr. Guthrie replied that he had not considered this feature of the case.

British Imports.

Dr. Daniels of St. John was informed by the Minister of Customs that there was imported from the United Kingdom into Canada direct, via Canadian ports in 1902-3, goods to the value of $46,271,934, and in 1903-4, goods valued at $49,275,081; goods imported from the United Kingdom to Canada via. United States points amounted in 1902-3, to $12,796,772, and in 1903-4 to $12,685,878.

Ralph Smith moved a resolution declaring "that it is expedient to provide for the registration of labor union labels and to provide pecuniary penalties for the unlawful use of such labels when so registered." At previous sessions Mr. Smith has endeavored to put through legislation of this kind, but the Government always succeeded in side-tracking it.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier suggested that the question could not be satisfactorily discussed until the bill was printed. The resolution was passed and a bill based on the resolution was read a first time.

Ice Jam Near Morrisburg.

Andrew Broder told the House of an ice jam on the St. Lawrence River, near Morrisburg. The jam is now seven miles long, and the water has risen six feet. Mr Broder said serious damage would result if action was not taken to break the jam.

Mr. Lancaster of Lincoln, moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Railway Act. This also is a warm-over from last session. The bill provides that wherever in a thickly settled district of a city, a town, or a village, a railway crosses a highway at rail-level, trains shall not run at a rate exceeding ten miles an hour, unless the company provides a watchman or gates at such crossings. Mr. Lancaster was severe in his references to the railways, which he said, did not care how many people they killed so long as earnings were not interfered with.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson did not favor the bill, the present law was satisfactory, he said. The question of the speed of trains at level crossings was in the hands of the Railway Commission, which could determine each case on its own merits. The law imposed on the Railway Commission the duty of regulating the speed of trains at level crossings.

After speeches by Major Fowler, W. F. Maclean, Demers, A. H. Clarke, W. M. German, Haggart, Blain and Perley, Hon. Chas. A. Fitzpatrick moved that "the bill be referred to the Railway Committee.

The House divided on Mr. Fitzpatrick's motion to refer the bill to the Railway Committee. The motion carried on a vote of 85 to 45, Messrs. Haggart, Barker, Alcorn and Lefurgey voted with the Government.

Leighton McCarthy moved the second reading of his bill to amend the steamboat inspection act of 1898. The bill deals with permits granted to marine engineers who have not passed their examinations.

Mr. McCarthy moved also that the bill be referred to a special committee, which will hear the evidence of the various parties interested in the question.

Dominion Exhibition.

Ottawa, Jan 31.—The Dominion Government has decided to give a grant of $50,000 to a Dominion exhibition, to be held this year during the coming summer at New Westminster, B.C.

TAKES HIS OWN LIFE.

Young Dereham Farmer Shoots Himself in the Head.

Ingersoll, Jan. 31.—Yesterday morning Coroner Neff was called to Dereham where a young farmer, about 34 years of age, named William Quinn, committed suicide by sending a bullet from a revolver into his brain. The rash act was done at the home of his brother, Charles Quinn, at an early hour in the morning. Death was instantaneous, the bullet having entered the head just above to the front of the right ear. The circumstances go to show how determined Wm. Quinn was to take his own life. For an hour previous to the firing of the fatal shot he and his brother Charles sat together, during which time William repeatedly threatened to take his life. He accomplished his purpose when his brother went out, leaving him alone.

Seven to One

That is about the rate. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The Grass Hoppers challenge the B.A.C. to a game of hockey as soon as the rink can be obtained.

If the Hoppers' playing is as bad as their singing it is all off with them

—The T.A.C. and Campbellford will decide the district tie in Lindsay on Friday night. It will be a great game. Both teams are likely to run excursions and there will be something doing in Sougogville.

The standing to date is:—

	Won.	Lost.	To play.
Cobourg	4	1	1
Belleville	4	2	0
Port Hope	3	3	0
Peterborough	0	5	1

There promises to be a big crowd at Thursday night's game between the Furriers and Karnots. Neither team need the game, but both are determined to win and the match will be worth going miles to see. Both teams play as fast or faster hockey than any junior O.H.A. team seen here this season.

Lindsay, Jan. 30—The Lindsay hockey team was changed considerably for the game here with Port Perry, and it proved a success, the home team winning by a score of 8 to 5. It was a very fast contest, Dennison and Stewart playing well for Port Perry, while Irving and Taylor played star hockey for Lindsay. Taylor and Irving were badly cut about the head.

The teams were:

Lindsay — Goal, McGrath, point Reilly, coverpoint Irving, forwards, Gallaghen, Taylor, Pringle and Duffus.

Port Perry—Goal, Stewart, point, Carnegie, cover point, Powers, forwards, Dennison, P. Stewart, Jamieson and VanSinclair.

The result of this game gives Peterborough the district, the standing being—

	Won	Lost
Peterborough	5	1
Lindsay	3	3
Port Perry	0	4

The second round in the O.H.A. intermediate district has been arranged. Peterborough, winner of group 2, will meet Smith's Falls, winner of group 1, on Monday Feb. 6th, at the Falls and the Easterners play the return game here on Friday, Feb. 10th.

Last night a meeting of the City Hockey League executive was held in the Y.M.C.A. and all the teams except the Colonials were represented. The protest entered by the Verniers against the Earl Greys in the last game was heard and the game was thrown out and the teams will play it over again after the close of the schedule. Cameron will be allowed to finish the season with the Earl Greys. The president and M. J. Hickey were instructed to arrange for a referee for the Karnot-Furrier game on Thursday.

Mr W. Cavanah has consented to act as referee in Thursday night's game.

The One Who Was Mad.

A corpulent German came rushing into the circuit court one morning before court was called and said:

"I vant to git varrant for a man to kill a tog."

"Well, my man, you don't come to this court to get warrants in cases of that kind. If you want the dog killed you should go to a police court," said the judge.

The German started to leave, when the judge inquired in an interested manner:

"Did the dog bite you?"

"Yess, he bit me."

"Well, was the dog mad?"

"Vas de tog madt? No. I vas madt."
—Buffalo Commercial.

His Opportunity Came.

Rear Admiral Charles D. Sigsbee, U. S. N., was once advanced after a long and patient wait from commander to captain. On the day that he was promoted he went ashore and kept the launch which was to take him to his ship waiting beyond the appointed time. When he finally strolled down, Paymaster Charles W. Slamm, who was in charge of the launch, said: "Captain, you—you have just been promoted, and you—you have made a bad beginning. You have kept the boat waiting ten minutes, sir." "Be calm, Mr. Slamm," said the new captain, with a tantalizing grin; "I've been waiting years for the privilege."

PETERBORO' COUNTY COUNCIL ELECTS W. T. BUCK WARDEN

He has Been Member for Six Years, and Was the Unanimous Choice—Inaugural Session of the County Fathers—Smith School Section Airs Grievance—Teacher Without Certificate Was Engaged.

Mr. W. T. Buck, of Norwood, was this afternoon chosen as Warden of the County of Peterborough for the year 1905. The inaugural meeting of the County Council was held at 2 o'clock. Those present were:—Samuel Stinson and H. Garbutt, Smith; Thos. Webster, Dummer; Dennis Moloney, Douro; John Menogue, Chandos; Robert Shaw, Harvey; F. J. Johnston and John Deyell, Otonabee; W. T. Buck, Norwood; James Andrews, of Asphodel.

The clerk, Mr. E. M. Elliott, called for nominations for Warden. Councillor Johnston moved, and Councillor Moloney seconded, that Councillor W. T. Buck be Warden for the year 1905.

This was the only name mentioned, and it was unanimously received, the clerk therefore declaring Mr. Buck as the choice of the Council.

The Wardel-elect was greeted with applause as he proceeded to don the robes of office, and afterwards took the presiding chair. He expressed his appreciation of the honor that had been conferred upon him, and said he would endeavor to perform the duties of the office to the best of his ability. He asked their co-operation toward that end, in order that affairs might be carried on in the very best interests of the county and town.

The Council now took up regular business.

COUNTY RATES.

A communication was read from the treasurer of Chandos, enclosing the sum of $195 for county rate. A similar letter was received from Havelock, stating that the village county rate, amounting to $282.26 had been duly forwarded.

A notification was received from the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham stating that $49.50 had been paid to Peterborough County for repairs to Wallace Point bridge.

Letters were read, notifying Council that the amount paid by the Treasurer of Asphodel for County rate was $2,535.85; from Lakefield, $654.83; from Otonabee, $5,622.70; Douro, $4,364.40. (The amount paid by the town for County purposes was $4,332.67; Victoria County, for Pigeon Creek bridge $923.12; Dummer's County rate amounted to $1,642.09. These were referred to the Finance Committee.

A statement from the Executors of the late Mrs. Foley was referred to the Finance Committee.

AUDITORS

On motion of Mr. Menogue seconded by Mr. Shaw, Mr. T. G. Eastland was appointed one of the auditors.

On motion of Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Maloney, Mr. W. H. Casement, of Lakefield was also appointed one of the auditors.

On motion of Mr. Shaw, seconded by Mr. Menogue, the Whole Council was appointed a committee to strike the Standing Committees for the year, with Mr. Shaw as chairman.

SCHOOL GRIEVANCE.

Mr. John McConkey, of School Section No. 9, Smith, addressed the Council, stating that he had a grievance. A teacher, Mr. Armstrong, without certificate, had been engaged because of impossibility to get any other. The inspector, Mr. Brown, had held that if they continued to keep the teacher they would have to forfeit the Government grant. Mr. Armstrong was a first class teacher and it was impossible to secure any other to take his place. Mr. McConkey complimented the Council on their unanimous selection of Warden. He had known him for many years as a thorough gentleman.

Another speaker, Mr. Isaac Elliott, explained to the Council that he had said he would rather pay $5 out of his own pocket than lose Mr. Armstrong. This had been spoken of as a bribe toward the inspector, but the speaker could not see it in that light.

Mr. McConkey said that he frequently heard of the $5 referred to by Mr. Elliott and said he did not think it could be regarded as a bribe. The school section wanted justice, nothing more.

Mr. Brown in explaining the matter, said it was his duty to carry out the law. The trustees of the section had been duly warned to get a properly qualified teacher; they had been too late in advertising and knew this young man had no certificate—in fact never taught in this County with a certificate, but in Victoria. He was a good penman, but there were other more important qualifications to be expected of teachers. Mr. Brown said he had given the trustees warning in 1903, and because of this he did not consider it advisable to grant a permit.

Mr. McConkey held that they had advertised in the local and Toronto papers and received several applications, but the teachers were later engaged elsewhere and it was impossible to secure others in time. Mr Brown, notwithstanding, had said he would furnish names of teachers.

The matter was finally referred to the Committee on Schools.

The Council adjourned to go into Committee of the Whole.

THE NEW WARDEN.

Mr. W. T. Buck, of Norwood, who was chosen by the County Council as Warden for the year 1905, is a gentleman who will undoubtedly be an honor to that position. He has been six years a member of the Council—two under the "old dispensation"—and hence must be regarded as one who is capable of recognizing the duties and responsibilities of the office. He has been a careful Councillor, and the outstanding feature of his record has been the support of an administration of affairs that was in the best interests of the county and town. His friends here, as in Norwood, where he resides, and wherever he is known, will wish him a most successful term.

MAJORITY FOR T. E. BRADBURN, 1174.

Fashion's Echoes.

The leather toilet roll is twin sister to the fitted bag. There is always a place for it in the trunk or bureau drawer.

In Paris this year the long skirt is very long, and the short skirt is very short, escaping the ground by about three inches.

Elaborate and superb in fur fashioning is a beautiful shawl in mink, ermine and hand embroidered cloth.

Men's frock coats are cut long in the skirts; but, though full, there is no flare.

A striking feature of the best winter fashions is the richness of fabrics now used in velvets, brocades and satin embossed silks.

The new velvets and velveteens are delightfully soft. Many of the dressy gowns will be fashioned from chiffon velvet.

Peau de soie promises to be very popular. For afternoon and evening it is made with velvet trimmings.

Large hats are worn with evening tresses.

HOW DARE YOU SAY THE PRINCE HAS VULGAR COLIC

There is no special brand of colic for the royal heir to a throne.

Cast your bread on the waters, but have a hook buried in it for the benefit of the curious fishes.

When a man longs for a return of the good old times he forgets about the girl who used to recite "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

Montreal Gazette, Jan. 18.

Chief Campeau issued an order yesterday that the captains of the fifteen police districts of the city were to assemble at police headquarters this morning. They are called together to receive instructions from Dr. McKay on how to administer his treatment for alcoholism to drunken prisoners brought to their stations. The Finance Committee voted $500 to have the treatment placed in every police station in the city, and in order that the officers may know how best to administer it, Dr. McKay will give them a few instructions.

ONE ITALIAN STABS ANOTHER

An Affray on Simcoe Street With Serious Results.

VICTIM MAY NOT RECOVER

Police Were Not Notified for Nearly Two Hours—No Trace of Assailant Could be Found—Wounded Man Stabbed in Four Places.

Once more has the Italian and his deadly knife caused trouble in Peterborough. (These natives from the sunny south have a strange habit of always resorting to the dagger when they get into a mix-up.

As a result of a row last evening one Italian, Levsio Cupido is in St. Joseph's Hospital with four knife wounds in his body and another Pompilio Marfeso, the man who did the stabbing, is a fugitive from justice. The affray occurred at Camille Deluke's house, 267 Simcoe street. Marfeso was a boarder there, while Cupido has been living at the Italian settlement on Bethune street.

LONG STANDING FEUD.

The feud between the two which culminated in last night's mix-up seems to have been of long standing.

On Sunday when Cupido went over to Deluke's to get some letters, the two got into a fight and only the intervention of the bystanders prevented serious injuries, as both men or rather boys, as both are about eighteen years old, drew their knives. Last evening the trouble broke out afresh and before the men would be parted, Marfeso had stabbed his opponent in four places with his knife.

The fight took place about half-past five o'clock, but the police were not notified until seven o'clock. The Italians evidently desired that there should be no trouble about the matter, as they tried to get the wounded man into St. Joseph's Hospital without an order. Mr. D. Belleghem, who is in charge of the ambulance, refused to take him without an order from some physician, and the first notice the police received of the affair was from him.

Constables Stewart and McGinty went down to Deluke's at once, but of course Marfeso had escaped by that time and nothing could be heard of him. The natives could not, or did not want to, understand the officers.

Inquiry at St. Joseph's Hospital this morning revealed the fact that the wounded man was getting along as well as could be expected. Dr. Coughlin dressed the wounds last evening. He was stabbed once in the left side, once in the left arm, and once in the left shoulder. These injuries are not considered serious. The fourth wound in the abdomen is the dangerous one and it will not be known for a day or two whether the man will recover or not. There is some danger of peritonitis setting in.

THIS MORNING'S SEARCH.

This morning Chief Rossel, accompanied by Mr. N. Minicolo, the Hunter street merchant, in the guise of interpreter, visited some of the Italian settelments. At Deluke's, where the stabbing occurred, nothing could be discovered. A young man who knew Marfeso was taken along to identify him, if found. The Bethune street settlement was next searched, but the police found no trace of the man. The inhabitants promised to do their best to bring the man to justice. A house on Aylmer street, between Charlotte and King was next visited, but beyond the information given by one of the Italians that Marfeso had been seen buying a ticket at the C.P.R. station nothing was learned. Inquiry at the station has shown that no ticket was bought there, but nevertheless the man may have escaped from town by the G.T.R. The clannish spirit among the Italians and their desire to shield one another makes the work of the police very difficult.

BRIEF NEWS NOTES.

What is Taking Place in Peterborough and its Vicinity.

—A case of non-support was remanded for a week at the police court his morning.

—The phone in the office of N. B. Darrell, stock broker, has been changed from 325 to 437.

—A deputation of legal gentlemen waited on the County Council this afternoon requesting that some necessary improvements be made to the law library.

The regular monthly prayer meeting will be held in St. Andrew's church this evening at eight o'clock. Service preparatory to the communion will be held on Friday evening.

—Mr. Aaron Comstock and the Canadian Pacific Railway are the only two ratepayers who have wiped out their part of the cost for granolithic walks in a lump payment. The others have extended it over 20 years.

—Dr. Amys having purchased the property and practice of the late Dr. Pigeon, who resided at 270 Charlotte street, Peterborough, he will on and after January 31st have his surgery at the above address, instead of as in the past on Lake street, Ashburnham. Office hours 8.30 to 10.30 a.m. 2 to 3.30 p.m. 7 to 8 p.m. 6d1w

—A regular meeting of All Saints' Guild was held last evening, and a rather heated discussion took place. Several members objected to the fact that for two nights of the week the rink was devoted exclusively to hockey. A proposal to hold a concert was discussed, but was left over until the next meeting.

The wife and relatives of a young married man residing on McDonnel-st. are somewhat alarmed at his rather sudden disappearance. He has not been home since Sunday, but it is reported he stayed with a friend in Ashburnham. It is hoped he will return. The missing man wore a cloth peaked cap, a dark overcoat, is of slight build, medium size, and rather dark.

—Lieut.-Col. Deacon, of Lindsay, suffered a paralytic stroke. He is some better, but the doctor says it will be a day or two before he can speak confidently of the result. Lieut.-Col. Deacon was in the British army in the Crimea, and is a retired officer of the Lindsay militia. For eighteen years he has been county police magistrate. For twice that long he has been prominent in the public affairs of the town. He is 78 years of age.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE
Red Rose Tea

Because it is accepted as a standard of quality.

Red Rose Tea can be found in the sample room of nearly every tea firm in Canada. It is used as a standard of quality by which they judge their own teas.

A large London, Eng. Tea firm recently asked their correspondents in Montreal to send them samples of the best brand of tea sold in this country—they sent Red Rose.

This is a very high tribute to Red Rose Tea. If you will try the tea you will feel like endorsing this tribute.

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 1, 1905.

PEN POINTS.

The new town council is apparently starting out right and it is hoped its efforts to induce new industries to locate here will be prosecuted with the same zeal and diligence as have characterised its negotiations with the one now under consideration.

The Review extends its congratulations to Mr. W. T. Buck, on his elevation to the Warden's chair of Peterborough County. He has been a faithful and earnest representative in the County Council for six years, and previously served his own township of Asphodel for several years in the Township Council. His record is a clean, broad-minded and progressive one and he will doubtless render splendid service in his new position.

Among the names prominently mentioned as likely cabinet timber in Mr. Whitney's new Ministry is Mr. J. Hilliard Carnegie, M.P.P., East Victoria. He is freely spoken of as the new Minister of Agriculture. Mr. Carnegie is a successful and progressive farmer and stock breeder and is thoroughly conversant with all matters touching the interests of the great agricultural masses. The Toronto Star last night contained an excellent cut of Mr. Carnegie, who is an old Peterborough boy.

The Manufacturers' Association of Canada has designed a particularly neat and suggestive "sticker," embodying the aims and purposes of the Association. This sticker, a trifle larger than an ordinary postage stamp and of the same shape, has on a green background a scarlet horseshoe with a beaver at the opening of the shoe and each corner of the sticker a neatly illustrated cluster of maple leaves. Around the shoe and inside of it are the words, "Keep your money in circulation at home by buying goods made in Canada." The sentiment of the sticker is one that we must all heartily endorse.

The Montreal Gazette remarks on the result of Wednesday that it was not merely a condemnation of electoral corruption. It was more. It was a definite expression of the opinion that it is the duty of the Government of this day to maintain the purtiy of the ballot and to do everything in its power to render impossible all those practices, the exercise of which in recent years has made the name of Ontario a by-word among all the other provinces of the Dominion. The resources of the Government must no longer be employed to minimize electoral crimes and save their perpetrators from deserved punishment. The law must be enforced, regardless whether it affects friend or foe.

Mr. Whitney comes into power with a majority behind him which will enable him to do all this. He will be judged largely by the record he makes in this connection. That he will be equal to it there is every reason to believe. That he will give the people good, honest government is assured by his regard as a public man, and by his regard as a public man, and ly he will associate with him in the task committed to his charge.

The independent Toronto News endeavors to correct a mis-statement which has been used by Liberal journals of all classes, in their endeavor to account for the wholesale hammering of the Ross Government. The News says:—

Those Liberals who say that the government "went down before a campaign of slander" are needlessly adding humiliation to defeat. The charges that were laid before the people were not trumped up stories, but were based upon judgment of the courts and admitted facts. They were not personal slanders. The responsibility that was placed upon the Ministers was a political responsibility, and it was upon public grounds that they were condemned. It was quite legitimate for their friends to try to minimize their responsibility, but upon public grounds it was better that the largest and strictest views of responsibility should be held, so that a salutary precedent should be recorded. On reflection, Liberals may conclude that it was worth while suffering defeat for the purpose of asserting the principle of freedom of elections, which is simply a Liberal principle. The thousands of Liberals who voted against the Government must have been habitual readers of Liberal papers, and have had before them every possible answer and defence to the charges. They were not new charges or roorbacks, but charges that had been thoroughly discussed for weeks and months before the election. Nothing is further from the truth to say that the people were carried off their feet by slander.

LANDS TITLE ACT

The County of Carleton has under consideration the adoption of the Ontario Land Titles Act. The Ottawa Citizen advocates it as "a much needed reform," and points out the merits of the system. Titles under the act are absolute and cannot be upset in any way. All questions are disposed of as they arise, by the Master of Titles, instead of being left as at present to be determined in the course of future expensive litigation. The cost of transferring land is greatly lessened. The searching of titles at each change of interest, the most expensive item under the registry system, is entirely done away with. For an elaborate deed under seal is substituted a transfer in the following form: "I, A.B., the registered owner of the land registered in the office of Land Titles at Ottawa as parcel 150, in consideration of $3,000, paid to me, transfer such land to C.D."

This is so simple that anyone of average intelligence may prepare it for himself and in that way without risk avoid the expense of consulting a lawyer at all. The fee for registration in the Land Titles office is $4, and if a lawyer is not employed this will be the total expense, as against a cost of from $12 to $15 under the registry system. In lieu of a deed the purchaser is given a document, prepared and signed by the Master of Titles at a cost of $1, certifying that he is the owner of the property. Subsequent dealings with the land are endorsed on this by the master and the same certificate may be thus passed on from party to party indefinitely, without the necessity of a new certificate. Finally, the expense of bringing land under the act is much less than might be imagined, and as it depends on the value of the property, may be accurately guaged beforehand. There is first a payment to the Crown of one-quarter of one per cent. of the value of the land (i. e. $1 per $1,000) and one-tenth of one per cent. of the value of the buildings (i. e. $1 per $1,000) to serve as an assurance fund against claims by persons whose interests may be wiped out by the operation of the act. This is paid once for all when the land is bought in and no similar payment is required at any subsequent time. In an ordinary case, where there is no party claiming an adverse interest in the land, the only other expense is a fee to the master.

NEWS FROM LAKEHURST

John Smith Sr. Appointed President of Agricultural Society.

The residence of Mr. Alex Thompson was quarantined about two weeks ago, his youngest child being a victim of scarlet fever. We are pleased learn that he is recovering.

Miss Fanny Bullied, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Dave Weir, returned to her home in Chandos last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shearer entertained a number of young people last Friday night, it being the birthday of their daughter, Miss Edna.

A number of Lakehurst young people attended the tea at Chemong Indian village on the 26th.

At the last annual meeting of the Agricultural Society, Mr. Robert Tedford, president, and Mr. Jos. Irwin, sec.-treas., both handed in their resignations. Mr. John Smith, sr., and Wilbert Elliott were appointed to the respective positions. Mr. John Smith was appointed delegate to attend the meeting held in Toronto with the object of decreasing the number of fairs.

The flag was flying in Lakehurst on Thursday, in honor of the great Conservative victory.

When Mr. McWilliams was in Lakehurst, he said that the Tories had good men but they were always defeated at the polls. Now we are wondering where the Grits' good men are. They must have gone under during Wednesday's storm. What is strange about it is that although the Tories were going round warm, happy and in the best of spirits, the Grits have been complaining of the cold ever since.

Mr. O'Connell said the same night that he had observed no opposition get into power until they presented a better policy that the Government had, and that the Tories of Ontario would not break the rule. Does he realize now that the time he spoke of has come?

The Grits around here thing it was hardly fair of J. R. to leave the old ship when he saw a storm coming without letting them know of the bad shape she was in. They had been telling us we made a mistake in selecting our man for West Peterborough, but it began to dawn on them on Wednesday night that the mistake lay elsewhere.

Old Mr. Adams says he is seven years younger, while Dr. Bonnell, of Bobcaygeon, whose birthday was on Wednesday says that the people of Ontario celebrated it right royally. Many more such happy birthdays, doctor.

GOOD ADDRESSES WERE DELIVERED

Supplementary Sittings of the Farmers' Institute.

CULTIVATION OF THE SOIL

Able Paper by Mr. Sherrington, of Walkerton—Mr Field Upon the Requirements of the Dairy Cow—Large Attendance at Evening Gathering — Sessions in Smith.

Two supplementary meetings of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute were held yesterday at the Orange Hall, 4th line Smith, one in the afternoon and one in the evening.

The meeting in the afternoon was poorly attended, the hall not being more than one third filled, a goodly portion of which were ladies. The evening session, however, was well attended by both the ladies and gentlemen of the section.

Mr. R. Q. Deneh, Lakefield, president of the Institute, made an ideal chairman.

The delegates addresses were listened to closely and considerable valuable discussion to the farmer grew from the different addresses.

Mr. A. E. Sherrington, of Walkerton, spoke very learnedly for an hour on cultivation and care of soil. He stated that he was a practical farmer and invited questions from his hearers. Cultivation was the key note of success. Moisture in the land, not too much or too little was of vital importance and must be either taken away from the plant or taken to it as the case required, and in a scholarly manner he described the methods of successfully doing this, what he called a very important part of the farmers' work.

Among other things Mr. Sherrington strongly advised light gang plowing immediately after the crops were harvested. This not only helps the moisture but also helps to kill the weeds. For the stubble field he advises light harrowing, after which the field may be used for pasturing calves and lambs, then plow up in the fall. For a fertilizer Mr. Sherrington advises the free use of wood ashes and the growing of and plowing in of clover. Considerable discussion arose over his advice to roll land before seeding and to light harrow grain fields when the grain was from 3 to 4 inches above ground. He however, appeared to satisfy his hearers that his contention was correct.

Mr. R. H. Field, of Addison, Ont., had a subject which he was thoroughly conversant with, and handled in a convincing manner. The subject was "Requirements of a dairy cow, its care and management." Mr. Field had a drawing of such an animal as he considered nearly perfect, showing, however, some slight defects in its build. The dairy cow should be as straight in the back as possible have broad square hips, wedging narrower to the fore part. He laid particular stress on the matter of breeding, claiming that the sire more particularly than the dam, should be of a good milk producing family. Mr. Field explained that a dairy cow must be handled kindly and to this end he advised that a calf should never be allowed, not even once, to nurse from its mother, as when the calf was taken away the mother fretted for it considerably more than had she not learned such parentive feeling, at the same time the calf should have the mother's milk for the first three days and have it from a clean pail and not from a swill pail, which is so often the case. Kindness to the milk cow, Mr. Field claims, brings more milk and of a better quality, consequently he could not too strongly urge his hearers to pay particular heed to that important point. He also advised but two good substantial meals per day in winter for the dairy cow, instead of feeding light and often as so many farmers do. He stated that a fair cow properly handled would produce 1,000 lbs. of milk per month, 10 months in the year.

EVENING SESSION

At 8 o'clock the hall was crowded to the doors with ladies and gentlemen of the district. The ladies were almost as numerous as the men and appeared to take fully as much interest in the different subjects.

A very pleasant feature of this session was some excellent music by Misses McGregor, Lounge, Graham and Campbell and Miss Courtney. Mr. Deneh was again in the chair.

Mr. Kline, Cheese manufacturer, of Lakefield, read a paper on "The care of milk before it reaches the factory." Mr. Kline's paper was well written and well delivered, and emphasized the need for milk to be handled clean and kept cool. Mr. Field's evening subject was "Farming" and urged the farmers to teach their sons farming as a doctor or lawyer learned their profession or as a mechanic learned his trade, serve an apprenticeship and learn it root and branch, seeing first that his son had sufficient education to at least carry him through any of the ordinary walks of life.

Mr. Sherrington spoke on "Beautifying the farm" and pictured to the audience a place attractive enough for the most fastidious to live upon.

Councillor Graham and Mr. Robert Darling very kindly entertained the delegates and representatives of the press at supper, dividing the number between them.

The meeting broke up at 10 o'clock with the usual votes of thanks to the delegates, the talent who so pleasingly contributed to the evening's entertainment, the press and the singing of God Save the King.

Meetings are being held at Ennismore to-day.

A-[illegible]ent Food

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington Co., Ont., writes:—"My wife had congestion of the lungs, along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and as well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

To the Lungs.

Do you go to New York to reach Victoria? No. There's a better and more direct way. Then why try to reach your lungs by way of your stomach? Don't. Better go straight to the lungs at once. Just light the vaporizer and breathe-in the healing, soothing vapors of Cresolene. The medicine goes exactly to the right place. Your lungs quickly heal and your cough disappears. For whooping-cough it's simply perfect.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists, or sent express prepaid on receipt of price. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit including a bottle of Cresolene, complete $1.50. Send for free illustrated booklet. Leeming, Miles Co., Ltd., Agents, 288 St. James Street, Montreal, Can.

FORTUNES IN THESE.

New Citizens of Inventive Genius May Achieve Wealth.

Peterborough has a number of citizens who have ventured more or less as inventors. Here is some information that may be of interest to these and others:—

In spite of the enormous inroads made on this earth's great store of wealth, diamonds, gold, oil, gas, coal, iron and other materials, recent investigations have brought to light the interesting fact that treasure fields containing fabulous wealth still remain intact.

Investigations have proved for instance, that huge areas of the floor of the Pacific are strewn thick with immense deposits of nodules of pure manganese. Invent a practicable and economical method of recovering it, and the individual who does so will at once become rich beyond the dreams of avarice.

The most crying need of to-day is a substitute for Paris rubber. It is certain to be discovered sooner or later. Celluloid and oxidized linseed oil are useful for some purposes for which rubber is used, but for cycle and automobile tires real rubber is still the only material with the necessary elasticity. The inventor of a substitute would soon become a multimillionaire.

Malleable glass was manufactured and used by the Romans nearly two thousand years ago. But the secret has been lost. It seems odd that no one in this age of mechanical progress has been able to rediscover the method of manufacturing a tough and unbreakable glass. Whoever succeeds in doing so and making the discovery economically useful will reap a great reward.

Real photography in colors is still an open field and offers boundless opportunities for the inventor. In smaller matters, too, the list of wants supplied is endless. Jewellers, for instance, are quite without any safe method of fixing pearls on jewellery, such as rings, where the gems are mounted without a surrounding setting.

Croup Absolutely Cured

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. Wm. Magee, 49 Wright Ave., Toronto. Ont.

HALL'S GLEN ITEMS

Buckhorn still is the same place as last heard from; somewhat brighter since the election.

We are pleased to see Sunday services begun in St. Mathew's church here. We wish Mr. Battisby every success.

Mrs. Taylor and Miss M. Richmond have returned home after spending the past month visiting friends in Markham and other points west.

Mr. John Eastwood spent a few days on the road last week, and then paired off on election day.

We believe the steam saw mill will be put in operation about the 15th.

CONCERNING SMITH.

An Attempt Being Made to Tamper With the Name.

The appearance of Telamon Cuyler Smith to have his name changed to Cuyler is opposed by plain John Smith, better known as "Jack" in Georgia, who has employed counsel to fight the change.

"Jack" Smith, calls upon Hoke Smith, Alex. Smith, Victor Smith, and others by name to aid him in the movement. But why should the opposition be thus narrowed? Why not seek also the help of every Smithe, Smyth, Smythe, Smit, Smet, Smid, Smed, Smidt, Smeed, Smedes, Smits, Smitt, Schmid, Schmidt, Schmith, Schmitt, Schmedes and Schmitz? Why bar the derivative Smithsons, Smithersee, Smeatons, Smithleins, Smedburgs, Smedleys, Smitsers, Schmitzlers, Schmittmanns and Eshmetzlers from the patriotic protest?

In the name of nomenclature and in deprecation of the clogging of court calendars, it is hoped that the attempt to tamper with the good old name of Smith will be effectually squelched.—New York World.

300 DEAD AT WARSAW

Troops Withdrawn From the Centre of the City.

End of the Strike Seems to Be in Sight, But Case of Treacherous Stabbing of Soldiers Grows More Frequent—Hundreds of Arrests Have Been Made, But Rumors That 25,000 Lodz Workmen March On Warsaw Unfounded.

London, Feb. 1.—The Daily Mail's Warsaw correspondent reports a restoration of comparative peace, though the city is still in a condition of dangerous ferment.

"The majority of the troops," the correspondent says, "have been withdrawn from the centre of the city, and the end of the strike is in sight. There is some fighting still in the outer suburbs, and cases of treacherous stabbing of soldiers are growing more frequent. Vehicular traffic has been resumed and supplies of food are arriving.

"Hundreds of domiciliary visits and arrests have been made. All suspected persons are stopped, searched and arrested if found to be carrying weapons. "Careful investigation convinces me that the dead number 300.

"The rumors of dynamite outrages at Lodz, and that 25,000 Lodz workmen are marching on Warsaw are unfounded. The Lodz men have struck but remain quiet."

Mob Had to Be Stopped.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—In an interview, Grand Duke Vladimir says: "I have stood aghast at the frightful stories of the butchery of innocent people which they have printed. I know they say well-intentioned patriots with a priest at their head, coming peacefully to place their grievances before His Majesty, were ruthlessly shot down in the streets, but we know that behind this peaceful procession was an Anarchistic and Socialistic plot of which the overwhelming majority of the workmen were merely innocent tools. We know from examination of the dead and those arrested that some alleged priests were actually revolutionary agitators and students in disguise. We had to save the city from a mob. Unfortunately, to do so, innocent and guilty suffered alike. But suppose 140,000 men had reached the gates of the Winter Palace; they would have sacked it as the mob sacked Versailles. From the palace they would have gone elsewhere, and the whole city would have been delivered over to anarchy, riot, bloodshed and flames. Our duty was the duty of every Government. The same situation has confronted cities in other countries. Why, because this occurred in Russia, should the whole world point the finger of scorn at us?"

A Deliberate Act.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—An unconfirmed report is in circulation that it has been officially ascertained that the discharge of grape from a saluting gun during the ceremony of the blessing of the waters on Jan. 19, and which imperilled the lives of the Emperor and members of his family was a deliberate act of the terrorists, their tool being a private soldier of the saluting battery.

Revolution Not Yet Ripe.

New York, Feb. 1.—Michael Davitt, wiring The Journal from St. Petersburg, says:

Official society is laughing at the English correspondents' predictions of an uprising yesterday. If the people of the other cities of Russia are as unprepared as the capital you may expect the overthrow of the Government about a month after there is a successful revolution in Colorado or Florida. No organization capable of producing revolution exists. Ninety-eight per cent. of the Russian people are peasants, attached to the soil, and unable to read and write. Any proposal to overthrow the throne or the Czar would be as unpopular among the stolid masses as a suggestion to abolish the Papacy would be to the world of Catholicism. Reform must come, and soon, but it will arrive along the lines of development. Deeds of terrorism will probably continue as heretofore, but any actual revolution is out of the question for the present. It is rumored that most of the English and French correspondents will be politely asked to withdraw after the successful flotation of the next Russian loan. I am informed that six of the nine journalists arrested recently are Jews.

Police Kill a Girl.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—Last evening the police surprised a meeting of strikers in a tavern and fired, killing a girl and wounding four other persons.

Toronto Press Club Officers.

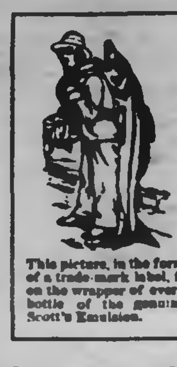
Toronto, Feb. 1.—The election of officers of the Toronto Press Club was held last evening at the King Edward and resulted: Hon. president, Prof. Goldwin Smith; president, Victor Ross (Globe); vice-president, W. H. Greenwood (World); treasurer, M. B. McDonald (Mail and Empire); secretary, Bert Roadhouse (Telegram). An executive will be chosen later.

Rosseau Committed For Trial.

New York, Feb. 1.—Gessler Rosseau, who was arrested in Philadelphia and brought here on a charge of sending a concealed explosive to the Cunard steamship Umbria, in this city two years ago, was yesterday committed to the Tombs Prison without bail, to await trial. Rosseau pleaded not guilty.

Succession Dues For Province.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—The Treasury Department will receive $3,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. H. F. Bronson of Ottawa. The estate is valued at about $145,000, but there were large bequests to charity, which are not assessable under the succession duties act.



HAD TO HIDE IT

A MOTHER wrote us recently that she had to keep Scott's Emulsion under lock and key—her children used to drink it whenever her back was turned. Strange that children should like something that is so good for them. It's usually the other way.

Scott's Emulsion

makes children comfortable, makes them fat and rosy-cheeked. Perhaps that's why they like it so much—they know it makes them feel good.

Older people, too, who are thin or delicate will find Scott's Emulsion a wonderful strength-giver and flesh-builder.

This picture, in the form of a trade-mark label, is on the wrapper of every bottle of the genuine Scott's Emulsion.

GOOD ADVICE ON DAIRY MATTERS

Given at Annual Entertainment in Smith Township.

CHEESE FACTORY'S REPORT

The Total Aggregate Business For the Year Was Over $24,000, an Increase of Over $5000— Good Programme Rendered.

The annual entertainment of the Central Smith Dairy Company was held in the Temperance Hall on Thursday and was a grand success, the hall being filled to its utmost capacity. Mr. T. D. Young, President, took the chair, in the absence of Mr. D. Derbyshire, M.P., who was unable to attend.

Mr. Young's address was very encouraging to the patrons and pointed out to them the necessity of working together and keeping up the good name of their factory, which was now among the leading factories on the Board.

MR. SOMERVILLE'S ADDRESS

Mr. N. G. Somerville, of Brockville, gave an interesting address. The speaker said he was greatly delighted to see such a large gathering of men, women and children present. I wish to convey to you, said Mr. Somerville, Mr. Derbyshire's regrets at not being able to be with you, and he wished me to say to you to go right on doing the good work you have been doing.

Our dairy business was too great to think lightly of, as we Canadians exported in 1904 $41,000,000 worth of dairy produce. I do not propose to come before you as a practical farmer, as I am not, but I am a farmer's son, and I am proud of it, as everyone who is raised on a farm should be, as it is the best occupation under the heavens today. If you will note the change in the farmer who has a family of boys now and a few years ago. The brightest boys are kept on the farm and the dullest ones sent to college to make doctors or lawyers out of them.

A successful farmer must be intelligent in order to have the best results and try and do better each year and improve from his own experience. We, in Brockville, as Mr. Young had referred to, have been lying on our oars and have not made the progress this year that Belleville and Peterborough sections have done, but I can assure you that in 1905 we are going to make the finest cheese in Canada.

You know that in all sections there are some cheese made which are not the finest, and these cheese hurt our reputation of Canadian cheese. One man or factory cannot build up a nation. It is only by standing together and co-operating that we can accomplish this end that we so much desire.

Now get a good herd of cattle of any breed you choose, as there is good and bad in all breeds. See that the teats, body and udder are well brushed before commencing the operation of milking. Milk with clean dry hands, strain immediately and remove to a pure atmosphere, cool down to a temperature of sixty degrees, stir while cooling and cover perfectly tight if you will. This method will enable your cheesemaker to get the best quality of cheese, as well as a better yield, and if you are paying by the Babcock test, as I am told you are, you will find it profitable. An improvement was made by Mr. Publow this last season by selecting the best milk coming to a factory and selecting the off-flavored and gassy milk and placing them in a vat separately. In the case of the good milk it took 10 1-4 lbs. to make a lb. of cheese and in the other case it took 14 1-4 lbs., a gain of 4 lbs. Does this not mean dollars and cents to you?

I am pleased to see so many covered stands in this section. See that your cows have plenty of good water, and deliver your milk in good cool condition. Call and see that your cheesemaker is doing his duty and keeping everything neat and clean.

In closing I would like to call your attention to the matter of cool curing. By these charts one cheese cured at a temperature of from sixty to eighty degrees shrunk three pounds and one ounce. The other at a temperature of 58 degrees shrunk one pound one ounce, a saving of two pounds. This on your factory's output for the season would amount to a great deal. In 1902 at the four government cool curing rooms we were able to save in shrinkage alone on 2,070,908 lbs. of cheese, 31,403 lbs. worth $3139.44. In 1904 on 3,738,276 lbs. 46,022 lbs., worth $4,813.68 and the quality worth 1-4 of a cent per lb. more.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Somerville and the boys of the Ontario Bank.

HOPE FOR EVERYBODY.

There Seems to be no case so bad that Anti-Pill cannot cure it. A strong claim but well supported.

Just recently a physician in Lincoln, Nebraska, has made a discovery which is exciting the interest and wonder of the medical profession all over the world.

Dr. Leonhardt began on the theory that the poisons sent through the system by the rotting and fermentation of undigested foods were the prime cause of nearly every disease.

He set to work to discover if possible a remedy that would stimulate and heal the mucous membrane lining of the stomach and bowels, till, by their normal, healthy action, perfect digestion would be restored.

He succeeded and his prescription he called Anti-Pill. The proof that his work was well done is found in the long list of remarkable cures made by Anti-Pill.

Anti-Pill is 50c a bottle, at all Druggists, or The Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont. Sole Agents for Canada. 112

Lifebuoy Soap—disinfectant—is strongly recommended by the medical profession as a safeguard against infectious diseases.

NEW ONTARIO RAILWAYS.

Canada-Middlesex and London and St. Clair Lines—Bills Presented to the House.

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Mr. Calvert presented in the House yesterday the petition of George C. Thompson, manufacturer; William Meredith, C. B.; William M. Smith, manufacturer; Joseph Montgomery, barrister, and James Paywood, commercial agent, all of Toronto, for a bill of incorporation as the Canada-Middlesex Railway Company, with power to construct an electric railway from Niagara Falls, Ont., through the Counties of Welland, Lincoln, Wentworth, Brant, Oxford and Middlesex to a point in or near the city of London. The headquarters of the company are to be in Toronto, its capital stock $500,000, and power is asked to issue debentures to the extent of $35,000 per mile.

The petition of the London & St. Clair Railway Company was also presented by Mr. Calvert. The petitioners, W. D. Matthews, Herb. C. Hammond, C. A. Hamilton, Henry Beatty and Robert A. Smith of Toronto, ask for a charter to build a standard gauge railway, "from a point on the line of the Ontario & Quebec Railway, west of the city of London, to a convenient point on the St. Clair River, at or near Sarnia, or between Sarnia and Lake St. Clair."

Bills Introduced.

Bills presented to Parliament yesterday were:

A bill to incorporate the Atlantic, Quebec & Western Railway—Mr. Gauvreau.

An act respecting the Molsons Bank—Mr. Ames. This bill provides for the redistribution of capital stock in $100 shares, instead of $50 shares.

An act to incorporate the St. Mary's & Western Ontario Railway Company—Mr. McIntyre.

An act respecting certain patents of the Canada Car Company—Mr. Demers.

An act respecting the Ottawa, Northern & Western Railway—Mr. Parmelee.

An act respecting certain patents of the Goodwin Car Company—Mr. Demers.

An act incorporating the Calgary, Red Deer & Battleford Railway Company—Mr. Logan.

An act incorporating the Moose Jaw & Edmonton Railway Company—Mr. Logan.

Mr. Fielding in Vienna.

Mr. Fitzpatrick gave notice of a resolution conferring special benefits on members of the superior court who may be appointed chairman of the Railway Commission.

Mr. Foster asked when the Minister of Finance and the Minister of the Interior would be in the House.

The Premier replied that he did not know when to expect Mr. Fielding, who, on account of a domestic matter, had been detained in Vienna. Mr. Sifton, he said, would return to the capital about Feb. 15.

Mr. Fisher's Seed Bill.

The House spent the rest of the afternoon discussing Mr. Fisher's much discussed Bill respecting the sale of seeds. The bill is almost identical with the bill introduced last year and the year before, but which, owing to Mr. Fisher's lack of spine, was never made law. A number of objections were offered to the bill in committee of the House yesterday.

Mr. Perley argued that the farmer who sold bad seed should be dealt with the same as the merchant who sold bad seed.

Mr. Maclean asked if it was true that weeds were becoming a growing menace to the wheat-growing areas of the west.

Mr. Fisher said that as cultivation increased, weeds increased. He could neither deny nor affirm Mr. Maclean's suspicion that the wheat belt was moving because of the growth of weeds.

Promise From Sir Wilfrid.

All the British Columbia members waited yesterday on Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. Emmerson and Senator Templeman, and asked aid for the proposed Coast Kootenay Railway. The delegation asked that the Government guarantee the principal and interest to the amount of $30,000 a mile. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the Government could not do this, but when the time came for the consideration of the usual railway subsidies the Coast Kootenay would not be forgotten.

140,000 Coming Here.

The Commissioner of Immigration announced yesterday that reports which he has received show that the immigration to Canada this year will be in the neighborhood of one hundred and forty thousand people. Though the steamship companies have raised the rates the passenger bookings are decidedly heavy, and the new immigrants will to a large extent be of the English-speaking race. An influx of about forty thousand is expected from the Western States into Canada, and the department is flooded with applications for land and information respecting it. The advance guard European immigration party of one hundred went through Ottawa Monday. They were bound for Winnipeg and the West.

PREMIER PARENT TO RESIGN.

Hon. Lomer Gouin Will Likely Form New Cabinet.

Montreal, Feb. 1.—It now looks as if Hon. S. N. Parent's tenure of office as Premier of Quebec had about closed. The report is that the Premier will hold his last Cabinet Council on Friday, when he will take leave of his colleagues and place his resignation in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor. Hon. Lomer Gouin, who returned from Ottawa yesterday, where he had been closeted with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, will no doubt be called upon to form a Government. It appears that all of the old ministers will accept office under Mr. Gouin, except Hon. Mr. Robitaille, provincial secretary, who will be replaced by Gustave Tessier, M.P.P., for Rimouski.

SCOTCHMEN'S RALLY.

Enjoyable Meeting and Smoker Held by Clan Alpine Camp.

In response to a widely extended invitation by Clan Alpine Camp, Sons of Scotland, a large gathering took place last night in Brooks' Hall, when Chief John MacPherson occupied the chair.

A splendid programme was provided, including songs, music and addresses. The atmosphere was thoroughly Scottish, though representatives of England and Erin's Green Isle were honored guests, and their susceptibilities were not touched by references to Bannockburn or Carrick Fergus. Burns' songs were drawn upon, also those of Jeffreys, Tannahill and some of the Border poets, and the immortal "Annie Laurie," stirred the perfervidum ingenium Scotorum to its depths.

A rousing speech was made by Grand Chief Fraser, Toronto, who urged the Scotsmen of Peterborough to stand by their nationality and to study the literature and history of their fatherland. At the close "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem were sung, and at an after meeting arrangements were made to form a Scottish choir, and a committee was appointed to increase the membership of the camp. It is probable that a Scottish concert will be held under the auspices of the camp during the spring.

The officers are as follows—J. J. MacPherson, chief; Alex. Gregg, chieftain; F. R. J. MacPherson, secretary; J. M. Brooks, treasurer.

LONG LIVE JOHN ADAMS

An eighty-five year old Tory is Mr. John Adams, of Lakehurst, and just at the present time he is particularly happy because of the victory won by his party in West Peterborough and throughout Ontario. When he learned of the defeat of the Ross Government on the 25th, Mr. Adams hastened to hoist the village flag and he points with pride to the clean sweep which takes its place as the crowning event of a life spent in "fighting the Grits." Mr. Adams is still hale and hearty, and his vote will be good for some time yet.

NEW CHURCH IN SOUTH END

Methodists Will Erect One This Summer.

SITE UNDER CONSIDERATION

Committee Met Last Night and Decided to Take the Step—Will be Offshoot of Charlotte Street Church—Another Evidence of Town's Growth.

Representatives of George street, Charlotte street and Mark street Methodist churches met last night and decided to proceed with the erection of a church in the south end of the town. This move is rendered imperative by the growth, not only of Methodism in Peterborough, but of the town itself.

Many families cannot be provided for in Charlotte street church, and at present have to go elsewhere. George st. is crowded and the only way to relieve the pressure is the erection of a new edifice in the rapidly expanding south end.

The church will be an offshoot of the Charlotte street congregation, and when erected one of the ablest young ministers that can be secured will be placed in charge.

The committee has two or three sites in view and has an option on one of them. The members who are out choosing a location this afternoon are Rev. Dr. Crothers and Mr. B. F. Ackerman, of George street church, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe and W. G. Morrow, of Charlotte street and Rev. J. G. Lewis and Mr. Porter of Mark street.

They will report to the general committee of the three congregations in a few days. Mr. D. W. Dumble is secretary of the committee.

"NO," SAYS THE WORLD.

WILL ERECT GALLERY.

St. Andrew's Church Face to Face With Lack of Seating Accommodation.

It is understood that the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church are contemplating the erection of a large gallery in that edifice to provide additional seating accommodation.

The managers are face to face with the serious problem of more room, and now have applications from no less than forty-five families for pews. Their request cannot at present be met, but it is hoped soon to relieve the congestion. The most inexpensive and feasible plan in the mind of the leading members of the church is to construct a gallery, and this will likely be done. It will be horse shoe shape and will be built on three sides of the edifice. The gallery would afford the needed accommodation.

WITH THE MINSTRELS.

Effort to be Made to Get Some First Class Harmony Music.

A meeting of a number of those gentlemen who are taking an interest in arrangements for an amateur minstrel show was held last evening to discuss certain matters in connection with the proposed programme. It was decided to make an important change, more particularly, with reference to the music and the secretary was instructed to see what can be done towards securing harmony compositions which would give better opportunity for part singing than would the unison music which was at first regarded with approval by some of those at the head of the movement. The very latest New York productions will be none too good for the local musicians.

It is likely that the minstrel show will be given here about the first of May.

CONDITIONS OF LABOR IN PETERBORO' DURING 1904

The Past Year Was Prosperous With All Trades—Building Operations Fifty Per Cent More Active Than in 1903—Gradual Slackening Off of Employment During December, Owing to Weather—How Various Works Are Progressing.

Ald. W. J. Johnston, the local correspondent of the Labor Gazette, sends the following interesting review from Peterborough of general condition of the labor market during the past year and the state of affairs in the month of December.

Speaking of conditions in 1904 he says—

The chief activity of the year was in connection with the building trades wood working factories, cordage and lock works and the laying of permanent sidewalks in several parts of the city. Manufacturing was active during a portion of the year, but was quiet at other times.

During 1903 the chief activity was in connection with the building trades the construction of a large cereal mill, the light and power concrete dam and the completing of the new lift-lock.

Building during the past year, however, was at least fifty per cent more active than in 1903.

The iron industry, except in connection with the lock-works, was somewhat quiet.

GENERAL CONDITIONS DURING THE MONTH OF DECEMBER

A gradual slackening off of employment was reported, the weather being very cold and causing all outside work to be stopped. Carpenters and painters, however, were busy on inside work. Work on the [illegible] dam was suspended for the season and the laying of cement walks, etc., also ceased. Planing mills and woodworking factories continued busy, and sheet metal workers were also exceptionally busy for the season. A good month's business was reported by the banks, and by wholesale and retail trades, shipments of goods having been heavy.

There were no changes in wages, or hours, except for painters and carpenters, who now work eight hours per day, instead of nine, during the continuance of the short hours of daylight.

Increased attention has been paid recently to the regulation of the water in the canal, and as a consequence a steadier flow has been maintained in the river, to the benefit of the power companies and the manufacturers who depend on electric energy. The working classes materially benefitted by the increased water supply.

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Agriculture. — Farmers were busy drawing grain to the Peterborough market. Wood is also beginning to come to market, but continues very high in price, being from $5 to $6 per cord. Two cheese factories have issued their annual reports, showing 318,000 pounds of cheese made, selling for over $25,000 This business is one of the best paying industries with the farmers.

Lumbering.—The retail market was quiet. Some heavy export shipments were reported.

Manufacturing. — The iron working shops were very dull, excepting the lock works, which were very busy. Woodworking shops were busy.

Mining.—Surveys and tests continue to be made at the Marmora and Belmont mines which give promise of rich ores.

Railroad construction. — No construction work was in progress, but section men were kept busy on repair work in their several districts.

Other industries. — The J. J. Turner tent manufactory was very busy. The cordage and fuel company also continues very busy. Mann's factory, which was destroyed by fire some time ago, is nearly completed and is running overtime to keep up with work. The Bell Telephone Co. has extended its line, and has established telephone service in two or three suburban villages. The contract for a new shovel and tool factory is about to be let, the company being composed of local men.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES.

Building trades. — Bricklayers, masons and builders' laborers were dull. Carpenters and joiners were fairly well employed, and lathers, plasterers, and painters fairly busy, with plumbers busy. Gas and steam fitters and stone cutters were slack.

Metal, engineering and shipbuilding trades. — Iron moulders, iron workers and helpers, ship workers, engineers, and bicycle workers were dull, with coremakers very dull. Machinists and engineers were not very busy but electrical workers were fairly busy. Linemen were busy, and sheet metal workers, blacksmiths and horseshoers very busy.

Woodworking and furnishing trades —Woodworkers, upholsterers, varnishers and polishers were busy, and carriage and wagon makers very busy with wood carvers and pattern makers slack. Coopers were not very busy.

Printing and allied trades.—These trades were fairly well occupied business having been active during December.

Clothing trades—Journeyman tailors and garment workers were dull, but glove makers and boot and shoe workers were very busy.

Food and tobacco preparation. — Bakers and confectioners very busy, as were also butchers and meat cutters. Ice cutters and drivers were slack. Cigar makers were fairly busy.

Leather trades.—All branches were well employed.

Miscellaneous. -- Barbers, farriers and laundry workers were very busy. Broom makers, clerks and stenographers, delivery employees, hotel, restaurant and theatre employees were busy.

Transport—All branches were fairly well employed. Steamboat workers and teamsters were slack. Street railway employees, cab drivers, carters and expressmen were busy.

Unskilled labor. — This class was very slack.

FATHER IN JAIL DAUGHTER ALONE

Another Fake Letter Comes to Peterborough Citizen.

THE VERY SAME OLD SCHEME

So-called Distant Relative Asked to Take Charge of Fair Creature in New York —How Barrie Man Bit.

A dungeon in Spain, a father languishing in confinement for some offence against the powers that be, and a daughter who, as a result is left alone in this sharp-edged world, are the constituents of a somewhat remarkable letter which was received by a well known citizen some weeks ago—the second of its kind to reach here within 6 months. From his place of incarceration, the father, though closely guarded, managed to send forth a letter, which was directed to the Peterborough gentleman, asking him as a supposed distant relative of the family to undertake the guardianship of the fair lady, for which service the necessary funds would at the proper time be forthcoming.

The local gentleman was instructed, if he felt disposed to act, to journey to New York and there meet the daughter, who would hand over to the newly found deliverer, if such a name might be applied, certain documents which would render available to him the necessary funds to be applied to expense incurred in looking after the defenceless protege. The man in the dungeon dark and deep would wait for a reply from "the distant relative," and in the event of the latter agreeing to perform this work of mercy, further arrangements would be perfected, such, presumably, as the development of a proper frame of mind in the young creature in New York that she might the better adapt herself to the protecting wing of her long lost relative.

The Peterborough gentleman pondered long on the situation, wondering, doubtless, what crime had brought any far-away kin of his into a Spanish prison, and perhaps he asked himself what stage of infancy the New York fairy was in, that she could not look after herself, backed up as she was by the necessary funds At any rate he indited a letter to the imprisoned individual a couple of weeks ago, and is now waiting to see what turns up. He hardly feels like going to New York, and would much prefer if the lonesome one in that city would waft herself to Peterborough in order to give him a chance for formal introduction.

The above story recalls to mind an incident which happened not so very long ago, which would certainly go to show that the letter has behind it what is commonly called a skin game. A missive similar to the one referred to was sent to a Barrie gentleman, who, in response to the touching appeal, went to New York, found the lady and was done up for a considerable sum of money as the result of the fake scheme which was behind it all. It is not likely that the Peterborough gentleman will go to New York.

LOW DEATH RATE IN PETERBOROUGH

The Average is About Nine Per Thousand.

REPORT OF DR. BINGHAM

Medical Health Officer Points Out Many Advantages Enjoyed by the Town—180 Deaths in 1904—Dr. Gray Addresses Board.

The Board of Health met this morning at the Town Clerk's office.

There were present Messrs. R. Neill Wm. Eyres, Geo. Schneider and Dr. Burnham.

Mr. Neill on motion took the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The following accounts were received and referred to the Medical Health Officer to report—

St. Joseph's Hospital...	$27 00
Ormond & Walsh...	11 85

THE DOCTOR'S REPORT.

Dr. Bingham presented his annual report as follows:—

Gentlemen,—In making out the annual report it is a pleasure to state that the health of the town during the past year was in many respects highly satisfactory. No fatal scourge of infectious disease visited the town during the year, and the infectious diseases which made their appearance were of a mild type, except the few unfortunate cases which proved fatal.

The number of diphtheria patients reported, 75; deaths, 9.

The number of scarlet fever patients reported, 28; the deaths, 2.

The number of deaths reported from all causes, 180. This makes 12 per thousand of the population, which is considered a low mortality rate for any town or city.

Many of these deaths occurred in the hospitals here, and in strictness should not be reckoned with the mortality of the town, as the patients had been brought in from outside places. If these were deducted the rate would be about 9 in the thousand.

The diseases which caused the fatal issue were tuberculosis, heart disease, pneumonia, cancer, diphtheria, dropsy, appendicitis, Bright's disease, apoplexy, old age, typhoid fever, anemia, paralysis, scarlet fever, bronchitis, abscess and inflammation of the brain.

The amount of sanitary work done during the year greatly exceeded that of any previous year. The inspection of wells, the inspection of premises, the enforcement of all the important provisions of the Health Act, afforded your Sanitary Inspector and Health Officer all the work they could do. It is also due to the citizens to say that they did all they could to assist us in the sanitary work of the town, and it is only fair to add that the influence of your Sanitary Inspector in carrying out the provisions of the Health Act was of the greatest importance.

The scavenger work of the town was done during the year by a large and efficient staff of men. Some gentlemen take up the mal-odorous profession as a means of livelihood, while others engage in the business irregularly and without portfolio. The following are some of the causes of disease which we have to a certain extent under our control:—Sewer gas, bad air, bad water, bad food, bad conduct and bad sanitary conditions in the home. These are all prolific causes of disease, which with intelligence can be avoided.

In respiration the lungs give out a large amount of carbonic acid gas, which in a confined space poisons the air and renders it unfit to be breathed again. Hence the necessity of large sleeping apartments, which should be filled with fresh air and sunshine every day. In addition to the causes of disease already mentioned, some add the mosquito and the house fly. The mosquito injects the germ of malaria into our veins, and the house fly, with sponge feet, collects the invisible germs of disease and spreads them over our food.

In closing this brief report we would take the opportunity of enumerating some of the uncommon material advantages enjoyed by the town—a salubrious air, an abundant water supply, an extensive sewerage system, unlimited railroad facilities, numerous wealthy industries, where thousands get employment, an excellent street car service and the night made brilliant by the light and power companies. All these advantages, together with a law abiding population of fifteen thousand may well entitle Peterborough to an honorable position among the fair cities of the Dominion.

J. BINGHAM., M.H.O.

It was moved by Dr. Burnham and seconded by Mr. Eyres that the report be adopted and forwarded to the Provincial Board as the report of the Board.—Carried.

Dr. Gray was heard in regard to the use of anti-toxin in cases of diphtheria. Dr Gray was opposed to its use. On motion the matter was referred to the M.H.O. to report.

HOUSE OF REFUGE

A despatch from Toronto says—Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Asylums and Prisons, leaves for Cobourg today, where he will discuss with the County Council of Northumberland and Durham plans for the erection of a county house of refuge for the indigent.

Under the act passed in 1903 every county erecting such a house before the end of 1906 receives from the Government $4,000 toward the cost of the building. There are now only eight counties in the Province without such houses and Peterborough is one of them.

Come to the Brock-st. rink to-night. The 57th band will be there and the ice is in splendid condition.

On the Journey

By CICELY ALLEN

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

"I am very sorry it cannot be arranged," said the young man, with a deprecatory wave of his hand, "but"—

"All the latest popular novels! Last chance to get your reading matter! No books sold on train after it starts!" The newsboy bawled this in Amy Curtis' car, and she lost all the young man said except the words "can't climb those beastly steps."

Not that she cared. She was quite able to climb the little ladder to the upper berth. Her lip curled scornfully.

"Oh, it doesn't matter in the least, you know. It was the conductor's idea, I assure you. Only in the south, where I come from, men, as a rule, are more obliging."

She picked up her novel and proceeded to ignore McKean's presence. He looked at her blankly, then flung himself down the sleeper to the smoking compartment. "Well, I do think she's a bit harsh!" He pulled out a paper and tried to forget the scorn in the eyes but recently lifted to meet his.

In the meantime the girl in section 7 stared wrathfully at the letters in her book, which fairly danced before her eyes. "A nice beginning for my trip! I never wanted to go to Colorado Springs anyhow. I had much better remained at Bar Harbor than to let the Carters inveigle me into coming west."

With this final reflection she commenced to read in earnest, but somehow her mind went back to the very disagreeable young man who had disregarded the sleeping car conductor's request that he yield the lower berth to the young woman, whose Pullman ticket had been duplicated by a careless employee in an uptown office. She could not forget the real regret in his eyes nor the nervous, embarrassed way in which he had smoothed his hair while he was offering his halting explanation. She could not reconcile this, however, with the fact that he had declined to climb the little steps in her stead. It was most annoying, she argued, that she could not forget a certain fascination which his long, firm hand had held for her and the hair he had smoothed.

She could imagine that he had spent hours trying to brush out a certain tendency to crisp curls. She was very glad there was something that could defeat him, if it was nothing more than curls, and after deciding thus she was more content.

She did not see him again until she entered the diner at dusk. The only place left for her was a single seat at a table meant for four. The three passengers already seated were men, talking business in rather loud tones. Amy hesitated. A figure at the table opposite rose suddenly. The very disagreeable young man who had sentenced her to the upper berth was standing beside her.

"Take my place," he said eagerly, "and I will go over there with the men." He had been occupying a seat at one of the small tables, and a gray haired woman was sitting opposite him.

Amy saw all this at a glance, and with a surprised uplifting of her eyebrows and a mechanical "Thank you!" accepted the seat. The young man had not yet been served, and she realised that the change had not embarrassed him in the least.

"Quite willing to do things that do not incommode him," she thought scornfully.

The young man did not presume upon the reception of this courtesy. Directly after dinner he once more retired to the smoking compartment, and Amy early ordered the porter to make up her berth. Once tucked snugly away, she forgot her grievance. The steady clunk-clunk of the wheels was a singular lullaby to which she soon yielded.

It seemed as if she had not been asleep more than three minutes when she awoke to the most horrible noises that she had ever heard. What had happened? Had the train run into a circus or a jungle of wild beasts? No, the train was still moving. Its unremitting clunk-clunk could be heard at intervals between the awful sounds which now assailed her ears. If it was not wild beasts, then maybe some one around her was dying.

This pretty, carefully reared, ever protected southern girl had never seen any one die, and in her ignorance of this and various other matters she was working herself up into a fine frenzy. A particularly deep and agonized roar was followed by a sound that was a cross between a penny whistle and a sob. She could stand the suspense no longer. She pushed the tiny button and, carefully arranging the curtains, stuck out her head to meet the look of inquiry in the porter's black face. Up and down the car she gave a hasty glance. Apparently no one else realised the tragedy that was going on so close at hand, for no other curtains were swaying, no other heads were thrust out.

"Sumfin' you want, miss?"

"Why—why, don't you hear that dreadful noise?" she said. "I think some one in the berth next to me is dying."

In the dim light she could see the darky's-teeth gleam ivory white in a grin that reached from ear to ear.

"It's just the gentleman in the lower berth, miss, snoring. I will wake him up. Soon as he rolls over he'll stop."

Amy jerked in her head as if the porter had struck her. She could feel him switch aside the curtains below her. Two masculine voices were wafted toward her, then the sound of a deep grunt that was decidedly masculine—and silence.

Up in her eyrie Amy lay, still flushing hotly with mortification. She knew that porter would tell everybody on the train next morning. She wished she could change cars. Then suddenly from the berth below the hated sound rose again. Evidently there was no respite from this infliction, and, oddly enough, she felt herself pitying the man who was responsible for it. It was really a disease, she decided, and he was so young too!

The next morning she met him face to face in the dining car. Her cheeks were flooded with crimson. She knew by the quizzical light in his eyes that he had heard of her mistake, and undoubtedly every one on the car knew it by this time and would consider it a fine joke.

She ate her breakfast in a resentful humor. She felt reckless and miserable, and it may have been this mood which caused her to sway uncertainly as she crossed from the diner back to the sleeper. She reached out a hand to steady herself against the side of the vestibule. Suddenly it seemed to her as if a sharp, redhot iron had been thrust into her finger tip and run up to her shoulder. She tried to draw away her hand as a child does from a hot stove, but something held it tight, and then she awoke to the truth. The train had been swinging around a curve, and the iron plaits, or folds, of the vestibule, left uncovered by a careless employee, had opened just far enough to admit her finger and then had closed upon it again. She was held as in a vise, and her calls for assistance could not be heard above the roar of the train. And so it happened that the "hateful young man" came upon her, white lipped and fainting. When they had pried the hand loose he carried her unconscious figure into the vacant drawing room. The conductor came hurrying up, greatly perturbed over the accident, which meant a damage suit for the company. He turned to the porter.

"Hustle through the train and find out whether there is a physician on board."

The young man spoke sharply. "I am a physician. Porter, bring me that long, narrow black bag from my berth."

And so it happened when Amy woke up it was to find the hateful young man deftly bandaging her injured hand. The drawing room was placed at her disposal by the anxious conductor, and the entire train force was on its knees before her. The uncovered vestibule meant that some employee's head would fall into the basket.

Toward noon, in spite of the terrific pain in her crushed finger, Amy commenced to feel drowsy, thanks to the mild narcotic which Dr. McKean had administered. He plumped up the pillows for her, and she murmured drowsily, "I didn't sleep very well last night."

McKean bit his lip. "I was afraid you wouldn't. That was the worst part of my having to put Mr. Carter in the berth with you, but I couldn't get him another lower in the car, and he stubbornly refused to buy up a drawing room."

Amy felt suddenly wide awake. "Mr. Carter, why didn't you"—

"Lord, no. You didn't think I was raising the roof of my berth, did you? Mr. Carter has been at a sanitarium just east of Harrisburg. He is a patient of my father's, and his people asked me to pick him up and bring him on to Colorado Springs, where I am visiting for a week or so. That's what I was trying to tell you last night."

A sudden light dawned on Amy. "Oh, it's all the fault of that newsboy! I am going to the Carters myself. They're giving a house party."

"Yes, I know," said McKean. "I saw your name on your luggage. But now you're going to sleep, and if you don't mind I shall sit here beside you and see you are not rocked off when we make a fast run."

Amy dropped back weakly among the pillows. "No, I don't mind. I will be only too glad to have—you—stay." Suddenly she raised her heavy eyelids. "But promise me you will never tell—what—I said to the porter last night."

Dr. McKean's eyes twinkled. "I promise on my honor."

A Question of Science.

"I remember when I was a student at Wyoming seminary," said a clergyman, "a farmer came to Kingston to visit his nephew, whom he was educating.

"The farmer had no urban polish. His tea when it was brought was very hot, and he poured it in his saucer, to his nephew's great mortification.

"Finally, unable to restrain himself, the nephew was so rude as to say:

"'Uncle, why do you pour your tea in the saucer?'

"The old farmer looked up in surprise. Then he said in a loud, hearty voice:

"'To cool it, to be sure. The more air surface you give it the quicker it cools. These here modern seminaries don't teach much science, do they?'"

An Odd Introduction.

Sam Sothern once told an amusing little story of his first appearance in America. His manager was John T. Raymond, and when the young Englishman made his first stage entrance the older man, whose talent was equaled by his eccentricity, suddenly laid his hand on his shoulder and turned him around to the audience. "This is young Sam Sothern," he explained, to the astonishment of everybody on and off the stage, "and because we all remember his father so well I know you will give him a hearty welcome. Sam, my boy, fire away!"

A Dreaded Quilt.

Queen Victoria was an expert and indefatigable knitter. During the Egyptian campaign she and the ladies of the household employed themselves in knitting quilts, which at the end of the war were sent to Netley hospital for the use of the wounded. One of these, made entirely by her majesty and bearing an elaborate V. R. in the center, was the coverlet par excellence of the institution and in universal demand for a time. In assessing the claims of the candidates for the honor of sleeping upon it the medical staff naturally gave the precedence to the most severely wounded, and as the most severely wounded was the one most likely to die very soon, alas, an evil omen attached itself to the distinction, the climax of which was reached one night when a poor soldier, feeling something touching his bedclothes, woke up with perspiration pouring down his face and cried out, "Oh, sir, do anything you like with me, but for God's sake don't give me the quilt!"

The Mechanism of the Salmon.

A salmon is marvelously adapted to the conditions amid which it lives. It can cleave through tons of water falling perpendicularly, yet its fins and its tail, which seem to hold the propelling power, are not less fragile than the wings of a bat. It can be killed without injury to its contour, and a plaster cast of it can be made, yet no mechanism can devise an instrument which will lie in the water and move as it does, and no theory of dynamics has explained either its postures in the water or its motion. Simple in its organization as it seems, its movements are as inimitable by any human contrivance as the flight of a bird has proved to be.

The Debts of Millet.

The father of M. Casimir-Perier called on Corot one day and found him in the act of finishing a picture. "A masterpiece!" exclaimed the visitor. "I must have it."

"It is yours," promptly replied Corot, "if you will agree to pay the butcher and baker bills of my illustrious but poor friend, Jean Francois Millet."

"Agreed," said the patron, well pleased. The bills were presented to him, and they amounted to nearly $6,000, neither butcher nor baker having been paid for twelve years.

His Idea of a Lady.

An English cabman had brought suit against a woman for not paying the legal fare, and his constant remark was, "She ain't a lady." "Do you know a lady when you see one?" asked the judge. "I do, yer honor. Last week a lady gave me a sov'rin instead of a shillin', and I called out, 'Beg pardon, madam, I've got a sov'rin instead of a shillin',' and she shouts back, 'Well, you old fool, keep the change and get drunk with it!' That's wot I calls a lady!"

Painfully Frank.

An individual recently went into a drug store and asked for morphine. The druggist objected to dispensing it without a prescription.

"Why?" asked the customer. "Do I look like a man who would kill himself?"

"I don't know," replied the druggist. "If I looked like you I should be tempted!"

A Suggestion.

"I'm glad you like your suit," said the tailor.

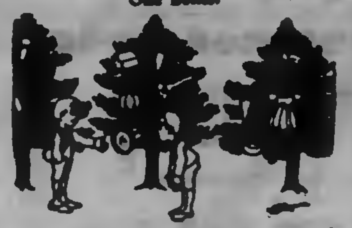
"Yes, it's a fine piece of work," said Slopay, much pleased. "It's certainly a credit to you."

"H'm! I—er—hope you won't forget that it's a debit to you."

With His Uncle.

Jeweler—How long have you carried this watch? Customer (more or less run down at the heel)—Well, I've had it five or six years, but I haven't carried it much. It has generally been in the—er—keeping of a relative.

One Better.



"My father owns an orange grove in Florida."

"Pshaw! My father has a grove of Christmas trees in Michigan!"

The Modern Way.

What has become of the old fashioned girl who used to sit up nights to work slippers and bookmarks as Christmas presents for the loved ones? She has certainly been broken of the habit, for you never see her at it any more. The modern way is for the daughter of the family to tap poor overtapped papa for a small roll to purchase useless but expensive trifles for those who will reciprocate in the same kind of trinkets.

When man calls out in a hopeless voice for a return of the good old times that is one of the things he is thinking about. While he is proud of his family he would give anything for a line of daughters who could sit down with needle and thread and take the pressure off his pocketbook at a time when money is being pulled out of it from all directions.

RUSSIAN LOSS 42,000

Incurred Between Jan. 25 to Jan. 29—Jap Loss Only 7,000.

Russians Admit a Loss of 10,000 and a Japan Report Says There Enemies Left 1,200 Dead On One Field—Wounded Suffer Terribly, and the Frost Produces Gangrene Because of the Exposure of Their Wounds.

London, Feb. 1.—The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent says the Russian casualties in the engagements from Jan. 25 to Jan. 29, are now estimated at between 36,000 and 42,000 and those of the Japanese at 7,000.

Russians Leave 1,200 Dead.

Tokio, Feb. 1.—Manchurian headquarters telegraphing Monday reports that in the fighting since Jan. 28 at Likajenten, Chenchichnao and Heikoutai, the Russians left over 1,200 dead on the field. The Russians Monday shelled the Japanese centre, using field guns and mortars. Simultaneously they shelled a portion of the Japanese left, using twelve heavy field guns.

Russ Wounded Number 3,500

Mukden, Feb. 1.—Constant streams of wounded men are arriving here from the right flank, including Lieut.-Gen. Mistchenko. According to official army organ the wounded number 3,500. The cold is intense, and the condition of the wounded causes the greatest anxiety, because the exposure of their wounds to the frost induces gangrene.

Kuropatkin Bayonets Japs.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—General Kuropatkin in despatches dated Jan. 29 and 30 reports that the Japanese losses in the recent fighting were heavy, many being bayonetted and sabred. The total number of Japanese prisoners already exceed 300. The Russian losses Jan. 26 among the advance posts were five officers and 50 men. Since Jan. 25 the losses are 10,000. The Russians continue to successfully bombard Sandepas, where many Japanese have been frozen to death.

Heikoutai a Serious Loss.

Tokio, Feb. 1.—It is believed that the loss of Heikoutai weakens the Russian position, and probably will compel material change in the Russian front in that vicinity. Heikoutai will be strongly defended by the Japanese, who are now occupying the Russian works. The Japanese Monday captured off Hokkaido Island, northern Japan, the British steamer Wyefield, loaded with contraband for Vladivostock.

R.O. COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Selkirk Official Accused of Erasing Voters Names.

Selkirk, Man., Feb. 1.—Preliminary investigation into three charges against Lawrence Duggan, returning officer for Selkirk, of erasing names of Wm. Lobster, George Rowland and William Scarry from lists of voters supplied to him for use in the Dominion election was resumed here yesterday morning.

G. H. Walker, prothonotary of King's bench, and clerk of election court, produced documents transmitted to him by Clerk of Court in Chancery at Ottawa, including lists purporting to have been used by deputy returning officers.

H. W. H. Knott appeared for the Crown, and E. L. Howell for the defence. Formal evidence of deputy returning officers and scrutineers was put in, and on the case for the Crown closing Mr. Howell stated that he did not propose to call any evidence for the defence.

Counsel then addressed court, and the magistrate announced that he would commit accused to take his trial at the next Assizes.

Princess Has Appendicitis.

London, Feb. 1.—The Princess Victoria, daughter of King Edward, underwent an operation for appendicitis at Buckingham Palace, yesterday morning. The operation was performed by Sir Frederick Treves, surgeon in ordinary to the King.

A bulletin subsequently issued says: "The circumstances of the operation were favorable. The Princess bore it very well, and is progressing very satisfactorily." The Princess, who has been ill for some time, came to London Jan. 27 to prepare for the operation. She was born in 1868.

—The gross postal revenue of Campbellford post office for 1904 was $3,735.31, the salaries being $1,112.

ANOTHER PARIS BOMB.

But It Did Not Explode and the Police Are Silent—Eighteen French Anarchists Have Been Arrested.

Paris, Feb. 1.—Another bomb was discovered at 2 o'clock this morning in front of the Hotel Deux Mondes, in the Avenue de L'Opera. There was no explosion.

The authorities refuse any information.

French Anarchists Arrested.

Eighteen arrests have been made here in connection with the throwing of a bomb at a group of police and Republican Guards, after the meeting of the Social Revolutionists last night. Twelve of the suspects have been released and the others are held on suspicion. Special police surveillance has been established over the Russian Embassy. Among the men arrested the authorities have identified Francois, a well known professional Anarchist and intimate associate of Emile Henry and Ravachol.

ROSS STILL HOLDS ON.

Announcement of Resignation Expected in a Day Or Two.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—At the close of yesterday's meeting of the Provincial Cabinet, the press heard the familiar words from the Premier: "Nothing to-day." It is believed that it will take yet another day to finish the routine work of the various departments before resignation is decided on. Hon. W. A. Charlton said that only necessary business would be transacted. The only absentees from the Council were Hon. Messrs. Gibson and Evanturel.

Among the Premier's callers yesterday were James Conmee, M. P.; C. M. Bowman, M.P.P.-elect; H. J. Pettypiece, ex-M.P.P.; A. Hislop, M. P.P.-elect.

Mr. Whitney's Plans.

Mr. Whitney spent most of yesterday at the Albany Club, where he met many of his friends and supporters and received their congratulations. He had no information for the press. To-day the Premier-elect returns to his home in Morrisburg, where the Conservatives have planned a big jubilation for Thursday.

Among those who saw Mr. Whitney were all the city members-elect, Mr. Carnegie of Victoria, Col. Matheson of South Lanark, W. R. Smyth of Algoma and Dr. Preston of North Lanark. Mr. Carnegie's majority was 1,018.

C. S. Pratt, who vanquished Hon. W. A. Charlton in South Norfolk, was one of Mr. Whitney's callers yesterday. He left in the evening for Simcoe, where there will be a recount to-day. Mr. Pratt is quite youthful in appearance, but a good fighter.

KENNEDY TO RESIGN.

New Ontario Wants Solid Conservative Support For Whitney.

Port Arthur, Feb. 1.—Although elected by a small majority, it is pretty generally understood that H. W. Kennedy will not take his seat in the next Legislature. It is rumored that he has offered to resign rather than face the protest which will undoubtedly be filed if he does not take that course. There is sufficient evidence in the hands of the Conservative Association here to void the election. Now that Mr. Whitney has won the Province, the Conservatives of Port Arthur and Rainy River are determined to make the support from New Ontario solid.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR ALL.

Not a Patent Cure-all, For a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely sure to cure every dyspeptic, and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this, and any man or women suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, giving refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package.

BARN HIS FUNERAL PYRE

John Ort of Zurich Perished By Burning

Supposed That He Fired His Brother's Barn While Latter Was Away and That He Designed and Accomplished Suicide—Some of His Bones Have Been Found—Tillsonburg Child Eats Strychnine Tablets.

Zurich, Feb. 1.—About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the large bank barn of Jacob Ort of the Bronson line, about two miles northwest of Zurich, was burned to the ground. John Ort, an elderly man, who had been living with his brother Jacob, perished in the flames. Some of his bones have been found; it is supposed to be a case of suicide.

Miss Lydia Ort was returning home from a neighbor's when she noticed smoke pouring from the barn and hastened to the stables. At a great risk she managed to turn out all the horses and cattle safely. Mr. Ort and members of the family were away from home at the time.

Child Ate Strychnine.

Tillsonburg, Feb. 1.—What might have resulted in a fatality was averted Monday by a narrow margin. It appears that the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Andrews was entrusted with a box of tablets, which contained a percentage of strychnine, and being sugar-coated the child ate seven or eight of the tempting looking tablets and soon developed symptoms of strychnine poisoning. Medical aid was summoned and hopes are now entertained for its recovery.

R.M.C. Cadet Hurt.

Kingston, Feb. 1.—Cadet Watson of Montreal, returning to the Royal Military College after hockey practice, was in an upset in the roadway and came out of the mix-up with a broken left arm. He was removed to a battery hospital, where his arm was re-set. Other cadets were more or less injured, the van going over several times as the horses dashed along.

VIEW OF A CECIL.

Sees Chamberlain Aiming to Divide the Empire.

London, Feb. 1.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Hugh Cecil, M.P. (Conservative free trader), speaking at Preston, said Mr. Chamberlain's whole scheme was one to divide the Empire into classes with conflicting interests. He believed every word Mr. Chamberlain had spoken had done harm to the cause of union within the Empire. While they might hold the people together by ties of pecuniary interest, they would never generate sentimental regard if imports were to be looked upon as evils, and in that case foreign countries and the colonies would look upon our exports as evils. He did not think the country would accept the protectionist doctrine, but would hold to that free commercial system which was the charter of justice and freedom.

Strathcona Entertains.

London, Feb. 1.—(C. A. P.)—Lord and Lady Strathcona, at the Hotel Cecil last night, welcomed a large and distinguished assembly, including representatives of most of the foreign Embassies, excepting Russia and Japan. The occasion was a ball promoted by the city of London International Commercial Association, with the object of promoting peace between the nations of the world. The Lord and Lady Mayoress attended in full state costume.

Want London Capital.

London, Feb. 1.—(C. A. P.)—The C.A.P. learns that three agents of the concessionaries of the proposed Nova Scotia Eastern Railway has for months past been attempting to raise capital in London to start operations. The agents have directly approached several likely financiers, but so far have been unsuccessful.

U.S. Senator Indicted.

Portland, Ore., Feb. 1.—After many days of silence the Fedral grand jury yesterday returned three indictments in connection with the investigation into the land frauds, which it is alleged have been perpetrated upon the United States Government. The first indictment is against United States Senator John H. Mitchell, Congressman Binger Herman, S. A. D. Puter, Horace W. McKinley, Emma L. Watson, Daniel W. Tarpley, Elbert K. Brown, Nellie Brown, his wife; Henry A. Young, Frank H. Walgamot, Clarke E. Loomis and Salmon B. Ormsby.

Canada For a Cruise.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 1.—The trim steam cruiser Canada, the pioneer perhaps of a great Canadian navy, will leave on her first trip abroad since she came here from the English builders, and for a month or two she will fly the blue ensign in other than Canadian waters.

Nation Should Set Rates.

Colonies Rank Radicals.

London, Feb. 1.—Lloyd-George, speaking at York Monday night, referred to Hamar Greenwood, the Liberal candidate for York, as a brilliant colonial who is "championing liberty in York." The Yorkshire Herald, referring to this, says that Mr. Lloyd-George had not had time to ascertain that the people of York only find in Mr. Greenwood a very ordinary specimen of a Radical who poses as a representative of the colonies, and misrepresents them every time he speaks. Mr. Greenwood, in his speech, said it seemed strange to claim that the colonies were Conservative in their sympathies. What was more, it was absolutely untrue; the self-governing colonies were rank Radical.

Baby Eczema.

in giving satisfaction to our customers."

Lady—"I'm glad to hear it. I have a box of one of the so-called 'just as good as 2 in 1 polishes,' and it is no good. It's a pleasure to deal with a house that sells what you want."

Shoe Clerk—"Well, madam, I would be very foolish to try to sell substitutes, for '2 in 1' is the best shoe polish made."

Black and Tan—10 and 25 cent boxes and 15 cent collapsible tubes. At all dealers.

Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The Peterborough team are playing there last league game in this district at Port Perry to-night. They have not their strongest line up on, Morgan and Crowley not being able to get away, but are going to make a big effort to win, although the result of the game will not materially alter the standing of the clubs. Their team for to-night is as follows—

Goal—Wenman.
Point—Glover.
Cover point—Moore.
Rover—Cavanah
Centre—Parnell.
Right wing—Long.
Left wing—Graham.

Mr. W. A. McCord, of Toronto, will referee the contest.

Remember to-morrow night's big City League games. The Karnots and Furriers will clash for the first time this season and it is a case of Greek meet Greek. Neither bunch has lost a league game this season. The match will be one of the best of the series. The Colonials and Vernaiers meet in the second game which should be an interesting exhibition. Mr. W. Cavanah will referee the contests.

Cover point Quigley of the T.A.S. Trent Valley team, while practising last night, received a bad cut over the left eye from the puck. Three stitches were required in dressing the wound.

There will be two games in the Guild League to-night at All Saints' rink. Both should prove interesting exhibitions. At 7.30 the two Anglican teams, St. John's and All Saints' will meet and at 8.30 the two Methodist teams come together.

One of the most exciting games of the season was played on the Brock-st. rink last night when the Y.M.C.A. puck rushers were sent to defeat by McWilliams' Clear Grits. The play was fast and clean and the checking close, ending in a victory for the Grits by a score of 3—2. The teams lined up as follows—

Y.M.C.A.		Grits
	Goal.
Garside		McFadden
	Point.
Cressman		Gillespie
	Coverpoint
Loomis		W Todd
	Rover.
Wilson		Laing
	Centre
Bell		Hall
	Right Wing
Dawson		R Todd
	Left Wing
Darling		Clark

Referee—B. Cameron.

The tie game between Campbellford and the T.A.S. is not likely to be played off in Lindsay. Campbellford notied Secretary Clarry this morning that they will default rather than go to Lindsay. It is probable that the game will be played off here on Friday night.

The Aberdeens defeated the Beavers last evening in Brock-st. rink by 7 to 2.

Charlotte-st. team for to-night's game in the Guild series will be picked from the following—Ryan, F. Roddy, Jolliffe, Moore, H. Roddy, Saunders, Alford, Sanderson.

BAND CONCERT.

Pleasing Programme to be Rendered at S. A. Hall Thursday Night.

The Salvation Army Band will give another of their excellent Musical Festivals on Thursday night. The last one was enjoyed by all present. This one promises to be a better one still. A number of the children and young people will take part, which will make it more interesting. An excellent programme will be rendered of recitations, readings, cornet and vocal solos, etc.

Windsor Salt used in homes all over Canada where purity is appreciated. It will not cake.

AN INTERESTING MODEL.

Allan Liner Victorian on View in G.T.R Ticket Office Window.

A model which will be of great interest not only to those who go down to the sea in ships, but to every admirer of skilful workmanship as well, is on view in the G.T.R. uptown ticket office, George-st. It is a model of the first turbine Atlantic liner, the Victorian, the first of the two turbine-driven ships ordered by the Allan Line. Every detail has been perfectly carried out in miniature, and to those who know nothing about the construction of the great ocean liners, a good object lesson is now available. The Victorian was launched on the 25th of August, 1904, from the ship building yard of Workman, Clark & Co., Belfast, and the Virginian is now being built on the Clyde. It is not so much her grace of outline, nor perfect internal equipment that makes the Victorian so interesting an object to the shipping just now, but her position as the pioneer of a departure which may revolutionize the character of the ocean liner from a ship builder's and passenger's point of view, namely, the practical use of the turbine as a means of propulsion. The Allan Co. have boldly assumed the responsibility of taking the lead, and a high pressure and two low pressure turbines will drive the monster possessing a cargo capacity of 8,000 tons and equipment for upwards of 1,300 passengers. The length of the Victorian is 540 feet, her breadth 60 feet and her depth 40 feet 6 inches.

Mr. John J. Thomspon, travelling agent of the Allan Line Royal Mail Steamers, was in town to-day. The Victorian, he says, is scheduled to make her first trip from Liverpool on March 23rd. In June she will carry the Canadian Manufacturers' Association across the Atlantic, and a considerable number of bookings have been made for this trip. The Allan Company with their fleet of six first class liners have an unrivalled equipment for the fast mail and passenger service across the Atlantic.

Mr. William Bunton is the local representative of the Allan Line.

INSPECTOR MERRICK'S VISIT

Reserves His Opinion With Regard to Post Office Conditions Here.

Mr. H. Merrick, Kingston, an inspector in the Post Office Department, was in town today on official business. He declined to discuss matters having particular reference to the postoffice here, but observed that he supposed the improvements of conditions complained of at the present time, would come in due season. All the postoffices throughout the Province suffered more or less from congestion during the Christmas weeks. The Postmaster-General was a very busy man, and matters were weighed by him so carefully that there was little possibility of mistakes being made.

The introduction of a free postal delivery in the town of Peterborough would entail considerable expenditure out of the revenue. Four or five carriers would have to be engaged, and of course would have to be paid. Should Peterborough obtain such a service, other places of equal size would clamor for the same favor, thus leading to a somewhat difficult problem. The solution would seem to consist in the adoption of a general arbitrary policy, which, however, would give due consideration to exceptional cases. Mr. Merrick stated that the Postmaster-General was undoubtedly giving his very best attention to this and other matters relating to his department, which seem to have particular interest in this locality at the present time, and that the remedy would be forthcoming at the proper time.

The Inspector, by the way, was at one time an M.P.P., and sat in the Legislature with Mr. John Carnegie when that gentleman represented West Peterborough.

For Over Sixty Years

An old and well-tried remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

MR. WHITE STEPS OUT.

There Will Have to be Another Election in Smith Township.

Mr. Richard White, of Young's Point, who was elected on Jan. 2nd., as one of the Councillors for the Township of Smith, has disclaimed his seat, and there will have to be another election there. Mr. White is disqualified because of the fact that on the 26th day of December, when he was nominated, he held the position of School Trustee. Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson received instructions to take proceedings in the High Court of Justice to unseat the member elect, but he took advantage of the notice given him to disclaim his seat, thus doing away with the necessity of an action.

The question now arises as to whether any measure passed by the Council and depending on Mr. White's vote for decision, can be considered as legal.

BASKETBALL.

The Basket Ball game in the Y.M.C.A. on Friday evening when a Belleville College team will struggle for supremacy over a local organization should be well attended. It promises to be one of the most interesting games played here in some time.

CAUGHT BY THE GRIP.
RELEASED BY PE-RU-NA.

MRS FRED WEINBERGER
MR SILAS S LINCOLN
HON JAMES R GUILL
MISS ALICE DRESSLER
MISS JEAN COWGILL
JUDGE HORATIO J GOSS

"The world of medicine recognizes Grip as epidemic catarrh."—Medical Talk.

LA GRIPPE is epidemic catarrh. It spares no class or nationalty. The cultured and the ignorant, the aristocrat and the pauper, the masses and the classes are alike subject to la grippe. None are exempt—all are liable.

Have you the grip? Or, rather, has the grip got you? Grip is well named. The original French term, la grippe, has been shortened by the busy American to read "grip." Without intending to do so a new word has been coined that exactly describes the case. As if some hideous giant with awful Grip had clutched us in its fatal clasp. Men, women, children, whole towns and cities are caught in the baneful grip of a terrible monster.

The following letters speak for themselves as to the efficacy of Peruna in cases of la grippe or its after effects.

After Effects of La Grippe Eradicated by Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Fred Weinberger, Westerlo, Albany County, N. Y., writes:

"Several years ago I had an attack of la grippe which left my nerves in a prostrated condition. Then I had another attack of la grippe which left me worse. I had tried three good physicians but all in vain. I gave Peruna a trial. In a short time I was feeling better and now I am as well as anyone."—Mrs. Fred Weinberger.

Hon. James R. Guill of Omaha.

Hon. James R. Guill is one of the oldest and most esteemed men of Omaha, Neb. He has done much to make it what it is, serving on public boards a number of times. He endorses Peruna in the following words:

"I am 68 years old, am hale and hearty, and Peruna has helped me attain it. Two years ago I had la grippe—my life was despaired of. Peruna saved me."—J. R. Guill.

A Relative of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Silas S. Lincoln, who resides at 913 I. Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., has the honor of being third cousin to Abraham Lincoln. He writes:

"I had la grippe five times before using your medicine. Four years ago I began the use of Peruna, since which time I have not been troubled with that disease. I can now do as much work at my desk as I ever could in my life. I have gained more than ten pounds in weight."—S. S. Lincoln.

Pe-ru-na Not Only Cured La Grippe but Benefited the Whole System.

Miss Alice M. Dressler, 1313 N. Bryant Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes:

"Last spring I suffered from la grippe and was partially cured but the bad after effects remained through the summer and somehow I did not get strong as I was before. One of my college friends who was visiting me asked me to try Peruna and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh but restored me to perfect health, built up the entire system and brought a happy feeling of buoyancy which I had not known for years."—Alice M. Dressler.

An Actress' Testimonial.

Miss Jean Cowgill, Griswold Opera House, Troy, N. Y., is the leading lady with the Aubrey Stock Co. She writes the following:

"During the past winter of 1901, I suffered for several weeks from a severe attack of grippe, which left a serious catarrhal condition of the throat and head.

"Some one suggested Peruna. As a last resort, after wasting much time and money on physicians, I tried the remedy faithfully, and in a few weeks was as well as ever."—Jean Cowgill.

A Southern Judge Cured.

Judge Horatio J. Goss, Hartwell, Ga., writes:

"Some five or six years ago I had a very severe spell of grippe, which left me with systemic catarrh. A friend advised me to try your Peruna which I did, and was immediately benefited and cured. The third bottle completed the cure."—H. J. Goss.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

HUMOR

THE MOTHER'S COLUMN.

The Editor Tells the Sweet Young Thing Why It Was Given Up.

"Yes," said the editor, "we had to give up that mothers' column."

"Dear me! I don't see why," answered the sweet young thing. "It seemed to me it was invaluable."

"Yes, that's what we all thought, including the very bright young woman who wrote it," admitted the editor. "There didn't seem to be any problem of the home that she wasn't qualified to settle. But she finally married."

"That didn't lessen her ability any, did it?" asked the sweet young thing in surprise.

"No-o," replied the editor slowly. "Of course she knew just as much as she did before, but somehow she didn't seem to be quite so certain of it. However, she kept up her work, even if she did show that she occasionally had doubts that never came to her before. She was a little shy as to some points regarding the management of the home, but she still knew all about the training of children, and, of course, that's the principal feature of a mothers' column."

"Of course," acquiesced the sweet young thing.

"At last, however," continued the editor, "she became satisfied that she wasn't even competent to lay down rules and decide knotty problems in the line of the management of a nursery."

"Dear me!" said the sweet young thing. "That was very strange. When did she make up her mind to that?"

"About four months after her first baby was born," answered the editor.—Chicago Post.

Wedded to Dead Animals.

A curious custom obtains among the Coorgs of India. When one of them kills a tiger or a panther he is married to the dead animal, regardless of its sex. Propped upon a framework of wood or bamboo, the animal is carried in procession, and the marriage ritual is strictly observed, while lavish hospitality is dispensed.

How to Walk.

A bad figure and a poor carriage are often due to laziness. Walk with the shoulders back, the chest elevated and the hips back if a good carriage is desired.

The Restless Japanese.

The Japanese are as restless and nervous as Americans, in strange contrast with Koreans, Chinese and other orientals.

THOS. GEMMEL DISAPPEARED

Went Out With Intention of Going to Funeral.

WHEREABOUTS IS UNKNOWN

Informed Landlady That It Would be His Own Funeral—Missing For Over One Week.

Thomas Gemell, an old man about seventy-five years of age, who has been boarding at 148 Park-st., has disappeared.

The missing man is a Scotchman and has been living in Peterborough for about eight months, during the greater part of which time he has been an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company. Over a week ago he informed his landlady, Mrs. Sergeant, that he had lost his position there. Since then he has been acting very queerly.

Yesterday afternoon he was preparing to go out when his landlady asked him where he was going. He replied, "To a funeral," and on being asked to whose funeral he answered, "To my own." He then left the house, and has not been seen since. It is feared that he has made away with himself. As far as is known the missing man has no relatives in this country.

RETURNS SHOW INCREASE

The returns at the Peterborough Customs House for the month of January amounted to $15,883.18. For the same month last year, the figures were $14,764.62. There was an increase, therefore, of $1,118.56. This certainly indicates that business conditions in town continue to be healthy.

MR. THOS. BODDY HAS RESIGNED

C. P. R. Ticket and Telegraph Agent for 18 Years.

WILL GO TO STREETSVILLE

To Spend the Summer and Take a Much Needed Rest—Resignation Not to Take Effect Until 1st March—No Successor Named.

Mr. Thomas E. Boddy, for the past eighteen years town ticket and telegraph agent for the C.P.R., has resigned.

His resignation has been sent to Mr. C. B. Foster, of Toronto, C.P.R. district passenger agent, but no successor has yet been named.

Mr. Boddy asks to be relieved of his duties here by March 1st. Accompanied by his wife and family he will leave in a few weeks for Streetsville, Ont., where he will spend the summer on a fruit farm at Mrs. Boddy's old home.

Mr. Boddy will take a much needed rest and his stepping down and out, is purely voluntary on his part, after a long period of faithful and earnest service. He has been a most obliging and painstaking official and numbers his friends in Peterborough by the score. His resignation will be learned with the greatest regret, but all will join in wishing him every success and prosperity in the future. He has been confined to his home, 223 Brock street, for a few days, owing to a severe cold, but expected to be out again to-morrow.

ORANGE MEAT BECOMES POPULAR BREAKFAST FOOD

One of Canada's Greatest Industries, Situated at Kingston, Manufactures this Celebrated Cereal—Extensions in Plant Necessary in Order to Meet Demands of Trade—Unsurpassed Equipment.

The city of Kingston can now boast of one of the largest cereal plants in the world—that of the Frontenac Cereal Company, Limited, manufacturers of the celebrated breakfast food, Orange Meat.

The Company began the manufacture of this food a little over a year ago, and the demand has been so great that they were compelled to have additional room from which to supply an enormous increase in trade. They have just completed in Kingston a large four-storey structure, most substantially built, entirely of concrete, and are placing within it most modern machinery. When all is completed it will be one of the finest equipped cereal plants in the world.

The Company own and control the patents for this delicious food, and the ovens that they use in baking it are the only ones of the kind, as the patents of these are also exclusively owned and controlled by this Company, hence forming no part of the equipment of any other cereal mill.

In an interview with one of the representatives of the Company, he stated that the capacity of their mill had not been sufficient to take care of the local trade, and at the same time supply the demands of the export business. He stated that they have representatives in every city of the Dominion, and also a representative in Ausralia. They hope that, with the increased capacity afforded by the new mill, they will be able to take care of all the export trade, inclusive of England and Newfoundland, from which countries they have already had large demands for the cereal. He also stated that since they first began to manufacture this cereal the mill had not been idle, and that to-day they were 3,000 cases behind with their orders.

When asked to what he attributed the great demand for Orange Meat, he said it was the same old story—"the proof of the pudding is in the eating"—and that people who had been using inferior grades of foods now use nothing but Orange Meat. It has been the aim of this Company to place upon the market the most delicious and appetising breakfast food to be procured. An analysis, at the laboratory of Queen's University, of the different breakfast foods made, shows that Orange Meat contains a very much larger percentage of nutrition than any other food on the market.

The capacity of the new mill will be several thousand cases per day, and they hope by running day and night shifts, to take care of the enormous trade that will come to them. In connection with the cereal plant they will also operate their flour mill, which is one of the best equipped in the country, the product of which has the reputation of ranking among the most superior grades on the market, and it also manufactures a very high grade of corn meal. In connection with these plants, the Company own one of the finest elevators on the Great Lakes.

Situated as they are at the junction of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence—the great national waterway—it is possible to bring the wheat down from the Northwest by all-water route to the elevator, and after it is manufactured into the different cereals, transportation by either rail or water is available for distribution to important points in the province or to the sea board.

Canada can well point with pride to this industry, the products of which will spread her name and fame to every civilized country on the globe.

The jude rendered a decision in favor of the negative.

PETERBOROUGH DEFEATED

The Peterborough team journeyed to Port Perry last night and were defeated after a hard game by 6—5. The half-time score was 2 all. The locals did not need the game and did not take their strongest line-up, Morgan and Crowley being off. It was a good exhibition of hockey. The Peterboroughs were considerably handicapped by the size of the Port Perry rink, which was very badly lighted. The rafters were so low that lifting was dangerous, as the puck would strike them and return. Port Perry scored three goals in quick session at the beginning of the second half, after which it was all Peterborough. W. A. McCord, of Toronto, was referee. The teams were.

THE SILENCE BROKEN

The Examiner has spoken for Mr. Stratton.

Following the publication of a paragraph in the Toronto World which anticipated Mr. Stratton's intention—if he has such—of presently occupying a seat in the House of Commons as member for East Peterborough, the Examiner prints a statement which will answer for to-day, but possibly not six months hence. It is to the effect that Mr. Stratton has retired from public life in order to be left free to attend to private business; and that he is attending to his own business accordingly.

This may be a gratifying fact of the present but not a forecast of the future. Rightly or wrongly a large section of the community believe it to be Mr. Stratton's intention to give way to the pressure brought to bear upon him to occupy a seat in the House of Commons before twelve months are over. There is no objection to his so doing from the standpoint of his own party and if there were it would probably not make any difference. He would no doubt be a useful member of the Commons and would find a field. It must not be forgotten that the Grand Trunk Pacific is to be built and that other large interests are now before the country and these interests, it is hoped, will be looked after, not only by men of ability, but possessing due prudence.

Mr. Stratton's labors in the East riding resulted in the return of Mr. Wm. Anderson by a majority very much below that obtained by him in the contest nearly three years ago. Just what influences were at work to reduce Mr. Anderson's majority need not here be discussed or whether it was due to the work of the late provincial secretary that the Grit candidate's lead was drawn down from 443 to 118.

For a gentleman who claims to have retired from public life to attend "strictly to his own affairs"—to have cast politics aside altogether—Mr. Stratton took a remarkably active part in the recent campaign in East Peterborough. Of course, it may all have been purely to please his friend Mr. Anderson and out of a deep debt of gratitude to the Ross Government for favors received, but it is doubtful. A public man of cabinet rank who claims to have retired to "private" life is not generally found travelling, in the dead of winter, along snow blockaded roads, speaking in cold halls, and undergoing many other hardships incidental to a winter campaign, just for the fun of the thing. It may be attending "to his own business" but Mr. Stratton never before manifested so much concern in the East riding. All the work done by the late provincial secretary in East Peterborough and the wide spread circulation of his famous Douro speech were evidently not undertaken solely for his love and admiration of the Ross Government. If Mr. Stratton thought so highly of that outfit he might have remained in the cabinet. His ministerial duties would have taken no more of his time and attention than he devoted to the recent campaign in the East riding, and to the outcome of which he is welcome to all the glory and consolation he can extract.

PEN POINTS.

From 443 to 118 in the East Riding. "Oh! what a fall was there. my countrymen."

And so Mr. Ross is to hand over the seals of office on Saturday, including the famous "seven seals" of the past.

Premier Tisza, of Austria, who was defeated on the same day as Premier Ross, resigned two days ago, thus setting a good example to Mr. Ross.

Some people in this world may not be just exactly looking for things, but would not object very strenuously to accepting them if they came along.

"Anderson's majority takes a jump," was the startling news the other day. It make all the difference whether the jump is up or down. In this case it was down, down, down.

The Board of Education has made a wise choice in electing Mr. W. G. Ferguson as chairman. The new presiding officer is to-day receiving the congratulations of his friends. He has served on the Board for a long period with credit to himself and the town and no trustee deserved promotion more. He will prove a capable and impartial chairman.

The Montreal Gazette says:—"The Liberals who are complaining that the prohibition and liquor vote were both cast for Mr. Whitney will do well to remember that Mr. Whitney is, unlike Liberal premiers, under pledge to neither. He had merely to satisfy the people not—again like the Liberal premiers—both of the contending factions. He has an immense advantage over his predecessors."

In the new Parliament of Ontario the farming community has the largest number of representatives, there being twenty-one tillers of the soil in the new House. The lawyers come next with eighteen, fourteen are merchants, thirteen practising physicians, and the next largest class is that of journalists, of whom there are eight elected; six manufacturers, five contractors, four agents, two undertakers, two school inspectors, two cattle dealers, one auctioneer and one principal of a correspondence school make up the balance of the House.

The office of the Ontario Liberal Association, on Victoria-st., says the Toronto News, has been practically closed, and will be vacated in the course of a few days, the owners of the rooms having some time ago received the necessary notice. This office has been for many years the headquarters of the Liberal party, being in charge, at first, of Mr. Alexander Smith, and latterly of Mr. Jas. Vance, who resigned some weeks ago. It is understood that for the present at least all Liberal matters will be attended to at the office of the General Reform Association for Ontario on Toronto-st.

These stabbing affrays are becoming altogether too common in Peterborough among the sons of "Sunny Italy," and one of these days there will be a murder to record. The free and easy use of the knife or stiletto to settle disputes and arguments should not for one moment be tolerated. If the offenders are caught a long term in the penitentiary doubtless awaits them. This is a peace-observing and peace-loving community, and the impression must not go abroad that any class of its citizens can indulge in reckless and swagger escapades with impunity. Three or four stabbing affrays in this town among men who, if they wish to stay here, must be civil and law-abiding, do not add anything to the credit of Peterborough. Such violation of law and order must cease.

As a Convalescent Food

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington, Co., Ont., writes:—"My wife had congestion of the lungs, along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and as well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

Croup Absolutely Cured

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. Few People Realize

The Danger in That Common Disease, Catarrh.

Because catarrhal diseases are so common and because catarrh is not rapidly fatal, people too often overlook and neglect it until some incurable ailment develops as a result of the neglect.

The inflamed condition of the membrane of the nose and throat makes a fertile soil for the germs of Pneumonia and Consumption, in fact catarrhal pneumonia and catarrhal consumption are the most common forms of these dreaded diseases, which annually cause more than one-quarter of the deaths in this country.

Remedies for catarrh are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but very few have any actual merit as a cure, the only good derived being simply a temporary relief.

There is, however, a very effective remedy recently discovered, which is rapidly becoming famous for its great value in relieving and permanently curing all forms of catarrhal diseases, whether located in the head, throat, lungs or stomach.

The new catarrh cure is principally composed of a gum derived from the Eucalyptus tree, and this gum possesses extraordinary healing and antiseptic properties. It is taken internally in the form of a lozenge or tablet, pleasant to the taste and so harmless that little children take them with safety and benefit.

Eucalyptus oil and the bark are sometimes used, but are not so convenient, nor so palatable as the gum.

Undoubtedly the best quality is found in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which may be found in any drug store, and any catarrh sufferer who has tried douches, inhalers and liquid medicines, will be surprised at the rapid improvement after a few days' use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which are composed of the gum of the Eucalyptus tree, combined with other antiseptics which destroy the germs of catarrh in the blood and expel the catarrhal poison from the system.

Dr Ramsdell, in speaking of Catarrh and its cure, says:—"After many experiments I have given up the idea of curing catarrh by the use of inhalers, washes, salves or liquid medicines. I have always had the best results from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. The red gum and other valuable antiseptics contained in these tablets make them, in my opinion, far superior to any of the numerous catarrh remedies so extensively advertised. The fact that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold in drug stores, under protection of a trade mark, should not prejudice conscientious physicians against them because their undoubted merit and harmless character make them a remedy which every catarrh sufferer mayp use with perfect safety and the prospect of a permanent cure.

For colds in the head, for coughs, catarrhal deafness and catarrh of the stomach and liver, people who have tried them say that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a household necessity.

Calls Strikers Dupes and Tells Them to Go to Work.

To Come to the Emperor of All the Russias As a Rebellious Mob He Declares to Be a Crime—Adjures Them to Have Patience—Concludes His Address With the Words: "May God Assist You."

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—Emperor Nicholas yesterday afternoon received at Tsarskoe-Selo a deputation of 34 workmen, representing the employes of the factories and workshops of St. Petersburg. The deputation was accompanied by Minister of Finance Kokovsoff and Governor-General Trepoff, and proceeded by the Imperial road to Tsarskoe-Selo, where carriages were awaiting them at a point near the Imperial Pavilion. On arriving there, the workmen were admitted to one of the halls of the palace. The Emperor entered the hall, accompanied by Grand Duke George Michailovitch, General Hesse, the Minister of the Imperial Court and the commandant of the palace. The workmen bowed to His Majesty, who said:

"Good day, my children."

The workmen replied:

"We wish Your Majesty good health."

The Emperor then said:

Have Been Deceived.

"I have summoned you in order that you may hear my words from myself and communicate them to your companions. The recent lamentable events with such sad, but inevitable results, have occurred because you allowed yourself to be led astray by traitors and enemies to our country. When they induced you to address a petition to me on your needs they desired to see you revolt against me and my Government at a period when all Russian workmen should be laboring unceasingly in order that we might vanquish our obstinate enemy. Strikes and disgraceful demonstrations led the crowds to disorders which obliged, and always will oblige, the authorities to call out troops. As a result innocent people were victims. I know that the lot of the workingman is not easy. Many things require improvement, but have patience.

He Will Forgive.

"You will understand that it is necessary to be just towards your employers and to consider the condition of our industries. But to come to me as a rebellious mob in order to declare your wants is a crime. In my solicitude for the working classes, I will take measures which will assure that everything possible will be done to improve their lot and secure an investigation of their demands through legal channels. I am convinced of the honesty of the workmen and their devotion to myself, and I pardon their transgressions. Return to your work with your comrades, and carry out the tasks allotted to you.

"May God assist you."

Drank Emperor's Health.

At the conclusion of his speech, the Emperor told the members of the deputation to communicate his words to their comrades, and said he would supply them with printed copies of his address.

After leaving the palace, the deputation proceeded to a neighboring church, where they prayed, and after kissing ikons placed lighted candles before the shrines. Subsequently, they were given dinner in a building which formerly was the high school of Tsarskoe-Selo.

One of the members of the deputation proposed the health of the Emperor, which was drunk with cheers.

At 4.30 p.m. the delegates drove to the Imperial Palace, whence they took the train for St. Petersburg.

Judges Hear Argument At Hamilton and Reserve Judgment.

Hamilton, Feb. 2.—Should the ballots that were numbered on the back by Deputy Returning Officer Vallens be counted or not is the problem on which Chief Justice Meredith and Justice Teetzel will sleep for an indefinite period. They came to Hamilton yesterday and heard argument in the Sealey-Smith election protest, and after they had heard it they reserved judgment.

W. O. Sealey was elected for the House of Commons for Wentworth at the recent Federal elections by majority of 15. E. D. Smith, his Conservative opponent, applied for a re-count which was conducted by Judge Snider. The judge found that in one of the Beverley divisions, where Sealey had a majority of 25, the deputy returning officer had numbered the ballots on the back, and his honor threw all the ballots for that division out, and Sealey's majority of 15 melted into a minority of ten.

Judge Snider then declared Smith elected. Mr. Sealey entered a protest, and by agreement it was arranged that only the question of the numbered ballots was to be submitted to the court.

CAPT. SALMON'S CASE

Mr. Ames Moves For All Documents Relating to Dismissal.

Shows in the House That Capt. Salmon Made the Direct Charge That He Had Been Tampered With and Restrained in the Execution of His Duties By Minister of Marine and Fisheries—Militia Estimates.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—H. B. Ames, member for St. Antoine division, Montreal, made his maiden speech in the House yesterday, dealing logically and forcefully with the dismissal of Capt. R. Salmon, former Wreck Commissioner in the Department of Marine and Fisheries. He moved for copies of all correspondence, telegrams, etc., which passed between the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, or any other official of the department and Capt. Salmon, in the matter of the Canada-Cape Breton investigation, and the resignation of Capt. Salmon from his position as Wreck Commissioner.

Capt. Salmon's Story.

Mr. Ames told of Capt. Salmon being ordered to investigate the accident, and of that officer's duly opening of a court of enquiry under order from the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Counsel for the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company declined the invitation to submit evidence to Capt. Salmon's court. Capt. Salmon went ahead with the examination of the crews of the two boats. On Sept. 26 he announced that he would shortly render a decision.

On Oct. 5 he gave judgment placing the responsibility where he thought it belonged, and at the same time tendered his resignation and gave his reasons therefor. His resignation was the result of certain things which took place between Sept. 26, the day of the announcement that a decision would be shortly rendered, and Oct. 5, the date of the decision and resignation.

Had Been Tampered With.

Capt. Salmon made the direct charge that he had been tampered with, and restrained in the execution of his duty by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. On Sept. 26 the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Company asked for the re-opening of the case. Capt. Salmon acceded to the request and granted a delay of seven days before rendering his decision.

On Sept. 29 he received a communication from Mr. Archer, one of the counsel for the Richelieu & Ontario, and forming one of Mr. Prefontaine's law partners, requesting him to accept a typewritten statement of evidence taken before the Admiralty Court at Quebec. Capt. Salmon refused it. Then followed pressure from the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Capt. Salmon was ordered not to give his decision till he heard from the department. According to the statement that accompanied his resignation, he was asked by the Deputy Minister of Marine and Fisheries what his probable verdict would be, and was further told that it might be advisable to consult counsel for the R. & O. before rendering his decision.

He criticized strongly the action of the Department in interfering with an officer who was acting in the capacity of a judge. The effect of the Department's interference would be to weaken confidence in the administration of Canada's water routes, and prevent any reduction in marine insurance rates. Canada's marine courts are degraded in the sight of the world, declared Ald. Ames.

Mr. Prefontaine's Defence.

Mr. Prefontaine took the ground that Capt. Salmon was not holding a court, and that he was merely conducting a preliminary investigation as an officer of the Department. He read from the Shipping and Casualties Act to prove that such was the status of Capt. Salmon in the enquiry.

Asked for a copy of the instructions under which Capt. Salmon conducts the enquiry, Mr. Prefontaine replied that they would be brought down later. He contended that Capt. Salmon was prejudiced against the Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Co., and quoted from the latter's decision in proof of this theory. When the Admiralty Court at Quebec rendered judgment in the case of the Canada and the Cape Breton, Mr. Prefontaine said he felt justified in ordering Capt. Salmon to suspend the investigation. Mr. Prefontaine declared that all the trouble was due to Capt. Salmon's ignorance of the statute under which he was acting.

Importance of a Document.

Mr. Monk echoed the feeling of the Opposition side of the House when he emphasized the importance of the document which authorized Capt. Salmon to proceed with the investigation. He reminded the House that, two or three years ago, Mr. Prefontaine had praised Capt. Salmon to the skies.

"I didn't know him then," said Mr. Prefontaine.

"Then you shouldn't have gone so far in praising him," was Mr. Monk's response.

He regarded it as significant that Mr. Prefontaine, in defending himself some weeks ago against Capt. Salmon's charges, did not suggest that the investigation was a "preliminary" one. Why, he asked, did the Deputy Minister try to dissuade Capt. Salmon from rendering a decision, and why did he ask that official to see counsel for the R. & O.? Mr. Monk claimed that Capt. Salmon was acting under a much wider statute than that quoted by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Rodolphe Forget, Conservative member for Charlevoix, supported Mr. Prefontaine's contention. The four counsels employed by the R. & O. were recognized as the best marine lawyers in Canada.

Wherein Minister Was Careful.

Mr. Haggart pointed out that the Minister had been careful not to produce the instructions to Capt. Salmon, which would show whether the investigation was preliminary or formal. The question before the House, he said, was not the merits of the case but the interference of the Minister of Marine with an officer authorized by law to conduct an enquiry into a casualty. Why, he asked, should the Minister suggest that other evidence be heard, or that the judgment be delayed? It was plainly a case of tampering with an official enquiry on the part of the Minister and his Deputy. Mr. Prefontaine also attacked his own judge on being unfitted for his position, but the evidence he offered on that point was letters furnished after he had dismissed Capt. Salmon, and then, continued Mr. Haggart, there was the mean insinuation of the Minister that this honest officer was to-day in a state of vagrancy in New York. Such was the result of a man exercising his independent judgment. The warning was plain to all other officers. Don't dare to exercise your independent judgment because the Minister of Marine may think differently, and you may become a wanderer in the streets of New York.

Mr. Ames closed the debate. He wanted to know how the Minister became aware that a judgment was going to be given which would prejudice one of the parties of the case, unless he had interfered during the enquiry. He also quoted from eulogistic references to Capt. Salmon, made by the Minister of Marine himself, in the House last year, when he referred to Capt. Salmon as a very efficient officer whose services had been secured after prolonged search and careful enquiry.

Make Explosives Here.

Militia estimates were under discussion in the House last night.

Col. Fowler asked if it was the intention of the Government to establish another arsenal.

Sir Frederick Borden replied that such was the intention, and he hoped before the end of the session to supply further information and perhaps a contract. It was desirable that ammunition should be manufactured at more than one place, and that one place should be in the vicinity of Ottawa. All explosives, he said, should be manufactured in Canada.

Col. Fowler suggested that the Government should manufacture all ammunition, which would ensure a first-class article.

The Minister thought this a good time to encourage private capital, especially in the manufacture of explosives. The railway building that is going on in Canada would provide a good market.

In reply to a question from Col. Fowler, Sir Frederick stated that the Government had not been advised of any change regarding the garrison at Halifax.

Mr. Osler protested against the desecration of the Plains of Abraham and their historic environment by a water tower of the Ross Rifle Company's works being erected on top of one of the old martello towers.

Sir Frederick Borden regretted the offence to Mr. Osler's aesthetic taste and promised to see if the matter could not be remedied.

Significant Figures.

The Minister of Customs, at the request of Hon. G. E. Foster, supplied these figures:

The total importation of merchandise for home consumption into Canada for the current fiscal year, up to Dec. 31, 1904, was $123,043,650; importations from Great Britain during the same period, $28,920,454; from the United States, $74,789,987. Canada's total exports were $118,438,246; exports of home products, 113,229,216; exports of home products to Great Britain, $63,072,738.

THE BANK MUST PAY.

Justice Anglin Decides in Favor of the Dominion Government.

Toronto, Feb 2.—Justice Anglin yesterday decided that the Bank of Montreal must pay to the Dominion Government $75,705, less $12,450, recovered from A. Martineau, the clerk in the Militia Department, who went into forgery on a large scale. The bank will appeal.

The Quebec, Royal and Sovereign Banks, through which the forged cheques were cashed, are released of liability, Justice Anglin holding that the acceptance of the cheques when they came through the clearing house by the Bank of Montreal led others to believe that the cheques were good.

He was taken to St. Catharines Hospital on the 8.10 p.m. train, but is not expected to live. He has a young wife and two young children residing at Sarnia.

Clydesdale and Shire Horses.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—The third annual Canadian Clydesdale and Shire Show opened yesterday with a large number of interested spectators and students from the Ontario Veterinary College and the O.A.C., Guelph. There were about 100 entries. The animals were in the pink of perfection. The Association elected officers at the evening meeting. They decided to nationalize the Clydesdale stock register.

The Holstein Friesan Association of Canada held their annual meeting here yesterday, and elected officers.

SMOOTHING IRONS.

How They Should Be Cared For and How to Use Them.

Irons are of several kinds and for several purposes. Flatirons are the most generally used and are the most useful for plain ironing. They can be heated either in front of a good clear fire or on the top of a stove. When heated over gas they must be carefully wiped before they become more than warm, as the first heating over gas always causes the metal to sweat, and if not wiped off while wet this turns to rust. Irons ought to be hot and clean and great care taken to keep them clean.

All irons are faced with steel, which must be kept very clean, dry and bright. If they become rusty, rub them well with sweet oil and leave it on for two or three days, then rub it off with unslacked lime and rub them on a smooth, hard surface. Protect from rust when out of use by covering with mutton fat rubbed on while they are slightly warm, which will prevent damp reaching the metal. When in use they must be cleaned occasionally with brick dust and oil, and each time they are heated should be rubbed in a little powdered brick dust and well rubbed on a piece of carpet or a coarse cloth. Have a bit of wax in a rag, rub the iron over with this and then with a clean duster and it is ready for use.

Iron stands are not to be blackleaded, as that soils the irons, or varnished, as that makes an unpleasant smell when heated. Iron holders should be round in shape and just large enough to cover the handle of the iron.

The ironing table must be smooth, steady and not too high, as it is better and easier to work with the weight of the body over the iron.—Philadelphia Press.

ASTHMA

Almost too good to be True to know that Asthma can be Cured.

But it is true, beyond the shadow of a doubt. Clarke's Kola Compound permanently cures Asthma. It has been tried and tested in thousands of cases, and never has it failed. It has saved the lives of hundreds who were so shattered in health by their sufferings, that Consumption seemed inevitable.

Mr. H. Salmon, Toronto, Ont., says:—"For some years, I have been a great sufferer with Asthma. The attacks became so severe and coughing spells lasted so long that I became alarmed. I consulted many physicians, but their medicines only gave temporary relief. One of the leading physicians told me I was threatened with Consumption. The first bottle of Clarke's Kola Compound did not help me much, but I continued as directed, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was cured. This was over a year ago, and I have gained twenty pounds in weight."

We send free, a bottle of Clarke's Kola Compound to every sufferer. Write us to-day.

GOOD BREAD.

The Way to Have Loaves That Will Be Satiny and Elastic.

Put four tablespoonfuls of shortening, either butter and lard mixed or one of the good fats on the market; two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a tablespoonful of salt into a bread raiser and pour over it a quart of boiling water. Place a yeast cake in half a cupful of lukewarm water and stir with a teaspoon till dissolved. When the water in the bread pan becomes lukewarm pour in the yeast and stir thoroughly. Add five cupfuls of sifted flour, beating it as it goes in with a wire whisk. When it becomes too thick to move with the whisk use a slitted wooden spoon and stir thoroughly, so that the flour and wetting may become well mixed. When it is spongy, but not dry, turn it out on a well floured molding cloth and knead. It can hardly be too well kneaded. It is the kneading that gives it the satiny smoothness and the elasticity which are invariable tests of good bread. It ought even during this process to begin to show bubbles in its texture. Knead them out as much as possible. When dough is put back in the pan to rise with bubbles showing here and there it will be full of holes and poor of taste after it has been baked. After the kneading is finished and the dough feels as smooth as silk wash the bread raiser and dry it; then rub well inside with butter or lard before putting the dough back again for the second raising. If this plan is followed the bread will slip out so clean after it has risen that the pan will scarcely require washing.—Good Housekeeping.

EXERCISE FOR BABY.

Give the Infant Freedom to Kick and Roll and Grow.

Tiny infants need exercise as much as other human beings do. They have a natural instinct for it. Watch even a very young baby as it lies in your lap with its clothing removed and see how it will twist and wriggle and move its little arms and feet. As soon as it is able it will toss them about, draw them up and thrust them out, often uttering little squeals and noises of contentment. His little efforts at original gymnastics should be helped, and he should be given a special chance each day to stretch his small muscles. A daily airing is not enough, and from the first the long skirts and bandages should be loosened regularly and his body given full freedom.

Put him on the bed at first and let him lie there and kick. Of course the room must be warm, so that he will not feel the lack of his skirts. Five or ten minutes of this fun will do his body a world of good. When he is several months old he can be put down on a rug after warm weather has come, but this would not be advisable during the winter, for floors are drafty.

He will not have enjoyed the rug on the floor so very long before it will be seen that he is learning to get about in some sort of way. His efforts probably will make creeping motions, or it may be that he is beginning to roll from place to place.

Some babies have been known to hitch themselves about seated on the floor. However he makes his progress, it really doesn't matter, for any of the movements is giving him the exercise he needs, and that is the main thing.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Lamb chops are delicious if dipped in lemon juice just before broiling.

If onions are strong, change the water several times while they are boiling.

Potatoes will bake more rapidly if a pan of water is put into the oven with them.

Some cooks soak salt ham overnight in milk before broiling for breakfast. Salt mackerel is said to be improved by soaking in sour milk.

All starchy foods require long cooking. Albuminous foods, such as eggs, oysters, etc., must be cooked at low temperature or they will harden.

The novice should memorize this rule: White meats well done; dark meats underdone, except in fowls, which should always be thoroughly cooked.

When tomatoes and milk are to be put together, as in a cream soup, have the tomato juice and milk of the same temperature, then beat vigorously as the tomato is added little by little.

Valuable Kitchen Utensil.

A small kitchen utensil which has manifest uses is a measuring cup, funnel and strainer combined. The upper portion is grooved to measure a half cup, cup, cup and a half and a pint. It has a substantial handle attached, and the bottom screws in place. This bottom part may be unscrewed, and in its place are two sieves, one very fine, the other a little coarser, either of which may be used as desired. When the bottom of the cup is left open it fits inside the top of the fruit jar and may be used for filling jars when canning. Still another attachment to be screwed in place is a small funnel. This utensil is one of the most practical small articles which the housekeeper can possess. It is not at all complicated and has no part which cannot be kept perfectly clean.—Housekeeper.

Grease Stains on Carpets.

To remove grease stains from a carpet one of the simplest methods is to pound together equal weights of lump magnesia and fuller's earth and then to mix them into a paste with a little boiling water. Spread this paste while still hot upon the grease marks and leave it till quite dry. Then brush it off, and you will find the carpet free of grease, for it has been absorbed by the paste.

THE TWO DRIVERS.

I used to be my baby's horse;
My stable was his cot.
I'd gallop o'er the Brussels course,
To ingrain I would trot.

And I would gallopade and snort
Upon the Oilcloth track,
My driver laughing at the sport
Astride my clumsy back.

But that was many years ago
(My, how those years have slid!);
Now my boy's baby plays with me
Just as his father did.

Except that I'm a horse no more
With aching, sweaty brow
A-pacing o'er the cold, hard floor—
But I'm his auto now.

No more I loudly neigh and snort
Upon the parlor rug;
Instead my face I must distort
To say, "Chug chug, chug chug!"

Each ear now is a lever strong
That works the old machine—
They're pulled and pinched the whole day long—
I know just what they mean.

As on to me he climbs,
Because an old rheumatic limb
Makes me break down sometimes.

BRUIN SAW HIS SHADOW TO-DAY

Cold Weather May be Expected for Some Weeks.

THIS IS "CANDLEMAS DAY"

The Shaggy-coated Denizens of the Woods Will Sleep Six Weeks Longer—Spring Not Yet at Hand—What an Old Indian Tradition Says.

The bear saw his shadow this morning and went back to his lair. Now look out for continued cold weather.

To-day is Candlemas day—a festival always celebrated on the second day of February in honor of the purification of the Virgin Mary. According to an old time tradition of the Indians the bear hibernating in the hollow log or other sleeping quarters is supposed to wake up on this day, come out and take a look about him, and if he sees his shadow reflected on the snow, Bruin takes warning and goes back to his bed, there to remain for six weeks longer, as the weather will be cold and spring is, by no means, near at hand.

If Bruin does not see his physiognomony silhouetted on the beautiful mantle of mother earth he remains out and roams the forest at large. No shadow according to the popular supposition means that the remainder of the wintry season will be mild and open and that an early spring is among the possibilities.

But the bear saw his shadow today and is again in the arms of Morpheus.

HAVE BEEN LONG TIME IN SADDLE

Records of Members of Board of Education.

MR. STEVENSON'S 55 YEARS

Others Who Have Served Long and Faithfully—The New Chairman Has Been Member for 15 Years.

The Board of Education last evening made a very wise move in selecting Mr. W. G. Ferguson for the position of chairman during the year 1905

Mr. Ferguson has been a member of the Board continuously for fifteen years, and his experience, coupled with his broad-minded views with regard to education, fit him admirably for the position to which he has now been elevated. The last fifteen years have seen many changes of local importance with regard to educational matters and in these Mr. Ferguson has always shown deep interest and an active spirit of co-operation. He has behind him an able Board, the majority of the members on which have served for a considerable number of years and possess the correct idea with regard to that expansion so important in progressive educational policy.

It is interesting to note that long terms of office seem to be regarded with approval in the Board of Education. For instance Mr. James Stevenson, the father of the Board, has been a member for fifty-five years, and was chairman from 1873 to 1891. Dr. George Burnham, sr., presided 1864 to 1873. Mr. W. H. Wrighton, who has just retired, and whose place is taken by Dr. Morrison, was elected in February, 1879, and was chairman in 1891-92. Dr. George Burnham, Jr., was elected in Feb. 1888 and presided from 1893 to 1897. Mr. W. H. Hill was elected in 1888 and presided in 1901-2. Mr. Peter Hamilton was elected in 1889 and occupied the presiding chair from 18997 to 1901. Mr. J. J. McBain was elected in 1891—his place has been taken by Mr. B. F. Ackerman. Dr. Caldwell, who retired two years ago, became a member in 1894, while Mr. J. J. Hartley last year's chairman is now on his 13th year. Mr. Robert Fair was elected in 1896, Mr. V. Eastwood in 1899. These are the longest records on the Board and one is justified in saying that the fact looks like appreciation, by the people, of faithful service rendered.

JAMES EAKINS DEAD

Was Resident of Peterborough for Forty-Seven Years.

The death of James Eakins, which occurred this morning, removes a gentleman whose life was an example of industry and integrity, and who, during his forty-seven years' residence here, won a high place in the estimation of those with whom he came in contact. Mr. Eakins was taken ill about 14 weeks ago, an attack of typhoid fever being followed by serious complications, pleuro-pneumonia finally developing. His death occurred somewhat suddenly about half past seven last evening — some fifteen minutes after he had received his nourishment.

The late James Eakins was born in County Cavan, Ireland, sixty years ago, and came to this country with his parents when only 13 years old. For the remaining forty-seven years of his life he was in the service of the Dickson Company. He was woods superintendent for many years, and in that capacity his record was one of faithful discharge of duties, his employers recognising and appreciating the fact that in him confidence and responsibility were well reposed. His wife, formerly Miss Wright, of Kinmount, is still living and there are two children, Miss Josie and Miss Lena Eakins. There is one brother, William, now at the North shore. Mr. Eakins was a life-long Presbyterian. He took an active part in politics.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 from the family residence, 606 George-st. Service will be held at two o'clock.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson, who for fifteen years has been a member of the Board of Education, was last evening elected its chairman. WEDDED IN CAVAN.

Nuptials of Mr. David Lawson and Miss Hannah Jane Crowe.

On Wednesday, Jan. 18th, at Mr. Jno. Crowe's residence occurred a very pretty event, it being the marriage of his only daughter, Hannah Jane, to Mr. David Lawson, of Otonabee.

The wedding party entered the tastefully decorated drawing room to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Bertha Stewart, of Peterborough, cousin of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Geo. Yule, of Springville. The bride was given away yb her father. She was tastefully attired in blue ladies' cloth, white satin and lace, carrying a handsome bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid was Miss Etheling Butler, of Cavan, who was attired in fawn and cream, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Thomas Lawson. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding supper, the remainder of the evening being spent in a most enjoyable manner. The bride was the receipt of many handsome and costly presents, showing the high esteem in which the happy couple were held.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawson left, amid showers of rice and best wishes, for their future home in Otonabee. The bride's going away suit was of light brown and a picture hat to match.

MONEY SIDE OF JUNK BUSINESS

Dealer Talks About the Value of "Has-Beens."

MAKING FRESH START HERE

C. Goldman, Representing Montreal Dealer, Will Place Several Rigs on the Road—Well up in the Business.

When a person kicks his feet through an old pair of rubbers which have outgrown their usefulness by reason of the numerous holes which have resulted from incessant wear he little thinks that the wrecks are not altogether useless, but can be put to some use in the manufacture of new goods. This is not only true of rubbers, but of other tings which the wear and tear of time have deprived of all respectability. According to Mr. C. Goldman, a gentleman who has recently opened an office at 329 Aylmer street, where he purchases old iron, brass, copper, zinc, old rubbers, horse hair, etc, etc., there is money to be made in the accumulation and subsequent sale of stuff—junk as it it commonly called—which seems to be fit for nothing else but the scrap heap.

TAILORS' SCRAPS.

Mr Goldman has been in the business for some years and he has it down to a science. By running his fingers through a batch of clippings from a tailor shop, he can immediately tell whether there is any shoddy in it. To ascertain whether a piece of cloth is from a roll that was "all wool and a yard wide," as the saying goes, he takes it between his fingers, gives it a sharp twist or two and if it tears straight both ways, he knows it is the goods, while if it goes crooked it is safe betting that there is cotton in it somewhere. It is reasonable to wonder what use these clippings can be put to. Mr. Goldman is not an adept in English, but he made an interviewer understand yesterday that these small pieces are again returned to the factories and there put through a process from which eventually issues what is known on the market as union cloth—so called because of its manufacture from two or three kinds of material, such as cotton, silk or wool

HORSE HAIR VALUES.

Even if a horse has been "thirty-five" years or more, in the saddle and has faded away until it has become little better than a framework, if there is any hair on that horse's tail or mane his entire value, from a monetary point of view, has not departed, even if he has given up the ghost. "I have paid as high as $25 a hundred pounds for horse hair," observed Mr. Goldman. It is used in the manufacture of a certain kind of brush, and in our business is considered valuable. The mane hair is hardly as good as that of the tail-but we buy it all and can easily convert it into money." In the light of this fact a man owning a horse which sheds its hair freely and shows no signs of making good, is gradually losing a source of profit which could otherwise be realized at the finish. Mr. Goldman, however, does not advocate the promiscuous docking of horses tails'.

VALUE OF HAS BEENS.

A clipping of cloth can be converted into material as good as new, so, too, it is possible to make use of old rubbers in the manufacture of fresh ones, and hence it is easy to see how economics can be developed in connection with "cast-offs." Old iron, old brass, old copper, old zinc, lead and steel have their values, though they have ceased to fulfil the offices to which the manufacturers first assigned them. The junk dealer is the intermediary between the "has been" and the "will be" since through him certain classes of material, such as are above referred to, are again returned to play a part in manufacture.

KNOWS THE GAME

Mr. Goldman is "onto the racket" worked by the individual who appropriates goods belonging to other people and seeks to dispose of them to the junk dealer. Only the other day a young man came to him with a copper boiler, and said he would sell it for 25 cents. The article was worth more than that and Mr Goldman tumbled to the fact that something was wrong. He immediately instructed the youth to get one of his paternal ancestors to prove that the boiler was obtained in a legitimate way. This he failed to do and it transpired later that the boiler was stolen. He absolutely refuses to purchase goods from juveniles or irresponsible persons, unless it is proved beyond all doubt that the articles have been acquired in a legitimate manner. "I go on the principle," he said, "that a man who is dishonest in making $99 will get tripped up on the last one and lose his reputation and everything else."

Mr. Goldman is the representative of H. Carp, Montreal, and he proposes to engage several rigs in the business here.

It is some years since a red and blue contest was held and it is confidently expected that the membership of the association will be largely increased as a result of this one.

The following comprise the blue side—R. J. P. Dormer (captain), W. D. Campbell, G. L. Galley, A. Kingdon D. Downie, Wm. Shay, E. E. Lord, R. Dobbin, Wm. McLaren and H. McNellis.

For the reds,—G. L. Johnston, captain; R. E. Harding, H. J. Latimer, R. McClennan, Jno. Hardwicke, Geo. Robertson, Wm. Richardson, M. Rosenburg, Reg. Green and Jas. Downing.

Besides these twenty every member of the association is expected to work on one side or the other after choosing his favorite color.

Every dollar in fees, new or renewals or locker rents counts a point. No subscriptions to count.

The contest will wind up with a banquet on the closing night to be tendered to the winning side.

Meetings of the sides will be held at once to complete organization for the greatest membership push in connection with the Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

WARSAW

Rev. Mr. Battisby has been transferred to Young's Point. He and his family will be greatly missed.

Miss Fimbirst, of Otonabee, the new teacher of our school, is creating a favorable impression and is evidently a successful instructor.

Mr. Levi Payne has bought out the furniture and undertaking business of Mr. E. McDonald. The latter intends take up his residence on a farm.

Mrs. Alexander and Miss M. Payne of Calgary, are visiting old friends in the village. They are delighted with the West where they have met with a large measure of success.

Mrs. S. R. Payne had as her guests during the past few days, Miss E. Allen and Miss B. Bell, of Smith.

The members of the Warsaw Methodist church presented Mrs. George Taylor with a beautiful silver tea service and a most pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor. The address accompanying the donation was read by Mrs. S. R. Payne and signed by her and Mrs. Uriah Payne on behalf of the congregation. The probable removal of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor from here is regretted by all.

Drowsiness After Meals

A PERSISTENT SYMPTOM OF NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA—CURE IS OBTAINED BY USE OF

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Many a sufferer from chronic dyspepsia dates his ailment from the time he began to feel drowsiness after meals.

The blood is weak, and there is not sufficient nerve force to carry on the work of digestion and supply the vital force required for mental and physical activity.

Headache dizzy spells, defective memory, inability to concentrate the mind, brain fag, irritability of temper, nervousness and sleeplessness are the resulting symptoms.

Owing to defective digestion the body is not deriving proper nourishment from the food, and some other method of obtaining strength must be employed.

In Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most effective blood-building and nerve-restoring elements of nature are contained in condensed form, so as to be easily taken into the blood.

Under this treatment you soon find that the appetite is sharpened, digestion improved, and the vitality of mind and body greatly increased.

It takes time to thoroughly cure dyspepsia and its accompanying symptoms, but you can be certain that each dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is of some benefit to you, and that the cure will be complete and lasting.

Mr. William Lee, retired carpenter, 710, George street, Peterborough, Ont., states:

"For some months I was not in good health. My system seemed to be run down. I was troubled a good deal with indigestion and suffer- [illegible] and liver disorders [illegible] ed from [illegible] I have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and am pleased to state that I found both of these preparations exceedingly beneficial. In fact I can confidently say that they have done me a lasting good and I cannot praise them too highly."

—Superintendent Cowan, of the Fall Fairs department said that the movement for the employment of expert judges had gained greatly in strength during the past year. In 1903, there were 118 fairs which used experts; last year this number had increased to 132. The number sent out was as follows. Horse judges, 23; beef, cattle and sheep judges, 19; dairy, cattle and swine judges, 20; poultry judges, 30; judges of dairy products, 3; lady demonstrators, 6; a total of 90

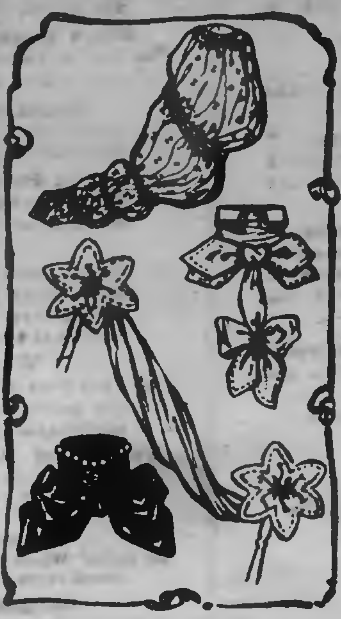
WINTER FASHIONS.

ATTRACTIVE FEATURES IN DRESS ACCESSORIES AND MILLINERY.

Pretty Trifles For Neck and Coiffure. A Dressy Sleeve—A Very Pleasing Hat Illustrated—Millinery Rich and Warm.

Details distinguish the well dressed woman from the crown of her head to her artistically shod feet, but it is at the neck that these exercise their most important office. Some little accessories may be mentioned as illustrations. Let the reader picture to herself the transformation their adoption would work in a costume.

The little pearl necklace has become a very common affair when worn low upon the throat, but slip it up and festoon it over the top of a high collar band, as here shown, and note the decidedly chic effect. Collars and cravats are of infinite variety, and a very desirable specimen is the narrow hemstitched linen collar with an elaborate elongated cravat. A pretty caprice for the coiffure, suitable either for high or low dressing, is found in a light snood of tulle, held at either end by a jeweled and lightly embroidered floral rosette.



DRESS ACCESSORIES.

A sleeve can hardly be mentioned as an accessory, being itself an essential of the gown, yet it has details lavished upon it. Adapted for a high dinner gown or dressing blouse is the one sketched. It is built in sprigged net, arranged very full and gauged above the elbow, while below come three narrow lines of dark fur, the final one encircling a pointed lace cuff.

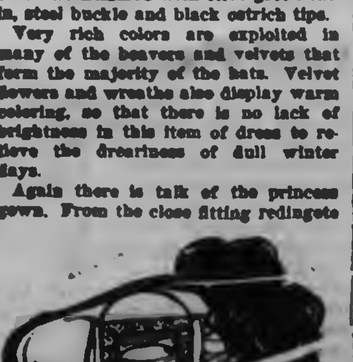
The new turban toque sits well on the head, is rather pointed in front, has an upturned brim all round, though this shows but little under the draping of material, and is worn straighter on the head and less inclined to tilt up on one side. Such toques are much trimmed with a brush aigret at the side. The smart narrow shape, with one brim swept up very sharply from the face, is mostly trimmed with a long ostrich amazon.

Picture hats and other big brimmed chapeaux have moderated their brims except for carriage and reception wear, and in their present styles go well with the directoire modes.

The marquis hat has lost much of its chic, yet it is highly becoming to a bright, piquant style of face, and a novel variation of it is provided with a point in front and a point at one side, while the left side is turned back off the face, and the back fits closely down to the hair. A hat of most desirable style illustrated is in fawn colored felt trimmed with olive green satin, steel buckle and black ostrich tips.

Very rich colors are exploited in many of the beavers and velvets that form the majority of the hats. Velvet flowers and wreaths also display warm coloring, so that there is no lack of brightness in this item of dress to relieve the dreariness of dull winter days.

Again there is talk of the princess gown. From the close fitting redingote to the princess robe seems a natural and easy step, but it can hardly be the once familiar clinging princess. To conform to present styles it must present breadth of shoulder and fullness and flare at the foot.



FAWN COLORED FELT HAT.

Mrs. Disraeli's Economy.

Of the rigid economy practiced by Mrs. Disraeli there is one very good story told: Mrs. Disraeli and her husband had come down from London to spend the Easter vacation at Hughenden and had called on the various tradesmen at Wycombe to order the groceries and other requirements for their ten days' or fortnight's stay. It so happened that their sojourn was rather abruptly shortened, and Mrs. Disraeli was seen calling at the grocers and other purveyors, taking out of the carriage the nonconsumed wares and asking the shopkeepers to receive them back and have them reweighed and so to make a reduction in their accounts.

The great statesman, with folded arms, was leaning back in the carriage perfectly nonchalant, but evidently desirous to have no share in the frugal transaction. Such rigid economy was no longer required after the old lady who so admired his books died and left him her entire fortune, amounting to over £40,000.—London Tit-Bits.

Flight of the Woodcock.

Some writers have claimed that the woodcock is sure in his flight, never becoming entangled in briers or creeping vines when in swift flight through close cover. That may have been their experience, but is not mine. I have seen woodcocks when flushed in such spots become so entangled that they were forced to cease flying and drop to the ground to again make a new start in flying. I remember one old fellow that sat hidden before the stand of one of my setters until I almost stepped on him and then, rising nearly into my face, got tangled in a clump of ironwood and fell at my feet. Had I been so disposed I could have caught him in my hands, but my desire was to see if he was injured, and a moment later he proved that he was only a badly frightened woodcock, as he darted away through cover while I watched and laughed at him.

How He Proposed.

"How did he do it? What did he say?" inquired a girl impudently. Then, seeing her friend turn away with a smile upon her face, she went on: "I knew you wouldn't tell. Nobody ever will. You will never get a girl to tell just how her sweetheart proposed to her. She'll tell you anything else you like to ask her. If they've had a quarrel she may often in her indignation let out the horrid things he said to her, but she'll keep as silent as the grave about the way he proposed. When I asked my sister she said that when I get older I shall realise that a proposal from the man you promise to marry is one of the things no woman could ever tell another. And I've found this quite true, although no one minds telling me what 'he' said when they didn't want him to propose at all."

How Carlyle Talked.

I have heard Carlyle pour forth a continuous stream of impassioned declamation for more than an hour at a time, and so keen were his characterizations, so felicitous his arrow shots of criticism, so rich his satire, so intense his patriotic sympathy with all that belonged to national life and character, that no listener could wish the wonderful utterance to cease.—"Retrospects."

Could See Her Home.

Hegan—I think Miss de Blank is very rude. Jones—What causes you to think that? I never thought her so. Hegan—I met her out for a walk this afternoon and asked if I might see her home. She said yes, I could see it from the top of the high school building and that it wasn't necessary to go any farther.

A Conscientious Physician.

One of the most distinguished medical practitioners used to say that he considered a fee so necessary to give weight to an opinion that when he looked at his own tongue in the glass he slipped a guinea from one pocket into the other.—London Tit-Bits.

Beyond Words.

He—It is wonderful. Professor Jones and his wife speak both at least six languages. She—And yet they don't seem to understand each other in a single one.

Etiquette is a beneficent invention that enables naturally disagreeable people to live with one another without coming to blows.—Peter McArthur.

THE GIFT OF TACT.

Coupled With a Memory For Little Things, It Works Wonders.

If you are desirous of making true and devoted friends and keeping them, cultivate a memory for little things. This advice is humbly offered after due observation of one of the most attractive women ever placed on this earth. She remembers the favorite dish, the favorite color, the small penchants and peculiarities of every one. She never neglects to ask for absent friends and relatives. For a sick friend she has a bunch of flowers—heliotrope, on which the invalid dotes.

No one ever enters her house without being offered refreshment, be it nothing more than a glass of cold water. She will say: "What a pretty frock you are wearing and how well you looked at Miss So-and-so's tea the other day. That touch of blue is becoming to you." She remembers birthdays with some small gift—a box of homemade candy, a bunch of flowers, a jar of delicious preserves made by herself and wrapped carefully in tissue paper. She is thoughtful of elderly people, giving them the attentions which they so much appreciate, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. And the best of her is that these things are done naturally and gracefully. Were they assumed they would lose half their charm and sweetness.

It is not in the value of the things she gives that she wins friends, but, instead, it is the thoughtfulness and the real kind feeling which lie behind every gift. Hers is a true and kindly heart. And she has learned the way to express it.

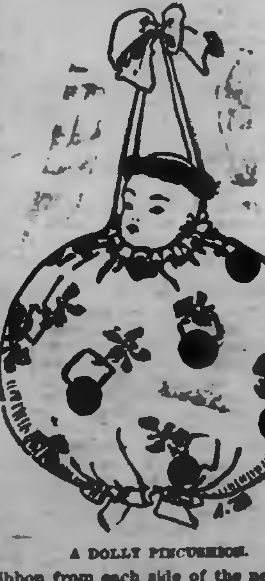
So often we hear of some one, "She is very kind hearted, but so blunt and rough; but, really, there is nothing too much for her to do for her friends." A sad thing to say. Naturally enough, it is better to be kind at heart, yet rough in manner, than to have the roughness and no real sweetness and generosity behind it.

BALL PINCUSHION.

The Way to Build One Up Around a Japanese Doll.

Purchase a small Japanese dolly and a small piece of ribbon just a little wider than the doll is long. Gather one edge of this tightly round the doll's neck and join the two ends; then fill with bran till it is as round and hard as a ball and gather in the other edge around the little feet.

Choose material the color of your room or workbasket. Tie a piece of ribbon from each side of the neck in a pretty bow, and the dainty cushion is complete.



A DOLLY PINCUSHION.

Of course there are many other ways of improving this. For instance, a little ruffle collar of lace may be added around the neck of the doll and tiny buttons sewed down the front to represent a coat. If the cushion is made of plain instead of flowered ribbon these little touches are most effective.

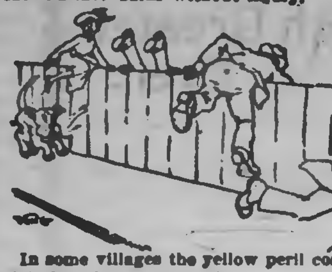
The idea may also be used for sachet bags to put among your clothes. If you put longer ribbons at the neck and hang them on the hooks of your cupboard, having sprinkled in the bran some of your favorite sachet powder, it will impart a faint fragrance to all your clothes.—New York Journal.

Electricity in the Household.

Of electric cooking apparatus there are now in use innumerable devices, such as portable stoves, saucepans, teakettles, blazers, boilers, broilers, coffeepots, electric ovens, griddlecake cookers, waffle irons and water urns, and outside the list of kitchen utensils, but also useful in the household, are such devices as ship food warmers, immersion coil heaters which may be inserted in any kind of a vessel and used for heating liquids. Electric heating pads for the application of heat to the human body are a great improvement over the hot water bottle. In the electrotherm the heating units are covered with soft lamb's wool, and as high a temperature as 180 degrees F. may be maintained. Electric curling irons for the lady traveler are a dainty toilet accessory. More than 50,000 of these appliances are now in use. They draw their energy from an incandescent lamp.

Bran Instead of Soap.

There are people who cannot use any soap at all on the face without finding that it makes the skin red and irritable. If even castile is found to have this troublesome effect it is best to abandon the use of soap altogether and use bran in bathing the face. Don't use hot water. Add to the cold water in which the face is bathed a few drops of simple tincture of benzoin. At night anoint it with a good soothing lotion and use talcum powder to your heart's content. It is used on the most delicate infants' skins without injury.



In some villages the yellow peril consists largely of yellow dog.

When a man is in love with himself it is useless for rivals to try to win his affections.

Before watches were invented every man in the country thought he had a two minute horse.

There is nothing quite so useless as a check book with no money in the bank.

FIERCE 5-DAYS' FIGHT

Russian Gunners Wept With Despair At Their Impotence.

Frost Fought Against Czar's Brave, Hardy Troops of the North, and Nature Helped Resourceful Japs—Slightest Wound Caused Excruciating Pain, and Though Everything Possible Was Done Battle Was Without Result.

Russian Headquarters, Huan Mountain, Feb. 2.—The five days' combat, which will be known as the battle of the Hun River, was fought on a plain broken only by Southern Amethyst Mountains, around Yentai, the solitary eminence of which is the Liaoyang tower of bloody memory.

The bright glare of the sun, reflected from a dazzling expanse of snow, was painful to the eyes, and it was with difficulty that one could follow here and there black streaks marking the Russian columns, or wavering skirmish lines dashing against what resembled dull grey rocks, but which, in reality, were the villages of Lidiatoun and Taniegou, and the extensive hamlet of Sandepas, bastioned by Chinese defences, and converted by the Japanese into veritable fortresses, surrounded with wire entanglements and earthworks.

Exposed to intense cold, the mounds of earth had become impenetrable. For five days Russian soldiers unavailingly hurled themselves against the defences, and field artillery pounded them until the frosty air reverberated with the thunder of cannon, the din of bursting shells and the rattle of musketry. The gunners actually wept with despair at their impotence. Mortar batteries came up at a gallop in the hope of demolishing the fortifications. Night and day, the stream of shells was poured against the earthworks, but without effect.

The men seemed indifferent to hunger or cold, which latter was of Arctic intensity. Their fingers, hands and feet were benumbed, while stinging snow and dust blinded them. The slightest wound caused excruciating pain. Warm blood no sooner exuded from lacerated flesh than it began to freeze. Wounded could not be left exposed, and if they did not receive attention within an hour, they died.

Everything that could be done was done, but man was powerless in the face of nature, which heaped tortures upon the troops, and defeated the plans of the commander. The battle yielded no practical result.

OYAMA REPORTS.

Russians Repulsed On Every Hand Up to January 31.

Tokio, Feb. 2.—Field Marshal Oyama, reporting Tuesday, says that the Russians bombarded his centre and right wing on Jan. 30, and sent small bodies of infantry to attack the Japanese outposts, where they were repulsed.

On the same day heavy Russian guns fiercely shelled Piyentai and Cheachiehpao. On Jan. 31 the Russians bombarded Cheachiehpao, Lapati and Litajentan and two companies of infantry attacked Cheachiehpao, advancing from the south and near Pietaitsu. The Japanese repulsed them.

On Jan. 30 two companies of Russian infantry unsuccessfully attacked Yatzupao, two miles northwest of Cheachiehpao, and two battalions of Russian infantry and a regiment of cavalry failed in an attack on Tutaitsu.

Field Marshal Oyama, in reporting the wounding of Lieut.-Gen. Mitschenko, which he had learned of some Russian prisoners, characterized Gen. Mitschenko's attacks upon the Japanese flank as brave.

RUSSIANS AT SANDEPAS.

Artillery Set Fire to the Town On January 30.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 2.—General Kuropatkin, telegraphing under date of Jan. 30, says Sandepas was that day set on fire by the Russian artillery.

In a telegram dated Jan. 31, the commander-in-chief reports a continuance of a successful bombardment of Sandepas, and says that Russian balloonists had noticed that a portion of the Japanese garrison had been without town during the day.

The general mentions a number of minor attacks and counter attacks at outposts, villages and passes already reported.

From the reports of the general staff, it is not clear yet whether the fighting on the Hun River is ended. The Russians continue the bombardment of Sandepas and apparently a strong force of Russians is between Sandepas and Shakzpu to check the Japanese, who seem to be trying to use their former turning movement across the Hun River.

YANKEES THREATEN CANADA.

Government to Be Called to Account Re Fish Destroyers.

Albany, Feb. 2.—Unless a reply is received from the Canadian Government within a few days to the invitation to co-operate in the attempt to prevent the destruction of fish in Lake Champlain and the St. Lawrence by fishermen, an appeal will be made to President Roosevelt to officially call the attention of the Canadian Government to the depredations of the offending fishermen. The President will be asked to request the Canadian Government to put a stop to the evil without further delay. It is more than a month since delegations from the New York and Vermont Legislatures called on the Government officials at Ottawa and presented the protest of both States. No reply has been received, and the Canadian fishermen, who are said to be favored by their Government, have ignored the request made by the two States.

Two Burn to Death.

Montreal, Feb. 2.—Two men were burned to death in a fierce fire which broke out last evening in the tannery at the corner of Frontenac and Rachel streets, near the East End Abattoir, occupied and operated by Fred Gallbert, glove manufacturer. The names of the dead are H. Cyrus and P. Zimber. Cyrus was a Russian military man, who deserted his army about a month ago. He had been in the employ of Mr. Gallbert only three weeks. P. Zimber, the other victim, was a Montreal boy, of Irish parentage. He was 22 years of age, and was married three weeks ago.

Bought By the N.Y.C.

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—At midnight Tuesday night the Ottawa and Norfolk Railway passed from the receiver's hands, and is now controlled by the New York Central. The present officials will continue in their positions, with H. W. Gays as general manager.

TREATMENT OF PILES

Permanence of Cure the True Test

Many so-called pile remedies will afford the user slight temporary relief and the majority of those afflicted do not expect more than this.

The average sufferer, after having tried every preparation recommended for the cure of piles, comes to the conclusion that there is no cure except by an operation, and rather than undergo this "last resort," he suffers on, resigned to the situation, so far as may be. The attention of those interested is invited to the following experience:—

"After ten years of suffering from blind, bleeding and protruding piles, and after using every remedy I could hear of without any benefit, I finally bought a fifty cent bottle of Pyramid Pile Cure, and used it with such good results I bought next a dollar box, which finished up the job. That was nearly six years ago, and as far as piles is concerned I am cured, and have never felt a symptom of them since.

"Many others have used this remedy by my advice, with the same results, and I always recommend it to sufferers with piles." C. H. Potts, Burlington, Kans.

Testimony like this should convince the most skeptical that Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures, but cures to stay cured. It is in the form of a suppository, can be applied in the privacy of the home, directly to the parts affected, and does its work quickly and painlessly.

Druggists generally sell this famous remedy for fifty cents a package, and sufferers are urged to buy a package now and give it a trial tonight. Accept no substitutes.

A little book describing the causes and cure of piles is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and same will be sent free to any address for the asking.

The Doctor's Twins.

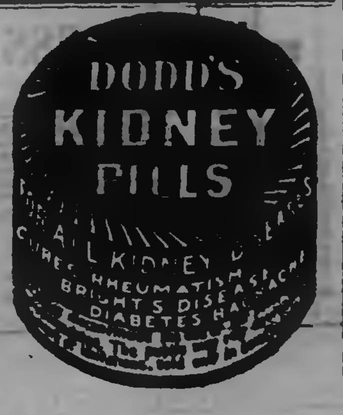
A worthy Glasgow doctor while enjoying a holiday in Arran took the opportunity along with a friend to go whiting fishing. During operations the doctor's sinker came off and was lost.

Here was a dilemma. No sinker, no more fishing that day. Ha! Happy thought! His flask. No sooner said than done. The bottle was filled with salt water, carefully corked and sent down on its mission.

After a few minutes' interval, "Ha," quoth the doctor, "a bite!" And up he pulls at racing speed a fine pair of whiting, one on each hook.

"Ha, doctor, twins this time!" exclaimed his companion.

"Yes," quoth the doctor, "and brought up on the bottle too."—London Globe.



STILL MAKING APPOINTMENTS.

Defeated Ministry May Cling to Office For Some Days Yet.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Another meeting of the Provincial Cabinet was held yesterday afternoon, and at the close it was announced that the question of resignation had not been discussed. The opinion prevails at the Parliament buildings that Premier Ross and his colleagues will not step out until the last of the week or the beginning of next.

The Ontario Government has appointed E. T. Cockrill of Kingston, a graduate of the School of Mines of Queen's University, secretary of the bureau of mines, to succeed W. E. H. Carter, who resigned. The salary is $1,800.

Hon. G. P. Graham, Provincial Secretary, refused to say anything yesterday about the appointment of George Bush as jailer for Lincoln County Jail, in succession to the late T. B. Blain. The appointment has not been sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor, who, it is said, has intimated to the Premier that the outgoing Cabinet should leave all important appointments for the new administration.

The following appointments have, however, been duly ratified:

Howard Chester of Coldwater, to be clerk of the Tenth Division Court of the County of Simcoe.

E. M. Yorke of Verona, formerly bailiff of the Fourth Division Court of the County of Prescott, to be clerk of the court, and his place as bailiff filled by J. A. Wells of the same town.

J. A. A. Raisenne of St. Eugene, has been appointed clerk of the Third Division Court of the combined counties of Prescott and Russell, to succeed L. J. Labrosse, who resigned to enter the political field against Mr. Evanturel.

Protest in Kingston.

Kingston, Feb. 2.—The Conservative executive unanimously decided to protest the election of E. J. B. Pense on the ground of bribery. They claim to have ample evidence already to warrant this action and state that some of the leading local Liberals will be involved in the charges. The recount will begin on Saturday morning, but it is generally expected that while this will decrease it will not wipe out the majority of 17 for Mr. Pense.

Mr. Evanturel's Recount.

The majority of Labrosse (Lib.) over Hon. F. E. A. Evanturel was only 4. The first return gave Evanturel four, but a deputy returning officer made an affidavit that he had made a mistake of eight in his poll-book, and the sheriff accepted the explanation and declared Labrosse elected. Evanturel objected to this proceeding and has applied for a recount, which will take place on Monday next.

Recount in West Huron.

A re-count of the West Huron ballots will take place on Friday at Goderich. The Conservative candidate was declared elected through an error of a deputy, but has applied for a recount in order that his right to the seat may be established.

SIR WILFRID MADE OFFER.

So Declares Mr. Chamberlain in His Most Recent Speech.

London, Feb. 2.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Chamberlain, speaking at Gainsborough, urged upon his audience the desirability of thinking Imperially without reference to antiquated conditions of themselves and their country.

Referring to the colonial support in the late war, he said for the first time it made possible an organized union of all the different parts of the British Empire for the common objects gain. He quoted the remarks of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier Deakin, and the late Cecil Rhodes. Dealing with the colonial offer, he said: When Sir Wilfrid Laurier says: "We offer to meet you to make a treaty with you by which you shall treat us and we will treat you a little better than we both treat foreigners," I do not know any name in the English language that I can give that statement, except an offer. This offer Sir Wilfrid made has been repeated in different words and in different forms, but always to the same effect, not only by the statesmen of Canada, whichever side of politics they are on, but also by the statesmen of the other self-governing colonies. He told his audience they were not bound to open their mouths and shut their eyes and take whatever the colonies gave them. They were asked to meet friends and relations in a friendly meeting and see whether the Empire cannot be more closely united on a basis of preferential policy. He told his audience they had been asked to meet the overtures of Canadians by a flat and insulting refusal to a proposition which would readily be entertained in the case of a foreign country. He ventured to say the colonies being high-spirited nations, if treated in such a way would seek elsewhere the sympathy they asked.

Only Permanent Benefit.

London, Feb. 2.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting held at his house, Lord Brassey emphasized the opinion that emigration is the only permanent benefit for the unemployed. He appealed for subscriptions for that purpose.

Passed Restless Night.

London, Feb. 2.—The bulletin issued yesterday morning by the physicians attending the Princess Victoria, who was operated on for appendicitis at Buckingham Tuesday, says she passed a restless night, but otherwise is as well as can be expected.

Engine Kills Party.

Hornellsville, N.Y., Feb. 2.—A sleighing party from the Universalist Church of Hornellsville was struck by a Pittsburg, Shawmut and Northern engine near Arkport last evening. Six were killed and many injured.

Lady—"I'm glad to hear it. I have a box of one of the so-called 'just as good as 2 in 1 polishes,' and it is no good. It's a pleasure to deal with a house that sells what you want."

Shoe Clerk—"Well, madam, I would be very foolish to try to sell substitutes, for '2 in 1' is the best shoe polish made."

Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

Crosses on Beer Barrels.

Beer barrels are invariably marked with a series of crosses, which nowadays denote the quality of the beer contained in the cask. These crosses were originally put on by the monks, who then made all the malt liquors, as a sort of trademark. The crosses were not of the same shape as now shown, but were more akin to the shape of a crucifix and were intended to show that by "their oath sworn on the cross" the beer supplied was of a fit and drinkable condition.—London Times.

Why Babies Look Old.

When we think of the physical martyrdom the babies go through in the way of dress and of the mental torture they must endure when they observe how thoroughly and hopelessly they are always misunderstood can we wonder at the look of age and care that settles so early on their infant brows?

They Got Married.

Tom (who has been away)—Did you and that girl you were engaged to last summer get married? Jack—Yes, but we are not living together. Tom—Why? What's the trouble? Jack—Oh, no trouble at all. She married another man, and I married another girl.

Patience.

Patience is not nerveless and weak, but vigorous and powerful. The Scriptural synonym is steadfast endurance.

Baby Eczema.

"My daughter was afflicted with eczema when from three weeks old. Her entire face and head were raw, and she was in awful distress. When doctors failed we began the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which has entirely cured her and she has never had the least symptom of the trouble since."—Mr. Patrick Sullivan, Welland Ave., St. Catharines, Ont.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

GEORGE ST. 5, CHARLOTTE ST. 5.

For the second time this season Charlotte street and George street Guild played a tie game in the Guild League last evening. It was the fastest and most exciting game that has been played in the Guild League so far. George street led at half time by 4 to 1, and with only six minutes to play were 2 goals ahead, but Charlotte street made a garrison finish leaving the score 5—5. Two five minute extra periods were played without a score. Mr. Bruce Rickey made a very capable and satisfactory referee. The game was played with six men a side. Following was the line up—

ALL SAINTS 5, ST. JOHN'S 2

All Saints' Guild added another victory to their string last evening, when they defeated St. John's in a Guild League game at All Saint's rink by a score of 5 to 2. The half time score was 3—0. The game was a good exhibition, being fast and not very rough. The winners had the advantage all the way through, although St. John's worked hard and did some nice playing. Mr. George Robertson refereed to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

The line-up was as follows—

10-NIGHTS CITY LEAGUE GAMES

The ice will be in splendid condition for to-night's big game between the Karnots and Farriers. It will be the best of the season as far as City League hockey is concerned. Excitement is at fever heat among the supporters of the two teams. Both outfits will have their strongest line-up on and are in the best of shape and both are confident of winning out. The game will start sharp at eight o'clock. The teams will face each other as follows when Referee Cavanah calls play:—

Farriers. ...... Karnots.

The Colonials and Verniers come together in the second contest, which should be a good exhibition.

The Pig Iron Tigers are into the game once more, and wish to challenge their old rivals, the Pill Pounders, to a game as soon as the Brock-st. rink can be secured.

A team representative of the Ontario Bank will journey to Lakefield to-morrow night to play the senior team of that place.

Secretary Clarry, of the Trent Valley League, is having considerable difficulty in settling the controversy between Campbellford and T.A.S. in regard to playing off the tie game. Campbellford refuses to play in Lindsay and are averse to a sudden death game here. T.A.S. are not agreeable to playing home and home games, and will not play in Keene. Just how a settlement will be arrived at is not clear, but it is certain that there will be no game to-morrow night. In the meantime Secretary Clarry will bring together Fenelon Falls, winners of district No. 3, and Cobourg, winners of district No. 1. Home and home games will be played next week.

The local juniors have defaulted the game which was to have been played tonight with Cobourg. The rink could not be obtained and several of the players are laid up, hence the default. Cobourg thus wins the round and will go up against Queen's III. in the second round.

Barrie defeated Midland last night by 6 to 5, thus putting Fred. Whitcroft's bunch out of the running and giving Barrie the championship of the district.

A protest concerning the age qualification of Percy Bond, of the Cobourg juniors is threatened from Belleville.

The following will be the line-up of St. Andrew's Guards against the Guild tonight—Goal, J. Logan; point, E. Reid; coverpoint, F. C. Richardson; centre, H. Rosborough; rover, R. McKnight; right wing, A. VanEvery; left wing, E. Currie.

The Colonials will have the following line-up for tonight's game with the Verniers—

Goal—McCoy.
Point—Frost.
Coverpoint—Henry.
Rover—McWilliams.
Centre—Rouille.
Right wing—Foley.
Left wing—Callahan.

This is the strongest line-up the Colonials have had this season. The Verniers are also strong and the game will be a good one.

For Over Sixty Years

An old and well-tried remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

Mr. Gotthere's Proposal.

They were talking about their love affairs, as women will when they get in a confidential mood. Every one present except Mrs. Gotthere had told of her experience when the important question was "popped." When Mrs. G. hesitated her companions urged her harder than ever.

"Well," she confessed, "if I must tell the truth, I never had a proposal."

"Did the job yourself in leap year, eh?" asked Mrs. Sharp.

"Not a bit of it. You know what a diffident man Bob is. I could not help seeing that he loved me devotedly, and I knew I loved him. I was as sure of him as sin is sure of punishment. I let two other good chances go by before they reached the proposal stake during the seven months of Bob's courtship. One afternoon he sent me a box of chocolates with a beautiful diamond ring inside. Our initials were engraved on one side of the shaft and a chain link on the other. It was quite a shock to my girlhood's dreams of the sort of proposal I wanted. I cried a bit, and I really believe now they were tears of joy. Anyway I had the ring on my engagement finger when Bob called that evening. In a few moments we were chatting away about plans for our wedding as naturally as though we had been engaged for weeks."—New York Press.

One L Omitted.

"Here! What do you mean by calling me that?" demanded the trust magnate, pointing to the offending line in the paper.

"'Soulless individual,'" quoted the editor. "Why, you never before objected to being called a soulless individual."

"That isn't what you call me," thundered the visitor. "You have it 'souless individual,' which means an individual without a sou."—Catholic Standard and Times.

How the Expression Originated.

The sphinx was propounding its riddle to a Greek. Failure to solve it, as all know, meant death.

"Well," said the monster impatiently, noting the man's hesitation, "can't you see through it?"

"I can't for the life of me," was the reply.

A few moments after the unlucky guesser had passed away, but the expression survived.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

LIVE SUBJECTS WERE DISCUSSED

Farmers' Institute Meeting Held in Ennismore.

NEW MEMBERS RECEIVED

Small Fruits for the Farmer's Garden—Mr. Field Spoke With Reference to the Dairy Cow—Good Programme of Music.

Wednesday afternoon's meeting in the new T.A.S. Hall, Ennismore, was presided over by Mr. Danch, president of the County Institute. In point of attendance it was, as the previous afternoon small. Mr. Field was the first speaker, and by request took up the subject of the previous day, instead of "Bacon" as advertised. After complimenting the people of Ennismore on their splendid new hall, he entered into the subject of the dairy cow and again convinced his audience that he was well versed in this topic. Mr. Kline also read the same paper as he did the previous day on the 4th line, which proved quite as interesting as it was on the former occasion. Mr. Sherrinton, owing to the late hour, did not take up the subject advertised for him, "Small Fruits for the Farmers' Garden," but instead discussed for a short time the aims and objects of the Farmers' Institute. He urged those present to become members, which cost the very small fee of 25 cents per annum. This money was used for local expenses, and did not go to the Government. Instead, the Government gave each County Institute $25.00 per year, the County Council giving a like amount. A membership ticket entitled the holder to all the agricultural literature published by the Government. As a fruit of Mr. Sherrinton's talk some thirty five members purchased membership tickets during the afternoon and evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening meeting was a grand success and opened with a bumper house. Mr. Danch, president, requested Mr. John Telford to act as chairman at this meeting, which he did most acceptably. The large, fine hall was crowded to the doors and among them was considerable talent of a musical and elocutionary nature, as the following programme, which was well rendered, will testify:

T.A.S. Orchestra—March.
Song—Miss Celia Twomey.
Song—Miss Zetta Galvin.
T.A.S. Orchestra—Waltz.
Song—Mr. Jas. Guirey.
Quartette—Telford Brothers.
Song—Mr. J. K. Galvin.
Chorus—Misses Twomey, Crough, F. Scollard, Carew, Galvin, E. Scollard.
Recitation—Miss Veronica Galvin.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, who has always taken great interest in these meetings, was unable to attend, being away from home, which was regretted by all.

Mr. Sherrington took up the subject advertised for him in the afternoon, "Small Fruits for the Farmers' Garden." His first advice was to give the boys and girls a good education, stating that they will become intelligent farmers in all branches, with a good education more easily than without it. Every farm, Mr. Sherrington said, should have a fruit garden, the strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries, currants, etc., were valuable indeed to the women of the farm when meal preparing time came, particularly in hot weather. Besides fruit was the healthiest of foods. He explained how to plant the different kinds of small fruit. First, the plants should be secured as near home as possible and planted at once, as a few minutes exposure to the sun would destroy them. Strawberries should be planted in long, straight strips, four feet apart, the plants 24 inches apart. This will allow cultivating with a horse. No weeds should be allowed among small fruit plants or shrubs. The early variety advised was Michaels' early. For midsummer and late as well as for preserving Brandywine and Saunders. Raspberries, for early, Reliance and Turner; for preserving, Cuthbert; for a late raspberry Phoenix, which is also an excellent berry for preserving. For early Black Caps Conrath is recommended. Red Currants, Fay's Prolific and and Cherry are considered the best of all the varieties. Black Currants, Maples and Champion. Gooseberries, the Dowling is the best of the American varieties.

Mr. Field gave his address of the previous day on "Farming." During his remarks he stated that in the whole of his five years' lecturing with the Institute this was the largest Farmers' Institute meeting he had ever seen. Mr. Sherrington was again called upon, this time his subject being, "Poultry." He thought this also was a very important part of farming, and spoke of the general case hens should receive for the best results. They must be housed in a warm place. Their winter food should be as nearly as possible like their summer food and they should only have such exercise as they can get in a small inclosure. He designated the Wyandottes and Plymouth Rocks as the best breeds. The meeting closed at 11 o'clock with votes of thanks to the talent, the delegates, the press and the singing of God Save the King.

KEEPING HOLD.

Don't Let Go of All the Pleasant Ties of Your Youth.

It was the tourist season in Washington, although for that matter it is tourist season there pretty steadily for nine months out of the twelve every year, and the day being perfect the library of congress was thronged with visitors. Enthusiastic groups were gathered in every corridor, weary sightseers filled the seats or dropped limply on the stairs, and the marble floors echoed with the constant passing of feet.

Suddenly from a group of gray haired ladies, the youngest of whom must have been long past fifty, an eager voice was heard:

"Oh, girls, look at this picture!"

People who were near glanced smilingly at each other; two schoolgirls giggled aloud, but a tired woman on the steps looked wistfully after the happy gray haired "girls."

"Aren't they having a good time?" she said to the woman beside her. "I'll warrant they were schoolmates, and they've kept it up all their lives, and now they're having a regular lark together. It's nice to see them so, only it kind of makes you feel as if you might have kept hold of things in your own life that you've let go, doesn't it?"

"Yes, it does," her friend agreed soberly.

"I believe it one of the most happy things in the world as we grow older," Lowell once wrote to a friend, "to have as many ties as possible with whatever is best in our own youth and to be pledged as deeply as possibly may be to our own youth." To be pledged deeply to one's youth, to "keep hold of things in your own life," surely there is no better secret for making the years yield rich harvests.—Youth's Companion.

THE EYEBROWS.

A Simple Treatment by Which They May be Improved.

Sharp eyebrows never make a pretty profile. Get a small bottle of pure almond oil and put it in a dish of hot water. Let the water remain hot while you add a teaspoon of red vaseline to an ounce of the oil. Stir while it cools, and you will have a soft pomade which is just the thing to use as an eyebrow grower.

Take a small camel's hair brush and go over your eyebrows every night. Outline the brows just exactly as you like them to be. Next morning wash the face with hot water. Do this every night and you will be rewarded by abundant and pretty eyebrows.

To treat the eyes successfully take a bowl of warm water—say a pint of water—and dissolve into it a teaspoonful of powdered borax. Set the bowl where it will keep hot, and then bathe the eyes with the solution. Use it every night before going to bed.

The wrinkle between the eyes—and all women of thirty have this wrinkle—must be massaged away. Then, too, all the little querulous lines in the forehead must be brushed away with the finger tips. Besides this, the chin must be nicely massaged to keep away the crow's feet from around the mouth.

THE HOME DOCTOR.

For nosebleeding bathe the head, face and neck with cold water.

To stop the bleeding of a bad cut apply finely powdered rice or flour to the wound.

The juice of an orange in a cup of hot water taken before breakfast is healthful and good for indigestion and constipation.

In fevers give food that is most easily digested. Milk, which contains all the food principles, is the best special diet for fevers.

A flaxseed poultice should be applied to an ingrowing toe nail to reduce the inflammation. After that more heroic measures can be resorted to.

The fumes of burnt camphor will instantly relieve a cold in the head. Put a piece of camphor the size of an egg in an old saucer. Set it on fire, and after burning a few moments blow out the flames and inhale the fumes.

Remarkable Record.

To have gone round the world five times preaching, and to have addressed, through interpreters, men and women speaking 197 different dialects and languages, is the remarkable record achieved by the American woman preacher, Miss Jessie Ackerman. Commencing her itinerary at the age of twenty-four, Miss Ackerman, traveling without escort, has spoken in South America, South Africa, Australasia, India, Japan, China, Korea and Siberia. The miners of Mexico and Alaska were preached to at the bottom of the mines. In Iceland the legislative body accorded the woman missioner a public reception. Miss Ackerman has also preached in the chief towns of every country in Europe.

"Although I have traveled quite alone, on many occasions among semi-civilized people," said Miss Ackerman. "I have never been molested in any way."—London Daily Mail.

DOG'S STRANGE ACTIONS

Persists in Roaming Among the Icebergs on the Beach at Port Hope.

The residents in the vicinity of the east beach are worried at the appearance and very strange actions of a dog in that locality, says the Port Hope Guide. On Wednesday last they noticed the canine roaming about the icebergs, but paid little attention to it. On Thursday he was still there and their curiosity was naturally aroused. Friday found him in the same place, and the ladies in that vicinity became very nervous. On Friday evening a couple of gentlemen visited the iceberg to see if there was anything wrong, and they found the dog all cuddled up near the water's edge. On seeing the light of their lantern he leaped forth to the edge of the berg and looked piercingly through the water, apparently in great anxiety. The gentlemen searched about for half an hour and could find nothing wrong, but try as they would they could not induce the dog to leave the iceberg. On Saturday the south-east wind washed a considerable part of the berg away and the dog was obliged to move. He paid a visit to a nearby residence, but left shortly and took up his position on the pier, where he walks up and down during most of the day apparently in the greatest of trouble. He is still keeping up this practice on the pier and the efforts of several men to drive him away have been without avail.

A large number have visited the scene during the past few days, but the dog is unknown to any of them. It is a collie species with black hair and mouse colored head.

Some who are inclined to be a little superstitious are of the opinion that a friend of the dog has been drowned, but, of course, there is no foundation for this story.

COUNTY TO HAVE TWO INSPECTORS

Mr. H. C. Mann to Assist Mr. J. Coyle Brown.

THE CHANGE RECOMMENDED

Mr. Brown Has Been School Inspector For Upwards of Thirty-Four Years—The County Will Now be Divided, the Assistant to Take East Riding.

Matters pertaining to education seem to claim particular attention from the County Council at its present sessions, and it is understood an important change will be recommended with regard to the inspectorship. It seems to be recognized that the duties in connection with this office have become too great for one man to attend to. Mr. J. Coyle Brown has had the position for about thirty-four years, and he has been, therefore, very closely identified with the application of school regulations and the extension of the systems as applied to the County of Peterborough. To-day there are in the neighborhood of 120 schools in the county, and this means a large territory to cover by the inspector. Mr. Brown has been an energetic official. It is understood that the committee in charge of educational matters in the Council will now recommend the appointment of Mr. H. C. Mann, of Fenelon Falls as assistant inspector. Mr. Mann is a native of Smith township, and taught for some time there before taking a college course and going to Fenelon. He is qualified by education and ability for the position. The proposal of the Council is to allot the East riding to the assistant, while Mr. Brown will continue to act in the West riding. The salary attached to the inspectorship is at present in the vicinity of $1700 and this, it is understood, will be divided equally between the two inspectors. The county gives a sum equivalent to that paid by the Government, fixed on a basis of so much per school.

The recommendation embodying the change will be made to the Council in the reports which will probably be presented to-morrow.

TO-DAY'S SESSION

The County Council went into session at 10.30 this morning with Warden Buck in the chair, and all of the members present.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

The Warden announced that he had received word from Mr. T. G. Eastland that he would be unable to accept the position of auditor, and it would be necessary to appoint another. On motion of Mr. Andrews, seconded by Mr. Webster, Mr. J. L. Squires, of Norwood, was appointed auditor.

The Council adjourned to go into Committee of Whole.

—Rev. E. A. Langfeldt left for Millbrook to-day where he will deliver a lecture to-night under the auspices of the Loyal Orange Lodge.

Olivaro Cupido, the Italian, who was stabbed in the affray on Simcoe-st. on Tuesday night, is reported as doing well, and his recovery is looked for.

—Capt. R. T. Hounsell, Edinburgh-st., caught a real live butter fly in his kitchen at noon to-day. It was flying around and apparently enjoying life, even in this zero weather.

—Perhaps the oldest man in the Province to cast his vote on Wednesday last was Mr. James Muir, of Millbrook, who walked to the poll nearly a mile and gave J. J. Preston a lift. Mr. Muir is in his ninety-ninth year and as spry as a boy.

—The Farmers' Institute meetings for East Durham will be held as follows:—February 17th, Manvers Station in the afternoon; Bethany at night. February 18th, Cavanville in afternoon; Millbrook at night. February 20th, Garden Hill, afternoon and evening. February 21st, Canton, afternoon and evening.

—Dr. Amys having purchased the property and practice of the late Dr. Pigeon, who resided at 270 Charlotte street, Peterborough, he will on and after January 31st have his surgery at the above address, instead of as in the past on Lake street, Ashburnham. Office hours 8.30 to 10.30 a.m. 2 to 3.30 p.m. 7 to 8 p.m. 6d1w

—Lent begins this year on the 8th of March and ends on the 23rd of April 23rd. Easter will be on the 23rd of April. The last possible date that Easter may occur is April 25, and it is only at long periods that Easter falls as late as that. In 1886 Easter came on April 25th and it will not again fall upon that date until 1943. Easter has not fallen on April 23 since 1848, and after this year will not fall upon that date until 1916.

—A remarkable bet on the result of the election was made between a prominent contractor and a merchant of the town of Sudbury. If Mr. Whitney carried the province the contractor was to sit in the merchant's window from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, with two panes of glass out of the window, and all the children in town are expected to shoot anything at him they can with pea-shooters. Each party put up $100 to be forfeited to a public institution if he defaulted.

THE OPERA HOUSE SCENERY

Has Been Purchased by the Havelock Dramatic Society.

A number of the young people of Havelock, styling themselves "The Havelock Amateur Dramatic Society," are preparing to present the great Irish drama, "The Haunted Mill," in the town hall here the latter part of this month, or the first week in March, says the Havelock Standard. The entire scenery of the Peterborough Opera House has been purchased by the Society, the town Council advancing the necessary money, and it will be set up on an enlarged stage and used for the first time on the night the drama is presented. The proceeds of the evening will be devoted to repaying the Council the sum they expended, after which the scenery will become the property of the town. The young people deserve great credit for their enterprise in securing the scenery, which they obtained at a "bargain," and for their patriotic ambitions for their home town, the town hall of which will be fitted up second to none between Perth and Toronto.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Most Successful Meeting Held at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee.

The Farmers' Institute meeting yesterday at Stewart's hall, Otonabee, was largely attended, particularly at the evening session.

Mr. Sherrington's address was on "Planting, pruning and cultivating the orchard." He strongly advised the cultivation of the orchard. It should not be left in sod, not cultivated deep, but rather shallow. For doing this work no implement was better than the disc harrow. Keep the surface well worked up until August, then sow clover, rye, rape or some other green crop that will act as a mulch, which will add to the humus in the soil. A clover crop is the best to keep the frost from penetrating. Orchards should be pruned yearly, not every fifth or tenth year as is too often the case. The surplus growth should be taken off with a knife or very fine saw; cut close to body of the tree, it will heal over more quickly and not leave unsightly trees, with stumps sticking from the main body, of from 2 to 8 and 10 inches long, which in a year or two rot and greatly retard the tree and fruit. The proper time to prune is in March or April. June, when it is so often done, is too late; paint over all heavy cuts. All fruit growers must spray their trees to get good, clean fruit and an abundance of it. Again Mr. Sherrington took occasion to advise wood ashes as a fertilizer.

In answer to numerous questions he gave some good pointers as to grafting, and varieties of fruit.

Mr. Field's subject was "Cultivation" and in every case he agreed with his colleague in the matter of implements to be used and the manner of doing the work. Fall plowing should be done. Heavy clay should be well sub-soiled in the spring, then use the cultivator or disc harrow, working the land until it is a nice, mellow seed bed. If rain comes and the surface gets baked or a crust forms, a light harrow may be given after the crop is 3 or 4 inches above the ground. Mr. Field, also advised the rolling of land before sowing, as his colleague did at a previous meeting.

The evening session was as the previous ones, interspersed with recitations, songs and instrumental music.

DUTY ON WHEAT.

A curious effect has been produced in the United States by the shortage of wheat in the North-west. The very class of producers who were formerly eager to have high protective duties on grain are now asserted to be anxious to have seed wheat admitted free from Canada. But the existing duties apply to wheat for seed purposes as well as for that for food. The only kind of wheat admitted free is that brought across the border under bond to be made into flour for export. The mills of Minneapolis use large quantities of wheat in this way for the export trade, says the London Free Press, and this is the excuse for agitation for removal or reduction of the bounty in order that wheat may be brought across to be ground for the home trade in flour. The American North-western farmers, however, do not favor a reduction of the duty, except for seed wheat. When the bounty was put on it was hardly expected that the United States would soon become an importer of wheat, or that foreign supplies would be really needed for American mills; but now that the conditions are at hand, farmers are naturally unwilling to abandon the advantages given them by the duty, which in years of crop shortage cause higher prices in that country than abroad. The excellent price obtained from this year's crop has sent a wave of prosperity all over the wheat sections of the west and north-west, and the whole country has shared the benefit in an indirect way by the impulse given to general business activity.

RUSH FOR INVESTMENT.

Modern times have furnished but few examples of the unthinking crazes which periodically seize men in their desire to get suddenly rich, by some newly discovered short cut, than the more striking, instructive or more likely to be remembered craze which two or three years ago swept over the country in the promotion of Portland Cement Companies.

Had our own Ontario people been left to themselves the fever would have been innocuous and harmless here. But organized by a few practiced promoters from the United States and aided by allies from this Province, there has been gathered into their coffers and invested in unproductive Cement plants, several millions of hard earned Canadian money.

The same overproduction which took all profit out of the industry in Continental Europe and in England has spread into and out of U.S. and thence into Canada.

We learn from a reliable American cement worker—

"One would suppose that the possession of the most ordinary degree of the prudence which men exhibit in the common affairs of life would cause a pause when asked to entrust a sum of money to the management of a lot of strangers of whose business capacity or honesty they know nothing, in a business of which they know nothing except what it may seem the gentlemanly canvasser, who pockets off hand 10 per cent of the money subscribed as his commission upon the transaction, unless, indeed, as is often the case, he shares up ostensibly with the "disinterested" mutual friend who introduces him and for value received on the side—gives assurance that it is all right—a big thing, etc., etc.

It is said of the thirteen Canadian companies, but three have ever paid any dividend.

That no U.S. company paid any dividend last year. That about half the companies are now shut down and will not resume operations unless a great change takes place in the prices.

These pictures make nice birthday or wedding presents, and are always acceptable. Everything needed may be bought at the Review office. New embossed boards in white and cream, also all shades of mountings in all weights, pretty pictures in sepia and colors, passepartout in all shades—these are all on sale at the Review Stationery Department.

After Lee's Surrender.

In "Recollections and Letters of General Robert E. Lee" Captain R. E. Lee describes his father's return to private life after the surrender of Appomattox. He says:

"A day or two after the surrender General Lee started for Richmond, riding Traveler, who had carried him so well all through the war. He was accompanied by some of his staff. On the way he stopped at the house of his eldest brother, Charles Carter Lee, who lived on the upper James, in Powhatan county. He spent the evening in talking with his brother, but when bedtime came, though begged by his host to take the room and bed prepared for him, he insisted on going to his old tent, pitched by the roadside, and passed the night in the quarters that he was accustomed to. On April 15 he arrived in Richmond. The people there soon recognized him. Men, women and children crowded around him, cheering and waving hats and handkerchiefs. It was more like the welcome to a conqueror than to a defeated prisoner on parole. He raised his hat in response to their greeting and rode quietly to his home on Franklin street, where my mother and sisters were anxiously awaiting him. Thus he returned to that private family life for which he had always longed and became what he always desired to be—a peaceful citizen in a peaceful land."

Oil on the Coffee.

The cup of black coffee had on its surface a little oil. This oil shimmered. It gave forth delicate, changing colors, like oil on water. The man who was about to drink the coffee gazed at it with delight.

"The oil," he said, "tells me all I want to know about the coffee. Now, without tasting it, I am sure it is superb.

"The whole secret of making coffee," he went on, "lies in extracting and retaining this oil. This oil it is which gives coffee its aromatic and delicious taste. This oil it is also which stimulates you, which makes you feel after you have drunk strong and gay.

"Good coffee—the kind with oil afloat on it—can only be made by excellent cooks. In millionaires' houses or in hotels where they employ French chefs you are likely to get it. But the average American housewife does not know how to make this oily kind of coffee at all."

Soot as a Disinfectant.

Of the many cheap and simple disinfectants proposed for the use of the people one of the most effective is common soot. Soot is composed of pure carbon and is formed by the hot vapor of the hydrocarbon coming from burning fuel striking the cold walls of the chimney or stovepipe and condensing thereon. It is a very light, porous and impalpable powder and, like charcoal, which is the same element in a different form, possesses the property of absorbing and retaining a wonderful amount of gas. The great danger of disease about sewers, drains and other places is almost entirely due to gas given off by decomposing matter. If soot be sprinkled about these places it will absorb the foul gas.—London Mail.

Too Much Imagination.

Pity the man or woman devoid of imagination, but he or she who allows the imagination too great liberty becomes its subject rather than its master. The man who wears a rubber on the pedal attachment to his cork leg because the cork foot aches without the rubber is as unfortunate a victim as the Scotchman who fainted on account of the heat in church the first Sunday after stoves were set up, although a fire had not been lighted in any of them.

Dutch Cure For Lazy People.

The Hollanders are not fond of lazy people, and they have a very good way of curing persons who can but won't work. If a pauper who is able to work refuses to do so they put him in a cistern, to which a pump is attached, and turn on a stream of water. The stream flows into the cistern just slow enough to enable the lazy person by lively pumping to keep the water from getting up over his head.

Real Riches.

"Who is the richest man in the world?" asks an exchange and begins measuring millions against millions. All wrong. The richest man in the world is the one that gets the greatest amount of happiness out of what he has, whatever it is. It is an old truth, but it was never truer than it is today.

A Reminder.

Elder Sister—Really, dear, you mustn't put "I remain ever your loving Nellie Tomkins." You may put "I remain your loving Nellie Tomkins" if you like, but underline the "remain" and the "Tomkins." Father's been throwing out hints about the long courtship, darling!

Before and After.

Mr. Busybody—Pardon me for mentioning it, but isn't your wife a little rude to you at times? Mr. Henpecked—Well, it does seem so to me. Before we were married she used to sit on my knee. Now she sits all over me.

Not Using It.

Mr. Green—Miss Passay says she has a prescription for perpetual youth. Miss Sarcastic—It's a wonder she wouldn't take it to a drug store and have it put up.

Ducal Feelings.

Duke of Bilberry—Where were you when the king fell off his horse? Duke of Hoboken—Oh I was near the throw!

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. Wm. Magee, 49 Wright Ave., Toronto. Ont.

USE AND ABUSE OF CRESTS.

In an article in "The Delineator" for March, William Armstrong Crozier gives some information in regard to the use of armorial bearings, which is either little known or deliberately set at naught by many people. Among other things he says: "According to the English laws of heraldry, armorial bearings are the property of an individual, descending to his children and their children. It is the exclusive property of the one who either received it by grant or proved his prescriptive right to it. If it is attained by a grant of arms, the lineal descendants, not the collateral relatives, may pretend to it. The brother of a grantee is no more entitled to the use of the same arms than the veriest stranger. Maternal descent from a gentlewoman does not give the right of coat armor to the descendant of a man not having inherited from his male ancestor. If a man without armorial bearings marry an heiress, he cannot make use of her arms, for having no escutcheon of his own, it is evident he cannot charge his shield with her arms; neither would their issue, being unable to quarter, be permitted to bear their maternal coat. This is a rule frequently violated in America." Later in the paper is made this significant statement— "There are more assumptive arms borne in America than any where else. It is not overestimating when we say that at least seventy-five per cent. of the arms engraved on the note paper of to-day are fraudulent"; and further on we read—"According to the laws of heraldry, an unmarried woman must not bear the arms of her ancestor within the shield of a bachelor; neither is she permitted the use of a crest. . . The right to wear them (crests) was considered a very great distinction in the early days of heraldry, because they could be acquired only by those who had, as knights, seen actual service in the field. We frequently see a coat of arms adorned with two crests, the owner stating that one is his own and the other his wife's crest. But as ladies can neither bear, inherit, nor transmit them, we may confidently assume that this is a case of home-made heraldry. The only possible right that a man can have to more than one crest is where more than one has been granted to his paternal ancestor.'

DR. CHASE'S ALMANAC.

Dr. Chase's Almanac for 1905 which is now being placed in circulation, will be welcomed as an old friend. An instance of the accuracy of its weather forecasts is given in its prognostication for January, which would indicate that this feature has been made the subject of careful, scientific investigation. There has been no mistake with reference to the conditions for February, either, as the forecast reads thus—"Severe cold, zero weather, warmer with some days rain," approaching the middle of the month, and "getting more severe with snow and wind" as the month declines. There is much valuable meteorological data in the almanac, and a feature that will be of further value is the diary calendar which is found in no other almanac published in this country. To the farmer it will be particularly useful as a means of keeping a record of all important dates and events.

Those who have not as yet received one of these Almanacs may obtain a copy free by dropping a card to Edmanson, Bates & Co, Toronto, mentioning the Review.

ANIMAL ANTIPATHIES.

The Fear Horses Have of Camels and Cattle of Dogs.

"In some towns they won't let us show," said the circus animal trainer, "unless we have no camels with us. Camels are a serious drawback to shows. Horses are so much afraid of them that lots of towns won't let a camel enter their gates.

"A horse won't go near a piece of ground a camel has stood on. The very smell of a camel in the air will make a horse tremble and sweat, and this fear isn't only found occasionally in a horse here and there. It is found in every horse all over the world. Queer, isn't it? I often wonder why it is. Cattle hate dogs in the same way, and cats hate dogs so too. Here, though, we can account for the hatred. Dogs in primitive times fed on cattle, no doubt, and even today here and there they kill and feed on kittens.

"Horses love dogs. I'm sure I don't know why. Dogs fear no animals but pumas and leopards. You can take a dog up to a lion's or a tiger's cage, and he will show no fear, but take him up to the cage of a puma or a leopard and he will tremble and moan and slink away out of sight.

"All very puzzling, isn't it?"

TWO GREAT LEADERS.

Disraeli and Gladstone and Their Enmity Toward Each Other.

Disraeli wit was too much for Gladstone. The great Liberal had but one adjective for his Tory opponent, and that was "devilish." Never during the years of their opposing leadership had the two any social relations. Each made light of the other's literary efforts. Some one asked Lord Beaconsfield to define the difference between a misfortune and a calamity, and unhesitatingly it came. "If Mr. Gladstone should fall into the Thames, it would be a misfortune. If any one should pull him out, it would be a calamity."

The best of all the Gladstone-Disraeli stories tells how once at a London dinner party the ladies at the table were asked which they would marry if they had to marry one or the other, the great Liberal or the great Tory. All declared promptly in favor of Beaconsfield save one, who hastened to explain that she had rather wed Gladstone that she might elope with Disraeli and so break her husband's heart. This happening was of course retold to Disraeli, and so pleased was he over it that he suspended a cabinet debate on the chances of a continental war in order to relate it.—Warwick James Price in Criterion.

THE BIG DIPPER.

It is the Hour Hand of the Woodman's Celestial Clock.

The pole star is really the most important of the stars in our sky. It marks the north at all times. It alone is fixed in the heavens. All the other stars seem to swing around it once in twenty-four hours.

But the pole star of Polaris is not a very bright one, and it would be hard to identify but for the help of the so called pointers in the "Big Dipper," or "Great Bear." The outer rim of the dipper points nearly to Polaris, at a distance equal to three times the space that separates the two stars of the dipper's outer side. Various Indians called the pole star the "Home Star" and the "Star That Never Moves," and the dipper they call the "Broken Back." The "Great Bear" is also to be remembered as the pointers for another reason. It is the hour hand of the woodman's clock. It goes once around the North star in about twenty-four hours, the reverse way of the hands of a watch—that is, it goes the same way as the sun—and for the same reason—that it is the earth that is going and leaving them behind.—Country Life In America.

Do Bargain Hunters Smile?

"I went out shopping the other afternoon," said a well known pastor of New York city, "and, having in mind the hymn 'Brighten Your Way With a Smile,' I looked about to see if there were any smiles on the faces in the big department store.

"In all that hurrying and pushing and worrying real, genuine, hearty smiles were not to be found. I saw one smile, but it looked like a plant that had been wintered in a cellar. It was bleached and wan."

The Way a Benedict Looked at It.

Mrs. Benham—I don't believe a word of your excuse. Benham—That's just like a woman. I don't suppose Jonah's wife believed the story he told her after he had spent three nights with the whale. Mrs. Benham—How do you know Jonah had a wife? Benham—He wouldn't have been a Jonah if he had not been married.

"Some people," growled Crabbe, "make me sick."

"I should think nearly everybody would make you sick," replied Cutting.

"Indeed! Why?"

"Reciprocity, you know."

FIRST THIRD READING

Sir Wilfrid's Mounted Police Bill Passed By the House.

Robert Reford of the Transportation Commission Wants to Resign, But the Government Is Trying to Persuade Him to Remain—Salvation Army Officer, Inspector Archibald, to Enter to Service of the Dominion Government.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—W. T. R. Preston, Canadian Immigration Commissioner in London, figured in two questions asked in the House yesterday. To one enquiry the answer was made that Mr. Preston's visit to Canada in November last was for the purpose of discussing certain questions with the Minister of the Interior. There was no friction between officials in the High Commissioner's office, London, and Mr. Preston said no complaints had been made that he (Mr. Preston) was unduly interfering with the High Commissioner's office. Mr. Preston had no jurisdiction over any of the staff in the High Commissioner's office. Mr. Preston's salary last year showed $679 for traveling expenses.

Mr. Lancaster was informed that twenty-five extra men were employed on the Welland Canal last September, seventy-four in October and forty-two in November.

The men received $1.50 per day. There was a ripple of merriment in the House as Mr. Emmerson supplied the further information that the men were laid off in December, the work on which they were employed having been completed.

Certainly a Strange Thing.

W. B. Northrup asked why the election of the member for the Yukon had not been gazetted. The election was held on Dec. 16, and he could not understand the delay.

The Minister of Justice replied that the Government did not understand the reason of the delay. Word had been received that the returning officer would make his declaration on Feb. 7. "It does seem rather peculiar," Mr. Fitzpatrick admitted, "and we have asked the returning officer for an explanation."

Mr. Monk moved for the papers and the correspondence exchanged between parties in the town of Verdun and the Montreal Habror Board, or the Department of Marine and Fisheries, respecting protection against floods at Verdun. Mr. Prefontaine promised to bring down the papers.

First Third Reading.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's bill amending the Mounted Police Act had the honor of getting the first third reading of the session. The bill passed through the committee stage and was read a third time with comparatively little argument.

The Parole System.

The estimates of the Department of Justice were taken up in committee of supply. Some highly gratifying reports of the parole system were made to the House. Mr. Fitzpatrick said that there were ten parole men in one institution in Toronto. The same institution recently expressed a willingness to employ three more parole men if they were recommended. The parole men are required to report once a month to a police officer. In some cases the police went to the trouble of notifying the employer. "This," said Mr. Fitzpatrick, "is an act of cruelty." He explained the process by which paroles are granted, and incidentally bestowed generous praise on Inspector Archibald of Toronto. So greatly are the services of Mr. Archibald valued by the department that it has asked him to become a permanent Government official, devoting all his time to the Government service. Mr. Archibald has consented and has applied to General Booth for release from Salvation Army work.

There was considerable discussion over the manufacture of binder twine at Kingston Penitentiary, but resulted in nothing.

Transportation Commission.

When the committee rose Sir Wilfrid announced that the members of the Transportation Commission were Robert Reford of Montreal, James Ashdown of Winnipeg and M. C. Fry of Quebec. Mr. Reford has tendered his resignation on account of ill-health. The Government is urging him to withdraw it. So far only one report has been made by the Commission, and that is an interim report on the port of St. John.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

DUNDAS COUNTY HONORS PREMIER-ELECT WHITNEY

Received an Ovation Which Was Flattering Tribute to His Worth and Popularity.

Realizes His Responsibility, and Hopes He Will Not Prove Unequal for the Occasiou When the Time of Stress Comes—The Whole Countryside Turns Out—Streets of Morrisburg Had Holiday Appearance.

Morrisburg, Feb. 2.—(Special.)—The god old town of Morrisburg was en fete to-day. The occasion was the great demonstration accorded by the people of Dundas and the adjoining counties to the premier-elect of Ontario, J. P. Whitney. The ovation he received was in every sense a flattering tribute to the man, who born in this county, reared, educated and spending the greater part of his life here has now attained the highest honor which the province can bestow on a citizen.

An immense crowd of people came to town early in the day from all points within a radius of thirty miles. The capacity of the hotels and the private residences was taxed to the utmost to accommodate the throngs. Special trains were run all along the line, east and west.

At 1.30 this afternoon the streets assumed a holiday appearance. They were lined from the depot to the music hall, nearly a mile in length, with cheering men and women, urging on the procession composed of electors from the various municipalities in the county, each marching in a body with the sleigh carrying Mr. Whitney at the head. Four bands were in the parade, as well as rigs containing many of the prominent public men of this and adjoining counties.

Ovation to Mr. Whitney.

Arriving at the music hall the procession could barely move because of the crowds that blocked the entrance. As the premier-elect, Mr. Whitney, stepped from the sleigh he was given a remarkable ovation by his townsmen. In a very few minutes the large hall was jammed full of cheering, enthusiastic people who showed unmistakably the pride and affection they felt for their fellow citizen.

M. J. Casselman, the president of the County Conservative Association, took charge of the meeting and called for speeches from the following gentlemen, all of whom spoke briefly and to the point:

Andrew Broder, M.P., for Dundas.
R. R. MacLellan, K.C., of Cornwall.
R. A. Pringle, M.P., for Stormont.
Geor. Kerr, M.L.A.-elect for Stormont.
J. Leitch, K.C., of Cornwall.
J. L. Grove, warden of the united counties.
A. Sweet of Winchester.
D. A. MacArthur of Alexandria.
G. H. Ferguson, M.L.A.-elect for Grenville.
Dr. Hickey, ex-M.P., of Morrisburg, and lastly
Mr. Whitney himself.

Mr. Whitney reiterated what he had said on election night, that the recent expression at the polls WAS NOT A PARTY TRIUMPH. He acknowledged the magnificent tribute his fellow citizens were paying him and modestly and modestly disclaimed any personal credit for the great change that had taken place in the province.

The audience, mostly men, was very enthusiastic, yet orderly, and gave both Mr. Whitney and the other speakers respectful attention.

This was spent the first part of the celebration.

Again in the Evening.

Another enthusiastic meeting was held in the evening. By 7.30 the hall was packed, and before 8 o'clock standing room was at a premium. Never has the hall presented a gayer spectacle. Flags, bunting and mottoes, suc has "Dundas disdains duplicity," "Welcome to our premier" were everywhere. Seated on the stage besides the speakers of the evening were Mrs. Whitney and daughters, Mrs. Thomson, Miss Whitney and Mrs. I. Hilliard. Mr. Casselman again occupied the chair.

The Chesterfield Band opened the program, and music was also furnished by the Brinstone's Corners Band and the following vocalists Miss Sophia Bower, Miss Hickey, H. H. Ross and Dr. Davey.

The chairman read letters of regret from P. D. Ross, Dennis Murphy and J. D. Reid.

A. Broder, M.P., began the speechmaking with one of his characteristic deliveries that tickled the audience immensely. He' was followed by Mr. Donovan, the defeated Conservative candidate in Brockville, who made a favorable impression, and then G. H. Ferguson, member-elect for Grenville, gave a rattling god speech.

Albert Whitney of Prescott, brother of the premier-elect, expressed the honor he felt on this occasion in being permitted to take part. He hoped that the new premier would hold sacred the trust the people of the province had so unanimously placed in him.

Houghton Lennox, M.P., for East Simcoe, spoke briefly, as did Mr. Leitch of Cornwall, who referred among other things to the fact that he and Mr. Whitney were years ago called "to the bar" together.

A Foe, Now a Friend.

Dr. Chamberlain, late inspector of prisons and asylums ,and an old political opponent of Mr. Whitney, made a happy and eloquent speech, recalling with pride the fact that the first premier of Ontario, John Sandfield Macdonald, had sprung from the united counties as well as the sixth premier, Mr. Whitney. As a citizen of Morrisburg he was proud that his old friend had attained such a high position. He hoped that when in a few hours Mr. Whitney would be called on to form a government and would come to his county for re-election that Dundas would return him by acclamation.

H. H. Ross, ex-M.P., made a capital speech, while eulogizing G. W. Ross for his many great qualities of mind and heart, he regretted that he had not read the signs of the time aright and resigned in 1902.

Dr. Reddick of Winchester spoke briefly.

When Mr. Whitney stepped forward to receive the beautifully illuminated and well worded address from the electors of Dundas, read by I. Hilliard, it was the sign for another ovation. He was cheered for several minutes.

Recollections Overcome Him.

Having bowed his acknowledgements he said that when he stopped to consider what he should say the recollections of past days were too much for him. He realized that it was impossible to apreciate the expressions of good will which the people of Dundas had so lavishly accorded him. He referred feelingly to the strong ties that bind him to his fellow citizens, and also thanked Dr. Chamberlain for the expression of such broadminded sentiments. Regarding the address he would not answer it by a political speech, but would rather look on the gathering as a fellowship meeting. He dealt reminiscently with the political history of the province since he entered the legislature, referring particularly to his close personal friendship with the late Hon. A. S. Hardy and the confidence that gentleman had reposed in him in asking his opinion as to the date of a general election. He could recollect of no similar instance in the political history of any country.

Promises Well.

Mr. Whitney characterized the great change that had come over the people in the matters of the information they now possessed on all great public questions as a good augury for the future. He also paid a striking tribute to the influence woman has in the affairs of the world. "Happy is the nation," he declared, "in which women take an interest in its affairs. "In an eloquent peroration the premier-elect asked his audience never to forget the privileges and liberties enjoyed by people in this British country." We must remember that one party is not all right and the other all wrong. Each party has a part in working out the great system of constitutional government. When anything becomes wrong with one party, the whole state suffers. We should all feel pride in the fact that each party is moulding the destiny of the country. With such a spirit animating the people there is no danger that posterity will blush at reading our history."

Realizes Responsibility.

In accepting the position which the people had given him, Mr. Whitney said he fully realized his defects and needed his friends' sympathy in the responsible position he was about to occupy. While it was not for him now to criticize the acts of those who had preceded him in the government of the province, he nevertheless declared it would be his policy to never allow the criminal to stalk abroad or have the administration of this great province throttled and her name become a byword. In conclusion he wanted his administration to be judged by the standard he had now set up. He expressed his confidence that public affairs would not lie stagnant, but that Ontario would go on to fulfil the destiny which the creator had seemingly mapped out for this part of the North American continent, and hoped that time of stress came he would not be unequal the situation.

The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most eventful days in the history of Morrisburg.

NOT TILL NEXT WEEK.

Mr. Whitney Not in Hurry to Assume Premiership.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The new Cabinet will not be formed until Monday or Tuesday of next week, a high authority at the Parliament buildings said yesterday. The old Ministers held a session yesterday afternoon and will meet again to-day to wind up. If they get through the resignation of the Premier and his colleagues will probably be handed to the Lieutenant-Governor on Saturday, with the recommendation that he send for Mr. Whitney.

Mr. Whitney, it is understood, does not desire to be called until next week, and the Cabinet has not been rushing through the matters before it, knowing Mr. Whitney's wishes.

Kennedy Elected.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 3.—At noon yesterday, Returning Officer McDougall declared Kennedy (Liberal) elected member for Port Arthur and Rainy River, by a majority of 25.

Commission Issued.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The Ontario Government yesterday issued a commission empowering Sir William Ralph Meredith, Hon. Chief Justice Moss, Mr. Justice Street, Provost Street Maclem and A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., to enquire into the charges made against members of the faculty of the University of Toronto. The commission authorises them to summon witnesses and to require them to give evidence on oath.

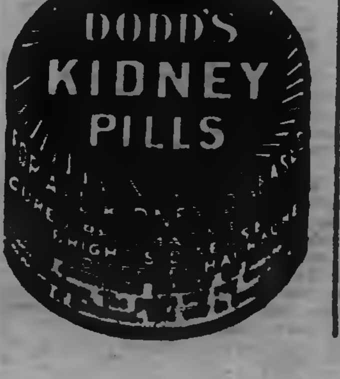
SAYS ONTARIO IS GUILTY.

Plain Language Concerning Treatment of Tuberculosis Victims.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Dr. Hodgetts, in his masterly report to the Provincial Board of Health yesterday morning, characterised as criminal negligence the apparent disinclination of the municipal authorities of the Province to deal with the question of providing municipal sanitaria for consumptives, and strongly urged the necessity for such institutions. The comment was provoked by the fact that the deaths from tuberculosis had increased from 2,072 to 2,165, as compared with last year.

The total deaths for the year 1904 were 25,415, as compared with 25,267 in 1903. Those from infectious diseases were: Smallpox, cases 309, deaths 4; scarlatina, cases 3,165, deaths 129; diphtheria, cases 3,045, deaths 436; measles, cases 526, deaths 32; whooping cough, cases 268, deaths 90; typhoid, cases 1,262, deaths 297; tuberculosis, cases 2,228, deaths 2,165. The total deaths numbered 25,411, against 26,276 in 1903, giving a rate of 12.6 per 1,000, as against a rate of 12.8 for the past year.

The increase in deaths from enteric fever called for more than passing notice. It owes its origin mainly to a contaminated water supply, and therefore it should be the especial duty of local authorities to maintain a more careful oversight of this essential of life, and to this end a systematic examination of all waters used in a municipality, whether it be a rural or urban district, should be entered upon by all boards, and to carry out this work every city and every large town should have its own laboratory.



Goes to Ottawa.

Montreal, Feb. 3.—R. L. Borden reached here last evening and will proceed to Ottawa this morning.

Madman Kills Eight.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 3.—A mad man ran amuck with a knife in a town of Borneo and before he was overpowered eight persons lay dead upon the street and seventeen others had been wounded. The information was received in port. The town where the wholesale killing occurred is known as Labad Dafu, and the headquarters of the Darvel Bay Tobacco Company are located there.

Killed By a Train.

Comber, Feb. 3.—Eben Moon, a farmer, of Rochester township, Essex County, was killed by the fast eastern M.C.R. express at an early hour yesterday morning, at Ruscombe station, four miles west of here. The unfortunate man was driving across the track at the time. His buggy was struck and demolished, but the horse escaped injuries. The body was badly mangled.

Death Was Accidental.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—"Purely accidental," was the verdict brought in by the coroner's jury, that enquired into the death of R. H. Barrett, the civil engineer, who fell out of a York street lodging house window.

Fire Causes $150,000 Damage.

Gloucester, Mass., Feb. 3.—Fire in the business section last night at 10 o'clock done damage estimated at $150,000.

Old British Drinks.

Mead, made of honey, water and spices; bragget, morat and pigment, variants, were very early drinks in England.

Currant wine, elderberry, gooseberry, mulberry, quince, plum and apricot wine are old fashioned varieties. Parsnips and turnips produce a very powerful village brandy.

Cowslip and rhubarb wine are very different, the former weak and the latter very heady.

Fir tree tops, green nettle tops, birch and beech sap, bog myrtle, heather—all produced liquors. And did not a New England rhyme, meant to encourage the patriotic boycott on British goods, run:

We can make liquor to sweeten our lips
From pumpkins and parsnips and walnut tree chips?

Sloe gin and rue gin are queer drinks. Negus is sherry, hot water, lemon, sugar and nutmeg. The London Outlook says that Derbyshire women used to drink in secret a "ferociously intoxicating" potion made out of the poisonous foxglove.

Nollekens and Chantrey.

Nollekens, the sculptor of George III., had a rare generosity which more than made up for his eccentricities. When Chantrey, afterward so famous, sent his bust of Horne Tooke to the exhibition he was young and unfriended. Nollekens said to those who were arranging the works for the exhibition:

"There's a fine, a very fine, work. Let the man who made it be known. Remove one of my busts and put this one in its place."

Often afterward when he was requested to make a bust he would say in his persuasive, well nigh irresistible way: "Go to Chantrey. He's the man for a bust. He'll make a good bust of you. I always recommend him."

Yet this same man was penurious to a fault and by absolute frugality accumulated a fortune of $1,000,000.

Deserved Praise.

"William, I saw you coming out of a saloon today."

"Well, I should think you would call that a bright thing to do. Now, if you had seen me going in one you might have some reason to make a kick."

Such a Difference.

The corn doctor perhaps may be
A man whom you delight to see,
But the corned doctor—him, ah, well—
You do not care to see or smell.

Knew Too Much.

"Let's go over and talk to Jacobson."

"Not much! Do you know, I think that man is uncanny. They say he understands all about the tariff."

Good to Them.

"Is he kind to his family?"

"Yes. When his children earn money he lets them keep 10 per cent of it."

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

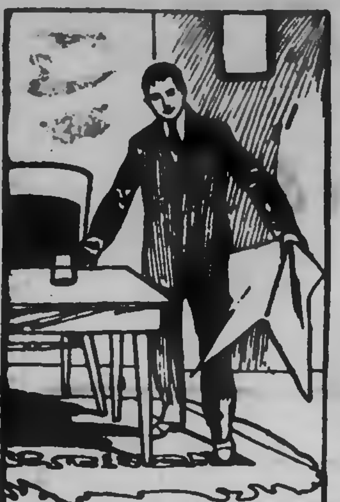
TUMBLER TRICK.

You Seem to Force an Ordinary Glass Through a Table.

Many entertaining tricks can be done without the use of apparatus or confederates. To force an ordinary glass through the center of a table so that it will fall on the floor underneath will cause much astonishment on the part of the spectators.

All that is needed are a plain table, a plain drinking glass without a stem and a page from a newspaper. Have the spectators examine the table and satisfy themselves that there are no trapdoors or springs connected with it. Then announce what you propose doing.

Place the glass on the table mouth downward and sit down in a chair facing the audience. Place the newspaper over the glass and carefully press the center of the paper all around the glass until it conforms perfectly to the shape of the glass. Move the paper and glass around until you get the glass to the edge of the table, and it will fall noiselessly into your lap.



THE TUMBLER TRICK.

Continue moving the paper around as if the glass were still under it. It will appear that way to the audience. When in the center of the table hit the paper where it conforms to the shape of the glass a resounding whack, at the same time opening your knees, allowing the glass to fall on to the floor under the table. To every appearance you have forced the glass through the table on to the floor. This is a very effective trick if it is skillfully performed.

WATCH YOUR VOICE.

Do Not Allow It to Become Loud or Sharp or Hard.

Kind hearts are more plentiful than persistently kind and gentle voices, and yet love loses much of its power when the voice is sharp and hard. Try, therefore, most earnestly to acquire the right tone in speaking, and guard yourself carefully from falling into careless and bad habits of voice. Often a sharp voice shows far more ill will than the heart feels, but people do not know that the speaker's "bark is worse than her bite," and they believe her to be ill tempered and disagreeable. It is so easy to pick up a sharp and snappish manner of speaking. Very often it is acquired in mirth and in the give and take battles of words in which boys and girls delight. There is no malice in their sallies, and a great deal of fun, but meanwhile the voice is often acquiring a sharp and shrewish tone which sticks through life, making it stir up strife and ill will among its listeners. So watch the tone in which you speak and take care that it is gentle and sweet. A kind voice is like music in the home and is to the heart what light and beauty are to the eye.

Asbestus.

You have probably heard the word asbestus used in connection with theater curtains and with various methods of rendering a theater or other building fireproof. Asbestus is a fibrous mineral that cannot be burned. Chemically it is a silicate of lime and magnesium. When torn to pieces in a machine made for that purpose it looks like a mass of cotton, and these fibers can be spun into threads or strings and then woven into fabrics useful for various purposes. The mantels of our gaslights are tied to a supporting wire by a piece of asbestus string.—St. Nicholas.

Doll House.

By exercising a little ingenuity a bed for her dolly that many a small girl will find satisfactory may be made from the pasteboard boxes that find their way into most homes. The lid is stood on end and firmly attached to the box proper. Any soft, pretty fabric will serve for curtains and a valance if desired, and the customary bed furnishings may be as pretty as Miss Dolly or her little mistress could desire.

Riddle Rhymes.

A head have I, but not a nose,
Nor eye nor ear, as you'd suppose,
And yet of service I am full,
Though you may have to push and pull.
No hands have I to clasp or fold,
Yet many things I fix and hold;
Nor any feet, yet out and in
I bravely go through thick and thin!

I have no head, no hands, no feet,
Yet I've an eye when I'm complete,
And, though it has not any sight
And cannot tell the day from night,
I still can make my way about,
Through many holes go in and out,
And always in my path I bring
Or take with me an eyeless thing!

SUCCESSFUL EVANGELIST

The many Peterborough friends of Mr. H. D. Kennedy will read with pleasure the following from the Christian Guardian of a recent date:

The Rev. E. B. Ryckman, D.D., of Cornwall, writes—"The church here has had a season of revival. Mr. H. D. Kennedy, evangelist was with us from the middle of November until Christmas. Sixty persons have been received into membership. Mr. Kennedy's services were very highly appreciated. His preaching is always with power, full of precious evangelistic truth, and of absorbing interest to the congregations. He has the gift of securing the most intense attention of his hearers. His methods are those with which the Methodist Church has been familiar from the former days. Seekers are urged to come forward, converts to testify and to use their influence with their unsaved-friends, and church members to throw themselves into the work. The impression remains on the minds of the Cornwall people that the old-time revival is not a thing of the past.

LIGHTS ARE BURNING

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—The arc lamp has not been burning on Patterson-st. for ten days and one of the aldermen was requested to get it fixed. The following note is the letter of thanks to him when it came to life again—

The lower lights are burning in the harbor on Patterson-st. They send a gleam across the waves, (snow heaps.) By the way did you see something in the shape of a soap box with a four-legged thing tied to it? Never mind, the snow is tramped hard by this time. We shall not require it any more this winter.

ALD. R. H. LEARY IS SELLING OUT

McCollum Bros., of Orillia, Purchase His Livery Stables.

PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

Mr. Leary Will Have Year's Rest and Take Trip Through Western Country—Will Still Live in Peterborough—New Comers are Experienced Men.

It is reported to-day on good authority that Ald. R. H. Leary has sold out his livery and hack business to McCollum Bros., of Orillia, and that it will be taken over by the new men about the middle of this month.

Ald. Leary when seen this morning did not deny that the sale had been made, but preferred not to discuss the matter at the present time. He has been eleven years in the business and his building and equipment to-day are among the most up-to-date in the country. Some time ago he reduced his stock considerably, but at the present time there are twenty-two good horses in the stable and the rigs are all practically new and of modern design.

When asked what plans he had for the future Ald. Leary stated that he intended to take a year's rest, and take a run through the Western country. He, however, said that he had no intention of making his home there—Peterborough was good enough for him. "I'll handle a good horse or two," he remarked. Mr. Leary has been very successful in the livery business during the past eleven years, having conducted it on a progressive and paying basis.

McCollum Bros. are well known liverymen in Orillia and vicinity. They have large stables in that town, and will no doubt realize the importance of such a business in a town like Peterborough.

An officer from Stanley Barracks, Toronto, and a drill instructor will be detailed to

WILL CELEBRATE MARCH 17TH

Entertainment and Concert Being Arranged by T. A. S.

St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society will celebrate the 17th of March this year by holding a grand concert and entertainment in the Opera House. It is a pleasure to note that they have secured the services of Mr. Ruthven McDonald, the popular basso, who has always been a favorite in Peterborough, and a member of the celebrated coterie of entertainers, the Fox family, has also been engaged. The celebration of the 17th of March is always looked forward to with great interest by members and friends of the T.A.S.

ANOTHER NEW CHURCH.

Father Moyna, of Orillia, Considering the Move.

Father Moyna, of Orillia, has in view the erection of a new Roman Catholic church in that town to cost $30,000. But he will not sanction the building of a new church until at least $20,000 has been subscribed towards the same. His plan for raising the funds to meet this expenditure would be to tax each member of the congregation at the rate of one day's income for each month until the total amount is raised. This would certainly avoid making fish of one and flesh of the other. The architecture of the proposed new church will be such as to provide the greatest possible comfort and convenience and would be out of the ordinary line of church design.

DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

Large and Appreciative Audience at the S. A. Hall Last Night.

There was a large attendance at the band concert given in the Salvation Army hall last night and a pleasing programme was rendered. The band under the leadership of Bandmaster J. M. Greene, excelled itself and won generous applause. The remainder of the numbers were carried as published in yesterday's issue, with the exception of one selection "Norwegian" which was not given by the band.

One of the features of the evening was the Bar Bell drill by ten children under the direction of Mr. Jabez Vincent, sergeant-major of the band of love. The drill was cleverly executed.

In place of the vocal solo by Bandsman Gandy, a quartette composed of Bandsmen Gandy, Ford, Brown and S. Grey rendered a vocal number, which was loudly applauded and an encore demanded.

The recitation by Fred Jennings, the reading by Mary Biggs, Ethel Wright's recitation and J. Vincent's reading were also well received. Miss Pearl Payton's selection on the organ was admirably given. The other numbers including the dialogue "In life's great harvest field" also evoked hearty plaudits. Adjutant Jennings ably presided and the evening was one of rare enjoyment.

EKO CAMP DANCE

Pleasing Event Held in Foresters' Hall Last Night.

The second "At Home" of the season under the auspices of Eko Camp was held last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe-st.. There were about sixty couples present and a delightful evening was spent. Excellent music was furnished by the Misses Dorris and the mazy waltz and stately lancers were kept up until midnight.

The committee in charge of the function—and to which in a large measure its success is due—was composed of Messrs. R. H. Elliott, W. H. Wareham, T. H. Gillespie, J. M. Gemmell and L. B. Ramsden.

THE USE OF GAS

Peterborough L. & P. Co. Will Cease Making It If They do Not Get More Customers.

The Peterborough Light & Power Company (Limited) have sent out notices that, unless they can secure a number of new customers, they will be obliged to cease making gas altogether. For this reason the company desire to extend its use.

The company point out that to stop the manufacture of gas would be a misfortune to all who are now using it, and ask for more customers. The cost to the average householder does not exceed $2.50 per month. The manufacturers add that they must know before spring as to how many new customers they can get so as to know what will be their course during the coming year.

DAUGHTERS OF ENGLAND

Dr. Young Given Gold Locket and Mrs. Booth Parlor Lamp.

The members of Lady Lansdowne Lodge, No. 22, Daughters of England, held a successful and well attended meeting in the Sons of England hall last night

Two pleasing incidents of the gathering were the presentation of a solid gold locket to Dr. T. H. Young and a pretty lamp to Mrs. James Booth, Past President of the lodge.

In making the gift of the locket to Dr. Young, Mrs. Booth read the address and Mrs. George J. Tovey handed over the valuable locket, which was suitably inscribed, bearing the words, "Presented to Dr. Young from the Daughters of England for faithful service, 1905." The doctor has been lodge physician for eight years and has been most energetic and faithful in attention to his duties. Mrs. Booth, past president, was made the recipient of a beautiful lamp, accompanied by an address expressing appreciation of her past services.

Following is a copy of the address read to Dr. Young:

To Dr Young,—We the members of the Daughters of England desire to express and show to you our congratulations for your special services performed to the members. We can hardly express to you our many thanks for your valuable duties and prompt attention in the past, and we hope that it will not cease while you are medical officer. We ask you to accept this small token of our best respect, Hoping you will ever stand by the Society in the future.

Signed on behalf of the Officers and members of the Lodge.

The address to Mrs. Booth was as follows, being read by Miss Irwin, while Mrs. D. Oliver made the presentation—

To the Worthy Past President, Sister Booth—

Dear Sister,—We, the members of the Daughters and Maids of England, wish to express to you our gratitude and thanks for the many acts of kindness shown to us by you during your term as President. But we feel we cannot express our thanks as we should for your faithful services and attendance as President. We ask you to accept this gift as a token of the love and esteem in which we hold you. We hope that you will be as faithful in the future as in the past and that you will ever stand by the Society.

Signed on behalf of the Officers and members of the Lodge.

During the evening refreshments were served and a pleasant social time spent.

The Daughters of England as an organization are flourishing and under the newly elected officers splendid progress is being made.

BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

Aldermen Recognize Necessity of Improvement.

CERTAIN CHANGES PROPOSED

The Enlargement of the Fire Hall and Purchase of Chemical Engine—Extension of Fire Limits—Conditions to be Thoroughly Considered.

If reports are correct, and the present and past attitude of the Council seems to indicate that they are, the Fire, Water and Light Committee for 1905 contemplate some very important work this summer with a view to giving the town better equipment for fire protection. It was regarded by many as an unfortunate thing that the by-law providing for the erection of a new fire hall met with defeat at the time the question was submitted to a vote of the ratepayers. It is to be hoped the need for improvement in equipment must not be emphasized by any disastrous conflagration, meaning great loss to individuals as well as to the town in general, yet to avoid such object lesson it is most necessary that proper consideration be given to present conditions.

The members of the Town Council undoubtedly realize the need of better fire protection so far as the equipment of the department is concerned. It might well be questioned whether, in the event of a large fire in the heart of the town, the present facilities would be adequate to cope with it. The present Fire, Water and Light Committee would make an excellent beginning by bringing about an improvement of the fire alarm system—the present one is out of date by at least a decade. Such a move, it is understood, the Committee will make in the near future. It is also understood that the erection of hose towers in different parts of the town is proposed, and there is under consideration the extension of the present fire hall to include the adjoining store on Simcoe street, now occupied by Drummond and Duffus. The purchase of a chemical engine has been talked of, together with such other apparatus as will give the department an efficient and up-to-date status. The feeling seems to be if a by-law providing for the erection of a new hall were to be submitted to the ratepayers, it would be defeated, yet something must be done at once to remedy the existing state of affairs.

The extension of the fire limits is another question which will come up in the Council very shortly. In all probability an official from the Fire Underwriters' Association will be invited to look over the situation. The Council certainly cannot give too great attention to this very important question, and any action looking to improvement should meet with the support and indeed the appreciation of the community.

PRINCE EDWARD RECOUNT.

Dr. Currie Declared Elected by Nine Majority Over Mr. Norman.

Special to the Review.

Picton, Ont., Feb. 3.—The recount in Prince Edward took place here yesterday before Deputy Judge Wright.

Mr. Duvernet, of Toronto, and Mr. Hubbs, acted for Mr. Norman, and Mr. Widdifield and Mr. Addison for Dr. Currie.

On the opening of the recount Mr. Widdifield raised the objection that a deputy judge had no authority to hold a recount.

After argument, Mr. Wright, with considerable hesitation, concluded to proceed with the recount which was concluded about midnight.

The result of the recount was to add two to Dr. Currie's majority, which now stands at nine. The figures are Currie, Liberal, 2273; Norman, Conservative, 2264.

At Police Court this morning Harold Pamphelon, the sharper charged with obtaining $4 cash and a quantity of oats and hay from William Corneil under false pretences, was remanded until February 8th.

Alphonso Menzie, Ceeri Delpalma and Fabriano Marfeso, three noble Romans, were charged with aiding and abetting in the escape of Pamphilio Marfeso, the Italian who stabbed Olivero Cupido, the native of the Sunny South in the affray on Tuesday night. They were remanded until February 10th.

THE LADIES ENTERTAINED.

Enjoyable Event Held in Murray Street Baptist Church.

The ladies of Murray-st. Baptist Church, were the hostesses of a very enjoyable banquet last evening, when they entertained the members of the choir, the teachers and officers of the Sabbath school and friends. After justice had been done to the excellent dinner served by the ladies, a programme consisting of speeches and music was introduced. Mr. E. B. Edwards, superintendent of the Sabbath school, was in the chair.

Solos that added greatly to pleasure of the occasion were given by Mrs. Miller and Miss Florence Hall, and short addresses expressive of appreciation of the very kind hospitality of the ladies, and dwelling upon the relations between the choir, Sabbath school and the church, were given by Dr. Scott, Mr. Hodgson, of the Collegiate Institute, Mr. George Lee, Mr. C. B. Bentley, Mr. J. P. Cunningham, Rev. F. J. Scott, Dr. Bagshaw, Mr. G. K. Martin, T. F. Matthews, Mr. Hooker and others. The evening proved a very enjoyable one.

PARTYISM AND PATRIOTISM

Rev. J. C. Davidson Discusses Features of Late Election.

RESULT IS HOPEFUL SIGN

Too Often Elections Have Been Made Tests of Brute Strength, With Partyism and Prowess the Determining Factors.

Rev. J. C. Davidson is the writer of the following letter on "Partyism and Patriotism," appearing in the Toronto News, and which will be read with interest here:—

To the Editor of the News: The late Provincial election was, in many respects, a remarkable one, and certain features of it may perhaps still be discussed with profit from a non-partisan standpoint. The first thing which strikes one, of course, is the greatness of the popular majority rolled up from almost every part of the country and from every section of the community. This clearly indicates, as the Globe frankly admits, that the downfall of the Government has been brought about by Liberal as well as Conservative votes. There were apparently no great questions of public policy before the electorate, except the temperance issue, which was rather indefinite. The cry, "It is Time for a Change," while appealing strongly to Conservative "outs," could hardly be expected to awaken a similar response in the hearts of "Liberal "ins." The one great subject hotly debated on the platform and in the press was political corruption, and apparently on this ground, hard as it must have been to do it, Liberals either abstained from voting or unflinchingly marked their ballots against the Liberal Government.

A HOPEFUL SIGN.

This emphatic condemnation of the actions of party leaders by their supporters may be regarded as most creditable to the latter and a hopeful sign of the times. As pointed out, it has been done before in our political history, but perhaps not in this generation. Too often elections have been mere tests of what we might almost term "brute" strength. Partyism and prowess have been the determining factor instead of patriotism and principles. Is it not time for a permanent change in this respect, inaugurated as it has been by the late election? Why should men who find themselves conscientiously and regretfully compelled to vote or work against their party on particular issues be dubbed "traitors" or "turncoats?" Instead of this are they not worthy of honor as true patriots? Is our allegiance due to our God and to our country, or is it to be given over to a party which may conceivably go against what is divine and truly patriotic? What becomes of our boasted freedom if we are to be mere voting machines, morally bound to vote according to the dictates of a party convention?

Then, again, look at this matter from the standpoint of those who govern the country. If, on seeking re-election they cannot successfully appeal to intelligent and upright electors as being hide-bound partisans, candidates naturally devote themselves to bringing influences to bear upon the unintelligent and degraded part of the electorate, with whom money is far more potent than mind. Surely we shall not continue to allow these mentally and morally unfit persons to constitute the determining factor in elections, and thus practically to govern the country on their own terms? From heredity, or from their general bent of mind, men will always, no doubt, belong to parties; but let them see to it that their judgment is not warped, their liberty not lost, and their effective power not taken away through mistaken loyalty to party. As a matter of fact, in both Church and State we find that party ties are being rapidly weakened, and that younger men particularly, desiring to be loyal rather to Truth than to party, are claiming a reasonable freedom of thought and liberty of action.

HEALTHY CONDITIONS.

The clergy of our country should largely contribute to bring about this and other healthy conditions to Canadian public life, and the more the unreasoning prejudice and bitterness of party sprit is cast aside, the more readily will they be able to work for the public weal.

Here, again, encouragement is to be drawn from the past election campaign. Never, perhaps, in the history of the Province has clerical influence been so strongly exerted. Many individual clergy have felt constrained, with great self-sacrifice, to enter the political arena and discuss the issues before the electorate. Ministerial associations in most of our leading towns and cities have published strong resolutions. And last, but not least, principles of electoral morality have been inculcated from our pulpits everywhere.

Long may this powerful influence continue to be exerted, as it has been of late, not against any particular party, but against public iniquity, however and by whomsoever perpetrated. In the past we have had in Canada too much religious competition, with a weakening, narrowing and sterilizing effect. In the present we are beginning to feel the happy possibilities of a mighty co-operation between the multitudinous churches, rallying points, as they are, for the scattered population of every township and country hamlet, and dominating every centre of life and activity. What the future may have in store we do not know, but it looks as if there would be a still greater lessening of party, racial and religious antagonisms, a broader and and more kindly regard for the opinions of others, a further weakening of party ties and more direct efforts to apply the principles of religion to public and private life.

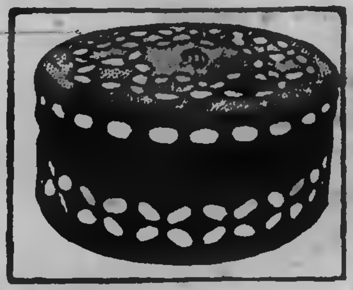
What the Women Want to Read About

SOME HINTS FOR HOME DECORATION

Rapid and Pleasing Needlework is Popular.

Ingenious Use of Novelty Braids—Decorative Articles Are Easily Made—A Useful Workbox and Photograph Frame.

Something new, easy to do, effective—this is the perennial demand in the world of fancy work at the [illegible] season, and it seems to be met by the method of using the heavy novelty braid, which is called novelty applique. Designs and instructions for this work occur as follows in the Designer: There are a number of braids suitable for use in this manner, but in the accompanying illustrations only two have been employed, one composed of lozenge shaped forms connected by slender stems, somewhat like honiton, but much heavier and coarser, and a narrow zigzag braid. Both of these have loop edges and are made in various sizes, ranging from those almost as small and fine as lace braids to some that are very large and heavy.

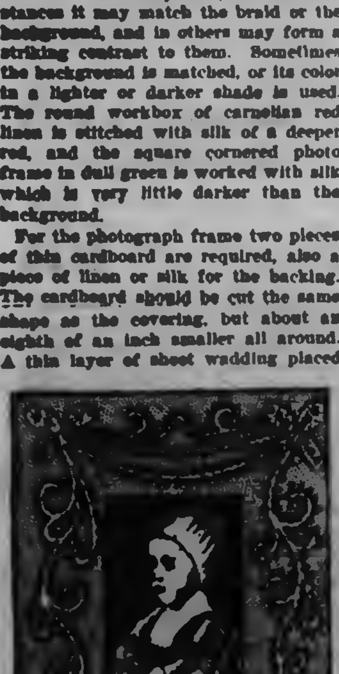


WORKBOX WITH BRAID DECORATIONS.

The braid is first basted over the outlines with close stitches, care being taken to follow the lines exactly and to keep the curves smooth and flowing. Then twisted embroidery silk, or, in case of a heavy design, rope silk, is used, and a stitch is put into each of the loops on the edge of the braids, while three stitches are taken from side to side across the stems which join the lozenge forms together. These silk stitches sprinkled over the entire design add very much to the richness of effect, give a touch of color and character to the braid and hold it firmly in place without further sewing, so that the work is rapid and easy of execution.

Linens of fine or heavy weave in different colors have been used for making the articles in the accompanying illustrations, but other materials could be employed to quite as good advantage. Duck, pique and canvas would form suitable backgrounds for the heavy braids and sheer white linen and silk for those of lighter quality. As for the embroidery silk, in some instances it may match the braid or the background, and in others may form a striking contrast to them. Sometimes the background is matched, or its color in a lighter or darker shade is used. The round workbox of carnelian red linen is stitched with silk of a deeper red, and the square cornered photo frame in dull green is worked with silk which is very little darker than the background.

For the photograph frame two pieces of thin cardboard are required, also a piece of linen or silk for the backing. The cardboard should be cut the same shape as the covering, but about an eighth of an inch smaller all around. A thin layer of sheet wadding placed between the front and the card will give the frame a softer, richer look, and on this may be sprinkled sachet powder of some delicate perfume.



BRAIDED PHOTOGRAPH FRAME.

A wooden salt box makes the firmest foundation for the workbox and should be well sandpapered to make it perfectly smooth before the covering is put in place. The inside should be lined with quilted or ruched silk over sheet wadding and should be fitted to the box, then the bottom and the side pieces overhanded together on the wrong side. The outside portions should be fitted and adjusted in a similar manner, then the outside and the inside pieces joined by overhanding along the top.

Notes From Good Housekeeping.

A friend told me several years ago that rice should be cooked in cold water and in a double boiler. After trying it once I have never been satisfied with any other method.

In making popcorn balls I have a pan of dry corn which I add to the corn as I form them. They look better and form much easier, as they are not so sticky.

Furs that are matted and worn can be much improved by brushing and combing carefully with a perfectly clean brush and comb. Then shake the furs till no dust comes out.

Delicate griddlecakes are made by mixing the flour and sour milk thoroughly together the night before. In the morning add salt, shortening and soda, but no flour.

Fruit Soup.—One chopped pineapple, two chopped oranges, one pint of canned strawberries (whole), one cup of powdered sugar, half pint of sherry wine or water; mix well together and serve very cold in punch glasses. Just before going to the table add a covering of chopped ice.

For [illegible] dinners no vegetables look prettier than baked Hubbard squash or pumpkins. Two medium sized round squashes should be selected. One is cut up and baked with butter, pepper and salt in the usual way; the other is put in the oven just long enough to be prettily browned. Using the stem for a handle, cut the top neatly from this second squash and save it for a lid. Scoop out the contents of this squash and save for pies. Cut the baked squash from its rind and fill the other squash shell. Pass this shell on a tray, with the lid in place.

Spinach, Swiss Style.—After the spinach has been well washed and boiled with a little baking soda in the water to keep it green, put it in a strainer and squeeze out every bit of water. Now run it through the finest knife of the food chopper twice. Chop also very fine a small onion or half a large one and saute in a tablespoonful of butter, not allowing it to brown. Add pork, one-fourth of a pound of butter, pepper, salt and enough boiling water just to moisten. Stuff and sew strongly. Bake twenty minutes to each pound of turkey. Keep the oven at an even heat, basting frequently. When done, remove from the pan and make the gravy.

Surprise Salad.—Select a well shaped cabbage, scoop it well out and decorate the outside with alternate rows of cranberries (fastened with wooden toothpicks) and whole cloves until completely covered. Fill the inside with chopped celery, cabbage and nuts. Use a mayonnaise dressing and serve on a platter decorated with lettuce.

A Hint For the Uninitiated.

In washing glassware beware of placing it in hot water bottom down, for that is the time that an ominous sound will tell of a crack from sudden expansion. Very hot water will not hurt any piece of glassware if only the inside as well as the outside comes into contact with the water.

Sugared Squash.

Select a firm, sweet squash, a Hubbard by preference, and break into neat serving pieces. Parboil for fifteen minutes. Place in a baking pan, sprinkle each piece thickly with grated maple sugar, place a small nut of butter on each and run into a slow oven to finish cooking.

KITCHEN HELPS.

The lime deposit which forms in the bottom of a teakettle can be removed by boiling vinegar in the kettle.

When peeling onions begin at the root end and peel upward; then the onions will scarcely affect the eyes at all.

Dirty ovens spoil custards and milk pudding; therefore the oven should be washed out with hot soda water at least once a week.

After onions have been cooked fill up the pan with boiling water and drop a hot cinder into it. This will prevent any smell clinging to the pan.

It is better to use a wooden spoon than one of metal when stirring milk or soups, and before using baking tins you should grease them inside thoroughly either with butter or lard.

Try cleaning your greasy pan after frying oysters, bacon and the like with a cup of cornmeal, dry; just put it in, use a dry cloth for the rubbing, turn out the meal and finish with hot water and a little soap.

The Work of the Kitchen.

The work of the kitchen may be kept easily by the girl who makes her head save her heels. The preparation of a family dinner ought not to leave the kitchen in confusion when the meal is about to be served. As soon as a saucepan is empty and taken from the fire, if it cannot be washed immediately and put away, it should be filled with water to prevent the contents from sticking to it. The greasy meat pan should have some washing soda put in it with water, and the grease will easily come off at the time of washing. "Clean as you go," is the best motto for the houseworker.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Cresolene tablets, ten cents per box. All Druggists.

AFTER DINNER GAMES

Fun Makers and Preventatives of After Dinner Dullness.

A wise hostess provides against the postprandial dullness which sometimes threatens a gathering of people where nearly all are relatives, and consequently so well acquainted with each other's ideas and hobbies that conversation sometimes flags. Table Talk suggests the following as entertaining games for young or old after the guests have satisfied the inner man with a feast of good things and have adjourned to the drawing room.

The Genteel Lady.

The only preparation needed for this pretty old French game is to have a number of gaslighters, or "spills," as our English cousins call them, made of twisted paper. These may be made of ordinary white paper, or, if preferred, paper of different colors may be used. These twisted papers are now called horns, and whoever makes a mistake in the game has for each error a paper horn stuck in his or her hair, placed, if possible, so that it will shake with every movement of the head.

Let us suppose the hostess seated with one person on her right and one on her left. The game begins by the hostess bowing to her right hand neighbor and saying, "Good evening, genteel lady, always genteel; I, a genteel lady, always genteel, come from this genteel lady (no matter whether gentleman or not), always genteel (here she points to her left hand neighbor), to tell you that she has an eagle with a golden beak."

The person addressed turns to her right hand neighbor, bows and repeats the same sentence. If she makes any mistake, even the difference of one word, or omits to bow when she begins or to point to her left hand neighbor, she incurs a horn. No player must be called genteel who has acquired a horn, but henceforth must be called "one horned, always one horned," or two horned, etc., according to the number he or she wears. After this sentence has gone round the entire circle the hostess begins again, bowing to her right hand neighbor and saying, "Good evening, genteel (or one horned) lady, always genteel (or one horned), I, a genteel lady, always genteel, come from this genteel (or one horned) lady, always genteel (or one horned), to tell you that she has an eagle with a golden beak and silver claws." After this sentence has been repeated by each player in turn the hostess proceeds as before, adding each time a new clause to her sentence until the eagle is finally described as having a golden beak, silver claws, diamond eyes, lace skin and purple feathers.

By this time probably every one in the game will have his head bristling with several horns. As can readily be imagined, the effect is highly amusing. The giving of prizes has been in vogue so long that, instead of bestowing them upon those having the fewest number of horns, it will probably prove more of a novelty to the younger members of the party and equally pleasing to the older heads to go back to the old custom of ransoming each horn by paying a forfeit.

Book Reviewers.

Each player is provided with a sheet of paper and pencil. He writes at the top of his sheet the title of a book (real or imaginary). This he folds down and passes the paper to his left hand neighbor, who, without seeing what has been previously written, writes a second title, which is also folded out of sight and passed on. The next player gives the name of an author and folds it down. The next contributes a motto, the next a press notice, signed with the name of some periodical (real or imaginary), and the next player contributes another criticism, all that has gone before being unknown to each player. The papers are then unfolded and read, the results being probably as incongruous as the following example:

AMELIA ARMSTRONG;
or, THE BLACK BEAUTY.
By A Blighted Being.

Swim we merrily; the moon shines bright.

This production will never set the river on fire.—Critic.

No book for a long series of years has produced such a profound sensation.—Squashtown Courier.

Cider Apple Sauce.

Five quarts of boiled cider, eight quarts of pared, quartered and cored sweet apples. Put the fruit in a large preserving kettle and cover with the boiled cider. Cook slowly until the apples are clear and tender. To prevent burning place the kettle on an iron tripod or ring. It will require from two to three hours to cook the apples. If you find it necessary to stir the sauce be careful to break the apples as little as possible. When the sauce is cooked put in sterilized jars.

As a Convalescent Food

Mr. Wyman N. Thomas, Ompah, Addington, Co., Ont., writes:—"My wife had congestion of the lungs, along with other troubles, and became very weak and run down. By the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food she was made as strong and as well as ever. Of course I had a doctor, but she was weak, and it was Dr. Chase's Nerve Food which built her up."

APPROPRIATE DRESSING.

The Secret of Always Presenting a Good Appearance.

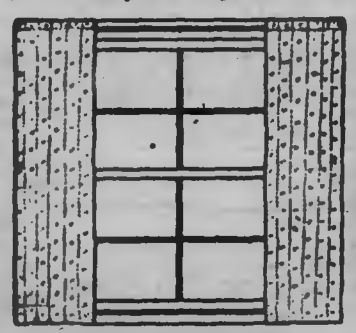
The great secret of a well dressed woman is that she is dressed appropriately for the occasion and yet not so ostentatiously as to attract adverse criticism. It is not difficult for a woman of means to own a wardrobe sufficiently large to admit of gowns suitable for almost any occasion, but it requires a clever head for the woman of moderate wealth or slender income to choose such costumes as may be adapted to suit more than one purpose and yet appear well dressed in these days of lavish expenditure. If she pauses to consider, however, she discovers that the best gowned women of her acquaintance are not those who spend the most money on dress. They may be, and probably are, a little extravagant in the matter of shoes, gloves and other dainty accessories that add "le dernier cri" to a well gowned woman, but their frocks are more remarkable for their cut, their immaculate condition and general good style than for any lavish ornamentation or extravagance in color or price.

She must look as though just unpacked from a bandbox—spotlessly neat, quietly but appropriately gowned, trim about the feet, hands and collar—and then no woman can be far astray from approval in both masculine and feminine eyes. A man takes in the general effect and judges of the whole rather than the details of a woman's appearance. A woman goes further, and, although her quick eye may detect the quality of the material, she will forgive or ignore the knowledge provided that the wearer displays good taste and regard for the details of her toilet. Happy the woman who can pass in all respects the requirements of both these points of view!

TREATING A WINDOW.

How to Make a Tall, Narrow One Look Low and Wide.

Have you ever moved into a house and found fairly low ceilings that might have lent themselves to a quite artistic decoration had not the effect been marred by the tall, narrow window? I have, and after doing battle with it in my mind's eye for several days I hit upon the expedient of lowering the window in effect by widening it in reality. I hung a straight, smooth strip of Japanese crape against the wall on either side of the window. The strip was only eighteen inches wide, but the effect produced was of a broad, low window.—Good Housekeeping.



WIDENING THE WINDOW.

Chicken Pudding.

An improvement on old fashioned chicken pie, which was always a rather insipid dish, is chicken pudding. Cut up two chickens, if a good sized pudding is wanted, and fry them in a very hot saucepan with chopped salt pork and a few slices of onion. The frying is merely to seal the outside, and five minutes is ample time to allow for this. Fill the saucepan half full of boiling water, season with salt and pepper and stew the chicken until it is quite tender. Remove from the liquor and place in a baking dish. Make a batter with flour, milk, a tablespoonful of butter and three eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately. Pour this over the chicken and bake. Boil down the liquor in which the chicken was stewed, thicken with a roux of flour and butter and serve in a sauce boat with the pudding.

The Popular Girl.

Be natural. People are quick to discern affectation of any kind and have a contempt for it, so give up affectation.

Be neat. There is a great charm in neatness.

Be affectionate and sympathetic and don't be self conscious and ashamed to show either quality.

Be home loving and kind to all old people, poor people and children. These are womanly qualities, and all love and admire the womanly girl.

Don't have "moods;" avoid the blues. People like to know how to find a girl, not to have to renew her acquaintance every time they meet.

Be athletic, as that means health, and healthiness means wholesomeness, and wholesomeness of mind and body is an invaluable quality.—American Queen.

Mrs. Emma A. Thomas.

A woman whose beneficent influence is felt in every state in the Union is Mrs. Emma A. Thomas of Detroit, Mich. When left a widow with three little ones, Mrs. Thomas went to Boston for training along special lines, meeting trials and discouragements that would have made most women despondent. Returning to her native state, she established a training school for teachers.

Saucepans.

A good way to clean saucepans is to fill the saucepan with water, add two tablespoonfuls of chloride of lime and boil for two hours. To remove smell rinse well and wash well with soda water. Then it will look new. The same applies to any enamel ware.

A Divided Stove Lid.

The housekeeper who has occasion to cook in small quantities will find a divided lid a great convenience for her stove or range. This lid is made up of a series of rings fitted together so that any one part may be lifted out, leaving a very small, medium or large opening. A small dish may be set within the small opening, thus getting direct heat and cooking its contents much more quickly. If there are kettles or cookers which are too small for the usual opening made by the lid, a narrow rim which will set just inside the opening may be purchased and will prevent many accidents from tipping utensils. Either the sectional lid or the narrow ring may be had from your store dealer.—Pilgrim.

ORDER AGAIN IN RUSSIA

Poland, However, Is Still the Restless Exception.

Committee of Ministers Formulates Proposals That Are Said to Be in the Line of Progress—They Distinguish Three Fundamental Bases For Defence Laws—All Were Sanctioned By the Emperor On Jan. 29.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—Order appears to have been generally restored in Russia, the exceptions being in Poland. Even in Warsaw, however, there has been a return to conditions approximating the normal.

The committee of Ministers sitting at St. Petersburg has formulated and the Emperor has sanctioned a number of proposals looking toward the establishment of the Senate upon a basis of closer connection with the throne; doing away with the administrative orders suspending certain laws, and in other ways checking the evils that have arisen through the arbitrary acts of Ministers or officials.

The committee of Ministers distinguished three fundamental points as bases for defence laws:

First—Prevention of violation of laws.

Second—Investigation of powers and methods of action of those responsible for the administration of the laws.

Third—Responsibility of officials.

The committee decided that it was expedient to establish local courts of justice connected with the Senate and with the institution of the Senate of the post of first president, with the right of personal relations with the Emperor.

A number of other changes clarifying the rights of plaintiffs under the civil code and in the general way of securing a broader interpretation and construction of the laws were decided upon by the committee; and all the proposals were sanctioned by the Emperor on Jan. 29.

No Magna Charta.

The committee of ministers rejected a motion made by M. Witte that the committee should express an opinion regarding the events of Jan. 22, and take steps to prevent a repetition of such incidents. The motion was rejected on the ground that such action was beyond the jurisdiction of the committee of ministers. M. Witte, whose motion was placed upon the minutes, thereupon submitted to the Emperor a memorandum which His Majesty approved and the committee of ministers had an extraordinary meeting Jan. 31 to consider this memorandum. The question of an inquiry into the incidents of Jan. 22 was discussed and the Finance Minister was empowered to draft a scheme for the reform of social legislation particularly applying to the workmen's question.

Gorky Released.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—Maxim Gorky, the author, who was arrested shortly after the disturbances at St. Petersburg, Jan. 22, has been released from custody.

Would-Be Assassin Identified.

Odessa, Feb. 3.—The assailant of Chief of Police Gainivine, who was shot in the right shoulder Wednesday, has been identified as Abraham Gelman, an artisan, from Berdichef. Chief Gainivine is progressing satisfactorily, but the bullet has not been extracted.

Mirsky to Go Abroad.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—Prince Sviatopolk-Mirsky has been granted leave to go abroad for 11 months.

Warsaw Papers Resume.

Warsaw, Feb. 3.—The local newspapers will resume publication today. The editors met yesterday morning and unanimously agreed that as the censor would not permit them to tell the truth regarding the disturbances, they would absolutely refrain from mentioning the subject except in the official reports, which they are compelled to publish.

Against the Czar.

Lemberg, Feb. 3.—Thousands of workmen engaged in a demonstration against the Emperor of Russia yesterday, marching through the streets with banners inscribed, "Hurrah for the Polish revolution," and "Down with the Czar." The procession stopped and howled in front of the Russian Consulate. The police finally dispersed the crowd and made many arrests.

Disturbances At Cracow.

Vienna, Feb. 3.—Serious disturbances are reported at Cracow. Last night thousands of workmen gathered at the monument of Mickiewicz, where Deputy Daszinski, the leader of the Galician Socialists, made a speech denouncing the Emperor of Russia, whose portrait was torn amid shouts of vengeance. The police dispersed the demonstration. Fifteen persons were seriously wounded and many were arrested.

JAP ARMY HEALTHY.

Only 40 Deaths in Army From Disease Since May 6.

Gen. Oku's Headquarters, Feb. 3.—Japanese field surgeons and field hospitals have accomplished a triumph according to statistics obtained by the Associated Press from the chief surgeon of Gen. Oku's army. There have been in the entire army since the landing on May 6, only 40 deaths from disease.

The figures show that up to Dec. 1, there were treated 34,642 cases of disease. Of these 40 resulted fatally, 18,578 patients recovered, 5,609 were sent to Japan, and the remainder were undergoing treatment when the figures were compiled. It is believed that these figures are unequalled in the history of warfare. There were only 183 cases of typhoid and 342 of dysentery, while of beri-beri there were 5,070. The other cases of disease were not serious.

The casualties in General Oku's army from May 6 to Dec. 19, were: Killed, officers 210, men 4,917; wounded, officers, 748, men 20,837; missing, officers 4, men 402. Sixteen per cent. of the wounded died, 19 recovered in the field and 65 per cent. were sent to Japan. Eighty-five per cent. of the wounds were inflicted by rifle shots, 8 per cent. by artillery and 7 per cent. by cold steel. The largest percentage of recoveries was in the cases of chest wounds. Most of the recoveries were due to the small calibre of the rifle bullets.

Japs Failed.

Mukden, Feb. 3.—After the Russian bombardment of Sandiapu Wednesday, the Japanese tried to drive them off but failed. The indications are that the Japanese will abandon Sandipau. The usual artillery duel is proceeding at the centre. Ten Japanese battalions, which attacked the Russian left, were repulsed with heavy losses. The latest returns of the Russian losses during the recent fighting show that 13,000 men were killed or wounded, General Kondratovitch being among the latter.

Japs Again Beaten Off.

Tsinkheichen, Manchuria, Feb. 2.—The Japanese offensive in the neighborhood of Dziantchen, 14 miles southeast of Tsinkaetchen has been beaten off. The Japanese left their killed and carried off a couple of hundred wounded. The Russians subsequently found a large number of frozen corpses of Japanese wounded who had tried to crawl off from Cheahatin Pass. The appearance of these corpses were frightful. The bodies were scantily clad.

Kuropatkin Struck Grippenberg.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of L'Echo de Paris says, under reserve, that General Grippenberg is to return to Russia under a cloud. Kurpatkin accuses him of engaging Japanese forces at Sandepaa outnumbering his own, and refusing to retire when Kuropatkin ordered him to do so, thus sacrificing 10,000 men. The correspondent asserts that an altercation occurred, in which Kuropatkin struck Grippenberg.

CANADIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Officers Elected For the Year—Interesting Topics Discussed.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—The election of officers at the Canadian Press Association yesterday resulted in the promotion of the men in high places as has been the practice of the association for many years. Arch. McNee of The Windsor Record, succeeded John A. Cooper to the president's chair; A. H. U. Colquhoun became first-vice president, and John R. Bone, secretary-treasurer, while A. E. Bradwin of Blyth, takes over the duties of assisting the secretary-treasurer. For the second vice-presidency, David Williams, W. E. Smallfield, P. D. Ross, William Ireland, C. W. Young and J. T. Clark were nominated, and for the executive committee, a contest will take place between M. A. James, L. S. Channel, J. F. Mackay, W. E. Smallfield, F. H. Dobbin, C. H. Mortimer, W. M. O'Burne, W. Ireland, J. M. Thompson, D. Williams and H. J. Pettypiece. The balloting will take place to-day. George E. Gibbard and R. W. Dillon of St. Mary's, were re-elected auditors.

The report of the retiring secretary, Jos. T. Clark, showed that there were now 300 names on the membership roll, an increase of 45 during the year, and that the finances were in a satisfactory condition.

Mr. Cooper, the retiring president, delivered an exhaustive presidential address, reviewing the work of the year.

P. D. Ross, L. S. Channel and Lieut.-Col. J. B. Maclean will report to-day on the advisability of forming a Dominion association. A letter from Sir Hugh Gilzean Reed suggested an affiliation of all British press associations.

At the afternoon session the first subject taken up was advertising, having regard for the schedule of rates adopted by the association for weekly papers.

The question of clubbing between city and weekly papers brought out many varied opinions.

President Cooper spoke strongly at the close of the meeting on the question of the nationalization of the telegraph and telephone systems of the country, and trusted the resolution committee would bring in an utterance on the subject.

After an all-day session in the Board of Trade, which was attended by about 100 members, representing the daily and weekly press of the province, the Association had a most pleasant evening in McConkey's palm room last night, when the annual dinner was held. The chair was occupied by John A. Cooper, the retiring president, and the vice-chairs by Arch. McNee, the incoming president, and David Creighton. The guest of honor was Dr. Goldwin Smith, and there were also at the head table H. F. Gardner, Benjamin Sulte, president of the Royal Society of Canada; Hugh Clark, and P. D. Ross of Ottawa, and others, many accompanied by ladies. An innovation was the hearty drinking of a toast to "The Ladies" immediately after royalty was honored, accompanied by the refrain "For they are jolly good fellows."

The speakers of the evening were Benjamin Sulte, president of the Royal Society of Canada, on Canada; Dr. Goldwin Smith, H. F. Gardner and David Creighton, on "The Press of Yesterday"; P. D. Ross of Ottawa, and Hugh Clark, M.P.P., on "The Press of To-day;" and J. S. Willison and Rev. J. A. Macdonald of The Globe.

Electric System For Sarnia Tunnel.

Ottawa, Feb. 3.—The Railway Commission are now in correspondence with the Grand Trunk Railway Company in regard to the projected improvements in the Sarnia Tunnel. The company propose to spend half a million dollars in the installation of an electric system, and the Commission are not disposed to insist upon undue haste where the expenditure of so large a sum is concerned.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR ALL.

Not a Patent Cure-all, For a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggery and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely sure to cure every dyspeptic, and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this, and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

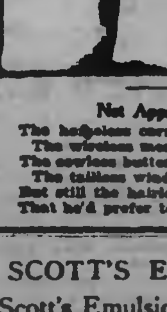
It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, giving refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package.

The Present and the Future.



"But why did Miss Elderleigh ever marry such an insignificant looking man?"

"Well, she says that his name looks just beautiful on her visiting card, and cut in marble on a tombstone it will be perfectly elegant."

Not Appreciated.

The horseless carriage is a fit;
The wireless message wins;
The cowless butter makes a hit;
The tailless windmill spins.
But still the hairless man will swear
That he'd prefer to have his hair.

BLOOD POISON

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poisons—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. The standing of the first round of the City League is as follows:—

	Won.	Lost.	To play.
Farriers	5	0	0
Karnots	4	1	0
Colonials	2	2	1
T.A.A.	1	2	2
Verniers	0	3	2
Earl Greys	0	3	2

According to a City League rule all teams winning three games qualify for the semi-finals. Hence the Farriers and Karnots are safe and the Colonials and T.A.A. are still in the running.

Lindsay is playing in Port Perry to-night. A defeat for the Scugog bunch will give the locals the district without the necessity of playing any more games.

After to-night there will be only twelve teams left in the O.H.A. intermediate series, and Capt. Cavanah's bunch is among the dozen.

The Toronto Star in referring to the Marlboro-Argonaut game says of the champions:—"They were not so effective when the checking was hard, but they handed back about all they got. Armstrong landed oftener when there was nobody looking but the owl and the moon. Young did his share, too, but when either broke away they were hard to stop."

The locals will practice to-night at 7 o'clock in preparation for the game on Monday night with Smith's Falls in the second round of the intermediate O.H.A. series. The locals are in the best of shape and expect a victory. The Easterners will play the return game here on Thursday night of next week. A victory over Smith's Falls will put Peterborough into the semi-finals.

The West End team accept the challenge of the Uptown Hustlers to be played as soon as the rink can be secured.

Jan. 12—Farriers 5, Earl Greys 0.

Guild 2, Guards 1.

One of the fastest games of hockey played in the Brock-st. rink this winter was played last night between St. Andrew's Guards and Young Men's Guild. The Guild had Giroux, of the Young Nationals, in goal, who stopped many a shot that was intended for a score. The score at half time was 1—1. The Guards scored the first game from a scrimmage in front of the goal. Shortly after McDonell scored for the Guild. The play was fast all through. In the second half both teams worked like Trojans to score, but not until the last minute of play did either team score. Dormer broke away, passed the Guards and shot one which Logan didn't connect with. Time was called with the score 2—1 in favor of the Guild. The teams were:—

To-Night's Game.

To-night's basketball game at the Y.M.C.A. between Albert College, of Belleville, and the local Y.M.C.A. boys should be an interesting exhibition. Both teams will be in the best of shape. The game will begin sharp at eight o'clock.

The local team will line up as follows:—

Forwards—Richardson, Robinson.

There will be music by Messrs. J. Sproule, Jas. Brown and F. McCoy; apparatus work by senior school boys, tumbling by junior school boys, leader's corps and marching by the junior school boys. Admission 15 cents.

CURLING.

Peterborough Beaten.

The local curlers were badly beaten in the games for the Lindsay-Peterborough Cup, played yesterday with eight rinks a side, four playing here and four in Lindsay. Of the eight Peterborough rinks only one was up, R. Neil winning from Wm. Needler by 1 shot. The games here were all close, the visitors being four up on the four rinks, but in Lindsay Peterborough were 49 behind, being beaten by 90 to 41. This left the score on the 8 rinks—Lindsay, 156, Peterborough 103.

In Lindsay on Wednesday night Flavelle's Winnipeg rink of curlers was defeated by a four skipped by G. A. Little, the score being 17—4. It was against Little's rink that Belly Waddell's men had to compete in the match of yesterday and were defeated. Lindsay curlers are a pretty hard proposition.

FARRIERS WON FROM KARNOTS

The Two League Leaders Met in Interesting Contest.

THE SCORE FOUR TO THREE

It Was Fast and Close Game—Large Crowd Present—Colonials Defeated Verniers in Second Contest.

A large crowd saw the Karnots go down to defeat at the hands of the Farriers last night by 4—3. The half time score was 2—0 in favor of the Farriers. As a result of this victory the latter team go into the finals with a record of five straight wins, having defeated every other team in the League. It was a very fast and exciting contest and the result was always in doubt. The Farriers had the best of the playing during the first half, leading by 2—0 and should have scored more than they did. The Karnots improved wonderfully in the second period and for the greater portion of the half had the advantage. They scored the first three goals in this period and, with only a few minutes to play led by 3—2, but the Farriers finished strong and won out, the last goal being scored with less than a minute to play. The game was fast and clean, only two men being penalized and there was not a dull moment, each team working hard all the way through. The game was played in twenty minute halves.

The winners played nice hockey and deserved to win. The defence was strong and the forwards fast and accurate shots. They checked better than the Karnots and it was only rarely that the latter could break away for a combined rush. The Farriers had the advantage in weight. Thornton turned aside some hot ones and cleared well. Belleghem checked hard and relieved nicely. Squires broke up many dangerous looking rushes and tore off a few himself. His lifting and shooting were very accurate, the winning goal being due to one of his long lifts from cover-point. On the forward line all played nice hockey. Long did some great stick handling and rushing. On one occasion he went right through the whole Karnot team for a score. He was about the best on the ice. Smith, at right wing, was always in his place and did some great shooting from the side, two goals being due to his good markmanship. Nicholls, on the other wing, made some fine rushes along the boards. He is very fast and a nice stickhandler. Simpson, at centre, was always in the game and did some very effective work.

The losers put up a good game and played fast hockey. The forward line is very speedy, although a little too light for the Farriers' defence. Kingscote got in the way of numerous shots. Dormer checked hard, lifted well and did some nice rushing. Quinn broke up many a well meant rush and made some himself, one of the Karnots goals being scored by him after a pretty dodging dash. Mulhern at rover, was always there with the necessary and did some nice shooting and stickhandling. Campbell, at centre, was very speedy and played fast hockey. Gilman and Gross, on the wing line, played well, but were too closely checked to be dangerous in the shooting line.

Neither team displayed much combination work and the goals were nearly all scored on individual rushes or long shots. The close checking prevented any effective combination work.

Mr. W. Cavanah made a very satisfactory referee. His duties were light, as the game was very clean.

The teams lined up as follows—

Farriers .... Karnots
Goal
Thornton .... Kingscote
Point.
Belleghem .... Dormer
Coverpoint.
Squires .... Quinn
Rover.
H. Long .... Mulhern
Centre.
Simpson .... Campbell
Right wing
Smith .... Gross
Left Wing
Nicholls .... Gilman

The game started nearly on time. For a moment or two the Karnots pressed, but lost several opportunities by ragged shooting. The Farriers woke up and pressed matters. After several shots had been stopped, they scored, but referee Cavanah called them back for an offside. Several Farrier rushes were wasted. Finally Smith broke up a rush and, dodging Quinn, beat Kingscote with a pretty rush. Score 1—0.

The Farriers still pressed and the Karnots did not seem to be in the game at all. Kingscote stopped some good ones, but the Farriers were not to be denied and Smith located the nets again on a nice shot from the side. Score 2—0. This ended the scoring for the half, although both teams missed several chances for a tally. Half time.

The Karnots set a very fast pace at the beginning of the second half and for a while played the Farriers off their feet. Thornton made some good stops. Finally from a scrimmage in the corner the rubber was passed to Mulhern, who scored easily. Score 2—1.

Squires was sent to the boards for slashing. The Karnots kept pressing and Quinn broke up a rush, dodged through the Farrier defence, with Squires on the boards, and scored. Score 2—2.

Nicholls and Simpson made a pretty combined rush but failed to score. Karnot forwards made a dangerous advance, but Thornton was in the way. The puck came back to Mulhern, at quarter way, and he put his team in the lead with a nice shot. Score 3—2.

It looked bad for the Farriers, as there was only six minutes to play, but they did not let up. Gilman went off for bodying. Finally Long got possession of the rubber and zig-zagged through the entire Karnot team for a score. Score 3—3.

The winning goal was not long in coming. Squires got the puck at his position at cover and lifted into the nets. It was a pretty lift. Score 4—3.

Time was called immediately after. Final score, Farriers 4, Karnots 3.

1. Farriers, Smith.
2. Farriers, Smith.

3. Karnots, Mulhern.
4. Karnots, Quinn.
5. Karnots, Mulhern.

THE SECOND GAME.

The Colonials gathered in the second game by a score of 3—2. The half time score was 2 all. It was a a close and well contested game, with the result always in doubt. It was by no means lightning hockey, but there was something doing all the way through and the spectators got their money's worth. The Colonials played a shade the best hockey and deserved to win.

For the winners Foley and McWilliams on the forward line and Henry, on the defence, played good hockey, while McGrath and Miller scintillated for the Verniers.

The Colonials took the first goal after some hard playing, McWilliams doing the trick after a nice dodging rush. The Verniers soon evened up, Delaney slamming one in from a scrimmage. The next one also went to the boys in white, McGrath finding the nets. Just before half time Frost and Foley worked in a nice rush, the former scoring.

The only goal in the last half went to the Colonials, McWilliams scoring. Final score, Colonials 3, Verniers 2.

"Wally" Parnell made a very satisfactory referee.

A special despatch from Montreal to the Toronto Globe is as follows:—

Montreal, Feb. 2.—The Montreal plant of the Canadian General Electric Company, it is announced, will be shut down in April, and the equipment removed to Peterborough, because the cost of power is one-third greater in Montreal than it is in Peterborough. It is further pointed out that the lower factory costs follow very low cost of power, and the company look to effect an economy of fully 20 per cent in these costs as compared with Montreal.

When the above despatch was read this afternoon to Mr. E. G. Patterson, the Superintendent of the C. G.E. Co., he was at a loss to understand it, for the machinery from the Montreal plant had been moved to Peterborough about a year ago. He was not aware of any department of manufacture being carried on in the Montreal buildings at the present time. When the factory there was running full blast it employed from 300 to 400 hands. The number of hands engaged in the Peterborough works at the present time is between 900 and 1,000, and there has been an increase during the past year.

It is a pleasing thing to notice that manufacturing concerns in the east seem to be gradually realizing the fact that Peterborough has been properly named the "electric town," and that power costs are very low here.

Several Serious Cases Have Been Successfully Treated at the Jail.

William McCormack, who was placed in the jail here recently as being mentally deranged, has become quite himself again. Mr. McCormack is an Englishman who came to this country in April last. He is something of a draughtsman, having been employed in an engineer's office before coming to Canada. It appears that he has had some difficulty in obtaining employment in this country. An effort will be made to interest the Sons of England on his behalf. McCormack is apparently a man who has seen better days, and letters he receives indicate that he is well connected in England.

It would appear that the County jail is particularly well adapted to the cure of so-called insanity. It is not so long ago that a man raving mad was brought down from Buckhorn. After spending a few weeks in the building he was released with his senses completely restored. A man from Harvey also recovered after a course of treatment in the building.

For Over Sixty Years

It soothes the child, softens the gums allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold by all druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

ONE PASSENGER ON C.P.R. SPECIAL

Father Hastens to the Bedside of His Son.

A NEW LOCAL TALKED OF

Will Improve the Accommodation Between Here and Toronto—Through Passenger Trains will Make Better Time.

A special C.P.R. train with one passenger on board passed through Peterborough eastbound on Thursday evening. The gentleman who occupied the single coach was Mr. T. L. Wilson the inventor and manufacturer of acetylene gas. He was on his way from Detroit to Montreal where his son was very seriously ill. The train was in charge of a full crew and only stopped where crossings with scheduled trains made it necessary. The special waited here a few minutes until the arrival of the 5.10 train from the east. It is understood that the railway company received $500 in consideration of the service. The distance between Detroit and Montreal is 800 miles.

Some important changes in the C. P.R. timetable are expected to be made very shortly, though nothing definite has been announced. A special local, it is understood, will be put on between Toronto and Havelock, arriving here from the west shortly after ten, and on the return trip to Toronto leaving here about half past one. This local will relieve the through passenger trains from the necessity of stopping at small places and greatly improve the accommodation between here and Toronto and will be appreciated by the public.

HIS TRUE WORTH.

It is said that, if you wish to gauge the true, real character of a man, his disposition, attributes, etc., you must enter the precincts of his home life and find out, not only what his wife and family think of him, but the servants, and any others who may be attached to the household.

The next closest range of a public man is probably to size up the feeling in his own town among the people with whom he has moved and talked for many years. And what the people generally, especially in a small centre, think of a man, their estimation of his worth and work may be taken at pretty nearly its true value.

The demonstration accorded Hon. J. P. Whitney at his own town this week was one joined in by all classes of citizens anxious to extend their congratulations to the Premier elect and to show appreciation for a fellow citizen of Morrisburg and Dundas County who has just been honored with the highest gift that the people of this Province can bestow.

Three or four strong points were dwelt upon by the speakers, and they were Mr. Whitney's honesty, straightforwardness, outspokenness and genuine, blunt manliness. This is what the people think of the man who has practiced law in their midst since 1876, and another striking point brought out was that the man is one who will redeem his pledges, give the Province a pure ballot and end political trickery. He was the first man to inaugurate the fight against political corruption and prosecute offenders. This was instanced eighteen years ago—in 1886—when Dr. Chamberlain, late inspector of prisons and asylums, opposed the Premier elect and defeated him. Mr. Whitney was subsequently elected at a bye-election, his opponent being unseated, and the Premier elect personally prosecuted three men in the election courts for wrong doing and had them punished. Dr. Chamberlain paid a graceful tribute to his old political opponent and trusted that when next Mr. Whitney had to appeal for election in his own constituency, it would show its appreciation by returning him by acclamation. Mr. Whitney proved by his replies that he is a modest man and fully realises the responsibility with which he has been trusted. He said that he also realised defeats, and his concluding hope, "that when the time of stress came he would not be unequal to the situation," shows that he appreciates the gravity of his position and does not look upon his triumph at the polls as a party one, but a combat in which all free, liberty-loving and moral upbuilding citizens joined in an effort to inaugurate a better and brighter political period in the annals of the Province and in the working out of the great system of constitutional government.

PEN POINTS.

Three bad boys of the Quebec ministry have resigned. They refused to obey their Parent.

The Federal Parliament is showing a commendable desire to get down to business. The majority of the members expect to see the House prorogued by Easter.

The new Town Council is to be commended for taking up the question of better fire protection for Peterborough. It cannot come too soon.

A cheerful thing on a day when it is 18 degrees below zero is to meet a friend or to pick up a newspaper informing you that this frigidity of the atmosphere is likely to continue for a couple of weeks.

We suppose that the Ross "government" is now engaged in making appointments, and dating them back so that they will seem to have been made prior to the election. Ross is none too good for that sort of work.—Hamilton Spectator.

Since Sir Wilfrid decided to sit for his Quebec city constituency and resign the seat held by him in Wright County, the Liberals are scrapping about the nomination. As matters now stand things appear to be all Wright for a strong Conservative candidate.

Official statistics show that there are in the Province of Quebec 3,460 families having twelve or more children, and therefore entitled to a hundred or more acres of crown land under the Mercier law of 1890. Of these families, 3 have fifteen children each; 15 have sixteen each; 15 have seventeen each; 4 have eighteen each; and 2 have twenty-three each—39 families aggregating 658 children. Quebec knows nothing of race suicide.

The Review has received the first number of the Canadian Forestry Journal, published by the Canadian Forestry Association, Ottawa, devoted to the interests of Canadian forestry. It contains a great deal of valuable information on the state of our Canadian forests, the growth of timber and the importance of its preservation and restoration. It will prove a valuable medium for the information of the public and for the interchange of views on the important subject to which it is devoted.

Mr. Hugh Guthrie, M.P., proposes to make it illegal for employers to canvass the votes of employees. As a general rule, laws in the restraint of liberty of any sort should be regarded with suspicion; but this Act might well carry. A request during a hot election from an employer to an employee to support the employer's candidate has much of the weight of coercion. If it does not capture the vote of the employee it is apt to severely test his devotion to truth. The temptation to give the employer a smooth answer, even if the employee expects to vote against him, puts so powerful a weapon in the hand of the Father of Lies that Parliament might well disarm him.—Toronto Star.

The Awful Helplessness of Locomotor Ataxia

A Test Whereby This Dreadfully Common Form of Paralysis is Detected in its Early Stages—Cure is Then Readily Effected by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The sufferer from locomotor ataxia is known by his peculiar shuffling gait in walking and the flop with which the feet are put down.

About the first indications of this disease are loss of sensation in the feet and shooting pains in the legs.

Like other forms of paralysis, however, locomotor ataxia comes on gradually as the result of exhausted nerve force, and is accompanied by such symptoms as wakefulness, irritability, headache, restlessness of movement, twitching of the nerves, momentary defects in sight and hearing and difficulty in controlling movement of the limbs.

The time to begin treatment is at the first indication of nervous exhaustion, for you can be certain then that, if not locomotor ataxia, some other dreadful form of helplessness will overcome you.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most effective treatment ever devised for the cure of locomotor ataxia, paralysis and all diseases of the nerves.

First, because it is composed of the ingredients which the foremost physicians assert are the most certain nerve restoratives.

The Test

Stand with feet close together and eyes shut. If you are a victim of locomotor ataxia your body will sway from side to side and you may fall over.

You will also be unable to walk in a straight line with your eyes shut, and only with difficulty with them open.

Second, because it has established an enviable record in curing these diseases.

When you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can be absolutely sure that, search where you will, there cannot be found a more certain means of forming new, rich blood, creating new nerve force and restoring and revitalizing wasted and depleted nerve cells.

Was Afraid of Falling.

Lost Control of Legs and Could Scarcely Walk—The Numbness of Paralysis Throughout the Body.

Mrs. Barbara Bush, Dixon, Stormont Co., Ont., writes:—"I suffered a great deal from dizziness in the head and numbness of the whole system, more especially the hands and arms, feet and legs. When I tried to walk my legs seemed to want to cross each other and I would be afraid of falling and grasp for a chair or table. I also had distressing nervous feelings at times, and suffered from a gnawing sensation in my stomach. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food built up my nervous system and removed the miserable feelings from which I suffered. As I am seventy-three years old my system was run down and this treatment seemed to be exactly what I needed. I hope others will benefit by my experience."

HAVE YOU BEEN IN THIS FIX?

If You Have Keep a Box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets for Reference—They Always Bring Relief.

How often after eating something that did not agree with you have you ransacked the house for something to give you relief? Of course you did not fear any serious results, but the discomfort was such that you were prepared to give anything in reason or out of reason just to feel at rest for a moment.

Do you know that one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets was the very thing you were looking for? If you don't, ask anybody who has ever used them, and they will tell you. Listen to what Mr. R. Jancouski, Postmaster at Fesserton, Ont., says:—

"I have given Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets a fair trial, and can with every confidence recommend them. I generally use only half a tablet after eating, and it never fails to give me relief."

If you would eat what you like, when you like, use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

STIRRING TIME IN THE COMMONS

Mr. Bennett Refers to the Russel-Blair Conspiracy.

CHALLENGE TO MINISTRY

As to Alleged $4,000,000 Syndicate to Build G.T. Pacific—Counter Challenges—Mr. Logan Throws Out a Defi About Investigation.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—The resolution conferring special favors on judges appointed to the Chairmanship of the Railway Commission was the subject of a vigorous discussion in the House yesterday.

Messrs. W. F. Maclean, Foster, Haggart, Barker and a number of other Opposition members took strong grounds against the resolution.

The Prime Minister and Mr. Fitzpatrick provided most of the defence, which was based on the theory that Judge Killam, having enjoyed certain rights as a member of the Supreme Court, should not be allowed to lose anything through becoming chairman of the Railway Commission.

Scene in the House.

In the evening, on the same resolution, W. H. Bennett, M.P. for East Simcoe, discussing the Russell-Blair-Graham conspiracy, said that it had been stated by reliable newspapers that a syndicate representing $4,000,000 was formed to take over the construction of the G.T.P., and that the proposition was submitted to the Prime Minister.

"Does the hon. gentleman re-echo that statement?" asked the Premier hotly.

Chaos broke over the House. Half a dozen Ministers tried to speak at one and the same time. Finally the Premier was heard. He said that if Mr. Bennett had charges to make he should make them like a man.

Mr. Bennett recalled a specific instance when Sir Wilfrid declined to accept responsibility for certain charges which he made against Senator Drummond.

Do Not Accept Challenge.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Fitzpatrick, and Mr. Prefontaine were particularly forward in repelling the charges. They challenged Mr. Bennett to make the charges on his responsibility as a member, but further than this their courage did not go.

They had not at the hour of adjournment accepted the challenge which Mr. Bennett in turn laid down to the Government to grant an investigation either by a Parliamentary Committee or a Royal Commission. Out of the whole thing, however, may come an investigation, as it is fairly possible that the Government cannot ignore the charges which are now on the pages of Hansard, and for the accuracy of which leading Liberal newspapers vouch.

Mr. Logan towards the end of the discussion made the significant statement that in due time the Opposition would get more investigation than it wanted.

Mr. Blair's Retirement.

On the motion being put to report the resolution, Mr. Foster renewed his request for a statement from the Government as to the cause of Mr. Blair's resignation.

"Not a single member of the Government," Mr. Fitzpatrick replied, "had any knowledge of his intention to tender that resignation; and all we knew was the statement in Mr. Blair's telegram, that he had resigned. The telegram was received on Oct. 18, and the resignation was accepted on the 21st. We had hoped that the cases heard would have been decided, but that was not done."

An Answer At Last.

"The Government had no intimation up to that time?" Mr. Foster asked.

"Absolutely none," was the Minister's emphatic reply.

"So far as the Government was concerned, the resignation came to us as a bolt from the blue."

"Well, that's an answer at any rate," Mr. Foster observed.

"Yes," said Mr. Fitzpatrick, "and perhaps I should have stated that at the outset I had it on my notes to do so, but omitted to mention it."

He added that the Prime Minister would bring down Mr. Blair's telegram.

The resolution was then reported, the bill founded upon it read a first time, and the House adjourned at 11 o'clock.

THREE RESIGNATIONS.

Gouin Weir and Turgeon Retire From Quebec Cabinet.

Quebec, Feb. 4.—There is nothing definite yet in the Provincial Cabinet crisis, but it is stated that the resignations of Hon. Messrs. Gouin, Weir and Turgeon will be in the hands of Prime Minister Parent before the next Cabinet meeting today. It is stated that the Provincial Treasurer, Mr. McCorkill, will follow. Mr. Alexander Taschereau is spoken of as a future member of the Cabinet. Hon. Mr. Parent, who was to start for South America in the interest of his health, has cancelled the trip.

Mr. Borden in Ottawa.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—R. L. Borden arrived at noon yesterday from Halifax, and was met at the Central Station by quite a gathering of Conservative members and city admirers, who escorted him to the House of Commons. The Opposition leader was much impressed with the heartiness of his welcome. To-day at 10 o'clock Mr. Borden, accompanied by 60-odd members of the Opposition, will take a special train to Stittsville, on the C.P.R., and drive from that station to Richmond, where Mr. Borden will be nominated.

Speak For Yourself, John.

A story is told of Mr. Coke, an ancestor of Lord Leicester, which is like the John Alden and Priscilla Mullens romance read backward. "At about seventy years of age," says Home Notes, "Mr. Coke was a bachelor and very anxious that his heir presumptive, a nephew, should take unto himself a wife." So the uncle selected a handsome and clever young woman, and the nephew obediently began to his addresses, however, in a half hearted way. When he at length proposed the girl rejected him, and when Mr. Coke begged her to reconsider her decision she promptly replied to the old man, "I'll never marry your nephew, but I'll marry you if you like." He did like, and the child of their marriage cut the nephew out of an immense fortune.

OVER A 50-FOOT BANK.

Ten Cars of a Freight Train Go Off the Track.

Fort William, Feb. 4.—Because of a broken rail, west-bound freight train No. 12, was wrecked early yesterday morning, 12 miles west of Rat Portage. Ten cars were thrown over a 50-foot embankment, destroying over $10,000 worth of freight and rolling stock. This happened at 1 a.m., and the line was cleared in six hours. No one was killed or dangerously injured, the crew having a miraculous escape.

One May Die.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—Three passenger coaches of the night C.P.R. train on the Laurentian Mountain section, left the tracks and tumbled down the embankment. Seven passengers were injured, Mrs. Maner of St. Agatha, probably fatally. This is the first accident to a passenger train on this section.

Perils of Railroading.

Hamilton, Feb. 4.—George Broadbent, employed at the G.T.R. roundhouse, had his leg broken yesterday afternoon. He was crushed between an engine and a water tank.

Passenger Train Wrecked.

Findlay, Ohio, Feb. 4.—The northbound Detroit limited passenger train, No. 4, on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad, was wrecked one mile north of Belmore last night. The accident was caused by a split rail. The chair and cafe cars toppled over, and Mrs. Florence Frazier, aged 50, of Sidney, Ohio, was killed, her skull being crushed. The conductor was the only one of the train crew seriously injured. About 12 passengers were injured.

Fell to His Death.

Montreal, Feb. 4.—George E. Robertson of the firm of George E. Robertson & Co., manufacturers and commission agents, of 82 Recollet street, fell down an elevator shaft, a distance of about 12 feet, yesterday afternoon, and died shortly after in the General Hospital.

Fell Thirty Feet.

London, Feb. 4.—A workman on the New Byron bridge, Herbert Franks, fell a distance of 30 feet yesterday and broke both arms, one leg and a rib. His recovery is probable.

UNIFORM NEWSPAPER POSTAGE.

That Is What Canadian Press Association Will Try and Secure.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—The Canadian Press Association concluded its business yesterday morning by passing several resolutions on matters of benefit to the newspaper business. The question of postage was well discussed. A new regulation issued by the Postal Department requires publishers to weigh their papers before mailing, make up the bundles for route distribution and prepay the amount due on the week's issue. This brought complaints from several members, and a resolution that there should be a uniform rate on newspapers. A sub-committee will be appointed to follow this up.

Another resolution urges printers to observe the conditions required by insurance companies to secure better rates. So long as printing offices neglected the rules of cleanliness, order and sanitation, there would be no relief. The declaration in favor of Government ownership of telegraphs and telephones was reaffirmed.

It was resolved to take steps to have other associations affiliate to form a Dominion Press Council, and to getting Dominion incorporation for the present association.

J. T. Clark was elected second vice-president, and the following executive was chosen: G. S. Channel, Sherbrooke Record; F. H. Dobbin, Peterboro Review; John F. Mackay, Globe; W. E. Smallfield, Renfrew Mercury; D. Williams, Collingwood Bulletin.

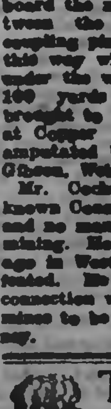
John A. Cooper was presented with an address by P. D. Ross on behalf of the members. The next summer's tour will probably be to Quebec and Newfoundland.

MINE EXPERT INJURED.

Frank Cochrane, Mentioned For Cabinet Portfolio, Loses Right Leg.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—Frank Cochrane, a well-known mining expert of Sudbury, met with an accident Thursday by which he lost a leg. He was returning on the Soo Express from Toronto and alighted at Wahnapitae for a few minutes. In attempting to board the moving train he fell between the coaches and caught the coupling pins as he fell, holding on this way while his leg was ground under the wheels. He was dragged 100 yards before the train was brought to a stop. At the hospital at Copper Cliff his right leg was amputated below the knee by Drs. Gibson, Webb and Howey.

Mr. Cochrane is one of the best known Conservatives in New Ontario, and no man is better informed on mining. He was a candidate a year ago in West Nipissing, and was defeated. He has been mentioned in connection with the new ministry of mines to be established by Mr. Whitney.



The Baby Sick?

Then probably it's a cold. Babies catch cold so easily and recover so slowly. Not slowly, however, when you use Vapo-Cresolene. Then a single night is all that is necessary for a cure. You just put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and place near the crib. While baby sleeps he breathes-in the healing vapor. Cold loosens, inflamed membranes heal, and all trouble ceases. It's a perfect specific for whooping-cough and croup.

Free, to any Woman who bakes her own Bread

Thousands of women are writing in every week for the "Royal Household" Recipes—they explain the new and easier way of making bread. Make a trial with the new Royal Household Flour, which is purified by electricity—you would not believe there could be such a difference in flour—these receipes are certainly worth asking for. Send a postal card to-day.

HERE IS JUST ONE TESTIMONIAL OUT OF MANY THOUSANDS RECEIVED.

SAVONAS, THREE MILE CREEK, B.C., November 26th, 1904.

I have been using your flour exclusively since I came to Canada, fourteen years ago, and have been using "Royal Household" since its introduction. To show you how I value it my grocer lately could not supply me with it, and rather than use another brand, even temporarily, I sent to Kamloops, twenty-five miles away, and had it shipped to me per C. P. R., preferring to pay the railway charges rather than use an inferior brand. In fact, if I could not get it otherwise, I would ship it direct from the mills. I can always rely on having good bread when using it and nothing tends more to keep harmony in a home.

To "Make No Bones."

The phrase to "make no bones," which is in such common use, may be generally explained as implying that something is done readily and with no such impediment as a bone might be to one who was eating food. It has been explained to be a modification of an older phrase to "find no bones," which seems to have had reference to bones found in soup and hindrances to the consumer. Some folk not only find but make difficulties and hindrances, at which they are content to stick. In Skelton's "Elynour Rummyng," 1529, the lady so readily believed the story that she—

Supped it up at once (ones),
She found therein no bones.

Surely a Bad Pen.

An Alabama statesman was writing with a noisy, spluttering pen. Laying the pen down, he smiled and said:

"Once I was spending the evening with a friend of mine in Selma. We sat in the dining room, and from the kitchen came a painful scratching sound.

"'Martha,' said my friend to the maid, 'what is that scratching in the kitchen? It must be the dog trying to get in.'

"'Huh!' said Martha. 'Dat's no dawg scratchin' de do'. Dat's de cook a-writin' a love letter to her honeysuckle.'"

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. Adams' Bright's Disease.

She Did Not Believe in Them, but To-day She is Strong and Well.

Collingwood, Ont., Feb. 3.—(Special)—Mrs. Thos. Adams, who moved here about two years ago from Burk's Falls, is one of the many Canadians who once had Bright's Disease and is now strong and well. Like all the others she was cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I was eight months an invalid," says Mr. Adams, "and no one can tell what I suffered. My doctor said I had Bright's Disease and Sciatica, but I got no relief from anything he gave me. At last a friend of my husband induced me to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I had no faith in them, for I thought I never would get better, but after taking three boxes of them I was able to do my work. I have had good health ever since I used Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Bad Case.

A London curate the other day received an astonishing answer to an inquiry after a parishioner's health.

"Well, sir," said the parishioner, "sometimes I feels anyhow; sometimes I feels nohow, and there be times when I feels as stiff as a himmidge!"

A Clever Surgeon.

"I tell you," exclaimed the young medical student, "our house surgeon is a clever fellow."

"How's that?" asked his chum.

"Well, a man was brought in with a crushed leg. The surgeon said it must come off. But by some means or other he cut off the wrong leg."

"But I don't call that clever."

"Wait a bit. The surgeon said it would be terrible for the poor fellow to go about with no legs at all, so he doctored up the crushed leg instead of cutting that off, too, and now it is as good as ever. An ordinary surgeon would have left the fellow legless. Wonderfully skillful, wasn't it?"

How Brahmans Measure Time.

The Brahmans' clocks divide the day into sixty hours of twenty-four minutes each, called ghurees. Occasionally a twenty-four minute sand glass is used, but more commonly a copper bowl with a very small hole in the bottom of it, this bowl being placed on the surface of the water and gradually filled. If the hole in the bottom is correctly sized the bowl sinks in twenty-four minutes. This registers the duration of the ghuree. An attendant thereupon empties the basin and strikes the hour of the day or night on the gong.

Wild Licorice.

A bundle of licorice root—slim, rough sticks of tobacco brown wood—lay on the counter, and the sailor took one up and began to chew its end.

"I have seen the place where this stuff grows wild," he said. "Do you know where that is?"

"Can't say I do," replied the druggist.

"It is along the banks," said the sailor, "of the Tigris and the Euphrates. The licorice is a wild plant in those parts. It stands three feet high, and its roots reach the water. For miles and miles the licorice patches spread, and the smell of them fills the air. It is a sweet, heavy smell.

"In those parts they cut the licorice plants regularly, and they use the poor, crooked, imperfect sticks for firewood. The good, clean, straight sticks they bundle up—just like this bundle here—and ship to England and America. Some of the sticks go to druggists, to be sold cheap or given away, but most of them, nearly all of them, go to the snuff and tobacco manufacturers. What for? Why, to be used in adultion—I mean in flavoring tobacco and snuff."

The Warning in a Sneeze.

"As a general thing sneezing is nature's warning to get warmer in some way or other, and quickly," is the gist of an article by Dr. W. R. Conant in Modern Medical Science.

"The question of temperature and ventilation," he says, "is one of the most difficult winter problems. So much depends upon circumstances and individual idiosyncrasy that it is hard to lay down any definite rules. An indoor temperature which is suitable for a vigorous person or one in active motion is dangerous for one who is delicate or sitting and doing head work exclusively.

"As a general rule, it may be said that a temperature that falls much below 70 degrees at four feet from the floor is dangerous for sedentary workers, and any one who continues sitting when he feels chilled does so at the risk of his life."

THE CHINESE NEW YEAR

The Chinese population of Peterborough celebrated in a quiet manner last evening the Chinese New Year. Everything was done quietly and without any show or ceremony of any kind, but the words, "Kumei Luing Ming"—A Happy New Year, was a greeting frequently heard.

In Toronto and other large cities the Chinese suspend all work on New Year's Day and take a holiday from the cares of laundry and tea business. Here, however, the day passed the same as any other with the exception of the celebration in the evening. The local Chinamen are too thrifty to waste a day in celebrations.

In China, however, things are different. There New Year's day is one of the greatest festivals of the year. The dwellings are thoroughly cleansed all standing money obligations discharged, and each citizen dons fine clothing. Those who cannot afford fine clothing, hire it for the occasion.

At midnight giant fire-crackers and all kinds of detonating fire-works are set off and pandemonium breaks loose. For all of the next month the festivities are kept up.

WARDEN BUCK ENTERTAINED COUNTY COUNCIL MEMBERS

Time Honored Institution Brought Together Good-natured Company.

COMPLETION OF THE TRENT CANAL URGED

After-dinner Speeches by R. R. Hall, M.P., Mr. Hughes-Charles, County's Banker, and Other Guests—New Warden Receives Congratulations—Speakers Agree That This is One of Best Counties in the Country.

The election of a new presiding officer in the County Council is the raison d'etre of that time honored event, the Warden's banquet, and last evening Mr. W. T. Buck, who on Tuesday was elevated to that position by the unanimous choice of his colleagues, was the host at what proved to be an altogether enjoyable affair in Mr. Long's palm gardens. An excellent dinner was served, and this was followed by a toast list which brought forth much congratulary sentiment and sincere compliment, and which was spiced with humor well applied. Those present were, Mr. W. T. Buck, Warden of the County of Peterborough, presiding. Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, of the Bank of Commerce, the County's Banker. Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.; Councillors Samuel Stinson, H. C. Garbutt, Thos. Webster, Dennis Moloney, John Menogue, Robert Shaw, F. J. Johnston, John eDyell and James Andrews; Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Clerk and Treasurer, who occupied the vice chair; Mr. John Belcher, County engineerr, Mr. T. M. Hunter, ex-Warden; Mr. E. A. Peck, ex-Warden and County Solicitor; W. H. Robertson; F. J. Bell, Clerk of the Division Court, and Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald, a former Councillor.

The dinner served by Mr. Long was the subject of much compliment from the company and was thoroughly enjoyed. It paved the way for the demonstration of felicitous spirit which marked the after dinner speeches. The speakers appeared patriotically unanimous in expressing their conviction that this was one of the best Counties the sun ever shone on, and Mr. R. R. Hall struck a vibrant chord when he pointed to the necessity that no effort should be considered too great in urging the completion of the Trent Canal, as affording immediate solution to the transportation problem, which is of vital significance to Peterborough's best interests. The very satisfactory condition of the County's finances was also the subject of congratulation, and the Treasurer and Solicitor were the recipients of well-merited boquets in that connection.

THE SPEECHES.

The health of the King was proposed by the Warden and was heartily honored.

Mr. E. A. Peck proposed the toast, "The House of Commons and Legislature." He congratulated himself upon once having been a member of the County Council. Reference was made to what it had done to advance the interests of the County. He was pleased, however, to see the representative present of that body which had to do with the best interests of Canada as a whole, the House of Commons. The new representative in the Legislature, Mr. Bradburn, was unable to be present.

THE MEMBER SPEAKS.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., was declared a jolly good fellow. He appreciated the hearty manner in which the toast had been proposed and received. The County of Peterborough, he said, was in a very unsatisfactory condition so far as transportation was concerned, and with the opening of the Trent Canal this state of affairs would be remedied. American roads, he learned, carried raw material from New York to Chicago at 15 cents a hundred pounds, while to Peterborough, a shorter distance, the charge was 18 cents. He pointed to places in the States such as Minneapolis and St. Paul, situated similarly to Peterborough, yet these places had not the power possibilities that existed in this vicinity. They had forged ahead however and there was no reason why Peterborough should be kept back. With the opening of water communication industries could certainly be offered great inducements to locate here. History proved that railways would only come to time when there existed other means of transportation to bring about that result. The reduction of the freight rates alone would be a very large saving on the investment in the Canal. Mr. Hall stated that he would do his utmost in urging the early completion of the Canal.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

Councillor Shaw proposed the toast "The County Council," which was heartily received and called for speeches from some of the new members.

In replying, Mr. Garbutt considered himself one of the orphans, it being his first visit to the County Council under the "new dispensation." Mr. Shaw and Mr. Johnston were the only ones left of the old guard. He appreciated the fact that the people had reposed in him their confidence by electing him. The old members of the Council had done good work. Mr. Shaw having been returned repeatedly. This pointed to the fact that the people valued his faithful service. He congratulated Warden Buck on his elevation to the presiding chair and expressed the hope that the people would not regret their choice of representatives.

Mr. Johnston likewise congratulated the Warden on his elevation, and he expressed his pleasure at meeting the representatives of the different institutions present.

Mr. Andrews expressed pleasure that his running mate, Mr. Buck, had been made Warden, and that unanimously. In him he had found a true friend, and one always ready to take up matters of interest to the community of which he was a member. Mr. Andrews said he was new in the work but the other members, he doubted not, would train him in the way he should go.

Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald proposed the health of the County of Peterborough. He said he felt lonesome because of the fact that he was not a member of the Council. He considered that the present members would make excellent representatives, and that they would adopt a progressive policy. Mr. Fitzgerald considered it a wise and kind act to appoint an assistant school inspector, the present official being many years in the service and having a wide territory to cover.

Mr. T. M. Hunter, in responding, congratulated Mr. Buck upon having been chosen as Warden, and felt sure that the people would be confident of his filling the chair in a dignified and competent manner. This was a great country, and Peterborough had probably the best market for the farmer outside of Toronto. Mr. Hunter observed that great things would be expected of the Tory Government with regard to roads. Apart from all this, the County owed a great deal to Mr. Stratton and his efforts, more particularly with regard to construction of roads, which would be appreciated in years to come. The prosperity of the County was never in a better condition than at the present time; if hard times should come, he knew of none better able to stand it than the people of the County of Peterborough.

THE BANKERS.

Mr. Stinson proposed "Our Banking Institutions," and this was heartily received. Mr. Hughes-Charles being declared a jolly good fellow. He expressed his pleasure at being present at the Warden's banquet—a time honored institution. The banking interests, he said, were a very large factor in the prosperity of Canada, and the banking law tended to develop this country in a manner that did not exist in any other country. The Bank of Commerce was perfectly satisfied now under the present management, with the financial condition of the County of Peterborough. He often thought that County Councils were good training posts for prospective members of parliament as affording a good education in municipal affairs. Mr. Hughes-Charles said he was always pleased to meet the members of the County Councils as men who were elected to office on their merits. If the affairs of the country at large were carried out with one-half the ability and honesty that marked the work in the County Councils, it would, in his opinion, be a far better country to live in.

THE NEW, WAREDN.

Mr. Moloney took pleasure in proposing the health of the Warden, to whose years of faithful service he paid a high tribute. With that gentleman presiding, and Mr. Johnston as chairman of finance, there was no doubt of the able management of affairs.

Mr. Buck was greeted with three cheers and "He's a jolly good fellow." He was proud, he said, to be Warden of the County of Peterborough—a county he considered second to none in the country. Mr. Buck said he was pleased to meet his guests and expressed regret at the absence of Mr. Anderson and Mr. Bradburn. He was sure the Council this year was one of the best the County ever had. With a good staff of officials, County matters would be looked after in a most satisfactory manner.

THE OFFICIALS.

Mr. Dayell proposed the health of "County Officials" and this was heartily received. Mr. Belcher was pleased to be present at his 20th annual banquet with the members of the Council. Referring to industries and without being egotistical, he said he was one of those instrumental in bringing the first bridge manufactory to Canada—the Toronto Bridge Company which has subsequently become the Dominion Bridge Company, of Montreal—the construction of the bridge across the river by the Canton, Ohio, Bridge Company, having been the object which first suggested the project. Mr. Belcher also stated that the Trent Valley Canal proposition was instrumental in first bringing him to Canada. He considered the lift lock one of the greatest pieces of work of that kind in the world. The County was second to none, and a recent trip west had convinced him of that fact, and the members of the Council convinced him also of the fact that they grew better men here than anywhere else.

Mr. Peck, in responding, said he was glad to congratulate Mr. Buck, a gentleman who certainly deserved promotion, not only because of his ability and experience but because he was a representative of the fighting division. It was a proud thing to be Warden of the County—no man could preside over a larger constituency. It was one of the finest Counties in the Province, from the point of view of scenery and its splendid waters, as well as other natural characteristics were concerned. Mr. Peck spoke of the advisability of aiming high, and an energetic effort should be put forth to have the canal completed at an early date. This would mean material advancement not only to the farmers but to every other part of the community. Mr. Peck thanked the Council for his appointment as County Solicitor and said he would give the duties of the position his best attention.

Mr. E. M. Elliott, County Treasurer, also responded in an appropriate speech. He felt much at home in his position, because of former acquaintance with the members of the Council. On account of the varied assessment on lands, and the manner in which money had to be appropriated, the legislating or work required of the Councillor, his position was by no means light. It would be observed that the County had been governed by progressive men from year to year—there was every evidence of good government. The finances of the County were in an excellent condition and pointed to the fact that every councillor had been wise in his day and generation. Mr. Elliott expressed his appreciation of the assistance given him by Mr. Peck last year without one dollar of cost to the County or himself.

Mr. John Menogue proposed the health of the press and after this proposition had been honored, the representatives present responded.

The banquet closed with the singing of the national anthem.

SHOOTING ON RICE LAKE

Petitions Against Any Exclusive Privilege to Visitors Being Largely Signed.

It appears that certain residents of Toronto, Cobourg, Port Hope and other places are trying to secure exclusive rights to certain parts of Rice Lake for the purpose of shooting. The residents and ratepayers of the vicinity have a decided objection to any such concession being granted and with this object in view are circulating petitions, which are being largely signed, to the Minister of Public Works.

These petitions set forth the fact that shooting in these waters has not been protected as it should have been and regret that the sale of ducks is allowed. The petitioners will ask the minister to prohibit the sale of ducks and not to grant license to any party for exclusive shooting, but reserve it to them, as it is undoubtedly their right. The petitioners agree to do all in their power to see that the law is not infringed in any way.

CHOSEN FRIENDS' OPEN MEETING

Visit of Past Grand Chief Councillor McCammon.

GIVES INSTRUCTIVE ADDRESS

Members Are Asked to be More Active in Support of Order—Other Interesting Speeches—Enjoyable Programme.

The open meeting of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends held last evening in the S.O.E. Hall was in every way a decided success. There was a fairly large attendance of members present, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent. The main feature of the programme was a spirited address from the Past Grand Chief Councillor, Bro. W. J. McCammon, of Belleville. Short speeches were also given by Bro. David Miller, of Council No. 72, Toronto, Past Chairman of Committee on Laws, and Bro. E. A. Davis, of Napanee.

The President, Mrs. T. Anderson, was in the chair.

The programme opened with a well executed solo by Mr. D. R. Gardiner, who was forced to respond to an encore.

Bro. David Miller was called upon for a speech. He said he was taken by surprise, not having anticipated being asked for an address. It was not his first visit to Peterborough, he having visited the town when he was Grand Chief of the Sons of Scotland. He had been connected with the Order of Chosen Friends for fourteen or fifteen years and never regretted having joined it. He was more interested to-day than ever before. Last year was the best in the history of the Order. There had been increased surplus and membership, over 4,000 applications having been received.

In matters of economy and well invested funds no society was doing better work than the Order. He was very glad to find that they had Organiser Shibley here. With the co-operation of the members he thought that the organiser could do good work.

Peterborough was a grand town, and although large enough to be incorporated as a city, he thought the citizens were wise not to undertake such a step, remarking that it was better to be a first class town than a third class city. The speaker closed with the paraphrase, "Government may come and Governments may go, but the Order of Chosen Friends goes on for ever."

Mr. J. Miller contributed a very well rendered cornet solo and responded to an encore. A recitation by Mrs. C. Clarke was well received.

Bro E. A. Davis, of Napanee, was asked to address the meeting. He said that a bad cold prevented him from speaking at any length, but stated that he was in Peterborough to assist Organiser Shibley, and asked for the co-operation of the members of the Order.

Mr. Gardiner was heard in another solo, which was met with much applause

The Past Grand Chief Councillor, Bro. W. J. McCammon, of Belleville, then addressed the meeting. He was very pleased to be present with the Order and to see so many present, especially so many ladies. Wherever there was a large number of ladies associated with a society the affairs of the organization ran smoothly.

He was very glad to find Organiser Shibley in Peterborough. There was a large field and the work was arduous. He urged upon the members the necessity of co-operating with the organiser. All could devote a few hours each week tot the work.

It was eighteen years ago since the Order of Chosen Friends was formed in the city of Hamilton, where the first Council was organized. It was given the name Canadian to distinguish it from a similar order in the United States. It was a loyal Order, composed entirely of Canadians. During the past eighteen years a noble work had been accomplished. Nearly 30,000 members had been enrolled, $2,000,000 collected and $1,500,000 paid out to heirs of deceased members. There was on hand a surplus of about $500,000.

The Grand Officers met three or four times a year at Hamilton for the purpose of regulating the affairs of the Order. He was proud to state that during the eighteen years of the Order's existence not one dollar had gone astray or been embezzled. The Grand Council met once a year at Hamilton to receive reports. The Peterborough Council would have the privilege of sending members to that meeting, and it was their duty to see that the reports were correct.

The speaker urged his hearers to be more active in the work, to support their officers and attend the meetings more regularly.

Another branch in connection with the Order of Chosen Friends was the Sick Benefit department. There was generally a source of weakness and trouble in fraternal insurance societies, but the Order had never had any difficulty. All claims had been promptly paid.

Mr. J. Miller gave an excellent vocal solo, after which refreshments were served and the meeting dispersed after a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

Croup Absolutely Cured

"There is no remedy in my opinion that can act more promptly than Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It cured my son of croup, absolutely, in one night. We gave him a dose when he was black in the face with choking. It gave him instant relief and cure."—Mr. Wm. Magee, 40 Wright Ave., Toronto, Ont.

THE POSTER TEA.

Held at Home of Mrs. Peter Campbell in Aid of Deep Sea Mission.

A novel entertainment was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Peter Campbell. It took the form of a poster tea, and was in aid of the Deep Sea Mission, of which Mrs. Hughes-Charles is secretary. The hostess, Mrs. Campbell, was assisted by Miss Alma McCollum, Miss Edwards, Miss Halliday and Miss Hughes-Charles. There was a large attendance of ladies and considerable interest centered in the solution of some twenty posters representative of famous publicity designs. The winner of the prize—a blotter, donated by Mrs. Hughes-Charles—obtained 17 correct answers.

Tea was served from four until six o'clock and the affair proved very enjoyable.

POPULAR CONCERT BY 57th BAND

Artistic Programme Rendered by Clever Musicians.

AN APPECIATIVE AUDIENCE

First of Series of Attractions—Merit of the Entertainment Should Have Drawn Larger House—The Varied Numbers Evoked Unstinted Applause.

Peterborough's crack regiment band, the 57th, gave the first of a series of popular concerts last night in the opera house, under the direction of Bandmaster Gliddon.

The attraction was a genuine treat to those who were present. Unfortunately not more than half the auditorium was filled. The 57th bandsmen deserve more encouragement from the citizens than they received on this occasion. The price of admission, 10 cents, is so small an amount that the building should be packed. It is no exaggeration to say that the 57th band is one of the finest in Canada. The officers and men of the regiment and the citizens of Peterborough have every reason to be proud of it. Each number was nicely rendered and received hearty appreciation by well merited applause from the audience. The music was more of a popular nature than classic; at the same time Mr. Gliddon's selections on this occasion were of a character to demonstrate that his band is capable of any class. The heaviest and most classical number of the evening was the overture from "Zampa," by Herold. This is a piece of music played by the best military bands in the world, and the Peterborough musicians last night played it in a very creditable manner indeed. The larger or fundamental instruments were grand, their tone being rich, full and mellow. The heavy parts, while full were not of a brassy character. The pianissimo parts were equally well performed by these instruments. In every number played they showed to excellent advantage, reminding one of the grand tones of a huge pipe organ.

The first number, a march, "Uncle Sammy," by Holtzman, was played in true military style; the tempo was perfect, the crescendos and decrescendoes were very gracefully adhered to. Another number that Mr. Gliddon's band deserves great praise for was "Reminiscences of All Nations," by Lieut. Dan Godrey. The late Mr. Godfrey's composition was well interpreted by the conductor, and its rendition was highly appreciated. "The Turkish Patrol" was also well performed, and the last number, a selection from "Wang," by Morse, was a catchy, pleasing one, nicely executed, all the marks being well attended to. Mr. Gliddon played Naukeag Polka, by Hartmann, as a cornet solo. This is a difficult piece of music with a beautiful andante movement as an introduction. Mr. Gliddon's tone and execution showed him to be a master cornet player.

Mr. Louis Mendel's mandolin solo had to be repeated to satisfy the audience as also did the vocal double quartette by eight bandsmen. An extra number given was a sand dance by Mr. Joseph Guerin, which also received an encore. The band, owing to the enthusiasm of the audience, were forced to repeat several of their numbers.

The double quartette, composed of Messrs. Legg, Heidemann, Chambers, Mein, Gibbs, Holt, Cunningham and Crowe, contributed "Under Southern Skies." The effect was splendid.

It is hoped that the remaining concerts by the band will be more liberally patronized.

IMPERFECTION OF IDEALS.

A very large meeting is expected at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday at 4 p.m. The speaker will be Rev. W. J. Crothers, D.D., and his subject "The inspiration of ideals." Solos will be given by Messrs. N. Redgwith and J. R. Sproule. Every man in town is invited.

QUANTITY OF OATS USED.

—The Dickson Co. furnishes a surprising market for oats, the quantity consumed at their seven camps being remarkable. Four teams of the Company have been steadily sledging since early fall, and at present there are a little contingent of farmers drawing oats. The average load is a hundred bushels, the bushel being 34 lbs, and the teams take two days to a trip and return. The price paid here is 35c. and when purchased at the camp 41c are allowed. The crop was a fairly good one last season, and present prices give the farmers a satisfactory margin. —Bobcaygeon Independent.

BRITAIN'S NAVY READY

Sensational Speech By Civil Lord of the Admiralty.

Looks With Anxiety, Though Not With Fear, to the North Sea—In Any Case Under the Existing Conditions, Britain Would Get Its Blow in Before Other Side Had Time to Read War Declaration.

London, Feb. 4.—A speech delivered in the Hampshire village of East Leigh Thursday evening by Arthur Hamilton Lee, Civil Lord of the Admiralty, has created a sensation.

In dealing with the recent distribution of Great Britain's naval forces, Mr. Lee frankly declared that Great Britain had not so much to keep her eyes on France and the Mediterranean, but had to look with anxiety, though not with fear, towards the North Sea, and the fleets had been so distributed as to enable them to deal with any danger in that direction, should it unfortunately occur.

If war unhappily should be declared, he continued, under existing conditions the British navy would get the blow in first, before the other side had time to read in the papers that war had been declared.

He maintained that "by recent naval reforms Great Britain's strength as a naval fighting power had been practically doubled during the last few weeks."

The speech, which was delivered at a railway dinner, in no wise political in character, is commented upon in some of the London morning newspapers as exceedingly indiscreet and likely to be resented by Germany, at which it evidently pointed. The Daily Chronicle suggests that Premier Balfour should muzzle his Civil Lord of the Admiralty.

Few People Realize

The Danger in That Common Disease, Catarrh.

Because catarrhal diseases are so common and because catarrh is not rapidly fatal, people too often overlook and neglect it until some incurable ailment develops as a result of the neglect.

The inflamed condition of the membrane of the nose and throat makes a fertile soil for the germs of Pneumonia and Consumption, in fact catarrhal pneumonia and catarrhal consumption are the most common forms of these dreaded diseases, which annually cause more than one-quarter of the deaths in this country.

Remedies for catarrh are almost as numerous as catarrh sufferers, but very few have any actual merit as a cure, the only good derived being simply a temporary relief.

There is, however, a very effective remedy recently discovered, which is rapidly becoming famous for its great value in relieving and permanently curing all forms of catarrhal diseases, whether located in the head, throat, lungs or stomach.

The new catarrh cure is principally composed of a gum derived from the Eucalyptus tree, and this gum possesses extraordinary healing and antiseptic properties. It is taken internally in the form of a lozenge or tablet, pleasant to the taste and so harmless that little children take them with safety and benefit.

Eucalyptus oil and the bark are sometimes used, but are not so convenient, nor so palatable as the gum.

Undoubtedly the best quality is found in Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which may be found in any drug store and any catarrh sufferer who has tried douches, inhalers and liquid medicines, will be surprised at the rapid improvement after a few days' use of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which are composed of the gum of the Eucalyptus tree, combined with other antiseptics which destroy the germs of catarrh in the blood and expel the catarrhal poison from the system.

Dr Ramsdell, in speaking of Catarrh and its cure, says:—"After many experiments I have given up the idea of curing catarrh by the use of inhalers, washes, salves or liquid medicines. I have always had the best results from Stuart's Catarrh Tablets. the red gum and other valuable antiseptics contained in these tablets make them, in my opinion, far superior to any of the numerous catarrh remedies so extensively advertised. The fact that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold in drug stores, under protection of a trade mark, should not prejudice conscientious physicians against them because their undoubted merit and harmless character make them a remedy which every catarrh sufferer mayp use with perfect safety and the prospect of a permanent cure.

For colds in the head, for coughs, catarrhal deafness and catarrh of the stomach and liver, people who have tried them say that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are a household necessity.

MEN'S FASHIONS.

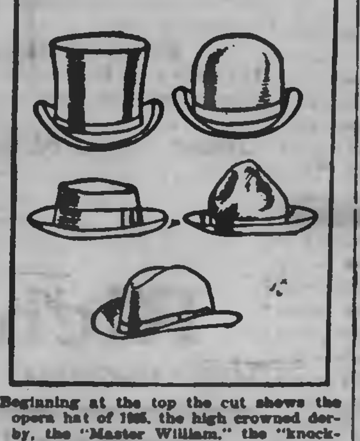
Headgear of the New Year—Soft Hats Have Taken the Season by Storm.

If there can be said to be any difference in the shapes of derby hats that difference lies in the crown, which this season is much higher. It is predicted on good authority that representative spring shapes will show a decided preference for extreme crowns.

Attention still centers on the efforts to create a style for brown derbies, though the public shows little or no disposition to accept them so far. Manufacturers' new samples show a variety of shades in brown, but the best known shops are not predicting a successful season for them.

A new departure in the derby hat which seems to have caught the public fancy is the extensive use of fine materials. The texture, material and trimming and the silky appearance of the felt proclaim at once that quality is there and so clearly evident that even the unpracticed eye appreciates the difference. While the price—$6—may stand in the way of an immediate purchase, the man who once wears a finer derby is loath to return to the regulation quality.

The rich appearance of the more expensive hat and the durability and preservation of its color and shape offset the slight increase in cost. Too many men hesitate to change the shape of their derby once they have found a becoming block, and it is really a difficult thing to convince the man of plainer ideas concerning dress that he should adopt one of the new high crown shapes. For the man who does not fancy a high crown there is a rather flat crowned derby with a somewhat pointed brim, which is more becoming to certain types than the high crown.



Beginning at the top the cut shows the opera hat of 1905, the high crowned derby, the "Master William," the "knockabout" and the alpine.

Soft hats have taken the season by storm. More styles in these are shown than for many years back. An unprecedented departure the soft hat has taken is its universal use for evening wear. The hat so used comes in black only, is well made and lined with satin. The name that distinguishes it from the alpine is "Tuxedo," and it may accompany all styles of evening clothes and go to almost any function with dignity.

The most popular soft hat of the season is made of belly nutria. The material is taken from the under portion of the little animal, which inhabits the Brazilian boundary along the Platte river. A strip of the belly is taken from the pelt and put through certain processes which render it as soft and fine as the costliest silk. The pelt turns water and does not spot with rain or snow. The nutria is similar to our beaver, but is smaller in size, and it produces the finest material for hat making on the market with the exception of beaver.

The soft hats made from it come in several shades, but soft fawn color seems to be the most popular. There are several shapes also. The college boy wears his hat with a ring crushed in the crown. This style is called "Master William." Then there are the "telescope," the "knockabout" and another style which to a considerable degree resembles the alpine.

Silk hats are always interesting, just as are ladies' evening hats, and the shapes change from one season to the next. Very young men wear crowns a trifle less curved or belled than the cut represents, if there is any perceptible difference in the shape. On the other hand, styles in such hats for older men have the bell crown much more emphasized and are a bit larger and heavier looking. The middle aged man wears a grosgrain silk band on his silk hat, while for the younger man is substituted a narrow band of cloth.

Owing to the increased popularity of the soft black hat already described for evening wear there has been a decided decline in the use of the opera hat since early fall.—Designer.

Fashion's Echoes.

Ribbons are extensively used in dress trimmings.

The leg o' mutton is the latest revival in sleeves.

Extremely popular are all sorts of braid garnitures.

High standing collars hold their own again on outdoor garments.

Ribbon embroidery is seen on the newest evening gowns and waists.

Very smart are the capes and cape sleeves on the newest coats and dolmans.

The French "bread roll" twist is the fashionable back hair dressing for the high coiffure.

The dart is in again—the old fashioned seam that runs in pairs each side of the bodice front and fits like a glove.

Very light shades are replacing the "all white" gloves, light tan and mode being favorites. These are worn not only with gowns to match, but also with those in contrast.

THE STOUT WOMAN.

Some Things She Should Not Do and Some Advice as to Diet.

A stout woman should not wear a tailor made suit, nor should she wear large bows at her belt, nor a high, tight collar. In choosing her gowns she should avoid large figure designs, selecting striped or plain goods. She should also be chary of jewels, and it will usually be found more becoming to wear her hair high on the head. And here it may not be amiss to offer a few suggestions on the reduction of flesh. No woman sees herself growing stout with undisturbed feelings. We are told that when the empress of Austria perceived her waist growing larger she gave up riding and took long walks every day regardless of weather. Queen Marguerite of Italy, when threatened with too much embonpoint, began to scale the mountains of her realm, and another celebrated woman walked each day "in order to retain her beauty." Where the tendency to obesity is pronounced not exercise alone will overcome the trouble. It must be accompanied by extreme temperance and diet. Farinaceous foods should be avoided, also pastry and sweets, and little drink should be taken while eating. Not only is a superfluity of flesh unbecoming, but it is not conducive to health, predisposing to apoplexy. It may appear hard to deny oneself certain foods, but appetite is, after all, a matter of education; the Bostonian likes his baked beans and the Carolinian his rice because they have always been accustomed to these particular dishes, and the strictest vegetarians were once the heaviest meat eaters.—Men and Women.

The Fragrance of Yaguas.

Many smokers are probably unaware that a part of the fragrance of Havana cigars is imparted by the wrappings called "yaguas" in which they are rolled. A yagua is the thin, netlike covering found on the leaves growing round the fruit of the yagua palm and is large enough to wrap a bundle of fifteen or twenty cigars. So highly are yaguas esteemed that a Cuban law prohibits the exportation of them.

A Discouraging Outlook.

"So your daughter is writing a book?"

"Yes."

"Are you pleased?"

"No. We're worried. If it isn't a success, we'll be disappointed, and if it is the neighbors will probably be shocked when they read it."

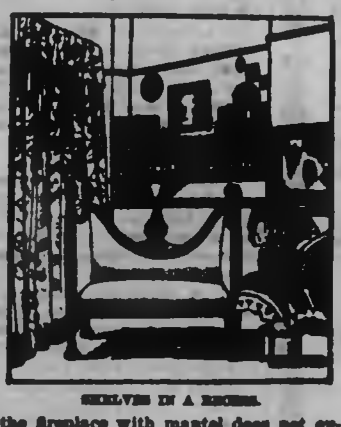
HOUSE FURNISHING.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR SHELF BUILDING ARE MANY AND VARIOUS.

No Room Really Interesting Without Shelves—A Plate Shelf For All Sorts of Old China, Metal Antiques and Bric-a-brac Generally.

A well known Boston architect has said that no room is interesting without shelves built against the wall. The mantelshelf in the formal rooms of the house responds to this statement, but in many homes of moderate cost the fireplace with mantel does not exist. On the other hand, the opportunity is usually present for introducing a shelf of some kind in every room, remarks Alice M. Kellogg in making the following suggestions in the Delineator:



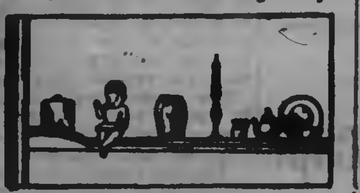
SHELVES IN A RECESS.

In the illustration a variety of articles has been gathered in a row upon a plate shelf, some blue and white china handed down from grandmother's closet, with some modern examples of mineral painting and some odd bits picked up in trips abroad. In arranging any such collection both form and color should be carefully studied to make a pleasing result. Pottery of the same color, but of different shades, should be separated by some harmonizing color, and pieces of one height and size should be varied by contrasting shapes.

A shelf for the dining room seems at first thought to be almost entirely utilitarian in purpose, while in reality it is distinctly ornamental. The china that is exposed to the dust and dirt is never available for emergencies, and the vacancies it leaves when taken away rob the room of its attractiveness.

"Plate" shelf is the popular name for a narrow shelf built against the wall of a dining room, but it may be used for pieces of pottery, copper or plaster. In fact, the older fashion of keeping bric-a-brac on the mantel and tops of tables has very much been given up to the newer style of having it appear on the wall shelf. Cups and saucers can be displayed by standing the latter on the shelf and hanging the former from a small hook that is screwed to the under part of the board. This plan is often followed in corner cabinets with glass doors, where the china can be examined from the outside.

The plate shelf becomes an architectural feature of the room when it is designed to correspond with the lines of the other woodwork. Although simple in construction, this shelf can be treated in a way to add to the dignity of the room or to destroy its proportions. Before adding a plate shelf the wall spaces should be well looked over to see if there is any one position that is better than another. The height of the wall should be over eight feet, the spaces not too long and the placing in proportion to all the dimensions.



A POTTERY SHELF.

If the shelf can be kept on a line with the tops of the mantel, door or windows a better effect will be gained than if it forms a separate track of its own. It is not necessary to carry the shelf entirely around the room. In fact, it is often of advantage to fit it into cozy corner angles or "jogs" in the room. The material of which the shelf is made should be the same as that employed in the doors, windows, etc., and finished with the same paint or stain. An inexpensive plate shelf can be found at many of the paperhangers' establishments made up in oak, cypress, mahogany or white enamel. This is sold by the foot.

The wall back of the plate shelf is an important item. If it is desirable to have the pottery stand out as a decoration the upper part of the wall should be of a plain color and lighter than the body of the wall. A striped paper should not be used in connection with a plate shelf, but a closely set pattern below the shelf serves to set off a plain paper that is used above. Two colors that are adopted in a dining room—green and oak, for example—may be repeated on the walls very satisfactorily, making the larger space green and the narrow upper portion of oak. The picture molding should not be omitted when a plate shelf is put up, as it finishes the cornice and is often of use in hanging a plate or tile.

In the large illustration an original arrangement of bookshelves makes a pleasing setting for a favorite picture. This idea could be carried out on a larger scale and with numberless variations.

When hanging out clothes in freezing weather, dip the upper corners of towels, napkins, etc., in strong salt water so that the pins will come off easily and so that the clothes will not be tight frozen to the lines.

BATTLE OF HEIKOUTAI

Japanese Casualties 7,000—Russians Over 10,000.

Oyama's Attacking Force Expected to Be Annihilated, But By Charging Turned the Tables and Practically Annihilated Fourth Russian Regiment—Japs Charge Enemy With Mutilating Their Wounded—Operations Growing Larger.

Tokio, Feb. 4.—Manchurian headquarters, telegraphing Thursday, says that on that day the Russians resumed their activity in front of the Japanese left, and that there has been constant skirmishing along the fronts of both the opposing forces, exchanges of heavy artillery fire taking place. The Japanese again charged the Russians with mutilation of their wounded.

Portions of the report follow:

"On Wednesday, Feb. 1, in the direction of the right, small bodies of the enemy attacked us in all directions. Our outposts repulsed them. On Thursday, Feb. 2, from 6 o'clock in the morning, Russian artillery on the west front of Ta Mountain and Liuchiengtun, shelled Fangshen and Putsaowo and their vicinities. The enemy's infantry immediately surrounded Fangshen, but we repulsed them.

"In the direction of the centre on Thursday the enemy's artillery, situated about a mile and a quarter north of the village of Shakho, and on Wenpao Mountain, bombarded the southern heights of Shakho village. Constant collisions between scouts took place to the north of Chenglingtsu and Yaotun. In the direction of the left, on Thursday, the enemy's artillery fiercely bombarded Changhiepao. Our artillery responded.

"The enemy has built a railroad from Suchiatun, which is five miles north of Lamuting, to Suhupao, and has opened traffic thereon. At eight o'clock on Thursday morning the enemy's field and heavy guns concentrated a fire against Yatsupao (two miles northeast of Changhiepao). Subsequently a Russian division entered the village of Changtun and despatched a brigade to attack us. We repulsed the brigade. Our pickets, consisting of an officer and 20 men, was surrounded near Hunaghaitze, Jan. 26. Our picket resisted to the last, when most of the wounded surrendered. The enemy mutilated all our wounded."

Field Marshal Oyama's Report.

Field Marshal Oyama, telegraphing Thursday, reports that the extreme Japanese left holds a line along the Hun River, with its extreme left established on the right bank. The main body of the Russians, after their defeat at Heikoutai, retired across the Hun River and occupied Muyupao, Shaiengtai and a portion of Changtan. On Wednesday the Russians began constructing defensive works in the neighborhood of Shuangtai, Chengchiawopeng and Changtan. Russian cavalry patrols were seen Wednesday along the line of Tsuyuta, Pipaotzu and Yuhpaotsan. The Russians made a series of small attacks on the right army and the left flank of the left army, but were repulsed in each instance.

Details of the fighting from Jan. 25 to Jan. 29, which Field Marshal Oyama officially designates as the battle of Heikoutai, shows that the operations were more extensive, the forces engaged larger and the fighting more desperate than the first reports indicated. The Japanese casualties totaled 7,000. According to the Japanese estimate, the Russians lost over 10,000. The army fought in a driving snowstorm. It was bitterly cold and very difficult to see. A night attack delivered early in the morning brought success to the Japanese.

In his report Field Marshal Oyama says: "Our object had not been attained, so I encouraged all columns to make night attacks. All columns of the attacking force expected annihilation. We attempted several attacks and movements, but suffered heavily by the enemy's artillery, especially the machine guns. All columns continued the attack with all their might. The enemy, unable to withstand our vigorous attacks, began to retreat at 5.30 in the morning. Our forces, charging into Heikoutai, occupied the place firmly and entirely at 9.30 o'clock in the morning."

The Russian force engaged is estimated by the Japanese at seven divisions, with a division of cavalry. Prisoners report that the Fourth Russian Infantry Regiment was practically annihilated.

Russians Lose 100.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4.—The Emperor has received the following despatch from Gen. Kuropatkin: "The Japanese, during the night of Jan. 31, attacked Djantanchenan, on the left bank of the Hun River, opposite Changtan. They captured the village, but subsequently were driven out with great loss. The Russian casualties were 100. The Japanese after a severe cannonade, re-attacked our forces at Djantanchenan at noon Feb. 1. The Russians first retired, but ultimately re-occupied the village although some outlying parts are still in the hands of the enemy. Up to Feb. 1, 133 Japanese prisoners have arrived at Mukden."

REID GETS MILLION AND A HALF.

Arbitrators Who Assisted in Decision Get a Fee of $15,000 Each.

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 4.—The finding of the Reid-Newfoundland Government arbitrators, taken from the Bank of Montreal yesterday, gives the Reid Company $1,568,100.

The arbitrators held several sittings in Toronto, commencing Saturday, January 7. Hon. Edward Blake was the arbitrator for the Newfoundland Government, Mr. Donald MacMaster of Montreal, representing the Reid interests, and Mr. F. S. Archibald was the third arbitrator. Each side bears its own costs, about $50,000.

Twenty Families Burned Out.

New York, Feb. 4.—Twenty families were driven from their homes in their night clothes, two firemen were overcome by smoke, and rescued with great difficulty, and one girl is thought to have perished in a fire which destroyed a five-storey apartment house in the Bronx, early yesterday.

For a Canadian Policy.

Kingston, Feb. 4.—Henri Bourassa, M.P., delivered a clever, eloquent and earnest address to the students of Queen's University yesterday afternoon. As a French-Canadian he pleaded for a thoroughly Canadian policy as opposed to an Imperialistic.

What Sulphur Does.

For the Human Body in Health and Disease.

The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and, mind you, this old-fashioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large quantity had to be taken to get any effect.

Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, concentrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a teaspoonful of the crude sulphur.

In recent years research and experiment have proven that the best sulphur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, effective form.

Few people are aware of the value of this form of sulphur in restoring and maintaining bodily vigor and health: sulphur acts directly on the liver, and excretory organs and purifies and enriches the blood by the prompt elimination of waste material.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins while experimenting with sulphur remedies soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been surprised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stuart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article and sold by druggists, and for that reason tabooed by many physicians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles, and especially in all forms of skin disease as this remedy."

At any rate, people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood "purifiers" will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers, a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.

40,000 MEN ON STRIKE.

They Forcibly Drag Their Bosses to Place of Meeting—Bloody Riot At Lodz.

Sosnovice, Feb. 4.—About 40,000 men are now out on strike. At a meeting of strikers yesterday the men forcibly dragged officials belonging to the management of various concerns to the place of meeting. All the speakers insisted on the preservation of order. The men's demands include a minimum wage of 75c. a day, eight hours to constitute a day's work; various reforms in factory management and old age pensions. After the meeting 12,000 strikers marched six miles to the Dombrowa district in perfect order, but everywhere persuading workmen to strike. Yesterday afternoon strikers went to the railway station of Strzemieszyce, seized and bound the officials, wrecked the station buildings and stopped trains in both directions.

Bloody Riot At Lodz.

Berlin, Feb. 4.—The Lokal Anzeiger's Warsaw correspondent reports that at Lodz there was a bloody encounter on Friday, the military firing on strikers and causing great havoc. In the fight several days ago, the correspondent says, sixteen strikers were killed and fifty-eight wounded, of whom thirty-eight were severely injured.

Barons Take a Hand.

Moscow, Feb. 4.—At a private meeting of the Provincial nobility yesterday, after a discussion of the reform propositions, it was decided to vote for a modified form of address to the Government to the effect that the nobility are eagerly awaiting a word from the Emperor which would show that the bonds uniting the throne and the people are still unbroken and the Emperor would, when he deemed advisable, summon elected representatives of the people to participate in the Government.

CZAR APPEARS AGAIN.

Receives Deputation of Five Workmen At Tsarskoe Selo.

London, Feb. 4.—A news agency despatch from St. Petersburg says Emperor Nicholas yesterday received at Tsarskoe Selo, a deputation of five workmen from the State Printing Works. His Majesty questioned each man closely regarding the character of the work and hours of employment, expressed satisfaction with those who had conscientiously performed their duty and said he hoped to visit the establishment in person. The audience took place in the great hall. His Majesty, in dismissing the delegation, asked them to convey thanks in his name to their comrades, who had done good work in the service of the State. He expressed satisfaction with the bearing of the delegation.

To Try Gorki.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4.—It is the intention of the Government to bring Maxim Gorki and seven other authors and publicists to trial on political charges. Governor-General Trepoff, who received the Associated Press yesterday, said: "The whole case is now in the hands of the Ministry of Justice, which is conducting the investigation, at the conclusion of which the procurator general will decide whether the prisoners shall be tried by a civil or a military court."

Six Persons Die.

Lodz, Russian Poland, Feb. 4.—In a conflict between troops and strikers at the Kounitzer factory here yesterday, the former fired, killing six persons and wounding 48. Shooting also occurred at the Keller lace factory.

Gorki Still Locked Up.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 4.—The report of Maxim Gorki's release is incorrect. Three of the eight members of the delegation to Interior Minister Sviatopolk-Mirsky—Hessen, Miskotin and Kareieff—who were arrested Jan. 21, have been released provisionally, pending an investigation.

—Marmora village levelled the snow on the streets by means of a farm cultivator.

ABOUT READY TO JUMP.

Mr. Whitney Likely to Be Called Upon Monday.

Toronto, Feb. 4.—"We are just about at the jumping-off place," observed Hon. A. G. Mackay at the close of yesterday's meeting of the Ontario Cabinet. But neither Mr. Mackay nor any of his colleagues were able to say just when the jump would be taken.

Another Cabinet meeting will be held this afternoon. It will be the last of the old regime and there is every reason to believe that Mr. Whitney will be summoned by Lieut.-Gov. Clark on Monday. If this program is carried out he will submit the names of his colleagues to the Lieutenant-Governor on Tuesday.

Close Election.

Goderich, Feb. 4.—The recount for West Huron took place here yesterday before His Honor Judge Doyle, who got through the examination of the ballots but reserved his decision till to-day. It is stated that the result will either be a tie or one of a majority for either candidate.

Charters Gains Seven Votes.

Brampton, Feb. 4.—The recount of the votes cast in the Peel election took place before Judge McGibbon yesterday. The net result was a gain of seven votes for Charters, leaving the Liberal majority at 25.

Brother's Heroism For Brother.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—Willie Armour of Carleton Place, aged 14 years, last week fell into scalding water and badly scalded his arms and chest. He was brought to the Protestant Hospital here and the scalds proved obstinate, not healing. The doctors decided that grafting was the only hope, and Robby, an 11-year-old brother, bravely consented to submit to the operation, parting with sufficient skin to save his brother. The operation is likely to prove eminently successful. The little brother's heroism is loudly praised.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carrys them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form, or rather in the form of large pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much-improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

Concealed Baby's Birth.

Brockville, Feb. 4.—The inquest on the body of the infant child found concealed in a basket at Greenbush, on the 24th ult., was resumed here yesterday, before Coroner Dr. Lane of Mallorytown. The circumstances surrounding the finding of the body were detailed by witnesses, and Lucy Blanchard, the young unmarried woman, suspected of being the mother, acknowledged the fact on the stand, and stated that she had previously disposed of two other children in a similar manner. The doctors who made the autopsy testified that the infant was still-born. The jury returned a verdict charging the woman with concealment of birth. On this charge she was immediately arrested and committed by P. M. Deacon to stand her trial at a higher court.

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The executive of the hockey team have entered a complaint to the authorities of the Grand Trunk, regarding the treatment received on the excursion to Peterborough last week. Eighty-six out of a total of 204 persons were left in Peterborough owing to the conductor starting too soon, the train having pulled out of the station yard seven minutes after the game was over.—Campbellford Herald.

The Maccabites challenge the senior Y.M.C.A. to a game as soon as the Brock-st. rink can be secured. S. Shreux, manager.

Markham are champions of group 3 of the Intermediate O.H.A. and will likely go up against Orangeville next. Peterborough will meet the winner after defeating Smith's Falls.

Belleville is questioning the age qualification of Wilfrid McLean of the Port Hope juniors. The O.H.A. is investigating the matter.

St. Andrew's Guards challenge McWilliams' Clear Grits to a game of hockey on Brock-st. rink whenever the ice can be secured.

Mr. D. B. Marriam, manager of the Fenelon Falls skating rink is in town to-day. He also manages two hockey teams in that town, and the rink is well patronized. The Trent Valley team of Fenelon Falls wishes to arrange home and home exhibition games with Peterborough once the League games are over.

The pattern makers of the Wm. Hamilton Company acknowledge that they were fairly defeated at hockey last evening, but state that they can trim the stool tops at baseball and wish to remind the office staff of a certain occasion in the good old summer time when the pattern makers ran away from the office staff, in a game of baseball.

Smith's Falls Here Next Week.

The next home game in the O.H.A. intermediate series will be on Thursday evening next, when Smith's Falls plays the return game here. It should be a good exhibition.

Ontario Bank Beaten.

The Ontario Bank team journeyed to Lakefield last evening and were defeated by the senior team of that village by 7 to 1. The half time score was 7—0. It was a well played and fast contest. Before the visitors got their bearings Lakefield had scored six and after that play was very close and checking hard. The Bank team lined up as follows—

Goal—Sawers.

Point—Greene.

Coverpoint—Edwards.

Forwards— Brownscombe, McFarlane, Mulhern, Strickland.

Notes of the Amateurs.

The West Ends are trying to make arrangements for a game in Lindsay with a junior team of that place.

The Young Nationals will play in Port Hope on Wednesday or Thursday of next week with the Trinity College School Juniors.

O'Briens' "Never Wins" would like to arrange a game with Barrie's Badalias.

Not Settled Yet.

The difficulty regarding the playing off of the tie between Campbellford and T.A.S. has not been settled yet, and the teams do not seem to be able to come to an agreement. Secretary Clarry will probably call a meeting of the executive for Tuesday night.

Peterborough's District.

Port Perry defeated Lindsay at the former place quite easily by 12 to 3. This gives the locals the district. They go to Smith's Falls to play the intermediate team of that place in the second round. They will be in the best of shape and expect a victory. The line-up will be the same that has so decisively defeated Lindsay on several occasions. The match takes place on Monday night.

The following is the standing of the clubs in this district:—

Peterborough won 5, lost 2 and drew 1; Lindsay won 3, lost 4 and 1 to play; Port Perry won 2, lost 4, drew 1 and has 1 to play.

CURLING.

Three rinks of Peterborough curlers won in a friendly match at Keene yesterday with the Keene club.

After the game the visitors were hospitably entertained by their Keene brethren. Following were the rinks—

STOOL TOPS VICTORS

A Great Game Between Two Teams From the Wm. Hamilton Co.

Those who were fortunate enough to witness last night's hockey match between the pattern shop and the office bunch of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. were amply repaid by being treated to one of the most brilliant and scientific games yet played this season. It was practically a walk-over for the Stool Tops, as the result was never in doubt.

The Wood Butchers, smarting under their awful defeat of two years ago at the hands of the office staff, thought they had the "goods" in the shape of a hockey team that could trim anything around the works, and so challenged the office to a return game, which was quickly accepted, but after last evening's one-sided score of 7 to 1 it is safe betting that they will never wield the stick again.

The game, which was clean and fast, started about 10.15, and in a few minutes the Stool Tops notched the first tally. They increased it to three before half time was called, while the Wood Butchers failed to locate the net. At the beginning of the second half by a nice piece of combination between Dorris and Dobson, the latter, who, by the way, played the best game of the night, located the net in less than twenty seconds. This seemed to waken the pattern makers up, and by a pretty individual rush by Moore, scored their first, last and only goal.

Before time was called the School Tops increased their lead to six goals, but could easily have made it sixteen. During the latter part of the game the Wood Butchers had to call in the assistance of the spectators, one of whom assisted Sharpe in tending goal for the last fifteen minutes of play.

On the Wood Butchers' team it would be hard to particularise any of the players, as one and all knew little, if anything, about the game, but were well versed in the art of tripping, slashing and cross-checking, etc. However, Moore, who, by the way, comes from the machine shop, should get credit for being the only man who succeeded in getting near the opposing goal, and giving Lockington a chance to see the puck.

For the Stool Tops all shone brilliantly, but Dobson at centre was the star, penetrating the Wood Butchers' defence and scoring at will. The rest of the team all played hard and upheld in a creditable manner the honor of he office. The teams lined up as follows before Mr. Harold Dunsford, who proved a very fair and efficient referee:—

Stool Tops.	Wood Butchers
Goal
Lockington	Sharpe
Point
Potvin	Dawson
Cover Point
Dorris	Buchanan
Forwards
Richardson	Brand
Dobson	Moore
Cameron	McKee
Goal Umpire.
Garrow	Seward
Time-keeper.
Bennet	Sharpe

It is safe betting that the pattern shop will not be heard from again. Pattern makers who can play hockey just a little bit are sure of a job any time by applying to T. T. Emmerson.

BASKETBALL.

A fairly large crowd saw the basket ball game at the Y.M.C.A. last evening between the Albert College team of Belleville and the local Boys' Club. The home team won easily, the score at half time being 16—8 in their favor, and at full time 36—14. The visitors put up a good game but were too light for the locals. It was a nice gentlemanly game and was much enjoyed by the spectators.

The Peterborough team was, forwards Robinson, F. Richardson; centre, Hodgson; backs, Ross and Miller.

Some interesting marching by the junior school boys, a tumbling exhibition by the junior school boys leaders' corps and parallel bar work by by senior school boys were also given. Solos by Mr. John Sproule and Homer Heard added much to the enjoyment of the evening. The Belleville team was afterwards entertained at a delightful supper at Potvin's.

—One of Novello's Singing Primers was lost by a young lady yesterday between Brock street rink and Potvin's confectionery store. Finder will oblige by leaving it at the Review office.

SIGNS OF POISON.

What a Sudden Flow of Mouth Water May Indicate.

Dr. Trail mentions the bewilderment of a family that was attacked with a "water rage," incomprehensible until investigation revealed the fact that a lot of horseradish in their kitchen garden had got mixed with some aconite herbs.

The sudden flow of saliva betrays the effect of some metallic poison—lead perhaps or verdigris (oxide of copper)—and suggests the examination of copper cooking utensils. Old fashioned silver spoons were often imitated with plated copper and in course of time furnished a clew to their bottom facts by turning black, then black with greenish tints, but only after their secret had been intimated by a spitting epidemic. It is the same with lead. Chewing a leaden bullet for a couple of seconds makes the "mouth water"—not as a hint as a desire for additional supplies, but to rinse out the palate and remove saliva that might cause mischief by finding its way into the stomach.

A decorative painter who never touched such things as paris green or cinnabar without disinfecting his hands and mouth was greatly puzzled by the morbid activity of his salivary glands. He had to spit like a tobacco fiend and finally traced his trouble to a substance known as "bronze dust" that had settled on his lips and nostrils and, under the influence of moisture, had been developing copper poisons.

Paris green not rarely gets blown like dust all over the fields it is supposed to protect from insect plagues; then, moistened by dew or drizzling rains, forms a paste and clings to vegetable substances, where its presence is never suspected, till their consumers complain of colic and mouth water.—What To Eat.

CORPSE RINGS.

What They Are and Why They Are Worn by Sailors.

"Corpse rings, eh?" said the visitor. "It's a curious, a grewsome, name. What are corpse rings?"

"Corpse rings," the collector answered, "are rings found on the bodies of drowned sailors—identification rings.

"Look at this thick gold one. Running around it on the outside, you see, there is carved in big, plain letters 'William Ratline, born in Camden, Me., 1865. Home, Malabar.' Ratline was lost off the Needles in the big storm of 1897. Malabar was communicated with, but it appeared that he had no relatives there.

"Nearly every sailor when the blues overtake him imagines he will die of drowning. He hates to think of his body washing up on a strange shore, of his nameless grave and of the anxiety of his friends when he doesn't return and no news comes of him, and therefore he buys himself an identification or corpse ring.

"Some of these rings are costly, beautiful, strange. Here is an antique Egyptian one, a ring of green bronze from a rifled tomb. Here is a wooden one, carved with little demons, for the thumb. It came, I think, from Senegambia. This ring of ivory is Japanese. It is of beautiful workmanship. The monkeys, holding each other's tails, that go around it in a circle, are quite perfect."

Central African Elephants.

"Elephants in the swamp country of central Africa," writes a traveler, "are different in their habits from those which inhabit the forests. In the marshes they stand throughout the day immersed in water up to their bellies and with their backs almost hidden by the high growth of reeds. Here they can always be traced by the white egrets which invariably accompany them and which feed upon the ticks and other insects with which their hides are infested. A herd of elephants moving through dense grass can be kept in sight even though they themselves are invisible by the fluttering up and down of these white birds.

Not So Bad For Him.

"Yes, I used to be in the insurance business. I once got a man to take out a $50,000 policy only about a week before he happened to be killed. He was a mighty hard chap to land too. I had to talk to him for nearly six months before I got him."

"That was tough on the company. I suppose you regretted after it was all over that your persuasive powers were so good."

"Um—no, I never felt sorry about it. I married the widow."

A Diplomatic Reply.

An eastern potentate once asked a group of his courtiers which they thought the greater man, himself or his father. At first he could elicit no reply to so dangerous a question. At last a wily old courtier said, "Your father, sire, for, though you are equal to your father in all other respects, in this he is superior to you, that he had a greater son than any you have." He was promoted on the spot.

Cause and Effect.

The census bureau tells us that there is an overplus of women in the cities and a shortage in the rural districts. Merely in a desultory way it may be mentioned that there are not so many show windows in the country as in the city.

WHY YOU SHOULD USE

Red Rose Tea

Because it is Reliable.

Some one has said: "A single fact is worth a ship-load of argument."

A few facts: I introduced this tea to the public about ten years ago. In that short time the business has grown to such proportions that we now occupy the largest Tea warehouse in Canada.

This enormous business has been built up without extensive advertising.

The merchants who commenced handling Red Rose Tea ten years ago are the most enthusiastic in its praises to-day.

The merchants who sell it, the people who drink it, have found that it could be relied on

The brand, "Red Rose Tea," is accepted everywhere as a guarantee of the highest quality, and those who drink it are its best advertisers.

Ask some of your friends about it.

A Story of Tom Marshall.

Tom Marshall, Kentucky's famous wit, attended a phrenologist's lecture one night. Marshall had been drinking, and when he returned to his hotel after the lecture he drank more. The drink gave him belief in his phrenological powers, and he declared that he could "read" heads as well as the lecturer. So it was decided to test his skill upon some of the guests of the hotel. Both ladies and gentlemen assembled in the parlor, and Marshall, who knew most of them, furnished an hour's uproarious fun by hitting off their failings. When he had finished an empty headed dandy whose head had not been examined loudly and pompously called attention to the fact that Marshall had neglected him. "I beg your pardon, sir," said Marshall, "but you must really excuse me. I am too drunk to read small print by candlelight."—Argonaut.

Caterpillars of Sikim.

In the sal-tree forest of Sikim, in the tropical gorge of the Teesta, is one of the breeding grounds of the myriad butterflies that swarm over the country. A famous traveler says that in May and until the middle of June the tender leaves of the great sal-trees are literally alive with voracious caterpillars. The presence of these caterpillars in such overwhelming numbers is explained by the fact that they are distasteful to birds. Fowls that were offered them rejected them after a trial with disgust and went on wiping their bills for some time afterward. There are two species, one a bright coral and the other green with stripes. They can break their fall from the tall trees by letting themselves down on long silky threads.

What Becomes of Pins.

Although we are told when the question is asked, What becomes of pins? that they fall to the earth and become terrapins, a gentleman has gone to some trouble to find out that this is not so and to give us the correct answer. He has found that pins are resolved into dust. Hairpins which he watched for 154 days disappeared by rusting away at the end of that time. Bright pins took nearly eight months to disappear, polished steel needles nearly two years and a half; brass pins had little endurance; steel pens were nearly gone at the end of eighteen months, though their wooden holders were still

The One Cure for Catarrh

Japanese Catarrh Cure

Just reason it out for yourself. You can't cure Catarrh of the nose by taking medicine that goes into the stomach. Japanese Catarrh Cure goes up the nostrils. It is a powerful antiseptic, aromatic and pleasant. When the pomade is in the nose, every breath you take carries the healing, soothing medication to every part of the diseased membrane. Now, isn't that the logical treatment? And Japanese Catarrh Cure proves the logic by never failing to cure catarrh, even in its worst form.

"I was troubled with catarrh for years. My head ached, my nose was stopped up; there was a constant dropping in my throat. I was forever hawking and spitting. I used everything—powders, washes, etc., but Japanese Catarrh Cure is the only remedy that ever gave me more than temporary relief, and has absolutely cured me."—R. D. ATKINSON, Advocate Harbor, N. S.

It is without an equal, and stands to-day as the only cure for Catarrh in Canada. At all druggists, 50c.

BEST KEPT FARM

Agriculture Department Proposes Scheme to Improve Condition of Farms.

A new departure in the Provincial agricultural work is being considered with a view to improving the condition of the Ontario farms, and Mr. H. B. Cowan, of the Agricultural Department is now in correspondence with the leading agricultural authorities of the Province. The plan under consideration is one now in practice in the Province of Quebec, where prizes are given in a general competition for the best kept farms in the Province. For the first year the competition will be confined to the various counties, and in the second year the county prize winners compete for district prizes. In the third year the district winners will contend for a prize for the best kept farm in Ontario. Only persons who make their actual living from farming will be permitted to compete.

Points are given in the competition for the best kept house and surroundings, so as to interest the women in the work. It is probable that a number of the successful competitors will be used as speakers at the Farmers' Institute Meetings. Special prizes are given for the best kept dairy and fruit farms. The subject will be considered by the executive of the Fairs and Exhibition Association which meets on Feb. 14-16 in Toronto.

No one should miss the opportunity of hearing the Meister Quartette and assisting artists to-morrow night in the Opera House. The majority of those who heard them here last December are going to attend again. Ask them their opinion of the last concert. Plan at Ormond & Walsh's drug store. General admission 35c.

THE POOR INDIAN IS ASSISTED

Certain Families at Hiawatha Receive $300 Each.

JOHNSTON PAUDASH'S STORY

Money Will go Towards Purchase of Horses and Agricultural Implements—Appeal Against Creation of Fish and Game Preserves.

Mr. Johnston Paudash, whom the Hiawatha people are proud to have represent them before the "Councils of the Nation" from time to time, was in town on Saturday last and in conversation with his friends he referred to a munificent provision which the Government recently made for the assistance of the poorer families on the reservation. There are, it is understood, about 18 Indian families residing there, and it appears that prosperity has not smiled upon all of them. According to the young Chief's story, the sum of $300 has been set apart for the use of each of those families who are in poor circumstances. The money is to go to the purchase of horses or farm machinery, and it is considered that by this assistance the Indians immedi- prevent indiscriminate trespass a good start, and to find their feet again. Some of the people at Hiawatha have become very successful farmers, while others do little more than hunt and fish and do not take well to industrial pursuits.

Chief Paudash is also making an appeal to the Government with a view to having the creation of fish and game preserves on Rice Lake done away with, claiming that this is an infringment of liberty so far as the Indian is concerned. The Keene Hunting Club will also make a strong protest in this connection. It is understood that Paudash is making a request to have the Hiawatha reserve bounded by a wire fence in order to prevent indiscriminate trespass.

Mr. Graham made an appropriate reply. Other toasts were responded to and the evening was most pleasantly spent.

WILL GO TO OTTAWA.

County Council to Interview Minister of Railways and Canals.

It is altogether likely that the members of the County Council will go to Ottawa to-morrow to interview the Minister of Railways and Canals, their petition being that the Government take over the charge and cost of maintenance of the swings in certain bridges along the route of the Trent Canal, which are owned by the County of Peterborough and the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham. Representatives from the Council of the latter counties will join the deputation. The bridges to which the deputation will have particular reference are — The Locks Bridge in which the town has a half interest; the Wallace Point Bridge in which the Counties of Peterborough and Durham and Northumberland have half interests and Beaufort Bridge in which the interest is similarly divided.

It also stated that a deputation may go to Ottawa shortly from Peterborough and other municipalities in this vicinity for the purpose of urging the earliest possible completion of the canal.

PRESENTATION TO J. F. JUNKIN

Manufacturers' Life Agents Appreciate Their Manager.

Mr. J. F. Junkin, the Manager of Manufacturers' Life Association has many friends in Peterborough, who will read with pleased interest the following from the Toronto World—

The banquet to the agents of the Manufacturers' Life Association at the National Club last night, upon the occasion of the 10th report of the present management was a pleasing affair. The agents took this opportunity, of making a presentation to J. F. Junkin, managing director of the association. The presentation took the form of a solid silver tea service and was made by J. Burbank, of Brantford, representing the agency force of Canada and Michigan. Mr. Burbank spoke of the success of the association under J. F. Junkin during the past ten years and referred to the pleasant relations existing between the management and its agents. In reply Mr. Junkin said a great deal of the success of such an institution as the Manufacturers' Life Association depended upon environment and the character of its agents. To-day good moral fibre is what is needed in such an institution. Year by year his work became more pleasant and he was encouraged to better work by the support of those associated with him. If it were possible to prompt him further he could not fail to be prompted by the kind mark of appreciation and friendship shown by such a handsome gift. On behalf of Mrs. Junkin he expressed her kind appreciation of the beautiful bouquet left at the house during the day. This he felt was appreciation enough and he had not expected to be so kindly remembered at the banquet.

REDHOT DEBATE

Will Take Place in Centreville Next Monday Evening.

Next Monday evening the members of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild will journey to Centreville, and representatives will there take part in a debate, the subject being, "Resolved, that a man's environment has more to do with his success in life than his ability." Centreville will be represented by Messrs. J. C. Campbell and J. A. Porter, while for St. Andrew's the speakers will be Messrs. W. S. Campbell and T. G. Anderson. The meeting will take place in the new Centreville Hall, and its announcement has aroused a great deal of interest. It is understood that Centreville people are making elaborate preparations to receive the men of St. Andrew's.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Several Hundred Young Ladies Received Into Sodality of Blessed Virgin.

At Vespers in St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, a very solemn and impressive ceremony took place, at which several hundred young ladies of the parish were received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. The candidates assembled in the sacristy of the church and marched in procession around the edifice, entering by the main doors. They bore lighted tapers and occupied the seats on either side of the centre aisle. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon, urging the young ladies to emulate the virtues and attributes of the mother of God. The ladies repeated the act of consecration, which was read by His Lordship, after which the medals and badges were presented. His Lordship was assisted in the ceremony by Rev. Father McColl and Dr. O'Brien. A large congregation was present.

DETECTIVES AFTER HIM

Provincial Police Looking For Pamfilio Marfoso, Wanted in Town.

Pamfilio Marfoso, an Italian living in Peterborough, felt himself aggrieved against Olivicio Cupido recently, and on the 31st ult., attempted to get revenge. He lay in wait for Cupido and stabbed him so seriously that the victim is likely to die.

Detective Greer was summoned by the Peterborough authorities, when it was found that Marfoso had disappeared through the assistance of his friends. Three of these friends, Alfonso Anzio, Ciceri di Palmi and Fabiono Marfoso, were arrested, and notices have been sent to the police in all parts of Ontario, giving Marfoso's description, and asking that he be held for attempted murder.

The criminal is said to be about nineteen years of age, of dark complexion, and 5 feet 9 1-2 inches in height. He has a small scar on the upper lip.—Toronto News.

PARENTAL NEGLECT.

Some interesting statistics regarding the causes of the ruin of children are furnished by the Chicago Juvenile Court, where a careful record of each case is kept by the authorities. Parental neglect is the most frequent cause of child dependency in the 1,722 "bad" boys and girls before the court in the last eleven months. In the same time Judges Mack and Tuthill have been asked to decide the future of 796 homeless boys and 341 girls. The record shows that drunkenness, laziness and the resultant poverty of parents caused the children's plight. In only sixteen cases had the parents of the children been divorced.

Causes of dependency in children, according to the records kept by the court, are as follows:—

Causes:
Lack of parental care	349
Drunkenness of father	169
Drunkenness of mother	82
Drunkenness of both	63
Desertion by father	147
Desertion by mother	29
Desertion by both	25
Separation of parents	10
Neglect by father	18
Death of father	63
Death of mother	75
Death of both parents	65
Insanity of parents	32
Poverty of parents	25
Sickness of parents	60
Incorrigibility	37
"Preventable" causes	463
"Non-preventable" causes	395

Of the 850 cases heard 350 were charges of theft, while general incorrigibility was set against 206. The efforts of the court are devoted to correcting the habits of the children and placing them as much as possible under better influences. In most cases the children are more unfortunate than culpable; they have not had a fair chance. If the law could reach and punish neglectful and criminal parents the proper persons might be made to suffer. Parental neglect is a menace to the State.

PEN POINTS.

Premier Ross has arrived at Resignation Point after a somewhat circuitous route.

Because the leader of the opposition will resume his seat in the Commons to-morrow, it will still be a legislative assembly — not a Borden house.

One of the strongest evidences of Peterborough's growth morally and materially is demonstrated in the fact that three large new churches will be erected in the town this summer.

The Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association are notifying all municipalities, emphasizing the necessity of attention being paid to hydrants and water services in order that they do not become frozen, and disabled in case of fire.

Says the Brooklyn Citizen:—"Carnegie's virtuous nature forbids him to contribute anything to the establishment of a needed hotel in Pittsburg because it is proposed to furnish liquor to guests; but when it comes to charging $450 a ton for armor plate, which Government experts say it can make for $200—well, that's another matter.'

The Ottawa Board of Trade at its next meeting will consider a resolution favoring the payment of the leaders of the opposition a salary equal to that of a cabinet minister. It is considered that a great deal of responsibility rests upon the leader of the opposition, and that due consideration should be had for this and the great amount of labor devolving upon him. The resolution is in the right direction.

Much space was devoted in the English press to the collision on the Midland line recently, whereby seven persons were killed. The Times, which only discusses big matters editorially, had a column and a half article on the accident. A wreck on an American railroad in which only seven people perished would excite little comment in the press on this side of the Atlantic. They set a high value on life in England. Conditions in the United States would be much better if the people followed the example of the old land in this respect.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress, ought to be put down as the "limit" in connection with the lap-dog craze. Listen to this from an exchange: "Mrs. Patrick Campbell, who has been sick in a hospital in the east, has her pet dog installed with her on the bed in the hospital ward, and the attendants have strict instructions to provide him with warm cream for breakfast, part of a well-done lamb chop for luncheon, and breast of spring chicken with cream sauce for dinner. He also has a midnight supper, consisting, as a rule, of portions of a bird or game."

Much is being said in Ontario newspapers about the dismissal of provincial officials when the new administration is inaugurated. There are some Ontario officials, says the Montreal Gazette, who by their conduct have created the impression that they are partizans before they are public servants, and whose going would improve things all round. The mass of the provincial employees, however, as is generally the case, have given their first attention to their public duties. To dismiss these would be a mistake from the point of view of public policy, and no help from that of the mere party worker. It will doubtless be found that most of them will stay.

The King's Printer, Dr. Dawson, has written a letter denying the charge of undue delay in connection with the printing of the Auditor General's report. He states that it is false to say that the copy was in the King's Printer's hands in time to be ready for the opening of Parliament on Jan. 11th. The real truth is that after that date two thousand two hundred and eleven folios of copy have come in. We are now setting on copy which came in on Jan. 21st. It is, moreover, true that the copy is not at the present moment all in. The copy for about 100 pages of solid type has yet to come down. On Jan. 17th the Auditor General had in his hands 448 pages of unsigned proofs.

No Difference.

No distinction is made as to the kind of piles that Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid cures.

The names Internal External, Bleeding, Blind, Itching, Suppurating, etc., are simply names of the different stages through which every case will pass if it continues long enough.

Piles are caused by congestion or stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and it takes an internal remedy to remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid is a Tablet taken internally.

It is a permanent cure, and no case of Piles has ever been found it failed to cure. Money back if it does.

CANADIAN RAILWAY MILEAGE.

Some Interesting Figures With Regard to Lines at Present in Use.

A report issued from Ottawa a few days ago stated that during the year ending June 30th, 1904, the steam railway lines built in Canada amounted to 534 miles, bringing the total mileage of the country on the date mentioned up to 19.611 miles. The capital paid amounted to $1,186,546,918, an increase of $39,996,149. The amount includes Dominion and Provincial subsidies, and loans and municipal aid. The miles of railway in operation numbered 19,431, an increase of 443 miles, compared with the previous year. The gross earnings of all the steam railways aggregated $100,218,436, a gain of $4.154,909. The working expenses amounted to $74,563,162, an increase of $7,081.63, but the net earnings show a falling off of $2,927,729, the total for the year being $25,656,274. The steam railroads of Canada carried 23,640,765 passengers, an increase of 1,492,023 and 48,097,519 tons of freight, a gain of 724,102 tons. The number of passengers killed was 25, much fewer than in the year previous.

The returns of the electric rail ways show that there are 767 miles line, as against 759 in 1903. The capital, including Dominion and Provincial subsidies and municipal aid, was $80,453,609, an increase of $1,219,932. Working expenses were represented by the sum of $5,326,517, an increase of $853,659, when contrasted with the year previous. Net earnings totalled $3,125,092, or an increase of $366,273. There were 181,089,998 passengers carried, as against 155,662,812 for the preceding year. Of freight, 400,161 tons were carried, 28,876 more that in 1902-3. Ten passengers were killed, the same number as in the previous year.

Nervous Dyspepsia

Mr. George Bolen, Eyry, Bruce Co., writes:—"I was troubled with nervous dyspepsia for some years, and after using nine boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I felt better then I had for years. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is certainly the best medicine I ever used, and I say so because I want to give full credit where it is due."

MARCH DESIGNER

It would be difficult to mention an up-to-date garment which the Designer for March cannot supply, from the lily-like costumes for confirmation to the fantastic garb which protects the automobilist. "Fads and Fancies," and "Fashions and Fabrics" show the various little accessories which delight the fastidious woman, and "Fashion Notes for Men," fills the same office for the sterner sex. "The Legend of the Snowdrop," by Addie Bass, is a charming little fantastic for child actors. Mary Kilsyth gives hints for "The Furnishing of Small Houses," and Eleanor Marchant makes suggestions, effectively illustrated for St. Patrick's Day Luncheon." In the fancywork line are supplied "Initialing Lingerie," unique "Button Bags," "Novel Napkin Rings," and pretty knitted articles.

"I first used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine with my daughter, who suffered from a severe form of asthma. HAVE RUSSIANS WON?

French Journals Declare Court At Paris Will So Find.

Paris, Feb. 6.—The close of the testimony before the International Commission inquiring into the North Sea incident has been followed by a rather noticeable diminution of confidence in British circles concerned with the case, and a corresponding elation on the part of the Russians.

The French press, which is strong pro-Russian, gives marked prominence to statements that the Russians have virtually won their case, the usually conservative Temps and Journal asserting positively that the majority of the court now favors the Russian theory that torpedo boats attacked Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky's squadron.

On the contrary, intimations are made that the tendency within the court is rather in the opposite direction. The reports favorable to the Russian view appear to result mainly from the positiveness of the testimony of Captain Clado and other Russian officers, that they saw torpedo boats attack the squadron, whereas the strongest British witnesses did not swear that no torpedo boats were there, but merely that they did not see them there.

ROSS STILL IN OFFICE.

Tries to Glorify Himself in the Closing Up Formalities.

Toronto, Feb. 6. — Premier-elect Whitney is expected to arrive on Tuesday, though on this point he is extremely reticent. Having regard to the eternal fitness of things he is no doubt waiting till he is "axed," but the invitation will probably go forward to-day. Nobody seems to entertain the idea that the Lieutenant-Governor will call upon anyone else to form an Administration.

It is the desire of the present Cabinet that there shall be no "interregnum." There is a feeling that Premier Ross has sought to glorify himself by his action in "inviting" Mr. Whitney to be on hand when he steps out.

The Cabinet held its final meeting Saturday afternoon, and at the close it was unofficially announced that the Premier would proceed to the residence of the representative of the Crown on Monday afternoon and submit his resignation.

Mr. Whitney will probably hand the names of his Cabinet to the Lieutenant-Governor as soon as he accepts office from his hands.

KILLAM IS CHAIRMAN.

The Railway Commission Vacancy Filled By the Government.

Ottawa, Feb. 6.—Justice Killam has been appointed Chairman of the Railway Commission, and will enter upon his new duties right away. The choice of his successor on the Supreme Court Bench has not been made.

"Pro-Anglica Catholica."

Rome, Feb. 6.—Reports have just reached the Vatican of the formation of a large Roman Catholic party in England under the leadership of the Duke of Norfolk. The new league, styled the "Pro-Anglica Catholica," counts as members all the prominent Roman Catholics of the United Kingdom, including several peers of the realm. Its purpose is to obtain more favorable Roman Catholic legislation from both Houses of Parliament, especially regarding the partial support of Roman Catholic schools by the Government. All regulations and details concerning the new league have been submitted to and approved by the Vatican authorities.

Bones.

Queen Victoria was greatly moved on the occasion of the distribution of medals at the close of the Crimean war, but her grief was not apparent to those less sympathetic. "Was the queen touched?" a lady asked Lord Panmure. "Bless my soul, no!" was the reply. "She had a brass railing before her, and no one could touch her!" "I mean was she moved?" the lady continued and was answered: "Moved? She had no occasion to move."

LEADER BORDEN BY ACCLAMATION

Elected as Member for County of Carleton.

WILL TAKE SEAT TO-MORROW

Conservative Leader Warmly Thanked M Kidd for Surrendering His Seat - Latter Presented With Beautiful Diamond and Opal Pin—Mr. Borden's Speech.

Stittsville, Feb. 6.—The most largely attended nomination meeting ever known in the County of Carleton was held Saturday in Richmond Town Hall. A large number of Conservative members of Parliament attended, having been taken on from Ottawa on special train. P. D. Coffey, registrar and returning officer for Carleton, was at his place in the hall at 12 o'clock.

Only One Nomination.

Only one nomination was submitted to Returning Officer Coffey, and that was R. L. Borden. Right on the strike of 2 o'clock the returning officer declared Mr. Borden the duly elected member of the County of Carleton. He made out the certificate of election at the same time and delivered it personally to the clerk of the Crown-in-Chancery on Saturday night. This he was requested to do by the Government. Mr. Borden may at once take his seat in the House.

Tumultuous Cheering.

With the announcement of Mr. Borden's election there was tumultuous cheering.

Three minute speeches began at half past 1 o'clock, Returning Officer Coffey consenting to this slight innovation. After the declaration of Mr. Borden's election, P. P. McElroy, president of the Carleton County Conservative Association, took the chair. Among those who addressed the meeting were Warden Bradley, who warmly welcomed the visitors to Richmond; Dr. Barr, M. P.; Dr. McCarthy, M.P.; Mr. Alcorn, M.P.; Mr. Cochrane, M.P.; Dr. Daniell, M.P.; Houghton Lennox, M.P.; S. R. Crockett, M.P.; Major Fowler, M.P.; Dr. Chisholm, M.P.; H. J. Buglion, M.P.; Senator Kirchoffer, Mr. Clements, M.P.; Mr. Wright, M. P. for Muskoka; Mr. Stapells, M.P.; J. E. Caldwell, Liberal candidate for Carleton in the last Federal election; W. H. Bennett, M.P.; Mr. Hogg, president Conservative Association of Ottawa; George N. Kidd, M.P.P., and Col. Sam Hughes, M.P.

At the conclusion of these speeches an illuminated address was presented to Edward Kidd, ex-M.P., on behalf of the Conservatives of Carleton County. With the address Mr. Kidd got a beautiful diamond and opal pin, which marks of esteem he acknowledged in feeling terms.

The proceedings were marked with great enthusiasm.

Mr. Borden's Speech.

R. L. Borden received a most cordial welcome. He said he was proud to have the County of Carleton as his constituency. His defeat in Halifax he attributed partly to the time that he was necessarily absent from Halifax. It was his duty to give this time to the other Provinces and he had nothing to regret in this respect. Referring to the defeat in Halifax and Nova Scotia, Mr. Borden said he was bound to speak a good word for the little province down by the sea. Between 45,000 and 50,000 good Conservative votes had been polled in the last election, and the Conservative party to-day in Nova Scotia was strong, active and vigorous. The fortunes of the Conservative party in Nova Scotia were not happy in the last election. This, in a way, was due to over-confidence, particularly in the city of Halifax, where 809 names of good Conservative voters were struck off the voters' list.

Thanked Mr. Kidd.

Mr. Borden warmly thanked Mr. Kidd for surrendering his seat. He referred to his acceptance of the leadership of the Conservative party, which, he said, was not altogether in his own personal interest. He had accepted with some reluctance, believing that it was his duty to do so.

Mr. Borden thanked his opponents for not bringing on a contest in Carleton. "Not that we would not have done our best to pull through," said Mr. Borden, to the great amusement of the audience. "But, nevertheless, I appreciate the courtesy from the bottom of my heart."

Mr. Borden called for a more rigid enforcement of the election law and punishment of offenders. He demanded, also, such protection to our agricultural interests as would enable them to have the full benefit of the best markets. Another principle Mr. Borden strongly supported was mutual preferential trade within the Empire.

Course of the Opposition.

Mr. Borden was loudly applauded as he referred to the result of the general elections in Ontario. He congratulated Mr. Whitney and the Province of Ontario on the great victory. In conclusion, Mr. Borden spoke of the necessity of a strong Opposition. The present Opposition at Ottawa, he said, would do its duty, not opposing the Government at all times, but criticizing every measure according to its merits. The interests of the country were above party considerations.

The meeting closed with cheers for Mr. Borden.

Willing to Talk Now.

Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—Saturday morning Justice Perdue gave judgment in the application for a writ of habeas corpus, made by counsel for Alexander Ayotte, who refused in court on Thursday to answer a question as to who gave him a voters' list in the recent Provincial elections.

His Lordship refused the application and held that Ayotte must answer.

On his agreeing to do so he was released from custody.

Strike Spreading in Poland and Polish Refugees Are Flocking Into German Towns On the Border—More Strikers Killed At Lodz—Russia Apologizes to Britain Respecting the St. Petersburg Placards—Incident Closed.

Berlin, Feb. 6.—The Lokal Anziegers, Kattowitz, Prussia, correspondent says the arrival of the refugees from Russian Poland, is assuming large dimensions and that every incoming train is crowded, mostly with women and children. Most of the Russian towns near the frontier are filled with refugees.

The strike in Russian Poland, the correspondent says, is still spreading, and is affecting the entire industrial region from Sosnavice to Granica, on the Austrian frontier. Polish newspapers estimate the total number of strikers at 400,000.

The Lokal Anziegers Warsaw correspondent says "At Lodz yesterday during the funeral of 15 victims of the recent troubles, a fight between workmen and the military broke out, two of the latter being killed and 15 wounded

"Serious labor disturbances are announced from Sielce, Russian Poland, and Lubin, 60 miles southeast of Warsaw."

Martial Law Declared.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—The strike movement in Poland has spread to the Governments of Warsaw, Petrikau, Kalisse, Radom, Lubin and Suvalki. Martial law has been declared in Kalisse, Radom, Siedlec.

Russia Apologizes to Britain.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—Foreign Minister Lamsdorff in an official note to Sir Chas. Hardinge, the British Ambassador, has formally disavowed the action of Deputy Chief of Police Roudneff of Moscow, in posting a placard asserting that the strikers were assisted with money from Japanese and British sources with the purpose of crippling the arsenals and other Government works.

Incident Is Closed.

Warsaw, Feb. 6.—Col. Napier, the British military attache, who was sent here to investigate the alleged attacks by Russian Hussars on British Consul-General Murray and Mr. Mucukain, the pro-consul, has returned to St. Petersburg to report to the Embassy. The incident is regarded as closed.

To Please the Workmen.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—In accordance with the Emperor's ukase of Dec, 25 the commission of ministers has decided to establish at the ministry of finance a committee for the preparation of a draft of workmen's state insurance law.

Barons Take a Hand.

Moscow, Feb. 6.—The assembly of nobles yesterday voted on two addresses to the Emperor and the Conservative address was adopted by a vote of 219 to 148. After a lengthy discussion, however, the assembly decided to forward both the Liberal and Conservative address to His Majesty. The Conservative address declares the present troublous time is not the right moment to consider any re-organization of the system of Government, and expects the autocratic ruler to rule in consciousness of his strength, for in greatness his power lies in the strength and hope of the Russian people.

In a State of Panic.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Feb. 6.—Reports from Czestochowa, Russian Poland, say that the city is in a state of panic. The inhabitants are barricading their doors and windows in consequence of the attitude of the strikers.

Disown Deputation.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—The workmen to the number of 4,000 in the car shops here have drawn up a manifesto disclaiming the delegates who were put forward as representing them in the deputation which visited Emperor Nicholas at Tsarkoe-Selo on Wednesday, Feb. 1. They assert these men were selected by the employers and were not representatives of the workmen. The employes of one or two other factories may follow suit, but the workmen in general are inclined to stand by the deputation.

ACCUSED MURDERER CAUGHT.

Wanted in Winnipeg, Is Finally Arrested in St. Paul, Minn.

Winnipeg, Feb. 6.—Followed by the police for over three weeks and with certainty that, if captured, he would have to face a charge of murder, Frederick Sweredas' race for liberty was brought to sudden termination at St. Paul, Minn., Saturday morning, where he was arrested by Detective Johnson of the Thield Detective Agency, on a description sent south by Chief McRae, who has wired Johnson to bring the prisoner to Winnipeg.

Sweredas is believed to have been the prime mover in the murder of the negro, George King, whose dead body was found lying on the track in the C.P.R. yards on the morning of Jan. 17. Two men, Cynsar and Raga, have been charged with the murder of King, and four other Galicians, Rin Slobogion, Shnad Nasarak, John Raga and Stefan Stodois, are held, charged with aiding and abetting.

Crushes Argentine Revolt.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 6.—In the course of an attack on a police station on Saturday morning several rioters were killed, about 20 were injured and some 250 arrested. Order has been completely restored and yesterday the city presented a normal aspect. The revolution being practically crushed, the Government has annulled the decree calling out the reserves.

The Oldest Church.

The oldest Christian church in the world is at Rome. Not far from the great Church of St. Maria Maggiore, in a street bearing the same name, is the much smaller Church of St. Puentiana, which tradition as well as the opinion of archaeological experts declares to be the most ancient of the Christian edifices of Rome.

About the middle of the first century a certain Roman senator named Pudens had a house on this spot. He was a Christian convert and, it is said, a distant relative of Paul, the apostle, who lodged with him from A. D. 41 to 50 and converted his two daughters, Praxedes and Pudentiana. For the religious uses of himself and guests he built a small chapel in this house, and when he died in 96 and his wife a year later his daughter added a baptistery, the plans for which were drawn by Pius, the then bishop of Rome. In course of time a church was erected on the site of the original house of Pudens and consecrated by the bishop in 108 or 145.

The Rented Babies of Paris.

The written law provides for every child in France that the government supplement the home education and when necessary replace it entirely, but as a matter of fact there are scores of children, in Paris especially, who have shaken free of their parents or been cast off by them and who live a vagabond existence, playing hide and seek with the officers of the law. Among this band the commonest offense is begging, though generally there is some older person back of the whining specimens one meets with on the streets. The fruitful incomes in this profession are obtained only through children. During the nights between New Year's and Christmas a baby in long clothes, especially if it be delicate looking, rents for as high as $5 or $6. His brothers and sisters from one to five years old bring $2, while those still older are worth a dollar on the coldest days.

What a Hand May Mean.

In all my experiences and thoughts I am conscious of a hand. Whatever touches me, whatever thrills me, is as a hand that touches me in the dark, and that touch is my reality. You might as well say that a sight which makes you glad or a blow which brings the stinging tears to your eyes is unreal as to say that those impressions are unreal which I have accumulated by means of touch. The delicate tremble of a butterfly's wings in my hand, the soft petals of violets curling in the cool folds of their leaves or lifting sweetly out of the meadow grass, the clear, firm outline of face and limb, the smooth arch of a horse's neck and the velvety touch of his nose—all these and a thousand resultant combinations, which take shape in my mind, constitute my world.—Helen Keller in Century.

Don't Like Their Own Medicine.

Dentists are, as a rule, not living testimonials to their profession. "It is because we know how much a tooth can be hurt that we dislike to get into a chair ourselves," one of the craft explained the other day. "I had to fill a tooth for a fellow dentist last week and found it simply impossible to do a good job. He twisted and turned, grabbed my hand when he saw it coming his way and absolutely refused to let me do enough cutting to hold the filling solidly. Finally I patched the tooth up somehow, and he wouldn't let me polish off the edges. Give me the most hysterical woman before a dentist every time."

Monocles In the English Army.

About a century ago a British army order was issued forbidding officers to wear eyeglasses or spectacles. But a shortsighted officer belonging to a crack cavalry regiment had no mind to resign his commission or stumble blindly, and he invented the single eyeglass. When called to account by the authorities he claimed that the monocle, being of the singular number, did not contravene the order against spectacles and glasses in the plural. Red tape accepted this literal rendering of the law, and, becoming popular in the British army, the monocle was adopted by civilian beaus.

Take Cancer In Time.

An English specialist declares that "too late" has yet to be said in one-half or three-fourths of the cancer cases when seen by the operating surgeon. A general acceptance of the view that cancer has usually a precancerous stage and that this stage is the one in which an operation ought to be performed would be the means of saving many lives.

The Amateur Farmer's Success.

"There goes a 'book farmer' that refutes the stock joke about what failures they are."

"How is that?"

"His favorite text book is 'Success With Small Fruits,' and he has succeeded in growing the smallest fruit I ever saw."

Improved Rapidly.

Singing Master—Why, you have no voice at all! Singer—Well, but I always pay for my lessons double the amount usually paid by others. Singing Master—Say that again; your voice sounded much better, I thought.

Never Had a Chance.

"What is the greatest speech that congress ever developed?"

"The greatest speech," said the statesman with the disappointed look, "was never delivered. I wrote it myself."

The art of putting the right man in the right places is the first science of government.

GOOD BUILDINGS LOW INSURANCE

Poor House Is Not Best Kind of Investment for Builder.

HOW RATES ARE AFFECTED

Insurance Companies Are Willing to Discriminate In Favor of the Owner Who Builds in Accordance With Rules of Fire-resisting Construction.

Now that the Town Council is inclined to pay some attention to the improvement of fire-fighting facilities, it seems but natural to enquire whether proper precaution is being exercised in the erection of dwellings, more especially within the fire limits, that they be so constructed as to be entitled to consideration as good fire risks. A representative of one of the prominent fire insurance companies stated recently that the style of houses constantly being erected, is an important consideration in the regulation of insurance rates. Where care is not exercised by the town to see that the provisions of a well-framed building by-law is enforced, the penalty exists in the form of high rates. Of course other things are taken into consideration, such as the equipment and efficiency of the fire brigade, but the necessity for good building construction cannot be too strongly urged. It was pointed out with regard to business blocks also, that fire-walls as at present existing were hardly what they ought to be. An instance was given—the fire in Toronto —where, had there existed efficient barriers in the shape of good fire-walls, much valuable property had been saved. This seems to be a recognized feature of building construction in the old country and it has its effect in low rating.

"There should be a regular and systematic inspection of cellars in the centre of the town," observed the representative. "Many of the fires today obtain their incentive from the rubbish of cellars, and I am of opinion that the Council, by passing and enforcing a stringent measure in that regard, would bring about a great deal of improvement."

The Monetary Times, referring to fire risk and building construction recently, said—

"A good building, that is, one properly constructed with regard to fire risk, is a better investment for a merchant or manufacturer than a poor building, for two reasons. First, he runs a lesser chance of being burned out; and second, he pays a lower rate of fire insurance. For a long while, by reason of the apathy, sometimes the ignorance, of fire underwriters there was little or no encouragement given by insurance rates towards the improvement in the construction of mercantile buildings. But to-day this is not the case. Events within the last eleven months have shown what a conflagration hazard means, and builders of houses have learned that the fire insurance companies are willing to discriminate in favor of the owner who builds in accordance with the recognized rules of fire-resisting construction.

BUILDING BY-LAWS

On Tuesday last a paper was submitted to the Insurance Institute of Toronto, which dealt with building construction in connection with the fire risk. This paper was by the president of the Ontario Architects' Association, Mr. Edmund Burke. The author went fully into the practical bearing of the present building by-laws and the underwriters' requirements with respect to building construction. He urged on fire insurance managers a rigid adherence to the schedule rates and regulations as a policy which would result in a gradual improvement in the construction of ordinary buildings.

Mr. Burke believed the class of buildings should be largely governed by circumstances.

"The small, low, roughcast workman's house, so common a few years ago, was probably as safe a risk as the underwriters ever handled," he said. "Seldom has one been destroyed by fire, and it seems absolutely necessary to permit and encourage their erection in certain districts if the workingman earning a small wage is to have a house at a rent commensurate with his income. A brick house can scarcely be built at the present time at a cost low enough to meet these requirements and give the investor a reasonable return. It is a question if the ordinary cheap brick house is much safer than a good roughcast erection."

CONGESTED DISTRICTS.

But, in congested districts, with higher buildings, on the other hand, a much better type of construction should be required, "in fact, the standard can scarcely be placed too high. It should always be borne in mind that 'any number of buildings more than one, if exposed to each other, form a conflagration district.' Judging by the experiences of the late conflagration no building of greater height than four stories should be built of anything but fire-resisting materials. It is an augury of better building construction when the underwriters have wakened up to the necessity of establishing a very high standard of construction, with low minimum rates and a graded system of increases or fines for the degree of departure from such standard."

Indigestion and Headache

Mr. Duncan McPherson, Content, Alta., writes:—"I was for many years troubled with indigestion and headache, and derived no relief from the many remedies I used. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after taking four boxes, the result is that I am once more in the full enjoyment of the blessings of good health."

BETHANY TABERNACLE

Evangelist Buchanan Preached Two Eloquent Sermons.

A large congregation greeted Evangelist David Buchanan, of South America, at Bethany Tabernacle at both morning and evening services yesterday.

At the evening service Mr. Buchanan preached from the text, "For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth," Romans 1: 16. He said that the Gospel was the power that comes from God, a vitalising, energising power, and one that comes through faith. To his mind it consisted of four revelations of Jesus Christ, as chronicled in the Book of Books.

The first of these was that of Christ dying on the cross as a substitute for us, and to wash away our sins. It was glorious to think that Jesus had been crucified to redeem us.

The second was that of Christ sitting on the right hand of God and acting as our advocate before the Lord. His hearers might rest confident that Christ would intercede for them.

The third was that of Christ in our hearts. The feeling that we have the Holy Spirit within us makes the world seem easier to us and gives us rest and peace.

But there were times when sorrow settled down upon the most Christian homes and loved ones were taken away by the hand of death. Then the fourth revelation came, that of Christ in His second coming. Redemption came with the coming of God, and we shall be gathered up on high to see our loved ones once more.

—The proceedings at the annual convention of the Fairs and Exhibitions Associations, which will be held held in Toronto, February, 14 to 16, promise to be quite interesting in view of the number of important subjects which will come up for discussion. They will discuss the advisability of separating the horticultural from the agricultural societies, and whether the number of agricultural societies should be reduced. The right of societies that permit games of chance at their exhibitions to receive Government aid will be questioned.

—The snowfall in the eastern part of Canada, at any rate, has been heavier this winter than during the corresponding period of last year. Grand Trunk Railway officials at Montreal yesterday received the records taken by Prof. McLeod, of McGill University in that city, showing that from November 1 to January 31 86.5 inches of snow had fallen, compared to 82.4 inches from November 1 to January 31 last winter. The depth of snow on the level on January 31 last was 31 inches, in contrast to 28.5 inches on the same day of 1904. As February and March usually bring heavy snowfalls, all of last winter's records in this respect are likely to be broken.

—Mr. Charles E. Hand, of Toronto, writes as follows to the Fenelon Falls Gazette:—The Victoria County Old Boys have held a couple of meetings of late, which, however, were not considered up to the standard for Victoria, and the election of officers has been deferred until the next meeting, which will be held on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 9th, and not on Feb. 2nd, as announced at last meeting. Mr. J. M. Moffatt took the chair at the last meeting, in the absence of the president, and it would be well to put him there for "keeps," unless Mr. Sherwood can pilot us for another year. Mr. Wm. M. Geoffrey acted as secretary, our old reliable "sec.," Mr. T. R. Kennedy having gone to Peterborough to engage in business, where, the society learns with joy, he is prospering well.

Hughes-Charles, president of the Board of Trade and will then proceed to Montreal where he will interview the representatives of the railway companies in the hope of being able to secure a "split rate" on cereals, so that the mill here may be able to resume full blast.

THEY MUST HAVE BETTER OFFER

New Cereal Company Not Satisfied With Conditions.

WILL INTERVIEW COUNCIL

Propose to Spend $125,000 in Buildings and Machinery—Only Give Site and Fixed Assessment on $10,000 for Ten Years.

One of the many matters which is likely to come before the Council tonight is the proposition made by representatives of a new cereal company desirous of locating here, providing suitable inducements are rendered available. Mr. Wesley Collier, on behalf of Detroit capitalists, has made application for a site immediately east of the new Meldrum mill on Simcoe-st. This would necessitate the use of a water lot, which does not seem to have any great value at the present time, and would require a considerable outlay in order to improve it. It is understood that the council is prepared to give one lot as a site, together with a fixed assessment of $10,000 for ten years on the concern. Should the Company fail to carry out their agreement with their own they would have to pay over $1,000 for the lot. The representatives of the Company contend that the lot is hardly worth more than $200, and further state that it is the intention to spend about $125,000 in buildings and machinery. They express the opinion that the inducements offered are not sufficient, and it is understood that they will appear before the Council this evening with regard to the matter.

PAMPHELON AGAIN

SOME ASPECTS OF HIGHER CRITICISM

Rev. Dr. Crothers' Paper Before Ministerial Association.

AN INTERESTING DISCUSSION

Visitors to Nicholls Hospital – The Members Also Discussed Ministerial Etiquette – Those Who Were Present This Morning

A regular meeting of the Ministerial Association was held this morning at the Y.M.C.A. The were present Revs. J. C. Davidson, President; Dr. Crothers, W. J. Jolliffe, J. G. Lewis, A. H Brace, W. Major, Dr. Torrance, and E. A. Langfeldt.

A lengthy and interesting discussion was participated in regarding the importance of school visitation, and arrangements made for re-arranging the plan madeto fill an existing vacancy.

HOSPITAL WORK

The following members visit Nicholls Hospital this month—Revs. Dr. Torrance, W. J. Jolliffe, Dr. Crothers and E. A. Langfeldt.

HIGHER CRITICISM.

Rev. Dr. Crothers read a paper on "Some Aspects of Higher Criticism." The paper was most scholarly and evinced wide reading and went to show that higher criticism has a place in Biblical interpretation, and has already done a great work in removing difficulties and gaving a clearer and more intelligent view of the Bible as a whole.

A vote of thanks, moved by Rev. E. A Langfeldt and seconded by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, was tendered Dr. Crothers for his able paper.

A most interesting and friendly discussion then took place on ministerial etiquette.

TWO IMPORTANT CASES.

Plaintiff Being Heard in Bogue vs. Cereal Co.—Hydraulic Co. vs. J. T. O'Connell.

The case, Bogue vs. American Cereal Company, which has been before the Courts since the spring of 1904, has occupied the attention of Judge Weller, as Master of the Supreme Court, for the greater part of the last two weeks and has now been adjourned for the taking of other evidence. The witnesses examined at the recent sittings were Mr. G. M. Miller, architect, of Toronto; Mr. Edmund Burke, president of the Ontario Association of Architects and Mr. Andrew Craig, Superintendent of the Longford quarries. All of these witnesses were examined on behalf of the American Cereal Company. The case has now been closed for the Company and the plaintiff will bring in evidence in reply. The counsel present were Messrs George H. Watson, K.C. and L. M. Hayes for the plaintiff, and Messrs. R. M. Dennistoun and F. D. Kerr for the defendants.

The case of Peterborough Hydraulic Power Co. against J. T. O'Connell, is being tried to-day. This involves an assessment of damages to the lands of the plaintiff, which are situated on Smith-st., by reason of the raising of the water of the River Otonabee for the Company's new dam. A number of experts were examined. R. M. Dennistoun appeared for the Peterborough Hydraulic Company and W. H. Moore for J. T. O'Connell.

THE B.A.C. BANQUET.

Mr. E. M. Best Elevated to the Position of President.

That organization of heart-breakers, the B.A.C., held its annual banquet in Long's Palm Gardens about 11 o'clock Saturday evening, with M. J. Hutchinson, the retiring President, in the chair. After doing all the damage possible to the oysters served in splendid style by Mr. Long, Mr. E. M. Best read the report of the Secretary-Treasurer. Before being adopted this will be submitted to the members of the Board of Audit, which it was thought necessary to appoint, under the circumstances. Mr. E. M. Best was elevated to the position of President, Mr. R. N. Jolliffe, Chaplain, and Mr. Wallace Wood, Secretary-Treasurer. It was decided to divide the position of of President and Official Liar, which had been so successfully united last year, and create two offices. Last year's official declined to have anything to do with the responsibility which hovers over the prevaricator's head from one year's end to the other, and it was decided to leave this question in the hands of the Committee of the Whole, each member to do his share in carrying out the policy of the club with regard to the duties of the particular position. When several new members had been suggested, the chaplain closed the meeting in the usual way.

There was a good increase in the attendance at the Men's Meeting in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday, when Rev. Dr. Crothers delivered a most practical talk on the "Inspiration of Ideals."

MONDAY, FEB. 6, 1905.

Quieting a "Green" Horse.

The sight of a big draft horse with its head entirely wrapped in a rubber coat attracted the attention of hundreds of persons in the neighborhood of Twelfth and Market streets a few days ago. Many stopped in wonder, and not a few inquired from the driver the reason for this unusual proceeding.

He was an obliging young fellow and was industriously hauling up ashes from a cellar beneath the pavement and dumping them into the wagon to which the horse with the coat on its head and a meek looking gray were hitched.

"Well, you see," said the driver, "this is the first day in the city for that young horse. He is just in from the west, and the strange sights and sounds make him very nervous. When I stopped here he was pulling and hauling, so I just put my coat over his head. Now he is afraid to start either way."

It seemed to be a good idea, for the powerful animal, although trembling and ill at ease, stood still and gave the driver no trouble whatever, and the latter did not even hitch his team.

It was an illustration of how much good the exercise of a little judgment and forethought will do.

What the Fingers Tell.

Pointed fingers are said to indicate a love of luxury, combined in many cases with a tendency to idleness. Here may be seen the influence of heredity. Ancestors of the past in easy circumstances had no need to work. They had hard places smoothed for them, and servants did the laborious tasks. So their skin remained fine and their muscles unstretched and their finger tips in fair shape. They bequeathed the sign of ease, rest, affluence, to their posterity. Tramps of the genius "Weary Willie" often have this sign of pointed fingers. Money did not descend with the luxurious instinct. Workers bequeathed square, flat tips to posterity and with them stores of energy. Square fingers on a well proportioned hand show much ability to reason and to plan and to carry out plans. The owner of the pointed fingers may reason equally well, but is likely to lack executive ability.

They Are Everywhere.

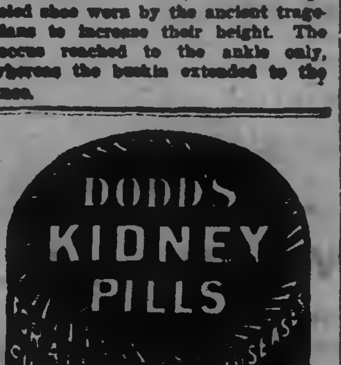
"While I am not what you would call a widely traveled man," observed the deacon, "I have noted that every town has its liar, its sponger, its smart Alec, its blatherskite, its richest man, a few pretty girls, its weather prophet, its neighborhood feud, a considerable number of lunatics, its woman who tattles, its justice of the peace, its man who knows it all, its boy who carries on in church, its meddlesome old women, its widower who is too gay for his age, its preacher who thinks he ought to run the town, its girl who goes to the postoffice every time the mail comes in, its legion of bright men who know how the editor should run his paper, its woman who thinks she could cut a dash in society and its man who laughs at his own jokes."

The Power of Eloquence.

Speaking about church revivals and the inspired orators that move people to tears and repentance with their eloquence, a lawyer said: "I once listened to a passionate address on charity that one of these inspired orators made, and at the address' end an old lady with whom I was slightly acquainted turned and borrowed $5 from me to put in the poor collection. I let her have the money, and, as it turned out afterward, she forgot both to put it in the plate and to repay it."

Sock and Buskin.

The expression "Sock and buskin," which literally means comedy and tragedy, found its origin in the "soccus," the Latin name of the low shoe worn by the ancient comic actors, and the buskin, a contraction of the French word "brosmequin," remotely derived from the Greek "bursa," a hide or high soled shoe worn by the ancient tragedians to increase their height. The soccus reached to the ankle only, whereas the buskin extended to the knee.



BAKED BEANS.

How They Are Cooked For the Lumbermen in Maine.

Didst ever hear—oh, ye epicure—of the lumberman's baked beans, the delicatessen of the backwoods, the twenty-one times a week, stick to the ribs provender that floats in amber juices and that when mined in the morning from the bean hole emit such delicious odor as to make mouths water all along the border? The cook and the cookee join drives in building up this monument to high art in culinary. The woods cook usually bakes a tin washboiler nearly full of beans, first parboiling them before he gets them ready for the pot. Then he peels an onion and slices it into the bottom of the pot. Then he pours in half the beans; then slices over them another onion; then puts in the chunks of salt fat pork; then douses in the rest of the beans. Over all this he pours a pint of molasses and then more pork. Just enough water is added to cover the beans, and then a sheet of birch bark is placed over the top of the pot and the cover pounded in tight. When the water begins to steam the bark swells and seals the pot, holding in all the flavor. The cookee (there's all the difference in the world between the cook and the cookee) builds the fire in the bean hole. When the birch wood has heated the stones that line the hole and has itself burned to redhot coals most of the coals are taken out and the beans are put in. The beans are placed in the hole in the afternoon. They stay there all night. In the morning they are dug out. All other baked beans are libels on the name, for these have the sauce of the pine and the spruce.

AMERICAN COLLEGES.

They Are Unique Among Institutions of Learning.

The American college is in every way unique. It may be defined in a word as a school for imparting more general and advanced instruction than can be obtained in the various academies and private schools. The university, however, more particularly comprises a number of technical schools, imparting instruction in all departments of knowledge, including classical literature, the arts and sciences, as biology, medicine, surgery, law, theology, mechanics and so on. The issue as to which is the most desirable, the most useful, has been discussed at educational congresses, in the public press and notably in the leading reviews. There has been evident in these discussions a tendency to look upon the college as a kind of inferior school which must be given its place only when there is not enough money to establish the more expensive university. On the other hand, the college has not wanted its stout champions, in whose view the American college, with its concentrated curriculum, the closeness of touch between pupil and professor, is not only an institution that is to be conserved, but is one that often, if not always, offers a better kind of education than is available in the university.

How to Read.

Reading is not a lost art to the same degree that conversation is, but it has in most cases an arrested development through so much reading that makes no demand upon aesthetic sensibility, so that one is apt to bring to a fine story full of delicate shades of thought and feeling the same mind which he yields to a newspaper, putting a blunt interrogation as to its meaning as conveyed in the terms of a rational proposition, and the writer's charm is wholly lost upon him. While the reader's surrender to the author must be complete, his attitude should not be passive, but that of active responsiveness and partnership.—H. M. Alden in Harper's Magazine.

First Love.

It is a popular fallacy that the first love is the true one, unique in its excellence, says an exchange. As well say that the first picture of a painter is the best of all he will paint in the course of his life; that the first speech, the first book, the first statue, the first composition, will be the best of the statesman, novelist, sculptor or musician, as the case may be. First works have all the imperfections of uncertainty, of inexperience and ignorance. And it is rather by chance than by anything inherent in the nature of Cupid's ways that the first love turns out to be the great one.

Girls in Guatemala.

None of the maidens in Guatemala are allowed to go abroad from their homes without the company of a chaperon, and a lover is only allowed to come and court his sweetheart through the heavily barred windows of her father's house. After they are married they pass along the streets in Indian file, the women marching ahead, so that the husband can be in a position to prevent any flirtations.

Perfectly Correct.

The deacon was hard to convince.

"No," declared he, "I'll have no such contraption in my house. Pianners are things of evil."

"Oh, but, pa," protested his lovely daughter, "this is an upright piano!"

There Are Some Funny Ones.

"Tell me," said the editor's friend, "who are the most humorous writers you have ever met?"

"Most of those who think they are serious writers," replied the editor.

The flattery of one's friends is required as a dram to keep up one's spirits against the injustice of one's enemies.—Bulwer.

CHAPTER I.

SHE did not put the sacramental phrase on her cards, as no invitations were sent out. These were delivered verbally by boarders desirous of seeing their friends present on Friday evening.

It was really a scratch party of nobodies, and they assembled as usual in the drawing room on this especial evening to play and not to work. Mrs. Taine laid aside her eternal knitting; Miss Bull dispensed with her game of "patience;" Mr. Granger sang his one song of the early Victorian epoch—sometimes twice when singers were scarce—and Mr. Harmer wore his antiquated dress suit. In her black silk gown, her lace cap and "the diamonds" Mrs. Jersey looked—so they assured her—quite the lady.

Was she a lady? No one ever asked that leading question, as it would have provoked an untruth or a most unpleasant reply. She admitted in expansive moments to having seen "better days," but what her actual past had been—and from her looks she had one—none ever discovered.

Few friends presented themselves on this particular Friday evening, for it was extremely foggy, and none of them could afford a cab. Even those who patronized the nearest bus line had some distance to walk before they knocked at the Jersey door, and thus ran a chance of losing their way. Either in light or darkness the house was hard to find, for it occupied the corner of a particularly private square far removed from the Oxford street traffic.

It was quite an asylum for old age. None of the guests was under fifty, save a newcomer who had arrived the previous week, and they wondered why he came among them. He was young, though plain looking, and he was fashionably dressed, though stout. This was the first time he had been present at madame's reception, and he was explaining his reasons for coming to Bloomsbury. Mrs. Jersey introduced him as "Leonard Train, the distinguished novelist," although he had published only one book at his own cost, and even that production was unknown to the boarders.

"Fashionable novelists," said he in a still, small voice which contrasted curiously with his massive proportions, "have overdone the business of society and epigrams. We must revert to the Dickens style. I have therefore taken up my residence here for a brief period to study old world types." Here he looked around with a beaming smile. "I am glad to find so rich a field to glean."

This doubtful compliment provoked weak smiles. The boarders did not wish to be rude, but they felt it was impossible to approve of the young man. Not being sufficiently modern to court notoriety, one and all disliked the idea of being "put in a book." Mrs. Taine, conscious of her weak grammar, looked uneasily at Miss Bull, who smiled grimly and then glared at Train. Granger drew himself up and pulled his gray mustache—he was the buck of the establishment—and Harmer nodded, saying, "Well, well!" his usual remark when he did not understand what was going on. Only Mrs. Jersey spoke. Train had taken a sitting room as well as a bedroom, therefore he must be rich, and as he had not haggled over terms it was necessary that he should be flattered. Mrs. Jersey saw a chance of making money out of him.

"How delightful," she said in her motherly manner. "I hope you will say nice things about us, Mr. Train."

"I shall tell the truth, madame. The truth does not flatter."

Mrs. Jersey became still more motherly and paid a compliment. "That depends, Mr. Train. If the truth were spoken about you, for instance."

It was really a very nice compliment, but Miss Bull, with malice aforethought, spoiled it in the utterance by laughing pointedly. Train, who had already set his face for a smile, grew red, and madame darted a look at Miss Bull quite out of keeping with her motherly manner. More than this, she spoke her mind. "I hope, Mr. Train, that you will speak the whole truth of some of us."

Miss Bull shrugged her thin shoulders and in direct contradiction to the traditions of the evening produced her pack of cards. To abstain on Friday evenings always annoyed her, and since madame had been rude Miss Bull seized the opportunity to show her indifference and enjoy by doing so her favorite pastime. She was a small, thin, dry old maid, with a pallid face and bright black eyes. Her mouth was hard and smiled treacherously. No one liked her save Margery, the niece of Mrs. Jersey. But Margery was supposed to be queer, so her approval of Miss Bull mattered little.

"Perhaps Mr. Granger will oblige us with a song," suggested madame, smoothing her face, but still inwardly furious.

Mr. Granger, who had been waiting for this moment, was only too happy. He knew but one song and had sung it dozens of times in that very room. It was natural to suppose that he knew it by heart. All the same he produced his music and read the words as he sang. Margery played his accompaniment without looking at the notes. She was as familiar with them as she was with the moment when Mr. Granger's voice would crack. This night he cracked as usual, apologized as usual, and his hearers accepted the apology as usual, so it was all very pleasant.

"If Mrs. Taine will play us the 'Canary Bird Quadrilles,'" Mrs. Jersey hastily intervened, "how pleased we shall be."

Mrs. Taine obliged, and madame, under cover of the music, talked with Train.

"You mustn't mind the guests," she said; "they are old and require to be humored."

"It's most amusing, madame. I shall stop here three weeks to pick up types."

"Oh, you must stay longer than that," said madame, smiling and patting his hand, still in a motherly way. "Now that you have found us out, we cannot lose you. By the way"—here Mrs. Jersey's eyes became very searching—"how did you find us out?"

"It was a friend of mine, madame. He knew that I wanted to get into the Dickens world and suggested this house."

"Do I know the gentleman?" asked madame, who seemed anxious.

"I don't think so. But he is coming to see me tonight."

"You must ask him in here and introduce him. I should like to thank him for having recommended my house."

"We were going to have a conversation in my room," said Train dubiously. "He's such a shy fellow that I don't think he'll come in."

"Oh, but he must. I love young people. Will your friend remain overnight?"

"He will if he comes at all," replied Leonard, looking at his watch; "but if the fog is very thick I don't know if he'll turn up. It is now 9 o'clock."

"We usually disperse at 11," said madame, "but on this night I must break up at 10, as I have"—she hesitated—"I have business to do."

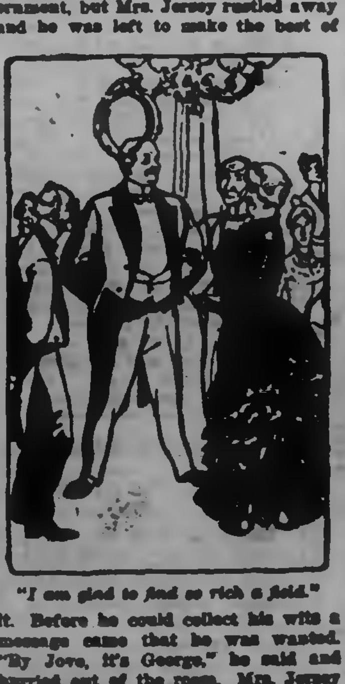
"I won't trouble you, madame," said Train. "My friend and I can have supper in my room."

"That's just it," said madame, and her voice became rather hard. "I beg, Mr. Train, that you and your friend will not sit up late."

"Why not? We both wish to smoke and talk."

"You can do that in the daytime, Mr. Train. But my house is most respectable, and I hope you will be in bed before 11."

Leonard would have protested, as he objected to this sort of maternal government, but Mrs. Jersey rustled away and he was left to make the best of it. Before he could collect his wits a message came that he was wanted. "By Jove, it's George," he said and hurried out of the room. Mrs. Jersey overheard the name.



"I am glad to find so rich a field."

"I suppose his friend is called George," she thought, and frowned. Her recollections of that name were not pleasant. However, she thought no more about the matter, but sailed across to Miss Bull. "The music doesn't please you, Miss Bull," she said in rather an acid tone.

"It's very nice," replied the old maid, dealing the cards, "but I have heard it before."

"You may not have the chance of hearing it again," said madame.

"It's a world of change," replied Miss Bull in her sharp voice. "Margery, was that a heart?"

Margery pointed a fat finger to the card in question, and Miss Bull muttered something about her eyesight getting worse. Madame knew that this was just done to annoy her, as Miss Bull's sight was excellent. To revenge herself she took Margery away. "Go and tell the servants to send up the negus and sandwiches," she said sharply.

Margery rose heavily. She was a huge girl twenty years of age and apparently very stupid. Why sharp little Miss Bull, who loved no one, had taken to her no one knew, but the two were inseparable. Seeing this, madame usually kept Margery hard at work in other quarters so as to part her from the old maid. But with the cunning of an animal—and Margery was very much of that type—the girl managed to see a great deal of her one friend. Madame had an idea of the reason for this, but at the present moment did not think it necessary to interfere. She was quite capable of crushing Miss Bull when the need arose. Meantime she vented her temper by sending Margery away. The girl departed with a scowl and an angry look at her aunt, but Miss Bull never raised her eyes, though she was well aware of what was going on.

Madame was not to be beaten. "I tell you what, dear Miss Bull," she said, smiling graciously, "since you have broken through our rule and have produced the cards, you shall tell all our fortunes."

"Yours?" asked Miss Bull, looking up for the first time.

Madame shook her head. "I know mine. Tell Mr. Granger's."

"I am at Miss Bull's service," said the polite old gentleman, bowing.

To be continued.

HAD TO HIDE IT

A mother wrote us recently that she had to keep Scott's Emulsion under lock and key—her children used to drink it whenever her back was turned. Strange that children should like something that is so good for them. It's usually the other way. Scott's Emulsion makes children comfortable, makes them fat and rosy-cheeked. Perhaps that's why they like it so much—they know it makes them feel good.

KUROPATKIN RESIGNS

Gen. Gripenberg Recalled From His Command in Far East.

Reports Say That the Russian Campaign Has Collapsed, and St. Petersburg Advices, While Not Confirming the Kuropatkin Rumor, Admit That Operations of the Russian Army Are At a Standstill in Manchuria.

London, Feb. 6.—Gen. Kuropatkin, commander of the Russian forces in the Far East, has tendered his resignation to the Emperor, and Gen. Gripenberg has been recalled from his command of the second Manchurian army.

Despatches say that Gen. Kuropatkin resigned because his relations with his generals were unpleasant. Another source of Gen. Kuropatkin's woes has been his fear of betrayal by the Polish troops, of which his army has a large percentage

With the resignation of General Kuropatkin, European military experts believe that the Russian Manchurian campaign has collapsed. Dissatisfaction prevails among the soldiers owing to the treatment of their brothers at home and the officers, discouraged with a long string of defeats, have begun to quarrel among themselves.

The transportation of troops to the Far East is now made at long intervals.

Unconfirmed At St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—According to Gen. Kuropatkin's latest reports, which indicate the wounding of a third Russian general, Dembowski, the operations at Sandiapu and the fighting at Shakhe have been momentarily suspended.

The Russians successfully repulsed the latest attack of the Japanese eastward with heavy loss. The cold is still intense, there being 24 degrees of frost.

There are indications that the Japanese are preparing to break their inactivity on their own account as soon as the weather moderates.

The War Office is closed and no further facts regarding the reports that Gen. Kuropatkin is about to give up his command can be obtained.

Interest in the ill-starred attempt to capture Sandepas is eclipsed by the withdrawal of Gen. Gripenberg and unconfirmed reports regarding the retirement of Gen. Kuropatkin. According to the latest information received by the War Office, operations on the right flank of the Russian army are at a standstill. The extreme right of the Russians continues to hold Chiantsanhenan, on the Hun River, six miles northwest of Sandepas.

Russia Ready to Yield.

London, Feb. 6.—The announcement of Germany's desire to initiate a peace movement can now be supplemented with important information regarding the attitude of both Russia and France. The statement may be made without qualification that Russia will welcome peace the moment she is able to place one signal success to the credit of her arms. France will offer her services to this end whenever such an opportunity arises. Hence imperative instructions were sent to Gen. Kuropatkin to attempt to snatch a victory in a general or partial engagement at any cost.

All Night Artillery Fight.

Mukden, Feb. 6.—During the night of Feb. 1 the Japanese artillery facing the Russian right opened a terrific fire on the Russian positions southeast of Sandiapu in preparation for an attack. The Russian artillery replied, and the cannonading lasted until after noon. During the night of Feb. 2 the Japanese attacked the Village of Schantan and adjoining Russian positions; but by daylight of Feb. 3 they had been defeated along the entire front. The Russians even advanced slightly. The Russian losses were about 300, and those of the Japanese were heavy. Japanese prisoners believe than an important movement is pending.

Japs Retake Vantsee Pass.

Tsinkhetchen, Manchuria, Feb. 6.—A reconnoissance in force was undertaken Feb. 1 by the Russian advanced posts towards Dziantchan, 14 miles southeast of Tsinkehtchen. The troops started at early morning and by noon drove in the Japanese outposts to Santziacha, then moving round Vantsee Pass, the Russians flanked the position of the Japanese east and compelled the Japanese to fall back to Chapten Pass. The Russians stormed and occupied a portion of Vantsee Pass at 10.30 p.m., but the Japanese being reinforced by 6,000 men, the position of the Russians was untenable. Having carried out the mission of feeling the enemy's strength, the Russians then withdrew, fighting, capturing a few Japanese. The Russian loss was nine wounded.

Attack of Russians Repulsed.

Tokio, Feb. 6.—There were a number of serious skirmishes along the Shakhe and Hun Rivers on Friday night and small bodies of Russians attacked Waike and Titi Mountains and places in those vicinities. Reports received from Japanese Manchuria headquarters say that all the attacks were repulsed.

Friday afternoon Russian batteries stationed at Minchientun and Wanpao Mountain, north of the Shakhe River, and at other places shelled the Japanese positions. Saturday morning 600 cavalry, comprising one force, and two companies of infantry and one battery, another, simultaneously attacked Chitaitse, on the right bank of the Hun River. The Russians appeared to have reserves. The Japanese garrison at Chitaitse was defending the place when the report of the attack was forwarded.

Repulse of Japanese.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 6.—General Kuropatkin, in a report to Emperor Nicholas, says:

"No fighting was reported on Feb. 4. At present activity is confined to operations by our volunteers, which harrass the enemy. There is artillery firing on both sides, and a hasty strengthening of positions by both Russians and Japanese."

General Kuropatkin on Friday reported the repulse of the Japanese advance guard on the left flank towards Saosyr and Chansan with slight losses, the Japanese leaving 50 dead on the field.

BENZINE'S WORK.

Bottle Explodes and Two Are Burned—Baby's Escape From Cremation.

London, Feb. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Falls of 382 Burwell street were dressing for the military ball Friday evening, and the two-year-old baby was left in the cradle in the bedroom. Cries of the child were heard and Mr. Falls hurried to find the clothes which covered the little one in flames. He snatched the baby from the cradle, and, opening the window, tossed the burning coverlets into the yard. In doing so, his hands were badly burned. The origin of the blaze is a mystery.

An unfortunate accident happened to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Millman of 24 Grosvenor street, who were also preparing to go to the military ball. Mrs. Millman was removing a slight stain from one of her gloves when a small bottle of benzine ignited from a lighted lamp and exploded, her dress catching fire. Mr. Millman, with the aid of coats and wraps, extinguished the flames. Mrs. Millman was, however, severely burned on the right side, and on the hands, while his hands were badly burned.

A second attempt to commit suicide was made by James Ryan yesterday morning. He secured a razor and slashed his throat, but the jugular vein was not injured.

Herbert Franks, who fell from Byron Bridge Friday afternoon to the river bed, a distance of 30 feet, sustained fractures of both arms and one leg, one rib also being broken. Franks was working on the superstructure and lost his hold.

Girl Burned to Death.

Pictou, N.S., Feb. 6.—Mary McEachern, a servant, was burned to death and several other persons injured in a fire that destroyed the Revere Hotel early yesterday. There were twenty guests besides the proprietor, his family and the servants in the house when the fire was discovered. The exits were cut off by the flames, and all, with the exception of Miss McEachern, jumped from second or third storey windows. The servant's body was found in the ruins near her chamber window, from which she evidently had tried to escape.

Horses Ran Over Him.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—William, only son of W. H. B. Medd, Willowdale, aged 7 years, died on Saturday as the result of an accident. Mr. Medd has about 50 horses on his farm. On Friday evening when his men were driving them into their stalls, after exercise, they ran over little Willie, who, in some unexplained way, got among them. He was kicked in the head and never regained consciousness.

Traveler Is Asphyxiated.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—Shortly before noon yesterday employes of the Savoy Hotel, kept by Charles Rogers, at 60 York street, noticed a strong smell of gas coming from one of the bedrooms. The door was forced open and the occupant, Robert B. Hemstreet, was found dead. Deceased had been a guest of the hotel for two days. He had a friend to supper with him Saturday evening, and retired about 11 o'clock. The gas jet was about one quarter turned on. Hemstreet was about 50 years of age, and lived in Otterville, where his family reside. He was a commercial traveler. He completed arrangements Saturday to enter the employ of the Dairy Supply Co. His duties were to commence to-day. Letters in his possession showed that he had been in poor health, and that he was worried over other matters. An inquest is not considered necessary.

Shot Himself With Revolver.

Montreal, Feb. 6.—Edward C. Eaton, manager of the hardware firm of Frothingham & Workman, while practicing on Saturday evening in the Revolver Club, Victoria Armory, was accidentally shot, the bullet penetrating his left lung and lodging in the left shoulder. His condition is serious.

Rear-End Collision.

London, Feb 6.—No. 3 Wabash express, westbound, plunged into the rear-end of a freight train at Lawrence Station yesterday at one o'clock, compelling, on account of the track being blocked, the eastbound express, No. 6, to run from Glencoe to Suspension Bridge over the Grand Trunk. The engineer of the express engine was the only person hurt. He is expected to recover. The passengers received nothing more serious than a severe shock.

Roderick Pringle Dead.

Toronto, Feb. 6.—In the death yesterday at the Queen's Hotel of Robert Roderick Pringle, the Canadian turf loses one of its oldest and best known devotees. Deceased who was in his 68th year, had his summer home in Cobourg, but spent the winter months at the Queen's. On Jan. 26 he became seriously ill with angina pectoris and passed away yesterday. The funeral takes place to Cobourg to-morrow morning. He was generally accorded first place among judges of thoroughbred horses in Canada, and his reputation extended all over the United States racing circuit.

Committed For Trial.

Windsor, Feb. 6.—Thomas Tomlinson, an Amherstburg grocer, as treasurer of the Amherstburg Steam Drillmen's Society, No. 604, had in his possession $499.97 when he was displaced. Tomlinson refused to give up the property, and he was charged with larceny and committed for trial. Bail was fixed at $800.

French General Strike.

Charleroi, Feb. 6.—The Miners' Congress, by a large majority, has decided to declare a general strike to-day.

Parent Wants Postponement.

Montreal, Feb. 6.—As soon as Premier Parent received the resignations of his three colleagues, he called a Cabinet Council and postponed the meeting of the House from Feb. 9 to March 22. So far this minute of Council has not received the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, and Hon. Mr. Gouin's friends believe that Sir Louis Jette will decline to grant the postponement. The anti-Parent Ministers declare that they have fifty members out of a House of seventy-four who will vote against any motion made by the present Premier.

Remove the Embargo.

London, Feb. 6.—The West Limerick Executive of the United Irish League foresees in the recent statement of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman the removal of the cattle embargo by the next Liberal Government. The executive views the removal as highly detrimental to the tenant farmers and urges them, when purchasing holdings, to pay no more than Ashbourne prices.

Liners Have Hard Time.

New York, Feb. 6.—Ice floes completely filled New York harbor yesterday, rendering the passage of vessels into and out of the port slow and difficult. In the Narrows the ice pack was so dense that even the powerful transatlantic liners had trouble in forcing a passage.

Revolution in Venezuela.

Willemstad, Curacoa, Feb. 6.—There is good reason here to believe that a revolution in Venezuela is contemplated. A revolutionary agent who has arrived at Willemstad from Colombia reports that money and arms for such an undertaking have already been secured.

Balfour's Notable Device.

London, Feb. 6.—(C.A.P.)—H. H. Asquith speaking at Heywood, described the proposed colonial conference as Premier Balfour's notable device for patching up his own party and postponing the decision of the country.

Marconi to Wed.

London, Feb. 6.—Signor Guglielmo Marconi's marriage to the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien is fixed for March 16 at St. George's Hanover Square.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA

A CURE FOR ALL.

Not a Patent Cure-all, For a Modern Miracle, But Simply a Rational Cure for Dyspepsia.

In these days of humbuggury and deception, the manufacturers of patent medicines, seem to think their medicines will not sell unless they claim that it will cure every disease under the sun. And they never think out dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They are sure to claim that their nostrum is absolutely sure to cure every dyspeptic, and he need look no further.

In the face of these absurd claims it is refreshing to note that the proprietors of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have carefully refrained from making any undue claims or false representations regarding the merits of this most excellent remedy for dyspepsia and stomach troubles. They make but one claim for it, and that is, that for indigestion and various stomach troubles Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a radical cure. They go no farther than this, and any man or woman suffering from indigestion, chronic or nervous dyspepsia, who will give the remedy a trial will find that nothing is claimed for it that the facts will not fully sustain.

It is a modern discovery, composed of harmless vegetable ingredients acceptable to the weakest or most delicate stomach. Its great success in curing stomach troubles is due to the fact that the medicinal properties are such that it will digest whatever wholesome food is taken into the stomach, no matter whether the stomach is in good working order or not. It rests the overworked organ and replenishes the body, the blood, the nerves, creating a healthy appetite, giving refreshing sleep and the blessings which always accompany a good digestion and proper assimilation of food.

In using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets no dieting is required. Simply eat plenty of wholesome food and take these Tablets at each meal, thus assisting and resting the stomach, which rapidly regains its proper digestive power, when the Tablets will be no longer required.

Nervous Dyspepsia is simply a condition in which some portion or portions of the nervous system are not properly nourished. Good digestion invigorates the nervous system and every organ in the body.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package.

U.S. Drawback Goes

Washington, Feb. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has announced that manufacturers of flour from imported wheat, mixed with domestic wheat, will be allowed a drawback under the opinion of the Attorney-General, dated Jan. 24, 1905, on several conditions, the most important of which is that a complete and detailed record must be kept, showing the quantity of wheat imported, the date of manufacture and the amounts of imported and domestic wheat used in the manufacture of such grade and brand of flour.

Tomato Trouble Goes On.

St. Catharines, Feb. 6.—The difficulty between the Amalgamated Canners' Association and the tomato and fruit growers over the price to be paid for tomatoes and corn for the coming season seems as far from settlement as ever. The price hitherto paid for tomatoes has been 25c per bushel. This season the growers have decided not to sign contracts at less than 30c.

Seven to One

That is about the ratio. About seven times as many persons are injured as die from all causes yearly.

Accidents are a more prolific cause of death than any disease except lung diseases.

Twice as many people are accidently killed as die of old age. Does it not seem reasonable to you as a business man that it would be to your interest to carry an accident policy?

YOU are subject to over two hundred diseases, and liable to accidents without number.

Official figures prove that One Man in Five carrying an Accident and Sickness Policy makes a claim for indemnity each year.

YOU have no guarantee that you will not be the One Man who will be disabled this year.

BLOOD POISON.

On account of its terrible effects, blood disease is called the king of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted; so while it may not be a crime to have the disease, it is a crime to permit it to remain in the system. It may manifest itself in the form of Scrofula, Eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, itchiness of the skin, eruptions or blotches, ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, falling out of hair, disordered stomach, and a general depression of the system. If you have any of these symptoms don't neglect yourself. You have no time to lose. Beware of "old fogy" treatment—beware of mineral poison—beware of Quacks and Fakirs. OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT is guaranteed to cure this disease, never to return. Bank Bonds will protect you. Our treatment is not injurious in any way, but reaches the very root of the disease and eliminates all poison from the system. The symptoms of disease gradually disappear. The blood becomes pure and enriched, the whole system is cleansed and purified, and the patient feels prepared anew for the duties and the pleasures of life. HOCKEY GOSSIP.

What the Puck Chasers Are Doing, or Are Going to Do.

The Pill Pounders accept the challenge of their old rivals, the Pig Iron Tigers, game to be played whenever convenient to both teams.

Seniors for Smith's Falls.

The seniors left this morning for Smith's Falls, where they will meet the intermediate team of that place in the first round of the semi-finals. They are in the best of shape and expect a victory over the Easterners. The team will be as follows—

Goal—Wasson.
Point—Glover.
Coverpoint—Crowley.
Rover—Cavanah.
Centre—Morgan.
Right wing—Parnell.

Not to Play Here.

The game between Port Hope and Belleville has been awarded to the latter, thus leaving Belleville and Cobourg tied for the district. It was arranged on Saturday to have the game played here on Tuesday night, but word was received here this morning stating that the teams had arranged home and home games, and thus the game here is off.

Thursday's Game.

The game on Thursday between Smith's Falls' intermediates and the locals should be an interesting exhibition. As goals count on the round, this game will decide which team moves on another step towards the coveted championship.

The City League Race.

The contest for the City League championship promises to be an exciting one and the public will probably be given some lightning hockey before it is over. The Farriers and Karnots have qualified for the finals and the rivalry between the two is intense. The T.A.S. and Colonials still have a chance and the next game between the two decides which team is to struggle with the Farriers and Karnots for the Examiner lockets. The T.A.S. have nearly their whole Trent Valley team in the City League and many fancy them for the championship, despite their two defeats early in the season.

Lindsay Knocking.

The Lindsay seniors will have to get going if they intend to attract a crowd at their games. Nobody will patronize a losing team.—Lindsay Post.

One For Lindsay.

The following letter has been received at the Review office:

To the Sporting Editor of the Review:

Dear Sir,—During the past few weeks the disgruntled sports of Lindsay, headed by the verdant young sporting editor of the Post, have paid their attentions to Billy Crowley in a marked degree, and in order to show that there is no motive for their madness and that there is little or no sincerity in their diatribes of abuse, I wish to illustrate this fact.

Last May an official of the Lindsay lacrosse club, while in town, made overtures to Mr. Wm. Crowley and another local player, offering them $15 a game if they would throw in their lot with the Scugog twelve. Crowley was their ideal in lacrosse, if they had secured him. Being a little too fast for their hockey septette, they introduce the baby act. Were he playing in Scugogville he would be the uncrowned king of that sleepy burg.

Yours etc.,
EX-LINDSAYITE

City League Executive.

An important meeting of the City League executive is called for to-morrow evening in the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 o'clock. Business of importance is to be transacted.

Three Games to Play.

Three games are still to be played in the first round of the City League. The Earl Greys have to meet the Verniers, the Karnots go up against the Earl Greys and the Colonials and T.A.S. come together. The last game only has any effect upon the standing. The next games will be played on Thursday, Feb. 16th. This week's games are off on account of the Peterborough-Smith's Falls game.

Fenelon at Lindsay.

Fenelon Falls is playing an exhibition game with Lindsay seniors tonight in Lindsay. It wouldn't surprise us very much to see the boys from the Cataract town walk off with the game.

L. C. I. Leading.

The Lindsay Collegiate Institute team is leading in the Lindsay Town League with a record of four victories and no defeats. O. H. A. players are allowed to figure in this league.

Riversides to meet 'Caygeon.

The Riverside hockey team will play a game in Bobcaygeon on Saturday night with the Trent Valley team of that place. The team had an enjoyable trip to Little Bob last winter and expect to have a good time on this occasion.

Returns at the Rink.

The Brock-st. Rink Co. have made arrangements to receive the reports of to-night's game in Smith's Falls at the rink. As each goal is scored the news will be bulletined and everyone will be able to follow the game. Doubtless a large number of people will avail themselves of this invitation. The ice will be in good condition for skating.

Fast Junior Game.

The Maple Leafs and Rough Riders played a pretty stiff hockey match on All Saints' rink Saturday afternoon. The score was a tie, three all. At the end of the first half the Rough Riders led by 3—0, but in the second half the Maple Leafs played them off their feet. The teams were—

	Rough Riders	Maple Leafs
Goal	Holland	Killenbeck
Point.	V. Clancy	E White
Coverpoint.	Gorman	V Corkery
Rover.	L. Giroux	J. Guerin
Centre.	O'Shea	H Demautel
Right wing	C. Conroy	V. Lewis
Left Wing	V. Hayes	B Heenan

P. Kemball made a very satisfactory referee.

Sub-committee to Decide.

The difficulty between Campbellford and T.A.S. as to the playing off the tie game between the two teams will be settled to-morrow night when the sub-committee will meet to arrange the matter. The sub-committee consists of the president, Mr. M. Welsh, of Bobcaygeon; the secretary Mr. E. S. Clarry and a member of the executive from a district not involved in the matter under consideration. In this case the third man will likely be Mr. Clarke Dennis, of Cobourg.

ELLIOTT WILL REFEREE.

"Chaucer" Elliott, of Kingston, doubtless the best and most popular of all the O.H.A. referees, will officiate at to-night's game between Peterborough and Smith's Falls.

EASY FOR WARKWORTH.

Warkworth defeated Campbellford team on Saturday by a score of 16 to 2.

PICTON WON A GAME.

Picton defeated a combination Deseronto and Napanee team on Friday by a score of 15 to 5.

PORT HOPE JUNIORS OUT.

The Port Hope team has been thrown out for playing Wilfrid McLean, who was shown at the O.H.A. meeting on Saturday to be too old to play junior hockey. The game of Jan. 17 between Belleville and Port Hope was awarded to Belleville, leaving the latter team and Port Hope tied for this district. Cobourg will play in Belleville to-night, and the return game will be played at Cobourg on Wednesday.

ONLY THREE GAMES TO-NIGHT.

There are only three O.H.A. games to-night. Peterborough plays at Smith's Falls in the intermediate series, and Meaford plays in Owen Sound, and Cobourg at Belleville in the junior series.

WORSE THAN LOCAL JUNIOR GAMES.

The Toronto Globe says of the game between Waverley's and St. George's:

"Not over one hundred people saw the so-called junior game on Saturday night, each team receiving $3.80 as their bit."

The Leadpipe Cinch apprentices do hereby challenge Adam Hall's Souvenirs to a friendly game of hockey in the Brock street rink as soon as the ice can be secured. J. Nichol, captain.

CURLING.

A meeting of all members is called for Tuesday evening in the rink parlors at 7.30 p.m., to arrange for bonspiel and other business.

The Sheppard-Neill trophy competition will be played between Peterborough and Orillia clubs on Tuesday, February 14th. 8 rinks a side, 4 rinks in Peterborough and 4 rinks in Orillia.

It was Mr. C. N. Brown that was defeated in curling at Keene on Saturday, and not Mr. W. G. Ferguson, as has been stated. Mr. Brown attributes his defeat to the weather.

Orillia, Feb. 4.—The Lindsay curlers, who are on their way to the big Winnipeg bonspiel, stopped off at Orillia this afternoon and had a friendly game with the Orillias. The play was close, Orillia winning by four shots. The score—

—Orillia	Lindsay
J. E. G. Curran	McIntosh
E A Wakefield	Cuthbert
Geo Rapley	McSweyn
R R Cunningham	J. D Flavelle
skip 17	skip 13

Lindsay, Feb 4.—This morning about one hundred curlers and their friends were at the station to see the Lindsay rink off for Winnipeg. Mr. Flavelle was presented by an enthusiastic citizen with a rabbit's left foot, nicely mounted in gold. The rink is composed of Mr. J. D. Flavelle, skip; R. F. A. McSweyne, vice-skip; R. H. Cuthbert, second and L. McIntosh, lead. They are accompanied from here by Miss Edith Flavelle, Miss Cooper, Mr. Cooper, R. W. Reesom, Dr. J. L Sutton of the town and Mr. Auld, of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company. They play a game in Orillia to-day. To-night they will be joined by the Toronto and Collingwood rinks.

Windsor Salt

THE WILD BOAR.

Full of Courage and Cunning and Never Loses His Head.

The wild boar never loses his head—or his heart. Such courage I have never beheld in any four footed creature. He has all the cunning commonly accredited to his Satanic majesty and in his rage is a demon that will charge anything of any size. I have seen a small boar work his way through a pack of dogs and his smaller brother, the peccary, in Brazil, send a man up a tree and keep him there.

The boar looks ungainly, but the Indian species is as fleet as a horse for about three-quarters of a mile. He begins with flight, shifts to cunning and finally stands to the fight with magnificent courage, facing any odds. As, riding upon him, you are about to plant your spear, he will dart—"jink," as they call it in India—to one side, repeating the performance several times, until he finds he cannot shake you, when, turning suddenly, with ears cocked and eyes glittering, he will charge furiously. If not squarely met with a well aimed and firmly held spear, he will upset horse and rider. Hurling himself again and again against the surrounding spears, he will keep up his charge until killed, when he dies without a groan.—Outing.

JUMP FEVER.

A Sort of Mania That Sometimes Affects Engine Drivers.

In a party of locomotive engineers who were talking about old time fellow craftsmen reference was made to one old timer who had come to his death through "jump fever." "What's 'jump fever?'" inquired an outsider who was interested in the conversation. "'Jump fever,'" explained an engineer, "is a sort of hallucination that affects some engineers and leads them to leap from the cab to escape a supposed impending collision. It's mostly freight engineers that are affected. On long runs out west a freight engineer may be thirty-six hours at the throttle without much chance for rest owing to mishaps. He gets sleepy and dozes in the cab. All of a sudden he wakes up, but his faculties are scattered, and what with lightness of the head and the motion of the cab he gets an idea that a collision is about to happen. In a semiconscious state he dives out of his window, and the chances are he's a goner when he lands. The engineer we referred to had done the trick twice, but he was killed the third time out on the Santa Fe road."

VELOCITY OF ELECTRICITY.

Spark and Mirror Method by Which It Was Determined.

To determine the velocity of electricity a "spark board" was fitted with six insulated knobs in a straight line. The distance from 1 to 2 was the tenth of an inch, between 2 and 3 was a quarter of a mile of insulated wire, from 3 to 4 was again the tenth of an inch, between 4 and 5 was another quarter of a mile of wire, and between 5 and 6 was once more the tenth of an inch.

When the jar was discharged there were three sparks, one from 1 to 2, one from 3 to 4 and one from 5 to 6. It was found by viewing these in a rapidly revolving mirror that the image of the spark between 3 and 4, which could only be formed after the wire coils had been traversed, lagged a little behind the other two.

This displacement of the image was then measured, and as the velocity of the mirror was known the velocity of the electrical discharge was determined as 288,000 miles a second.

A Case of Too Much Children.

In a volume of reminiscences a very funny story is told of the late Bishop Bloomfield, who, having a family by his first wife, married a second time. This Mrs. Bloomfield was a widow, with a brood of her own, and in due course a third family arrived on the scene. One day the bishop was disturbed by his wife running into his study in a great state of excitement. "What is it, dear?" he testily inquired. "Oh, bishop!" was her agonized reply. "Quick, quick! There's not a moment to lose! Your children are siding with my children and are murdering our children!"

Love.

It is hard to preserve equanimity and greatness on that debatable ground between love and esteem. There is nothing so stable and unfluctuating as love. The waves beat steadfast on its shore forever, and its tide has no ebb. It is a resource in all extremities and a refuge even from itself. And yet love will not be leaned on.—H. D. Thoreau in Atlantic.

The Last Resort.

Sandy entered a smoking compartment and asked each of his immediate neighbors for a match. All happened to be without them, however, and a look of disappointment came over the Scotchman's face as he remarked resignedly, "Aweel, I'll e'en hae to use one o' my ain."

Good Advice.

Said a man who had been detected cheating at cards: "They threaten to kick me downstairs. What am I to do?" The friend appealed to offered this timely counsel, "Play on the ground floor."

His Fatal Mistake.

"Adam was his own boss, wasn't he?"

"Yes, an' ef he hadn't gone ter sleep at de wrong time he'd been so yet!"

No man or boy is ever the slightest good in this world unless he has ambition.—Lord Stanley.

Their Excessive Grief.

Lord Brampton related that once while he was plain John Hawkins he defended a man for wife murder. The prisoner's two children, dressed in black and sobbing violently, were in court, and their grief and the lawyer's eloquent speech combined to acquit the defendant. That evening at dinner he met an old inhabitant of the neighborhood, who complimented him upon his speech. "However," he added, "I think that if you had seen what I did when driving past the prisoner's cottage last week you would not have painted the home in such glowing colors. The little children who sobbed so violently in court this morning and to whom you made such pathetic reference were playing on an ash heap near their cottage, and they had a poor cat with a string round its neck swinging backward and forward, and as they did so they sang:

"This is the way poor daddy will go,
This is the way poor daddy will go!

"Such, Mr. Hawkins, was their excessive grief."

Bengalese Superstitions.

Among the Bengalese it is said that shouting the name of the king of birds (garunda) drives away snakes. Shouting "Ram! Ram!" drives away ghosts. Cholera that attacks on Monday or Saturday always proves fatal. Cholera that attacks on Thursday never ends fatally. The flowering of the bamboo means famine. In fanning if the fan strike the body it should be instantly knocked three times against the ground. When giving alms the giver and receiver should both be on the same side of the threshold. It is bad to pick one's teeth with the nails. If a snake be killed it should immediately be burned, for all serpents that are so unwise as to permit of having their lives taken are inhabited by the souls of Brahmans, which hope thus to escape and work mischief. The words "snake" and "tiger" should never be used after nightfall. Call them "creepers" and "insects." Never awaken a sleeping physician. Morning dreams always come true.

Women Slaves in Palestine.

In Palestine the mother of men is the servant of men. Being a part of the household chattels, she is sold for as large a sum as her father can extort from the prospective bridegroom. She is a thing, a piece of goods. The father of a firstborn son proudly calls himself after the boy's name, but his girl babe is not reckoned among his children. Her infant shoulders learn to bear the burdens. Her little feet patter their way to the fountain even from the moment their tiny strength can support the weight of the jar. Her whole life is one of grinding, baking, fetching water, waiting upon others. At twelve she is sold into married service. Growing old in middle life, she may see herself supplanted by a younger wife, often being robbed of her sons by the military conscription, and finally she is put away as the last breath is leaving her body.—Corwin Knapp Linson in Metropolitan Magazine.

Trees Which Cause Headache.

A curious member of the vegetable kingdom has been discovered in the far east. It is a species of acacia which grows to a height of about eight feet and when full grown closes its leaves together in clusters each day at sunset and curls its twigs in the form of a pigtail. After the tree has settled itself in this way for a night's sleep, like most sleepers, it objects to being disturbed. If touched it will flutter as if agitated and impatient at the interruption of its slumbers. The oftener the foliage is molested the more violent becomes the shaking of the branches, and at length the tree emits a nauseating odor, which if inhaled for a few moments will cause a violent headache.

Stopped the Rain.

In the sixteenth century, it is alleged, there was a successful effort made to stop rain by the use of gunpowder. Benvenuto Cellini tells us in his memoirs that when Margaret of Austria entered Rome it rained heavily. "I pointed several large pieces of artillery in the direction where the clouds were thickest and whence a deluge of water was already pouring; then when I began to fire the rain stopped, and at the fourth discharge the sun shone out."

Would Have Use For His Eyes.

"Want to get off again, do you?" roared the boss. "This will be the sixth time you've been off this week. What's the trouble now?"

"I want to get my eyes examined," sullenly replied the clerk.

"Well, get 'em carefully examined while you're about it. You'll be looking for work after Saturday night."

The Little Things.

Life is made up of little things—words, acts, duties, pleasures. They come to us one after another, calling us out of ourselves, or seem to rush hurriedly past us, and they leave an impress on us, and our characters are made or marred by their influence.—Rev. B. Lowry.

Took Away Her Opportunity.

"What's the matter with your wife?"

"Oh, I've just acknowledged that I made a fool of myself in lending Hammersley $25, and she's mad because there's no chance to go on arguing about it."

A Big Difference.

"I hear she is to marry an old fellow with a million dollars."

"Her idea is that she's going to marry a million dollars with an old fellow attached."

Riches have wings, and grandeur is a dream.—Cowper.

THE NEW WARDEN

Sketch of New Executive of Northumberland and Durham Counties.

On Wednesday morning, Mr. John Kennedy, of Pontypool, was elected Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, after a protracted struggle lasting over Tuesday night, but in which he was always the high man. Mr. Kennedy is a grain dealer, and when in the run for the Counties Council was always safe. This is his third year under the new Act, but he has served the Counties previously for about 14 years. He has so far filled the chair well, and will no doubt make an excellent Warden, as he has been a man of business. He starts his Council sharp on time, which is a sign that all his acts as Warden will be clear, on time, and straight. Mr. Kennedy is sixty years old, was born in the village of Millbrook, and when fifteen years old moved to Manvers, where he has since lived. In politics Mr. Kennedy is a Conservative, firm in his convictions, but fair to those who differ from him. There is no doubt that the Counties will not be misrepresented by Mr. Kennedy, and in honor and business ability he will well and worthily serve the Counties.—Sentinel Star.

REPORT ON PENITENTIARIES

There Was an Increase of Five Per Cent in Prison Population.

The Inspectors of Penitentiaries in their annual report to the Minister of Justice, at Ottawa, submit for the Minister's consideration the substitution of indefinite for fixed sentences, and enumerate some of the advantages possessed by the former system. On June 30 the prison population numbered 1,288. During the year 122 prisoners were paroled, as against 113 in the year previous; 31 were pardoned, as against 35, and 23 died as against 16. There was an increase of 5 per cent. in the prison population last year, as compared with the year previous, but a decrease, as compared with 1902-3. The fluctuations in prison population, the inspectors say, cannot be accepted as a correct indication of the relative number of crimes committed. An increase of prison population is more correctly an indication of police vigilance than of increasing lawlessness. The operation of the parole law tends to reduce the number of pardons granted. "This partial substitution of parole for absolute freedom affords an additional security to the public. The restrictions attached to parole are an incentive to good conduct, and the probationary period of conditional freedom, affords a test of the assurances on which the convict obtained his freedom." The report alludes to the ability and energy with which Brigadier Archibald has been devoting himself in assisting convicts released on parole. The inspectors say that the interest aroused by his efforts is already apparent, and that they are confident that the present year will mark an important epoch in the history of Canadian penology. Of the total prison population, 551 belonged to the Roman Catholic church, 315 to the Church of England, 189 to the Methodist and 118 to the Presbyterian. The remainder were—Baptists, 54; Lutherans, 36; Buddhists, 11; Jewish, 7; Mormon, 5; Doukhobors, 5; Adventists, 3; Quakers, 2; Unitarian, 2; Congregational, 12; Salvation Army 2; Greek Church, 2; no creed, 7.

STILL HARPING ON AN OLD ISSUE

Examiner Undertakes to Prove Something and Overdoes It.

WHAT IS OBJECT IN VIEW?

Is Verdict of People Not Enough?—Why All This Concern About the East Riding?—Says Liberals Were Punished But Official Records Do Not Set This Fact Forth.

The Examiner in its issue of Saturday last published the result of its researches in the public records, as it claimed, to confute the stand taken by Hon. Mr. Whitney, and by Mr. Burnham in the East Riding. There is a degree of unrest in this action of our contemporary which will scarcely commend itself to a public that had settled down to peace and comfort after what is practically the greatest political revolution Ontario ever had. However, the article referred to and Mr. Burnham's letter make the case quite plain and will probably set the matter at rest.

(From the Examiner Feb. 6th, 1905.)

The Conservatives in the recent general election conducted the campaign almost exclusively on the corruption cry, and that cry was presented with an infamous distortion of truth and vehemence in inverse proportion to the facts behind their claims. The people, as the result indicates seem to have been influenced by these so called "facts" and the "arguments" based upon them. In the interests of truth and to show to what extent the electors were justified in this regard in turning out a Government with a splendid administrative record, to give place to one of very problematical usefulness in this sense, an example of the misstatements justifying the charge that Mr. Whitney obtained support on "false pretenses" may be submitted.

In the Peterboroughs the corruption end of the campaign was entrusted very largely to Mr. J. H. Burnham, and he certainly was stopped by no paltry considerations such as having his statements square with the facts. Nor was Mr. Whitney any more careful to lower his oratorical bucket into the well of truth.

Speaking at Zion on January 21st, Mr. Burnham as reported in the Review thus—

In the five years from 1898 to 1903, 43 Liberals were reported for bribery, and 22 for corrupt practices. In the same period of time the number of Conservatives reported for bribery was 22 and for corrupt practices 7. The total number of Liberals reported is 65 and Conservatives 29. Of the 29 Conservatives reported by the election judges, 17 were proceeded against by the Government and punished, while NOT ONE OF THE LIBERALS REPORTED HAD been proceeded against or punished in any form.

Mr. Whitney evidently used similar figures in his address in Kingston on Jan. 24th. He is thus reported in the Mail and Empire of Jan. 25th.—

"Search the records from Jan. 1st, 1898, to Jan. 1st, 1905, gave the following results—Liberals unseated, 14; Conservatives 8; Liberals reported for bribery and corruption, 75; LIBERALS PUNISHED 0; Conservatives reported 29; Conservatives punished 17; for bribery in South Ontario, If Mr Pense (the Liberal candidate) or any one else wants to challenge the correctness of these figures, let him do so, said Mr. Whitney, "and I will furnish the official proof of the correctness of what I have stated. Premier Ross when he makes his RECKLESS STATEMENTS ABOUT PUNISHING LIBERALS and Conservatives alike, takes good care not to go into details."

The Examiner the day after Mr. Burnham's Zion speech was delivered, pointed out the incorrectness of his figures, and especially of his statement that "NOT ONE of the Liberals had been proceeded against, or punished, in any form."

The following day Mr. Burnham wrote a letter to the Review, in which he re-asserted his statements, claiming that they were based on a report issued at (Conservative) headquarters.

Now, the evident aim of both Mr. Burnham, and Mr. Whitney, was to create the impression that the Government was not willing to punish Liberal election wrong-doers and was willing to profit thereby.

CONSERVATIVES PUNISHED.

In the South Ontario Provincial election in 1898, Mr. Chas. Calder the Conservative member-elect, was unseated for corrupt practices—"the most brazen corruption," one of the judges said, "he ever knew," and among the persons reported for corrupt practices, were the following, punished, as below:

Thomas E. Baker, fined $800 and costs; $300 of the fine remitted by trial judges, and balance paid.

W. H. Thomas, fined $400; $200 remitted by trial judges; balance paid with costs.

Lewis Luke, fined $200 and costs; paid.

The following persons were convicted and committed to gaol in default of [illegible] of fine of $200 each and costs: Austin [illegible], [illegible] [illegible], William [illegible], Patrick [illegible], William [illegible].

The following persons were convicted and fined $200 each and costs, but absconded before the time fixed for payment by the trial judges had elapsed. Arthur Stapleton and David Lockwood.

The following persons were prosecuted and acquitted upon the trial of the prosecution: Stuart Bruce, Aaron Harman, W. F. J. Jones, G. H. Banbury absconded before the day fixed for the trial.

McLean was reported, proceedings were commenced, but he died before the trial.

LIBERALS PUNISHED.

In November, Hon. John Dryden was elected at the bye-election, and in the election trial following the protest, among the persons reported, the following were dealt with as below: Simeon Hewett, of Brantford; John Sullivan, Wm. Morrish, Wm. Gilmour, Patrick Sullivan, William Stewart Bryan Linton, Wm. McCormack and Benj. Palmer, reported. Of the nine persons so reported, seven were convicted and ordered to pay a fine of $200 each and costs; of these Simeon Hewett and Wm. Morrish paid their fines.

The following persons served a term of imprisonment in default of payment of their fines, upon conviction: Wm. Gilmour, Patrick Sullivan, Wm. Stewart, Bryan Linton, William McCormack. The remaining two persons reported, John Sullivan and Benj. Palmer were acquitted. All persons reported were prosecuted, except W. H. Banbury, who removed to the United States before the trial, and F. McLean, who died before the trial.

SOUTH PERTH.

In this riding, Moscrip, the member-elect, was unseated, and the persons reported for corrupt practices were dealt with as follows:

: William Irving, fined $200; $100 remitted and balance paid; John Graham, fined $200, left the country; Patrick Graham, case dismissed. Wm. Tobin, Frank Lyons, Burns and Perrin were also prosecuted, but convictions were not obtained, owing to their having left the country, or to insufficient evidence.

NORTH WATERLOO.

The election prosecutions in North Waterloo failed for lack of evidence to convict. Wildfong and Cummings were both prosecuted in July, 1901, and both discharged. The following persons were also prosecuted: John R. Eden, Hugh G. Roberts, W. Wessler, Michael Schell, J. M. Scully.

HALTON.

The following persons were prosecuted in the County of Halton: W. Dowdle, A. E Cross, T. A. Dent, W. Halliday, T. Lyons, M. Quinn, C. F. Ryan, J. W. Wallace, G. Storey, R. Sherwood, H. H. Hanna, J. Evans, W. Elliott and T. Dowdle. G. Storey T. A. Dent and C. E. Ryan were each convicted on three charges, and the amount of penalty attached by the Court in each conviction was $100 and costs.

It is to be explained in regard to the above record that ALL the persons prosecuted and punished WERE LIBERALS except those mentioned in connection with the Calder (South Ontario) election trial. This absolutely disposes of the statements made by both Mr. Whitney and Mr. Burnham, that "NOT ONE LIBERAL reported had been prosecuted or punished," and to the extent that the electors were deceived by their misrepresentations, to that extent they obtained support upon false pretenses. This shows the necessity of a public speaker to inform himself accurately of the alleged facts he employs.

No matter what Mr. Burnham or Mr. Whitney assert; no matter how much they relied upon the information supplied by partisan sources, the facts above recited as to the prosecution and punishment of Liberal election workers are correct, matters of record in the places where the prosecutions took place. The public can draw their own conclusions.

MR. BURNHAM REPLIES

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The amiable editor of the Examiner has quite excelled himself in his two-column attack upon the premier of this province and your humble servant. The controversy on the point involved has been a lively issue for some time, and most of us thought it had died appropriately on the day when without distinction of party the people of this province put Mr. Ross and his friends out of power. The Examiner wishes to attach a stigma to local Conservatives—the stigma of understating or overstating the truth. Of course, the Examiner's language is very violent, and, where possible, just a little bit juvenile.

The argument, however, matches the language. The point at issue, briefly stated was that no Liberals were punished for corruption by the Ross Government. The Examiner in its last attack quotes presumably from the records with a heading of "Liberals Punished."

A careful reading fails to reveal any justification for this heading. But the Examiner's whole case is given away in its summing up. It says:—"It is to be explained in regard to the above record that all the persons prosecuted and punished were Liberals (in big type) except those mentioned in connection with the Calder (South Ontario) election trial. This absolutely disposes, etc." I should think it did. Most people will think that the necessity for such an "explanation" does "absolutely dispose" of the Examiner's contention. But the Examiner probably has quite a different object in view in this process of post-mortem. It is probably storing up something for the future. We can afford to await the occasion.

I may say that a gentleman now living in town has told me that to his knowledge some of those claimed by the Examiner as Liberals were and had been always Conservative. The Examiner is putting up a lively and where the head won't work it is probably good tactics to take to the heels. I do not propose to be "drawn" on to this subject any further at present, and will not reply again. Had it not been for our friends in the East Riding I should not reply now. The editor of the Examiner must have thundered to great effect during the recent contest, to judge by the results hereabouts.

However, I would add for the benefit of those on the staff of the Examiner, who seem unable to see beyond their noses that the fate which befell Mr. Ross and his colleagues was not for the reason that no Liberals had been punished, but because political corruption had been reduced to a science by the machine and was ruining the moral life of a people and blasting its brightest hopes. A strong premier would have done at first what the people at last succeeded in doing, and thus have avoided a shame, which he seemed content to profit by. If the verdict of the electorate has not made this clear, perhaps the editor of the Examiner would like to have another trial at the polls. There is a freedom in the air and a buoyant expectancy since Jan. 25th that gives Hon. Mr. Whitney an opportunity to which we all hope he may prove equal.

To some the highest point of human excellence is represented by the capacity to win. But it must be remembered that such a theory, had it been true, would have reduced Christ to Dives and have made Dives our Christ. Success to be paramount must be of the right kind, as we have recently seen. To reflect upon our sins is much more profitable than to fall into bad language, and I would invite the Examiner to join us in doing so.

Yours, &c.,
J. H. BURNHAM.

Kept Home From School

WITH COUGHS AND COLDS, AND PARENTS ARE PROVING THE WONDERFUL CURATIVE POWER OF

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

When grown people neglect their ailments and allow them to develop into serious diseases, they have no one to blame but themselves.

With children it is different, because they do not realize the seriousness of a neglected cold nor the means of obtaining cure, and many a child, as he grows older and finds himself a victim of pneumonia, consumption, bronchitis, asthma or throat trouble, cannot but see that his parents were responsible for neglecting treatment when his ailment began in the form of a cold.

Today the schools have many a vacant seat on account of coughs and colds, and many children who are there should be at home. What treatment are these children getting? Do their parents realize the seriousness of neglecting to cure a cold? Have they proved the merits of Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for coughs and colds, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, and all kindred ills?

Very many have, for there is no preparation for throat and lung diseases that has anything like the sale of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Mrs Wm. Bell, Bracebridge, Ont., writes,—"I can recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine most heartily for all forms of colds and I think that if every family would use it for their little ones it would save lots of worry and expense, as I find it prompt and lasting it its effects.

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured, at a cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

Be careful when you buy to see that the portrait and signature of Dr. Chase is on the wrapper. If you send the children to the store, warn them not to accept any imitation or substitution. Children like to take Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and there is no remedy so prompt and effective. 25 cents a bottle; family size, three times as much, 60 cents; at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Panama Canal in Ten Years.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 6.—The American Minister to Panama has submitted to the State Department a report, in which he says:

J. A. Maclaren of Ottawa the Victim of a Peculiar Accident.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—Dr. J. T. Fotheringham of Carlton street, uncle of the unfortunate young man, received word from Vancouver, B.C., last night that John Alexander Maclaren, fourth son of David Maclaren, the well-known capitalist of Ottawa, was drowned near Barnet, 12 miles from Vancouver, on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 4.

Young Maclaren, with two comrades in a canoe, was leading the way to a camping place for a string of canoes containing workmen of the Maclaren firm. There were three canoes in the lead. Maclaren and his comrades were in the first one. They struck a heavy sea and were capsized. Two of the canoeists caught a log and urged Maclaren to join them. He declined, believing the log would not hold up three. He clung to the upturned canoe. The next canoe came along and offered to take him aboard. He saw it was already overladen and told the men to make for the shore and return for him.

When they returned they found he had righted the canoe and had crawled into it, but apparently had fainted from his exertions and had drowned in the water shipped by the canoe in being righted. Everything was done to revive him, but in vain.

John Alexander Maclaren was 25 years of age, an old boy of Bishop Ridley College, a second year medical student in Trinity University, and a favorite wherever known. He left Toronto three years ago and went to the Yukon, being associated with Governor Ogilvie. This winter he had come down from the north and was in charge of the firm's interests in British Columbia at Barnet. The body will be taken to Ottawa for interment next Monday.

Conductor Dies of Injury.

Toronto, Feb. 7.—As a result of injuries sustained in an assault committed upon him some months ago James Galvin, a conductor on the Toronto Street Railway, died at his home, 33 St. Clarens avenue, on Sunday. It was while on a late night run last fall that Galvin, in demanding the fare from a couple of passengers was set upon by them and brutally assaulted. The men were sent down for short terms. Galvin was 42 years of age, and is survived by a widow and five small children.

REBEL LEADERS FLED.

Men Then Surrendered and the Argentine Revolt Is Over.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 7.—Government troops attacked the rebels, who had fortified themselves at Mendoza, at dawn yesterday. Soon afterwards the rebel leaders and officers fled to the mountains, whereupon the men surrendered unconditionally. The rebels had sacked the local branch of the National Bank of Buenos Ayres and seized $300,000. Numerous arrests have been made, and the city is now quiet. The revolt is over.

Late information shows that the insurrectionary movement is now restricted to Cordoba. Generals Wintter, Benavides, Garia and Roca, with largely superior forces, are surrounding the city. The rebels are holding Senator Yofre.

The only group of rebels in the Province of Buenos Ayres, 170 men strong, has been defeated near Pirovano Station. Two officers and seven men were killed and 121 surrendered. The rest, with Commandant Villamayor, are retreating, and Government troops are in pursuit.

PUTS THE GAG ON WIRES

Russia Assumes Control of Telegraphs in Siberia.

Various Are the Causes Adduced—Little Attention Paid in London to Rumors of Peace Mediation—News From the Scene of Conflict Meagre—Russians Intrenching At Chantan—Gen. Kuropatkin Reports a Win.

London, Feb. 7.—Considerable speculation has been caused here by the fact that the Russian Government on Monday assumed control of the Siberian telegraph lines from 8 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. It is said to be the first occasion on which telegraph communication has thus been stopped since the war began. Various possible causes are discussed, such as the extension of the strike movement to the Siberian Railway and important correspondence with General Kuropatkin. Little attention is paid here to rumors of peace mediation, but The Chronicle's St. Petersburg correspondent sends the statement, which, however, is not confirmed in other despatches, that the recent conference of the Grand Ducal party to consider the far eastern prospects arrived at an agreement as to the desirability of ending the war, and that the rumor of General Kuropatkin's resignation was started to facilitate negotiations for peace.

Russians Intrench.

Tokio, Feb. 7.—Official announcement is made that everything is quiet in the vicinity of Changtan with the exception that the Russians are strenuously intrenching. The Russian force, which attacked Chiaitsu Feb. 4, retired northward Feb. 5. On the afternoon of Feb. 6 and the morning of Feb. 5 the Russian artillery west of Tanshan shelled Manchuartsu Mountain and vicinity. Small bodies of Russian infantry attacked, but they were repulsed. Before abandoning Songchin in Northeastern Corea, Jan. 24, the Russians burned all their stores. It is thought that the Russians intend to abandon all operations in Northeastern Corea.

Reported Russian Win.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—Telegraphing under date of Feb. 5, General Kuropatkin reports as follows:

"A Russian detachment marched to Santaitz, 12 miles southwest of Sifombay. The Japanese at Santaitz and Saodamong were repulsed. The Russian losses were insignificant.

"The Japanese resumed the offensive along the line to Chuanchuantse to-day. Several of their batteries advanced, but the Russian artillery repulsed them."

Kuropatkin Stays On.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 7.—The Associated Press is authorized to announce that not the slightest information has been received at the War Office regarding the alleged illness or resignation of Gen. Kuropatkin. On the contrary, the War Office's information indicates no change whatever in the headquarters staff in Manchuria, and that the departure of Gen. Gripenberg for St. Petersburg is due to illness. The version of the departure of Gen. Gripenberg now given in the best informed unofficial circles is that the general left the front because he exceeded General Kuropatkin's orders in pushing beyond Sandepas and needlessly sacrificed thousands of men. This led Kuropatkin to demand Gripenberg's recall.

Japan Shuts Out Foreigners.

Tokio, Feb. 7.—After debate in the Japanese House of Representatives, the amendment to the mining law, prohibiting foreigners to work Japanese mines, was passed during Monday's session.

The bill was fought bitterly by the foreign residents here, having mining interests in Japan, and the Government has been severely censured for advocating a measure which must needs antagonize certain influential interests whose good-will is believed by many to be important and necessary at this time.

The friends of the measure insisted, however, that, as mining in Japan was only in its infancy and as the soil and mountains were rich in metal and mineral deposits, the benefits to be derived therefrom in the future should be reserved by the Government for native Japanese.

As the law is retroactive, it will play havoc with several British, American and French syndicates having large mining interests in the country.

TREATMENT OF PILES

Permanence of Cure the True Test

Many so-called pile remedies will afford the user slight temporary relief and the majority of those afflicted do not expect more than this.

The average sufferer, after having tried every preparation recommended for the cure of piles, comes to the conclusion that there is no cure except by an operation, and rather than undergo this "last resort," he suffers on, resigned to the situation, so far as may be. The attention of those interested is invited to the following experience:—

"After ten years of suffering from blind, bleeding and protruding piles, and after using every remedy I could hear of without any benefit, I finally bought a fifty cent bottle of Pyramid Pile Cure, and used it with such good results I bought next a dollar box, which finished up the job. That was nearly six years ago, and as far as piles is concerned I am cured, and have never felt a symptom of them since.

"Many others have used this remedy by my advice, with the same results, and I always recommend it to sufferers with piles." C. H. Potts, Burlington, Kans.

Testimony like this should convince the most skeptical that Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures, but cures to stay cured. It is in the form of a suppository, can be applied in the privacy of the home, directly to the parts affected, and does its work quickly and painlessly.

Druggists generally sell this famous remedy for fifty cents a package, and sufferers are urged to buy a package now and give it a trial to-night. Accept no substitutes.

A little book describing the causes and cure of piles is published by the Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich., and same will be sent free to any address for the asking.

Early American Theatricals.

The earliest attempt to introduce theatrical performances in this country was made about 1686 in New England, but Increase Mather wrote and spoke so forcibly in opposition to the project that it was speedily abandoned. The first theatrical performance in New York city of which there is any clear record was given March 5, 1750. The theater was on Nassau street, between John street and Maiden lane, and the play was "Richard III.," Thomas Kean, the junior manager of the company, enacting the part of Richard.

A Serious Question.

"Mamma," said five-year-old Nellie, "I'd like to ask your advice about something."

"What is it, dear?" queried her mother.

"After I get through school what would you advise me to do while I'm waiting to be married?" asked the little miss.

A POLITICAL INTRIQUE

Caused Dismissal of a Satisfactory Postmaster.

Dr. Barr Traces Postmaster-General's Action, But Sir William Mulock Declares It Is Not Politics—A Number of Interesting Questions Asked and Answered—Appropriations For the Dominion Mint and Archives Building Passed.

Ottawa, Feb. 7.—Speaker Sutherland, who was banqueted at Windsor on Saturday and was returning to Ottawa, missed connections at Toronto Sunday, his train being four hours late. Charles Marcil, Deputy Speaker, took the chair yesterday afternoon, the Speaker himself not arriving until 5 o'clock.

The Speaker announced that he had received the certificate of election of R. L. Borden for the County of Carleton.

Questions and Answers.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson stated that petitions had been received advising the Government to acquire the New Brunswick Southern Railway, and make it a part of the Government system. There is no present intention of taking over the road.

The Minister of Public Works stated in reply to Mr. Pringle that $486,510 has been spent on the deepening of the Welland Canal during the past four years.

Mr. Pringle asked why the contract for dredging the Sault Ste. Marie Canal in 1903 was given to United States contractors.

Mr. Emmerson replied that it was necessary to have the work done at a time when Canadian contractors were unable to do the work.

Wait Till Fielding Comes.

Mr. Lennox was told that no arrangements have been made to retain Mr. Macdougall in the service of the country as Auditor-General, Mr. Macdougall having withdrawn his resignation, Sir Wilfrid said no statement will be made in regard to this question till the Minister of Finance returns from Europe.

The Prime Minister stated that Captain Louis St. Louis, who was deprived of his certificate by the judgment of the Wreck Commissioner, Salmon, in the Canadian-Cape Breton affair, has been reinstated. The Prime Minister added that the reason for the reinstatement was that Captain St. Louis had been illegally deprived of his certificate.

To Whip Wife Beaters.

The Minister of Justice, replying to Mr. Ames, said an amendment had been suggested to the criminal code whereby persistent wife beaters may be sentenced to be whipped. The department is considering the point, which will come up for discussion in connection with the bill to amend the criminal code.

The total cost per year for the past three fiscal years of the office of Immigration Commissioner Preston in England was $10,582.

Mr. Monk was informed that the expense incurred by the Government in connection with providing official cars for the new Railway Commission last year was $21,171. For legal expenses in connection with the Commission $1,250 was paid. The total amount expended in connection with the Railway Commission during the year ending Feb. 4, 1905, was $79,600. The Commission during the year rendered 361 decisions, of which 72 were on contentious points and 289 on non-contentious points.

A Postmaster's Dismissal.

Dr. Barr moved for copies of all correspondence between the Government and any parties concerning the dismissal of the postmaster at Shelburne, Ont., on March 7, 1903. Dr. Barr said the dismissed postmaster had filled the position for 37 years and had given general satisfaction. He traced the dismissal to political intrigue and hinted that the new Ontario Government could not be blamed if it gave the Liberals of Ontario some of their own medicine.

Sir William Mulock assured the House that there were no political motives behind the dismissal. The postmaster in question was interested in a local mercantile business, and was therefore not an acceptable occupant of a position which of itself yielded a sufficient income.

Committee of Supply.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, taking up the Public Works estimates. Some discussion took place over the appropriation for an archives building. The building is to be three storeys high and will cost $70,000.

Mr. Hyman stated that the cost of the building for the mint would be in the neighborhood of $350,000. The building is to be of stone, 220 feet from north to south, and 154 feet from east to west. The item was passed.

The House adjourned at 6 o'clock.

Nominations in Wright.
